The assessment is being recommended by Judge Richard M. Pajtas to provide funds for a Victim's Restitution Fund which would "help to make victims of crime whole again."

Under the program, victims of crime would be reimbursed from the fund in an amount not to exceed $300.

The amount would be determined through a pre-sentencing report containing a specific Victim Impact Statement which would address the impact of the crime on the victim, financially and emotionally, and describe the loss that the victim suffered in the offense.

This Victim's Impact Statemednt would also give the victim a chance to comment on the possible sentencing options to be exercised by the Court. In this way, the Court could determine the effect a crime has had on the victim and use this information in determining the appropriate and equitable sentence for the criminal.

As explained by Judge Pajtas, the Victim's Restitution Fund would serve as a viable financial instrument for redressing the restitution needs of victims who would not otherwise be compensated. "It is a fact of life," he noted, "if a criminal goes to jail or to prison, he cannot be held liable for payment of restitution during the term of incarceration.

"During this interim, the victim is not compensated and may begin receiving payments only after the criminal is released from incarceration and begins earning money. Even so, in many cases, a convicted criminal may remain indigent for a protracted length of time."

Use of monies from the Victim's Restitution Fund would be used to rectify this unfair predicament of the victim of crime.

Judge Pajtas reports that he has conferred at length with Circuit Court Judge Randy Tahvonen of St. Johns, who instituted such a Victim's Fund program assessing $40 to be paid directly into the fund for disbursal to victims, a program which apparently is working well.

Judge Pajtas emphasises that monies ordered to be paid to the Victim's Restitution Fund from court costs will be in addition to and beyond the normal court costs ordered in criminal cases. "Thus, deduction of this money will not deplete the costs which would have been ordered anyway, and will not amount to the County subsidizing this fund indirectly," he added.

"The focus of this program is to have all criminal clients collectively contribute to this fund, much in the same way that all criminal clients in Kentucky are currently being assessed a Users' Fee for the construction of new jail facilities," the Judge concludes.

To provide "seed money" for the program, the State Department of Corrections has contributed $2,000, which is on deposit with the Emmet County treasurer.

The Judiciary Committee of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners is now studying operation of the program here.

Council forms special tax zone on Ferry Ave., gives DDA authority to levy 2 mills downtown

City Council approved two measures at its Monday (April 15) meeting that will give the city additional revenues for capital improvements.

In one action, the Council approved resolutions establishing a Tax Increment Financing Authority (TIFA) in the Ferry Avenue area. Under this TIFA the city would freeze the State Equalized Value tax base in the area for school and county services. Any increase in the SEV would be used to make improvements in the target or "capture" area.

The Ferry Ave. TIFA district extends from Stover Road on the south to just north of Northwest Marine.

Revenues generated by the plan would be used to purchase property to the north of the existing city park on Ferry Ave., make park improvements, expand parking, extend a water main, and improve paving and sidewalks. The estimated cost of all improvements in the area is between $290,000 and $655,000. Of that total, the city estimates that it will spend between $127,500 and $275,000 for purchase of the new beach property.

The only opposition to the plan voiced at last night's meeting came from Vince Olach who made a brief objection on behalf of the Board of Education.

In a second tax matter, the Council approved a change in the city code which would allow the Downtown Development Authority to levy 2 mills in the downtown district. The area covered by this plan would be most of the commercial district south of the drawbridge.

The Council action merely gives the DDA authority to levy the additional tax. Any proposal to actually impose the tax would have to come back to the Council for final approval.

Jeffery Porter, chairman of the DDA, told the audience that the 2 mill tax, if approved, would be used for "bricks and mortar contruction" in the downtown area. The goal of the tax plan would be to fully implement the city's 1980-81 master plan. The master plan was estimated to cost some $650,000 several years ago; there are no revised estimates of the cost today.

Porter said that among the top priorities under the new financing plan would be expanded parking, new sidewalks, street lighting, and sign improvements.

The 2 mill levy would generate, Porter estimated, $14,000 per year over a ten-year period. That would supplement the $27,000 the DDA raises from the Tax Increment Financing area north of the bridge.

In other action, the Council approved a site plan for Jeff and Cara Hochhalter to establish an antique business at 604 Bridge. Also approved was a site plan for Robert Kern to develop the old Silver Cue building at 1200 Bridge into a professional office building.

The Council also approved a site plan for the operation of the Church of God on E. Upright, bot waived the planning commission's request that the parking area be paved.

Counciiman Earl Muma pointed out that paving the parking lot could create drainage problems and would be something of an eyesore in that residential neighborhood.

Council also approved the concept of locating the new Post Office at a site north of City Hall. A new fire hall would then be built at the site of the current Post Office.

City Manager Michael Wiesner was authorized to proceed with providing a plot plan and warranty deed to the property for review by the Council on April 22.

Wiesner's only objection to the U.S. Postal Service proposal for the area was that short-term parking be provided only on the east side of State Street, rather than on both sides as the Postal Serice requested. The Council concurred.

Enrichment classes offered

Community Education enrichment classes have completed the scheduled ten weeks of sessions with many Charlevoix residents feeling just a little more skilled than they did when they started.

Courses offered this semester included: Introduction To Computers, with instructor Ken Bartley, Welding with Norm Cook, Stained Glass with Jon and Julie Eakes, Basket Weaving with Karen McGee and Photography with Camera Club instructors Merle Plagge, Bob Martin, and Don Seelye.

The Community Education Program also offers high school completion courses from which three students will graduate this year.

Obituaries

L. GORDON ROWER

L. Gordon (Bud) Rower died Thursday, April 11, at the Little Traverse Division of Northern Michigan Hospitals.

Burial was in Toledo Memorial Park, Sylvania, Ohio.

A memorial service will be held at the First Congregational Church with the Rev. Philip G. Schairbaum officiating at 3 p.m. Monday.

Born in Kalida, Ohio, Mr. Rower was married to the former Lucile Niles. He was employed by the Medusa Cement Company for 39 years, retiring in 1974.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church, I.O.O.F. Lodge No. 55 in Manitowoc, Wis., and the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Jay A. of Spotsylvania, Va., and Neil G. Longmont, Colo.; two daughters, Mrs. Leroy (Sue) Schmidt of Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. John (Nan) Morris of Oak Park, Ill.; 11 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two brothers, Phillip of Sylvania, Ohio, and Robert of Blissfield and four sisters Doris Armstrong of Ottawa Lake, MI., Mrs. David (Lois) McClurg of Sylvania, Ohio, Mirian Williger of Toledo, Ohio and Jean Sochin of Jamaica, Vt.

The family suggests memorials to the American Parkinson Disease Association, P.O. Box 4479 Church Street Station, New York, N.Y. 10249 or the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

EDYTHE S. DAVY

Funeral services for Mrs. Edythe S. Davy, 87, were held Friday, April 12, at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Phillip G. Schairbaum of the First Congregational Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Davy died Wednesday, April 10, at the Petoskey Nursing Center.

Born in Charlevoix Oct. 29, 1897, to Joseph and Abbie Shores, pioneer residents, Edythe Shores was married to Claude L. Davy in Detroit in 1921. They always made their home in Charlevoix. Mr. Davy preceded her in death Aug. 9, 1962. She was a member of the First Congregational Church and a church circle.

She is survived by nieces and nephews.

The family suggests memorials to the First Congregational Church.

Film examines U.S. Congress

North Central Michigan College is live telecasting "Is Congress Working?" in the Library/Conference Center, Wednesday evening, April 17, from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend this satellite telecast free of charge.

The broadcast will originate in Washington, D.C., relayed by satellite to North Central Michigan College's new on-campus communication studio, and projected on the large screen in the Library/Conference Center.

The telecast brings together representatives from both houses of Congress as well as critics, journalists, lobbyists, and academics, and will be hosted by Hodding Carter. This diverse mix of individuals will address the most controversial issues facing the 99th Congress.

At the telecast's midpoint, 30 minutes will be provided for local discussion. The discussion will be led by Congressman Robert Davis' District Representative, Bill Huber, and NCMC Political Science Professors, Woody Derrohn and Patricia Ranger.

NCMC requests reservations for attendance as capacity is limited. Reservations can be obtained by calling 347-3973, ext. 2096.

Charlevoix Yesterday

This picture postcard, bearing the title, "The Old Channel, Charlevoix, Mich.", was mailed (for one cent) on September 5, 1901 from Charlevoix to Ypsilanti. It illustrates the rustic nature of Charlevoix' booming resort area of that time.

John Sharrow, who furnished the above picture, also answered our question of last week about the fate of the basketball that flew out of the top floor of the old Hotel Alhambra into the Pine River Channel. "They went down to the Coast Guard Station, which was then located on the Channel, got a boat, retrieved the basketball, and continued the game" he told us.

Forensic students compete

Charlevoix High School Forensic students will compete in the regional Invitational Events division of the program at Standish-Sterling Saturday according to their coach, Connie Ford.

Those participating had qualified for regional competition at the district level.

Charlevoix students will be competing in five divisions: storytelling, humorous, informative, duo, and multiple categories.

Entering in the storytelling division is Ember Spencer; humorous, Ann Wagner; informative, Valerie Barnes; duo, a team of Becca Wallace and Shawn Elliott and a second twosome of Maureen Buday and Ulf Evaldssen; and multiple, Paul Arnold, Cheryl Aull, Rusty Coolman, Lenore Erber, Karl Erber, Dianna Loder, Tara McLelland.

The top three winners in each category will advance to state competition at Ann Arbor May 4.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Interscholastic Forensics Association.

Incumbents file for Board

Only the incumbents filled for the two vacanciea on the Charlevoix Board of Education as the deadline for filing nominating petitions passed on Monday, April 8.

C. Max Novak filed for re-election to a fourth term on the board. He has served as board president since he was elected to the position.

Doris A. Pearl, who will be completing her first term as a trustee, will be seeking her second four-year term in the June 10 election.

Present terms of the members expire on June 30.

Barnard Grange joins state observance

The Barnard Grange, which is observing its 96th anniversary this year, is joining with Granges throughout the state in the annual observance of Grange Week April 21-27.

The Barnard Grange presently has a membership of 115.

Mary Warner, whose family has claimed membership in the organization for many years, has compiled a list of some programs the organization has sponsored and the fund-raising projects that have made it possible to complete work on the Grange Hall in anticipation of the centennial year.

The group has adopted a project sponsored by the Michigan Grange, to assist the deaf. The local Grange has assisted with a camp for the deaf at Torch Lake and has sponsored a student for a two-week session at the camp.

The men of the Grange have finished an addition to the existing hall which has increased the floor space. They have also added kitchen facilities and rest rooms and installed ceiling fans and a glass showcase.

The grounds have been landscaped with trees, shrubs, and flowers.

The women of the Grange have assisted in the fund-raising by making and raffling a quilt, sponsoring a country fair, pie sales, card parties, and dances. They also prepared and served food at all projects.

The youth of the Grange have assisted in numerous ways and in May will host youth from throughout the state in May for a weekend outing.

"We are proud of our Grange and we want people to know." Mrs. Warner says.

Char-Em spring meeting

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School Boards' Association is holding its spring meeting at the Charlevoix High School on Wednesday, April 17, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. This Star Spangled Salute will focus on gifted/talented/creative education in our local schools.

Featured in the evening's presentations will be students from Char-Em schools who are currently participating in a variety of enrichment activities that are presently being offered through local schools.

Some of the feature programs will be: Student Leadership Forum, College for Kids, Summer Institute for the Arts and Sciences, Midwest Talent Search, Olympics of the Mind, Spelling Bee Competitions, Academic Honors Class Members, and Future Problem Solving Teams.

This dinner meeting will feature student speakers and brief presentations of some problem solutions and projects that have resulted from this year's enrichment activities.

For further information call Kathy Martinchek or Susan VanWieren, 547-9947.

Kids jump for dough

The jump-a-thon, "Jump Rope For Heart", was held Wednesday, April 10, under the supervision of Eric Lundteigen and volunteer parents at the Elementary school gym.

Lundteigen reports a "fantastic showing" of 104 students participating, raising a total in pledged contributions of $4,587.00 for the Heart Fund. The top team, (four to six members on a team), raised $633.80. Members of the team include Luke Porath, Cary Field, Todd Warth, and David Hunter. Top individual pledge raiser was David Hunter who raised pledges of $350.00.

Students, and parents who couldn't resist, took turns jumping rope from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Volunteer parents supplied the jumpers with juice, oranges and apples and lots of encouragement.

The community is reminded that jumpers now collect their pledges and return them to school no later than April 19th.

Beta Mu elects officers

Preceptor Beta Mu, the senior chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in Charlevoix, elected officers for the 1985-86 year at a recent meeting.

Gloria Zundel was elected president; Lois McCandless, vice president; Kay Ball, recording secretary; Carol Stephan, corresponding secretary; Pauline Austin, treasurer; Gail Phillips, extension officer and Ann Hufford, alternate extension officer.

The new officers, who will assume their duties in September after three months summer recess, will be installed at a salad luncheon and meeting to be hosted by Mrs. Ball at her home on May 20.

In other events planned for April and May, Beta Mu will co-host the annual Founder's Day dinner at Duffy's of Charlevoix on April 29 and Mrs. Hufford will host the May 6 meeting when allocation of service funds will determined. The luncheon and installation of officers on May 20 will close out the activities before the summer recess.

Lake Charlevoix study proposed by WATCH

A major study of Lake Charlevoix, including assesments of land, water, and people systems, was proposed to the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee at its meeting on April 11.

The proposal for the comprehensive Lake Charlevoix study was made by Jerry Puhl on behalf of WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix), a local environmental group. Puhl is a member of Advisory Committee which is charged with studying the environmental issues affecting Lake Charlevoix and helping to prepare a management plan for the lake.

"It should be an unbiased, scientific study," Puhl said. He added that the study should be much broader than the DNR water study scheduled for this summer. WATCH also agreed to try and raise all the funds necessary to bring the study to completion.

The Advisory Committee deferred action on the WATCH proposal after several members raised concerns about the role of WATCH in the study and questions about the county's ability to accept funds from WATCH.

Puhl was asked to work with the Planning Commission to develop a memo of agreement concerning the terms of funding. Advice was also to be sought from the prosecuting attorney.

The Lake Charlevoix advisory group did agree to seek funds for a more limited survey of existing studies concerning Lake Charlevoix. They will attempt to hire a consultant within the next month and hope to have the work done within three months. Money for this survey is expected to come from the DNR's Coastal Management Program which has committed $12,500 to the county in this fiscal year.

County 4-H holds Achievement Day

Charlevoix-County 4-H'ers will be showing their completed projects from the winter at the annual 4-H County Achievement Day to be held at Whiting Park near Advance.

The date is Saturday, April 27, and the hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Public viewing can begin after the mid day break at 12 noon, and the public is invited to remain for the style show and awards presentation from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Members and leaders will place exhibits and displays in the earlier part of the morning to be ready for evaluation beginning at 10:00 a.m. People from the community serve as evaluators and hold short interviews with each 4-H child.

Following evaluation, ribbons are placed on all projects. Members each receive green participation ribbons for attending and either blue or red ribbons for their work.

Outstanding projects receive special recognition. In addition, the County 4-H Council confers a number of $15.00 Trip Awards to members whom the evaluators agree are deserving of this reward for their efforts based on work plus the interview. The Trip Awards are redeemable for 4-H events in the county or on the state level.

Achievement Day closes with a style show during which members show ensembles they have made or assembled. This is judged by a panel of three. Members model by age groups.

Friends of 4-H, friends of 4-H'ers, family members, and members of the community are all welcome and urged to take part in Achievement Day by attending this event.

Opinion

Clockwise

Spring arrives

by Bob Clock

Conflicts, of course, are inevitable, when it comes to public meetings. There are simply not enough hours in the week to accomodate everyone.

A case in point occurred Saturday morning when Rep. Robert W. Davis met with his constituents at Nanny's Old Place Resatdrant. At the same time at 218 Bridge St., members of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful were convening on the petunia planting next month.

A few people in town who would have liked to attend both meetings but haven't mastered the art of being two places at once.

I can't recommend a [illegible] but it might be a good idea if people who plan public meetings touch base first with the Chamber of Commerce.

SPRING HAS ARRIVED at long last, and a new highway hazard has sprung up: Ducks.

Mama mallards are among the most intrepid of God's creatures and it is nothing to see them leading flocks of young [illegible] across highways.

So watch out. They are not terribly bright and are [illegible] unimpressed by car horns. You'll just have to keep an eye open.

Of course, deer still pose a problem — compounded by the fact that for a week or so they will be practically invisible. It was easy to spot them against the snow. But now they blend beautifully with the brown, matted grass and weeds of our road shoulders.

Sometimes they are difficult to see until they move — and by then it may be too late.

I CAN'T RECALL a winter when the ice caves and arches along the Lake Michigan shore have been bigger or more exquisitely carved. Mother Nature certainly has an eye for beauty — even when she's in an uproar.

It's a little late this winter to explore them with any degree of safety. But put a trip to the lakeshore on your agenda for next March.

THE SPRING PAGEANT produced by the elementary school will be based on the theme of the refurbishing of the Statue of Liberty. Therefore, it was very thoughtful of the school to invite Lee Iacocca, Chrysler chairman and chairman of the Miss Liberty clean-up drive, to come to Charlevoix for the performance.

Unfortunately, Iacocca is in Japan and will have to forego music teacher Marina LaBlance's extravaganza Thursday night.

He'll never know what he missed.

Letters:

Sliding hill

Dear Editor:

I take pen in hand to write a few words in regards to the Grant Street sliding hill. I believe it a good idea to close it down. I walk that way often, especially wintertime to the stores etc. I have seen children take some very dangerous chances. It is a wonder some child has not been seriously injured; but, like the old Czech saying goes, "You go with pitcher for water till the ear breaks."

Mr. Sharrow and his friends enjoyed the hill he tells. This was all right then when they were boys around 1914. Now let me ask, "What was the traffic there like then?" In the teen years, cars were seldom driven in wintertime and if one came chugging along the street you could hear it coming "a mile away." Horses same thing. Compare that my friends, in your minds, with today's traffic. Cars and motorsleds zip by below that hill, stop sign or no stop sign, some of them, look as though they were in a great hurry to get someplace and if an unlucky child slides down the snow bank how is a ton or more of steel to stop in time? Those nice children that always have a smile for me when I walk by. I want not that any of them should be hurt or worse.

Surely some other less hazardous location and way can be found to give the children a danger free sliding hill pleasure. How about bussing them out of town to some hill for a couple of hours every Saturday afternoon?

Chorale presents spring concert

The Northern Michigan Chorale, under the direction of Don Large, will be presenting April concerts in both Petoskey and Cheboygan. The Chorale will be performing at the Cheboygan Opera House on Sunday, April 21 a 3:00 in the afternoon. This program will include the chorale's favorite numbers from previous concerts plus one or two sneak previews from the spring concert. Bea Thomas of Cheboygan will accompany the opera house concert. Tickets will be available at the door at $5.00 each.

Old Man River; a Travelogue Down the Mississippi is the theme of the annual spring concert to be presented at the Petoskey High School team teaching room on Sunday, April 28 at 4:00 p.m. and Monday, April 29 at 8:00 p.m. The musical excursion will guide the audience through the mood swings of the mighty river from the somber sounds of Deep River to the lively rock music of Elvis Presley.

Tickets for the annual concert will go on sale Monday, April 15. They will be sold by Chorale members or may be obtained at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Petoskey Chamber of Commerce or Linehan's of Harbor Springs. The tickets will be $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Local winners in a Poison Prevention Poster Contest sponsored by the Northern Michigan Pharmacists Association, Charlevoix Area Hospital and other area hospitals were announced last week. Lani Ochs, right, coordinator of the contest for the Pharmacists Association, presented checks to the three top finishers at the local level. From left are Gina Howard of Boyne City who placed third and received $5, Junnie Barrow of Ellsworth who placed second and received $10 and Matthew Walgamott of Ellsworth who won first place and received $15. The contest was open to first through third grades in Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Cheboygan Counties. Matthew's first place poster will now advance to the finals of the competition in Petoskey.

Charlevoix walk scheduled as March of Dimes fundraiser

The annual March of Dimes fundraiser, WALKAMERICA, has been scheduled for Saturday, April 27 in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area. Walks are being coordinated that day in cities from coast to coast.

The Charlevoix Walk will again begin on Division Street behind Duffy's and progressing to Subaru-on-the-Bay in Bay Shore and back. Checkpoints along the way will offer refreshments for the walkers and there will be well-marked cars transporting those unable to complete the walk.

This year's event will be pre-paid, in that walkers will collect their sponsor money before the walk and turn it in before beginning the walk. Prizes are being sought for top walkers. First prize for walker under 18 is a color television set. A bed-and-breakfast package has been offered by Harbour-Inn-on-the-Bay for the top adult walker. Other prizes will be announced at a later date.

Sponsor sheets can be picked up at 7-Eleven and City Hall. Volunteers are needed to help the day of the walk. Teams from businesses and organizations are being sought to participate and make it a day of fun while helping a worthwhile cause. To volunteer or for more information, call Marion Parker, March of Dimes Office, 547-5877.

Weddings

Michelle Marie Rick and Clifford R. Biddick

Rick-Biddick

Michelle Marie Rick and Clifford D. Biddick were married February 16 at the Weathervane Inn of Charlevoix by Magistrate Wayne Barnett.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rick of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Biddick of Charlekvoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length ivory gown with ivory beads and intricate lace accents on the sleeves and V-neck bodice. A handmade long veil with small beads completed the outfit. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, red roses, and baby's breath.

Jacqueline Rick served her sister as maid of honor and another sister, Stephanie Little, served as hostess. They wore burgundy colored gowns and carried small carnation bouquets. Jeffrey Little, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Ken Biddick served his brother as best man, and Jim Davis provided guitar music or the occasion.

A reception at the Charlevoix Yacht Club followed the ceremony. The newlyweds are at home in Charlevoix following a wedding trip to the Bahamas. The bridegroom is general manager and vice-president of the Irish Boat Shop in Charlevoix. The bride is a 1978 graduate of Michigan State University and is currently employed by the Department of Natural Resources in Grayling.

Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Carpenter

Carpenters celebrate 50th anniversary

An anniversary party honoring Lynn and Rose Carpenter of Bay Shore, will be held from 2-5 p.m. Saturday, April 20, at the Hayes Township Hall on Old 31.

Lynn Carpenter and the former Rose Miller, were married April 21, 1935, in Petoskey at the Methodist Church. They made their home on a farm outside of Ellsworth until late 1971, then moved to manage the Loeb Estates in Charlevoix for five years. Upon retirement in 1976, they moved to Hayes Township, Bay Shore. Mrs. Carpenter is retired from Gulf and Western in East Jordan.

There are six children, Del Carpenter of Rockford, Mrs. Stanley Ruis (Roselynn) of Battle Creek, Mrs. James Foster Sr. (Fran) of Petoskey, Mrs. Wendell Capron (Sandra) of Levering, Steven Carpenter of East Jordan and Mrs. Gary Snover (Susan) of Albuquerque, New Mexico. They also have 22 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Friends and neighbors are welcome to attend the open house; sponsored by the Carpenter family.

Drama student excels

By ANNE KELLY

Senior Dianna Loder's credentials from high school read like a yearbook contestant's for all-around "student of the year". Active in drama, sports and student government, all the while maintaining an honor roll average, is no easy matter. But Dianna does all this and still has energy to spare.

The community first saw Dianna in the school play "Grease" as Sandy; the 50s co-ed who belted out "Summer Nights" with all the appropriate naivete. That role was only one among many for which performing arts teacher Connie Ford has recommended Dianna for special recognition.

Her success in competition has won her places in the district, regionals, and state, both individually and along with her fellow performers. Most recently, as Marion Librarian in the this year's production of "The Music Man" Dianna helped Charlevoix capture first place and a Class C-D trophy at the state competitions.

Dianna received a costume design award at district level and a choreography award at State. She is currently involved in a humorous multiple "The World of What If?" taken from "A Light In The Attic" by Shel Silverstein. Charlevoix has taken first place in the last three tournaments in district competitions and will be off to the regionals in April.

Highlights of Dianna's high school years have been performing in dinner theaters, community performances, helping with choreography, participating in dramatic competitions, and getting the opportunity to have been coached by Charles Stevens of the Young Americans.

The story doesn't end there. Dianna has participated in school government by serving as class representative to student council in the ninth, tenth and 11th grades, and attended Girl's State at Central Michigan University last year, where she was picked as chairperson of the House of Representatives during "mock government" week.

Dianna has also been a member of the Spanish Club and the president of that group for the past two years. She has participated in basketball and track, been a peer group facilitator (working one-on-one with an elementary student) has been on the honor roll for four years, and has been a member of the National Honor Society for her junior and senior years. And, oh yes, Dianna was first runner up in the 1984 Venetian Pageant.

Out of breath? Dianna's still rolling.

"Sometimes I feel that I bite off more than I can chew," admits this energetic 18-year-old, who often sleeps all day Sunday, just to gather her reserves for the upcoming week.

"I found that if I stick with it, I'll reach my goal," Dianna related. "I have to finish what I start." A supreme satisfaction for Dianna was making the starting five on her basketball team the last three games of her senior year.

"I had always tried so hard and always failed before — sometimes it was because of an injury or I just wasn't playing as well as the others. But when I finally made it, it felt so good. My parents' advice has always been: keep striving to be the best you can be personally; and always remember, there will always be someone who's better."

Realtors offer course

CHARLEVOIX — The Michigan Association of Realtors in conjunction with the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors is offering the Real Estate Continuing Education Course on Wednesday, May 1, 1985, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Hilton Shanty Creek in Bellaire.

The registration fee for members of the Michigan Association of Realtors is $20.00. The fee for non-members is $35.00. Registration for the course should be sent to the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors, Pine River Bldg., Charlevoix, Michigan 49720, by April 26. Registrants are requested to write their License I.D. number on their checks.

As mandated by law, all Michigan real estate licenses must complete the six hour Real Estate Continuing Education Course prior to renewing their licenses in December, 1985.

New baseball coach leads veteran team

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team will open its 1985 season at home Tuesday when they entertain the East Jordan Red Devils at the Grant Street Park.

It will mark the team's first appearance under their new coach, Brian Certa, who has been named to succeed Pete Spieles, veteran coach who had handled the team since the sport was included into the high school program.

Like coaches throughout the north, Coach Certa is concerned that he has not been able to give his squad the coordinated team practice so important to molding them into a team. "Luckily, I have a host of veterans, kids who have played together, which in a way, compensates for the lack of preparation," Certa said.

Among the 20 candidates who have been working inside, waiting for a chance to put some time in at the diamond, are ten seniors, among them, two pitchers, Brent Cole who will also play at first, and Mike Herriman who will fill in at third. Other positions likely filled by veteran players will be that of catcher with Kris Havens returning behind the plate and also playing at third.

Kent Ketchman is expected to play at first and in the outfield, Richard Wurst will be a utility infielder, playing at short as well as at second and third, and Dave McKenzie, at third and in the outfield. Other seniors who will be playing in the outfield are Thad Morgan, Kyle Smith, Jim Young and Britt Center.

Two juniors, Jody Putman and Mac Himebauch, will take their turns on the mound. Putman will also play at second and Himebauch will fill in behind the plate and at third. Matt Lignell and Joe Tilton who be candidates for the second base position and Brian Wilmot for first. Lignell and Wilmot will also play in the outfield.

A sophomore, Mike Thompson, will be a likely starter at short stop, Kent Seymour will get a chance at catching and playing at third, Scott Ballard is a potential pitcher and outfielder and John Gray, an infielder.

The only freshman among the 20 candidates, Scott Denny, will try out for a second base assignment.

Certa said that some of the above assignment would likely be changed once he could see the team in action but for the opener, players would probably start in these positions.

Members of the 1985 Charlevoix High School boys' baseball team are:

Missing: Ann Kroll, Missy Sandahl, Shelly Crain, Lisa Smith, Tammy Lambert.

Girls' softball squad confident of successful 1985 season

By FRAN MARTIN

"I feel we have a really good defensive unit but with the weather conditions as they've been I haven't been able to test them as a team," Ron Cox, new coach of the Charlevoix High School girls' softball team, said of his squad which has been going through drills indoors in preparation for the 1985 season opened against East Jordan Tuesday.

The game, to be played at the city's Carpenter Avenue softball field, will open a 12 game schedule.

Of his candidates, Cox said he has nine strong ballplayers who will form the nucleus of this season's team. His big concern has been the weather which has kept the team inside and not given him an opportunity to try players out in a team situation. However, he is confident that the team should do well.

The list of candidates includes four seniors. They are Meg Fowler, a veteran catcher, Angie McClanaghan, shortstop, Missy Sandahl, a pitcher and infielder, all experienced players, and Amy Coates who is out for the first time.

Three juniors will also add experience to the team. They are Lara Stargardt, at third, Michelle Gagnon, a versatile player who can play at first, behind the plate, or on the mound and Tammy Lambert, an outfielder.

Though only sophomores, three others have had some varsity experience. They are Amy Antaya, an outfielder, Ann Kroll who can pitch, fill in a first, or play in the outfield and Jennifer Sell, who will likely play at second.

Most of the other candidates are untried, Cox said. Maureen Buday, though a senior, is a candidate for the first time, Kim Hand is a sophomore and out for the first time and the others are freshmen. This list includes Becky Smith, Shelly Crain, Kristie Hand, Lisa Smith, Jana Lashmit, Brenda Sutton, Trina Wiser, and Michelle Siebert.

Despite their late start with practice as a team Cox is confident that the team will make a good showing when they take to the diamond and develop as the season unfolds.

Rayder track teams get test
Young talent performs well

By FRAN MARTIN

"It was a good learning experience. It gave the kids a chance to get on a track and, especially for the younger runners, a feel of competition" Hal Evans, coach of the Rayder boys' team said at his team's first outing. He and Dennis VanGuilder, girls' coach expressed satisfaction with their teams at Traverse City Thursday during a practice meet set ahead from Wednesday because of the weather.

"We had a few pleasant surprises and a few disappointments", Evans went on to say. The surprises were the performances of several of the younger competitors who performed well and most of the disappointments related to those who did not put in an appearance at the meet.

Evans said his senior sprinters, Jim Martin and Doug Sloan, won their perspective events with Martin winning the 100 and 200 yard dashes and Sloan the 400 yard run.

They also ran as member of relay teams that were competing for the first time and showed up well though there is a need for more practice, he said.

Sophomore Jim Gibbs and Tim Salmonson, a junior, showed promise as hurdlers. Terry Bonar, another sophomore, placed third in the half mile. Paul Anderson, a sophomore and a newcomer to the team, and Kevin Shepard, another sophomore, ran well in the relays Evans said. Anderson also participated in the long jump. Pat Rajewski, a freshman, and a member of the cross country team, ran well in the middle distances and two other members of that team, Mike Dohm and Doug Bergmann, are shaping up well he commented.

Mike Louiselle placed third in the shot. "We have very little in the field events department" Evans said.

"I am hopeful that the team will shape up but with the weather and the lack of facilities it is hard at this point to determine what we will be able to do. Certainly it will be a year of re-building" he added.

VanGuilder said as much of the girls team. "Right now we have to work on our endurance and strengths. The skills can be honored later," he noted.

In commenting on some of the 16 members of the team who made the trip, VanGuilder said Michelle Louiselle, a sophomore, looked good in the 220; Rhonda Brown did well in the long jump for this early in the season and Betsy Haggard, a freshman and a member of Charlevoix's cross country team, looked promising in the middle distances.

The 440 relay team also looked good, he said. Members of this team are Barbie Boss, Brown, Kris Austin and Chaya Moore. Missing from this team is Stephanie Martin who is not running because of a knee injury.

"This does not mean that the other members of the team did not do as well as one would expect in their first outing. They have not had the past experience or the practice because of the weather that will give them a chance to prove what they can do. I know there is a lot of talent there if we have an opportunity to bring it out," VanGuilder said of his squad.

The teams will travel to Kalkaska for a meet with the Blue Blazers of Gaylord on Thursday, April 18.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Skippers, it's time to dust off those sail bags and apply that last coat of varnish to your tiller, the 1985 Charlevoix Yacht Club Racing season is about to open.

Bill Kenifeck has reminded the mouse that the club will be using Lake Michigan PHRF certificates for your handicaps. The renewal certificates were scheduled to be mailed by LMPHRF on April 17 for those owners who have applied. New boat owners and those joining the racing fleet for the first time may contact Gary Gleason at 547-4600 for applications and assistance in measuring boats and sails.

The Yacht Club will host a LMPHRE presentation at the clubhouse on Friday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. to answer questions and to air concerns regarding handicapping. Please try to attend if you plan to compete.

At a time to be announced, Dave Irish and friends will conduct a racing seminar at the clubhouse to review old rules and to explain new changes.

The racing season breaks down as follows:
May 8 and 15 — Tune-up Races
May 22 through June 26 — Spring Series
June 15 — CYC Invitational, Boyne City Race
July 5 — Little Traverse Off Shore Regatta
July 6 — Women's Classic
July 10 through Aug. 21 — Summer Series
July 13 — Irish Cup Race
July 27 — Little Traverse Invitational
August 17-18 — Little Traverse YC-Beaver Island Race
August 18 — Singlehanded Race
August 24 — Hot Dog Races and Pig Roast
August 30 — Budweiser Olympic Triangle
August 31/September 1 — Red Fox Regatta
September 4 through October 9 — Fall Series
October 16 — Landing Rendezvous
November 15 — Deer Hunter's Alternative

We look for you at the clubhouse Friday night, the 17th.

Spearing rule announced

Fishermen should be reminded that spearing season for suckers in non-trout streams is May 1 to May 31.

Currently the following Lake Michigan tributary streams are classified as trout streams and therefore closed to spearing:

Emmet County: Carp Lake River, Seven Mile Creek, Five Mile Creek, No Name Creek (T35N, R5W, Section 32), Roaring Brook, Page Creek, Memonaqua Creek, Tannery Creek, Bear River, Gene Creek (T37N, R6W, Section 8), Wycamp Creek, all streams south of Bear River.

Charlevoix County: All streams tributary to Lake Michigan.

Antrim County: All streams tributary to Lake Michigan.

Sport fishermen may take suckers in all Lake Michigan tributaries (trout streams and non-trout streams) for a distance of one-half mile upstream with hand nets during the smelt dipping season. In Antrim, Charlevoix, and Emmet Counties this season is April 10 to May 31.

Trout Unlimited to hear Tanner

Dr. Howard Tanner will be the featured speaker at the Hazen Miller Chapter of Trout Unlimited annual banquet on April 17, 1985. Tanner was Michigan's DNR director from 1975 to 1983.

The banquet will be held at the Inland House beginning at 6:30 p.m.. A raffle will be held featuring a Sawyer Canoe. A short program describing the chapter's sedimentation trap on the Maple River will be presented.

The cost of the banquet is $15.00. with all proceeds to be used for Maple River projects. The public is invited and reservations can be made at the Inland House, 616-347-8127, or tickets can be obtained from chapter members.

Building permits down

Contrary to expectations, permits issued by the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection during March decreased from the January and February figures.

The Department issued 14 permits in March, compared with 17 in January and 20 in February. Of these, only two were for new houses, one in Norwood Township and one in Boyne City. Four permits were issued for additions to or remodeling of commercial buildings, and three for mobile homes.

Names In The News

DAVID MORGRIDGE and FRANK RATHJENS of Charlevoix were included on the Lake Superior State College Dean's List for the term recently ended. They must have earned a 3.5 grade point average or better. An "A" is 4.00.

Airman KEITH A. HRIBEK, son of Kenneth A. Hribek of Standish and Patricia Rozell of Ellsworth, has been assigned to Brooks Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training. During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs, and received special instruction in human relations. He will now receive specialized instruction in the medical services field. He is a 1984 graduate of Ellsworth High School.

MICHAEL R. ELDER, SN. has been named Sailor of the Quarter aboard the USCG Cutter Mesquite for the first quarter of the current year. The Sailor of the Quarter is nominated by the ship's crew. The selection is based on the crewmen's military bearing and etiquette, uniform appearance, work habits, professionalism, and leadership. In recognition of being named Sailor of the Quarter, Elder will be granted a 96-hour pass and have his name engraved on the Ship's Plaque.

Elder is the son of John S. and Margaret S. Elder of Lewiston, Pennsylvania. He joined the Coast Guard in March, 1983, following graduation from Lewiston Area High School. He received his basic training at Cape May, New Jersey before joining the crew of the Mesquite in May, 1983. He currently resides in Charlevoix.

DAN STAUBLIN, playing a marimba solo, received a I rating with 98 out of a possible 100 points.

MICHELLE NORTH, flutist, also received a I rating for her flute solo.

WENDY VOISIN, playing a piano solo, was awarded a II rating.

All three are sophomores. Terry Isenbarger is their instructor.

TROY SWEGLES, 17, who will be graduated from the Charlevoix High School in June, has entered the U. S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, according to Sgt. Sadler, U. S. A. F. recruiting officer in Petoskey. This program allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and assignment to a job or skill area. Swegles is ther son of Mrs. Paula Swegles of Charlevoix and Ronald Swegles of Los Altos, California. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Swegles of Wayne, and his maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heise of Charlevoix. His great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Crites of Charlevoix.

Three young Charlevoix High School musicians rated high in state competition at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival held at Big Rapids recently.

As first year entries, all were performing in Proficiency I.

Building

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection recently issued permits to:

Rodney Ward, to enclose corner of residence on Jensen Road, Melrose Township.

Houck Construction Co. (for Dr. R. W. Mansfield), to construct addition to commercial building on M-75 and Hannah Street, Boyne City.

John L. Blakkan, to construct new garage on Spring Street, Springwater Beach, Evangeline Township.

Gary E. Cole, to enclose porch and construct chimney in residence at 1374-A Lewis Street, Boyne City.

Ron Knight (for Charlevoix Co-op), to erect commercial sign on Stover Road, Charlevoix.

Charles A. Meier, Jr., to construct new residence at corner of Pearl and Maple Streets, North Point, Charlevoix Township.

Ron A. Keller, to construct pole building on Flagg Road, South Arm Township.

Kirk A. Carson, to install mobile home and addition on Advance-Boyne City Road, Eveline Township.

Chris J. Shea (for East Jordan Family Health Center), to construct addition to Health Center building at 601 Bridge Street, East Jordan.

James Petrie Construction Co. (for Grandvue Medical Care Facility), to construct addition for ambulance entrance.

Arthur W. Young, to construct addition to commercial building at 1439 Pleasant Avenue, Boyne City.

John A. Rokus, to construct pole building at corner of Fineout and Clute Roads, Melrose Township.

Phillip Havens, to remodel residence at 311 Mason Street, Charlevoix.

Curtis O. Petrak (for Beaver Island Christian Church), to construct new church building.

Births

Recent births at the Charlevoix Area Hospital included:

A son, Gordon McCallum Blair, Jr., born to Gordon and Kanday Blair of Boyne City on April 5.

A son, Joseph Alexander Hodgkin, born to Frank and Mary Hodgkin of Elmira on April 7. (Hospital's Easter baby).

A son, Jon Michael Shooks, born to Dale and Darla Shooks of Central Lake on April 9.

Marriages

The Charlevoix County Clerk recently issued marriage licenses to:

Timothy J. Karlskin, 29, of Boyne City, and Christina K. Baxter, 16, of Boyne City.

Larry D. Hainline, 25, of Galesburg, Illinois, and Kimberly A. Helland, 22, of East Jordan.

Court

District

Visiting Judge Richard Liedel recently heard the following cases in Charlevoix District Court:

Bradley S. Warner, 24, Charlevoix, attempting to resist and obstruct a police officer. $205 fine and costs, two years' probation, and 365 days in county jail with credit for 98 days served, or residential treatment.

Roger A. Kennedy, 28, Charlevoix, breaking and entering and damaging a vehicle. Preliminary examination held, bound over to Circuit Court.

Spring Clean-up and Brush Pick-up Schedule
City of Charlevoix

City crews and trucks will be made available to haul away your unwanted brush, tree limbs, appliances, furniture, or other rubbish during the annual Spring Clean-up campaign. If you want your rubbish picked up, you must put it out before the dates listed below:

Second Ward (old boundaries — West of State Street — Before Monday, May 13th

Third Ward (old boundaries) — East of State Street — Before Monday, May 6th

First Ward (old boundaries) — North of bridge — Before Monday, May 20th.

1. All rubbish must be out for pickup before the starting date in each ward.

2. It is illegal to place rubbish, brush, or leaves at the sides of Charlevoix's streets after the starting date in each area. Violators will be cited, and the rubbish, brush, or leaves will not be picked up.

3. Place all items for pickup in back of curb on all streets with curbs, or off traveled portion of the road on all streets without curbs.

4. Mark containers "SAVE" if you want them returned.

5. Large objects do not have to be placed in containers.

6. Brush and tree limbs must be cut into four foot lengths and must be separated from other rubbish.

7. No regular garbage will be collected.

NOTICE: Once the clean-up program is completed for each area of town, City crews will not again pick up any brush, tree limbs or leaves from private property until after Labor Day. So please make sure this material is put out for pickup now!

If you have any questions, please contact the City Manager's Office, 547-3270.

Child care costs show dramatic rise

by PEG OHLE

One of the greatest demands on the Charlevoix County budget is the cost of child care.

During fiscal year 1983-1984, the County paid $214,922 to take care of its delinquent, neglected, and abused children. This and State funds covered 23,394 days of out-of-home care for 64 children.

Over three years, the cost of child care to the County has increased by $107,198 and the number of days of out-of-home care provided has increased by 3,349.

Alarmed by these figures and the likelihood they will continue to rise, members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week invited Richard Knapp, Child Care Consultant for the Michigan Department of Social Services, to appear before them to make any suggestions he might have to alleviate the problem.

His only suggestion was, "To reduce costs you must reduce the number of days of out-of-home care".

He presented charts showing child care costs in 14 northern Michigan counties in 1983. On a per capita basis, the costs in Charlevoix County were the highest. Of special interest is the comparison between Charlevoix and Emmet Counties, which share the same Juvenile Court Judge.

Charlevoix County had a youth population of 5,991 and paid for the above-mentioned 22,250 days of out-of-home care. Emmet County had a youth population of 6,717 and paid for only 10,708 days of out-of-home care. Is there that much difference between the young people in the two counties?

However, although the two counties share the same Juvenile Judge, they do have separate Juvenile Officers, law enforcement agencies, Departments of Social Services, school systems, and other social and political units which are part of the child care process.

> Youth activities program > almost a "country club"
> — Campbell

Juvenile Court and the Department of Social Services are responsible for children who get into "the system", and as with most shared responsibilities, there are some differences in opinion on procedures and management. This became evident at the last County Board meeting, which was also attended by representatives of the Court and Social Services.

When asked point-blank by a County Commissioner what was causing the dramatic rise in child care costs, Knapp noted the figure for costs of state wards, which are handled by the Department of Social Services. These costs increased by $74,867 in the last three years.

Charlevoix County Social Services Director Richard Tillen replied that the costs had gone up because he could not turn down Juvenile Court orders for child care, which had increased considerably. "But you don't have to keep them as long as you do," Juvenile Court Officer Brad Campbell answered, indicating a difference in philospby.

Campbell was also critical of Social Services and the County for discontinuing the Youth Diversionary program, which he said had provided meaningful activities for children, many of whom are now "getting into trouble". Also, he said, the Youth Activities Program, now operated by Social Services which provides group games and crafts activities for children, is almost a "country club" program which does not meet the needs of potential delinquents.

There is also some friction between Juvenile Court and the County Board of Commissioners over the Child Care budget. "Each year we present a budget, the County Board cuts it, and then when we run over, they want to know why," Campbell explained.

When Juvenile Court presented its last budget, for $226,000, the County Board cut it to $211,000. A grant application using that figure was prepared for presentation to the State Department of Social Services.

The application required the signatures of County Board Chairman Lee Moerland, Juvenile Court Judge John Murphy, and Social Services Director Tillen. Judge Murphy refused to sign the application for the lesser amount, so it wss sent to Lansing with only two signatures.

Knapp told the Board of Commissioners last week that in no way would the money be forthcoming to them under these circumstances. This stalemate could jeopardize the whole child care program in Charlevoix County.

County Commissioner Don Smith, who is the County Board liasion person with Social Services, Juvenile Court, and Child Care, says that after listening to those involved, he believes oone of the departments is all right or all wrong. "I think we will be able to sit down and straighten this out," he said, using the help of Knapp, who could format the needs of the County and supply information about how other counties are handling child care.

Record, clothes store opens

Charlevoix's newest business opened April 11 in the Market Mall. It is called "Connie's Place" and features records, cassettes, clothing, and a variety of accessories.

Owned by Connie Nowak, the new store is the offshoot of a similar store she operates in Gaylord.

"Connie's Place" will be open year-round. Nowak says that the store will do custom imprinting on shirts, hats, and jackets. Transfers or decals can be put on in the store and custom silk screening of company logos can be done at the Gaylord location.

Uniforms have become something of a specialty for the store. "We do a lot of school uniforms in Gaylord," Nowak says, " and we'd like to do the same in Charlevoix."

Nowak will be assisted in the store by employees Cathi Foster and Natalie Hahn.

Annual Kindergarten Roundup scheduled by school

The annual Kindergarten Roundup for children of the Charlevoix School District entering school in September has been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, April 23 and 24, Ralph Raymer, principal, has announced.

The Charlevoix Board of Education recommends that children entering kindergarten be five years old by Sept. 1, 1985, Mr. Raymer also advised.

Parents are requested to bring ONLY the child to be registered and the birth certificate and immunization record of that child when he or she is brought to the Elementary School on Division Ave. as per the following schedule:

Parents whose last name begins with any letter from "A" through "M" are asked to register on Tuesday, April 23, from 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Children whose last name begins with any letter from "N" through "Z" will register on Wednesday, April 24, from 9:00 a.m. and 12 noon and 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Geraldine Brady, the school nurse, will be present to confer with each parent and begin the child's school health record. Each parent will be asked to set up an appointment for a physical assessment which includes Vision and Hearing screcning. This will be done through District Health Department No. 3.

On Tuesday, April 23, Mrs. Priess present kindergarten classes will not be in school.

On April 24, Wednesday, Mrs. Miller's present kindergarten classes will not be in school.

Ralph Raymer, elementary school principal, Mrs. Brady, the school nurse, and the teachers, Mrs. Priess and Mrs. Miller wish to welcome all new entrants to the Charlevoix Public School.

Mesquite stays in Charlevoix, Coast Guard says

BY DOUG TRUAX

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite will remain in Charlevoix, Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C., told the Charlevoix Courier this week in an exclusive interview.

All five buoy tenders operating in the Great Lakes will remain at their home ports, the Coast Guard said.

The decision to keep the Mesquite in Charlevoix ends months of speculation on the fate of the ship. Early this year the Coast Guad revealed that it was evaluating the status of the five Great Lakes buoy tenders, with the possibility of eliminating one of them.

Other buoy tenders on the Great Lakes include the Acacia at Grand Haven, the Bramble at Port Huron, the Sundew at Duluth, and the Mariposa at Detroit. A smaller tender, the Buckthorn, is stationed at Sault Ste. Marie.

"We have made a decision to not eliminate any buoy tenders this year," Commander Terence O'Connel, chief facilities management branch, Office of Navigation, told the Courier.

Asked if there was any liklihood that the ship would be removed next year, O'Connel replies, "We have made no decision to even look at them next year."

O'Connel said that a study by Aids to Navigation in 1983 showed there "were more resources in the Great Lakes per mission requirement than elsewhere." There was an indication, he said, that the Coast Guard could reduce that resource.

A study of the possibility to eliminating one of the Coast Guard ships was undertaken by the Aids to Navigation office at the Ninth Coast Guard District, Cleveland. Their recommendation was forwarded to Headquarters in Washington, D.C. earlier this year.

Len Garrett, chief of operations at the Ninth District said that he was unaware that the decision had been made by Washington. "All we knew were that the wheels were grinding," Garret said when contacted by the Courier.

Asked what recommendation the Ninth District had made regarding the future of the buoy tenders, Garrett replied that he was "not at liberty to disclose any information regading the report until a decision was made. And we are not aware yet tha one has been made."

From 1968-70 Garrett was commander of the Sundew when it was stationed at Charlevoix. He later served as group commander at Sault Ste. Marie.

Cmdr. O'Connell said that the decision not to relocate the Mesquite, or any of the other Great Lakes buoy tenders, was made in part because "the Coast Guard presence is required even if waiting around."

"Buoy tending operations," he said, "are dynamic at some times and static at others."

In recent years, the duties of the buoy tenders have changed radically with the automation of light stations, the curtailment of winter navigation, and the use of 140-foot tugs and the icebreaker Mackinaw, stationed at Cheboygan, to perform icebreaking duties once shared by the buoy tenders.

O'Connell also indicated that the decision on the buoy tenders was also conditioned by the fact that moving the ship would present a hardship to families

City Council hears development plan

City Council last night took on a packed agenda of business during its Committee of the Whole meeting.

The most lively discussion centered on a proposal to expand Nanny's Old Place, presented by owner Mike Barnard. Barnard told the council that he was "landlocked by city property" and would like to buy property from the city to expand his business.

Barnard showed the council plans for expansion of his business into what he termed "Nanny's Club Resort." The enlarged facility would include meeting rooms, banquet rooms, two racquetball courts, and eight more motel rooms.

Barnard said he had plans to glass in the front of the building and put an addition on the north side.

He proposed buying the city-owned railroad right-of-way to the west of Nanny's.

"We need to make a decision," he urged the council.

He also objected to the idea of relocating Ferry Road to run along the railroad right-of-way and thus providing parking for Ferry Beach that did not require crossing the road. "If you run the road behind me, that pretty much shuts me down," Barnard said of the plan.

Council, lead by Michael Greeley, considered Barnard's proposal premature and cautioned that nothing could be decided on the use of city land in tbe area until the Tax Increment Financing plan for the area was finalized by the Downtown Development Authority.

Sue Luedke-Gengle reported to the Council her desire to operate a concession stand at Ferry Beach during the summer months. She noted the public demand for such a facility and presented petitions to that effect.

Barnard, whose business is across from the beach, interjected that "the beach area is not big enough for two concessions." He said he had plans pending with the city for a portable concession in the Nanny's parking lot.

"I don't believe city facilities and property should be used in competition with private enterprise," Barnard said.

He noted that he had verbal approval from a previous acting city manager to proceed with the concession.

"Before we can decide what to do with Sue, we must decide what we are doing with Mike," Councilman Greeley stated.

Mayor Hal Hill agreed, suggesting that the city get more facts and information on the matter.

Council, in other business, accepted a proposal to grant $1,000 to the Crooked Tree Arts Council for fiscal year 1986. The Arts' Council sought the money in order to apply for matching federal funds. The grant of money from the city would be contingent on the availability of funds at that time and on the arts group receiving the federal matching funds.

Beaver Island crash kills seven FAA begins investigation of site

By FRAN MARTIN

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND — Seven residents of Holland, Michigan, two of them doctors on the staff at the Holland Community Hospital, were the victims of a plane crash in Peaine Township Friday evening, Sheriff George T. Lasater has announced.

The victims were Dr. Eli Coates, 49, Holland physician and owner of a cottage on the island where the party was planning to spend the weekend; Dr. Steven Zonnebeit, 33, owner of the Cessna 310 two engine plane and believed to be the pilot; Richard Wierenga, 41, and his son William, six; Robert VanderMeulen, 35, his wife, Linda, 33, and their son, Joshua, six.

The bodies were brought to the Winchester Funeral Home before being transferred to funeral homes in Holland.

Sheriff Lasater said the accident remains under investigation by the FAA, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, and the Beaver Island Fire Fighters.

According to Sheriff Lasater, who with his deputies flew to the island Saturday morning to join the search for the downed plane, the FAA in Minneapolis heard from the pilot at 10:05 p.m. advising that the plane had arrived at the island, located in northern Lake Michigan 32 miles northwest of Charlevoix, and was preparing to land.

A search for the plane was initiated at approximately 6:30 a.m. Saturday following a 5:30 a.m. telephone call from Mrs. Coates in Holland to Edward Wojan, island realtor. She said that the party had departed Holland enroute to the island and that during the night she had received a call from Mrs. Zonnebeit who was concerned because her husband had not called upon arrival at his destination as was his custom.

In a telephone conversation, Wojan said he went to both the Welke Airport and the township airport in Peaine Township. Finding nothing, he went to the Coates cottage, the former Dominican convent south of St. James, checked the motels and called the Charlevoix and the Traverse City airports. Finding no news of the plane, he notified the FAA which advised that the plane had been in contact with them upon arrival at the island.

Wojan said he then called out the island's fire fighters, a well organized group trained in search as well as fire fighting.

A Coast Guard helicopter from the Traverse City Air Station was dispatched to the island but was hampered in its early efforts by ground fog that covered a major part of the island.

Sheriff Lasater and his deputies joined the search. Later a second helicopter arrived from the air station. It was at this time that Tom McDonough who with Paul McDowell had heard a plane as they left the Circle M Restaurant shortly after 10 p.m. Friday said he had seen what could have been a flash in the sky south of the airport. A short time later at 10:30 a.m. the crew of the helicopter located the wreckage of the plane in a wooded swampy area approximately a mile south of the township airport.

McDonough said he and McDowell heard the plane as they left the Circle M located south of St. James and had driven first to the Welke Airport and then to the township airport. Sighting nothing they searched until about midnight and still finding nothing assumed the plane has returned to the mainland because of the fog that hung in patches over the island.

Wojan, who was at the site of the crash, said the plane sheared off the tree tops as it came down and apparently exploded on impact, scattering the wreckage over a 200 yard area.

The FAA was to have visited the site of the crash later Saturday.

Dr. Leonard J. Siudara, island physician and deputy medical examiner, was called to the scene of the crash on the island. Dr. Reed Freidinger, county medical examiner, examined the bodies at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix.

It is always fun to be the first kid on the block to go out without shoes. Sailors must get the same delight being the first to have their boat in the water. From the Courier's perch above Round Lake, this boat, Fairport I, appears to have won this year's honors.

A song and dance that everyone loves

Marina LaBlance has been thrilling them for years

by Doug Truax

The show is strictly Standing Room Only. The cast runs to over 500 singers and dancers. When the "curtain" comes down there are tears in the eyes of the audience, goosebumps on the flesh.

The source of this excitement, of course, is not a Broadway extravaganza, but the Charlevoix Elementary School's Spring Musical.

Directing all of this is a phenom by the name of Marina LaBlance. If your child is in grades K-5 you probably need no introduction. If not, Marina is the cute, dark-haired bundle of energy and creativity out front waving her arms, giving lots of hugs and kisses, singing, clapping, and generally having a good time.

She dreamed up the idea of an annual musicial when she came to Charlevoix in 1972 to take her first job as a teacher of musical education in the elementary. At the time Marina came, there was no music department, let alone a concert of this scope.

The muscial was an instant hit and this year's show was the 13th show done by the kids.

The theme this year was "Liberty" – a salute to the Statue of Liberty and to Ellis Island.

It is a theme that made the always enthusiastic Marian even more so. "This show was very special to me because my mother and father emigrated from Greece to live in Iron Mountain." They later moved to Saginaw where Marina was raised.

"I spent a whole week talking about Ellis Island and the Lady to the kids," Martna says. "I did a lot of research so that they could understand what this means."

She was always very aware of her ethnic background, Marina says. "I was raised very strongly in the Greek tradition. It is a very important part of my life, although it is hard to maintain up here since there is not a large Greek community."

She grew up speaking Greek in the home, and still tries to speak Greek with her own children. She also teaches her music students some words in Greek. "My family came from the Corfu area, the Ionian islands, which are considered to be musical islands.

"When I was in Greece to visit relatives there was always singing. They sang when they were happy, when they were sad. They sang when they ate...!"

Marina's regular work with kids in the elementary school includes one-half hour sessions twice a week with children in grades one through five. It is during these sessions that she has established the discipline that allows the huge ensemble to function so smoothly at the spring concert. "I've kind of got them programmed," she confesses.

But perhaps more important is the enthusiasm for music which she instills in the kids. "I want them to just have a good basic feeling about music," she adds. Although she tries to expose the children to a variety of musical styles – country and western, rock, popular – she likes to emphasize classical music because they are less likely to be exposed to it at home.

Now that this year's musical is done, Marina looks toward next year. "I would kind of like to take a year off," contemplates for a minute, "but..." She shrugs and cracks a big smile. She knows that she is a captive of her own success. The community wants an encore.

Community concert held Sunday

Fran Tollas's year of work under a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts will culminate this Sunday, April 29, with a concert by several musical groups at the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

Tollas's grant, entitled "Sing Your Song," was developed through the Chip Counseling Center. Under the grant she organized a variety of musical programs involved with the theme "singing promotes better emotional health."

One of Tollas's efforts involved organizing the Charlevoix Community Children's Choir with co-director Joann Dannecker. Fran also formed the Charlevoix Community Performing Arts students who were in "Music Man" and the Boyne City High School Drama Club which performed "Camelot."

This program also saw the continuation of a group formed last year under a similar grant; the group is called Court and Country and features renaissance performers on recorder, guitar, cello and percussion. Another group, Madrigal Singers, was formed this year and will be giving its first performance at the April concert.

In addition, Tollas was instrumental, along with teacher Beth Inman, in recording tapes of preschoolers in special education classes.

The concert on Sunday, April 28, is at 3:30 p.m. It will feature all six of the groups formed under the Arts grant. Admission is free, but a donation is requested to help with expenses and to sponsor a music scholarship to Blue Lake for Trina Wiser.

The old image of the 9 to 5 secretary is fast disappearing into the sunrise of high technology. Beyond typing and shorthand, all the way to micro-computers and sophisticated equipment, she remains, as always the mainstay of the office staff.

Expected to have information at her fingertips, a pleasant front-office personality and polished telephone finesse, she is also required to be organized for everyone, to type, copy, report, file, to keep books, appointments and schedules, and to open mail so that the letters are still intact for her employer.

It's a frequently-taken-for-granted job well attended to by secretaries throughout the area. Hats off and flowers forward. It's National Secretaries' Week!

Meterials lie in weit for construction of the new weter inteke system on Lake Michigen.

New water intake system is scheduled for construction

Construction is scheduled to begin any day now on Charlevoix's new water intake system.

"I am ready to attack the problem on all fronts," says Jack Polyak, project superintendant.

Polyak was brought in to supervise the project after initial efforts to get the water intake system were plagued by delays. He is employed by South Shore Equipment Co. of Avon, Ohio. South Shore was originally contracted to build the intake system by the Army Corps of Engineers. The company was fired after numerous delays, and then rehired by the company's bonding agent, Union Indemnity Co. of New York, N.Y.

Polyak, a veteran of many large water projects thoughout the United States, was hired to expidite the job.

The water intake system is the first step in the replacement of Charlevoix's contaminated water supply. The Environmental Protection Agency is funding 90 percent of the costs of a new pumping and chlorination plant for the city. Additional costs will be paid for by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Replacement of the existing city well and pumping station became necessary after it was learned in September, 1981 that the city's water was contaminated with TCE.

Polyak says that the water intake line will extend 1450 feet into Lake Michigan and will be buried some seven feet beneath the bottom.

"Right now," Polyak says, "the biggest problem is that the state will not issue an over-the-road permit for our crane until the frost is out of the ground." The 65-ton crane will be used to move sections of polyethylene pipe into position along the lake shore.

The sections of pipe are joined together through a thermal fusion process, Polyak explains. The machine used for this process cuts the ends of two sections of pipe so that they are within a few one thousandths of parallel. A heating knife is then applied to the ends of the pipe until they are plasticized. The knife is then withdrawn and an hydraulic ram pushes the sections together in a jointless connaction.

This process will be used to join the entire length of the intake pipe into what will look a little like a giant black snake extending along the beach from the pumping station toward South Point.

The continuous length of pipe will have 650-pound weights attached every seven or eight feet.

The entire line will then be towed out into Lake Michigan by barges. Despite the weights and size of the pipe the entire rig will float, Polyak explains. Once in position the pipe will be flooded with chlorinated water and sunk into a predug trench on the lake's bottom.

Polyak expects that it will take four hours to sink the entire length of pipe. "Sinking the pipe will be the most difficult part of the whole operation," he says.

The water intake for the new system consists of a set of stainless steel screens intalled at the end of the pipe. Polyak will also oversee the construction of a new temporary chlorination station. The existing pumping station will be used until a new permanent pumping and chlorination plant is built west of the current site.

The new TCE-free water supply should be operational within a few months.

Polyak expects to hire up to 10 local craftsman to help with various phases of the water intake installation.

"I have a specific game plan," he says, "and I will do what is necessary to get the job done economically and safely."

Peaine Township objects to county's land value studies

by PEG OHLE

Peaine Township Supervisor Dick Burris appeared at the last meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to explain his Township's dissatisfaction with the County's equalization of land values.

"They are using extraordinary sales for tax studies," he told the Commissioners. "They are weighted by studies of sales on the north end of the Township, sales that are made to wealthy people who don't care what they pay for a piece of land if they want it."

Burris gave as an example of over-valuation a parcel of land he owns which the County valued at $7,600, but which he has not been able to sell for $4,000.

Last year, Peaine Township filed a lawsuit appealing the County's equalization of its residential and commercial property with the State Tax Tribunal. In the hearing that followed, the Township's arguments for both classes of property were dismissed.

Peaine Township then filed an appeal from the Tax Tribunal's decision, an action which has lain dormant for several months. Burris told the Board of Commissioners at the recent meeting that people in Peaine Township are puttting pressure on him to pursue the appeal action but he really does not want to because of the cost involved. He said he would prefer to sit down with the Equalization Committee of the County Board and try to work things out, including the 4 percent increase in 1985 valuations, which he called "adding insult to injury".

If all else fails, "We may have to take the matter to the vote of the people", Burris explained further. "If they want us to appeal, they will have to pay for it".

County Equalization Director Joan Blanchard, who also attended the meeting, questioned Burris about what specific sales figures he was objecting to and agreed that a completely new appraisal should be made of the Township.

The matter is now in the hands of the County's Equalization Committee.

School holds carnival

It's carnival time at the Charlevoix Elementary School where the Parents Advisory Council will be sponsoring its annual spring carnival on Friday, April 26.

It will be a family affair with food for everyone and a wide variety of games and other entertainment beginning at 5:30 p.m. and lasting until 8 p.m.

The Parents Advisory Council is inviting families to come for the evening meal of hot dogs on a bun, chips, and a choice of beverage with cotton candy for dessert.

There will be a fish pond for the kids, live goldfish for those who want to purchase something to take home, helium-filled balloons, and scads of other things to enjoy.

Prizes - bigger and better than ever according to a spokesman for the council - will be offered for all games.

Tickets may be purchasd at the door and used to purchase food, play games, or just to spend on some special fun thing.

Home Cooking

By Doug Truax

I think the writer in an upstate New York paper summed up the role of the small-town weekly newspaper well.

"Reading a metropolitan newspaper is like eating a restaurant meal," he said, "you pick and choose from what's offered. But reading the hometown weekly is like eating a good home-cooked meal — a fellow doesn't want to miss a thing."

Home cooking. Perhaps you could also liken the small-town weekly to the classic American diner. Good food, plain and simple, if it's done right. And if the meal is lousy you can shout across the counter and let the cook know.

Big city newspapermen might find the lack of "hard news" in a small town a little disconcerting. They would, of course, get a little jittery with the lack of murders, rapes, car wrecks, and general mayhem. But the news in a small town should by no means be boring. There is more to it than how much the grass grew last week or whether the mayor's septic field backed up.

Charlevoix is a good example. We are mercifully spared torrent of traditional bad news, the waters here run a little calmer, a little deeper. Nonetheless, some of the nation's perhaps even the planet's, most pressing issues are in the forefront.

Charlevoix owes its very existence to the abundance and beauty of its natural resources. Yet every day there is pressure to destroy them. Population pressure. Development pressure. Industrial pressure. We cannot even escape the acid rain pouring down on us from industries to the south.

How do we as a community deal with the environment? Or with jobs, poverty, and alcohol and drug abuse? What are we doing for our children and where are we failing them?

You could compile a long list of issues that confront a small town like Charlevoix. The newspaper should be there reporting them, providing the most accurate and reliable information possible. It should also stimulate the informed discussion of these concerns.

What really makes the small-town newspaper unique, perhaps, is the sense of community. We have too often lost sight of it in our big cities, but here we are still aware that we are in this together. We still know the faces and names of our neighbors and, at our best, we still care.

A small-town newspaper should reflect those values, too. It should help to draw us together as a community by telling us more about ourselves.

Good home cooking. I hope that is what we can continue to provide in the pages of the Courier. Enjoy the meal.

the Arts Council's contributions to Charlevoix, citing the many contributions since its inception in 1972. "It is one of the shining lights up here," she said.

City Recreation Director Dwight Boss discussed the planned addition to the Mt. McSauba Lodge. Although costs for the addition will be borne by Friends of Mt. McSauba, he explained, the addition will require a new drain field because the water table is too high in the area. The maximum cost of the drain field, he added, would be $3,000 in materials, but costs could be reduced by donations.

The council asked Boss to proceed with bids on the addition and to go before the Planning Commission with the details of the plan.

Council also approved a request for the placement of a sign at the Stover Road and M-66 intersection. The sign would announce the launching ramp and beach at Ferry Road and note commercial services available in the area. It would not, at the advice of the Planning Commission, list specific business. The sign would have a maximum of 40 square feet and be built of redwood.

Bruce MacArthur, of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, requested that the public be asked to help remove the heavy loads of sand along the petunia planting route. All residents along U.S. 31 were asked to rake or brush sand from the parkway into the highway so that the street sweeper could pick it up. Residents were requested to move the sand into the gutter, but not to pile it up.

Council also suggested that MacArthur explore the use of student council to work on the project and to check with the sheriff regarding use of prisoners.

The Lundy-Heck Company asked to lease a portion of the Eaton Street frontage from the city in order to place a seasonal floating dock to reach a pumpout facility for Northwest Marine Yacht Basin.

The pumpout facility is necessary for Northwest Marine to obtain a marina operator's permit from the DNR.

Council agreed to the plan, but, on the advice of City Manager Michael Wiesner, suggested that the rental fee is $2,000 rather than the $600 offered by the marina owners. The matter was referred to the city manager to work out details and a contract.

In other business, the council:

—agreed to help with the cost of replacing sidewalks when requested by residents. The city's 40 percent share of costs would consist of removing the old sidewalk and roots.

—granted easements for Charlevoix Township to install sewers on the city's southwest side.

—renewed the current contract with Jeff VanTreese as city attorney, under the same terms as last year.

Clockwise

Spring Pogeont

By Bob Clock

I have started to count the years by the elementary school's spring pageants, which certainly have established themselves as one of the high points of the year.

Last week's Miss Liberty pageant, incidentally, was No. 13 for music teacher Marina LaBlance.

And the show was just as lively and exciting as any of them.

However, I think the audience this year was bigger than ever — totally filling the stands on the east side of the high school gymnasium, spilling over onto folding chairs, and ending up with some patrons sitting cross-legged on the floor.

Why the big crowds? I think that word has gotten out that you don't have to have children — or even grandchildren — in the elementary school in order to enjoy the best show in town.

Furthermore, former elementary students enjoy watching the extravaganza from the vantage point of the middle school and the high school.

THE TEMPTATION is almost unbearable to say something about Charlevoix's unseasonably hot weather. Not warm. Downright hot. It was hotter in Charlevoix Sunday than it was on the Hawaiian Islands.

The worst part of having such a steamy spell in April is that you can't jump in Lake Michigan to cool off, since the lake has hardly started to warm up. Remember, is was only a little more than two weeks ago that the Cutter Mesquite couldn't negotiate Pine River Channel because of the ice — the day after one of the worst blizzards of the winter.

So I am not going to comment about the weather. April is a fickle month at best, and I have no intention of aggravating Mother Nature, particularly during the tornado season.

THE PLANE crash on Beaver Island Friday night was a grim reminder to fliers that island hops must never become "routine," particularly during capricious weather.

In fact, there should never anything "routine" about flying over northern Lake Michigan in any season.

We extend our sincere sympathy to the survivors of the seven persons from the Holland area who were killed. We also feel particularly bad that the two six-year-old boys missed a glorious spring weekend on Beaver Island.

But we also marvel that during the three score years that aircraft have visited the island, only two fatal air-crashes have been recorded.

I, FOR ONE, would like to see the state lottery limited to $1 million prizes. For example, the winner last week will receive in excess of $9 million — a figure too large for us pea-brains to contemplate.

Instead, why doesn't the state award nine $1 million prizes — and make nine people ecstatically happy — instead of only one?

Mesquite Stays

and the community. There are 45 crew members on the Mesquite (five officers and 40 enlisted men) and some 18 families attached to the ship. "We don't want to upset that applecart," said O'Connell, who has spent considerable time assigned to buoy tenders.

The decision by Coast Guard Headquarters should end the speculation regarding the fate of the Mesquite. Rumors about its future have circulated. The Courier several weeks ago received what purported to be an official memo stating that the Mesquite had been reassigned to New Orleans. Indications were that the message had come from a crew member on the ship's return to Charlevoix after winter duties in the Caribbean.

"I am sure that the paper is bogus," Capt. F.A. Kelly of the Aids to Navigation office in Cleveland told the Courier. "I can absolutely confirm that it is not an official message."

Women's club to hold tea

Plans for the annual tea honoring the girls in the 1985 graduating class at the Charlevoix High School and their mothers were made at a meeting of the Charlevoix Women's Club held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jopsepb Morris, Jr.

The event will be helf from 2 - 5 p.m. Sunday, May 19 at the home of Mrs. Morris. Invitations will be mailed shortly to the guests.

At the same meeting, Lucy Witthoeft was named chairman of the annual book sale sponsored by the club. The sale will be held Friday and Saturday Aug. 9 and 10. The event is the club's chief fund-raising event.

The club is collecting books for resale. Anyone with books to contribute are asked to call Mrs. Witthoeft for pick-ups or for information regarding a drop-off place.

If you ordered tree seedlings from the Charlevoix Soil and Water Conservation District, you can pick them up April 27 at the parking lot, City Hall Building, Boyne City between 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

If you are unable to pick up your order at this time, please notify the office at 582-7341.

Weddings

Wendy Richards and Robert M. Smith

Richards - Smith

Wendy Richards and Robert M. Smith exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, April 20, at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Richards of McMillan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Smith of Charlevoix.

Approximately 200 guests witnessed the double-ring ceremony, conducted by the Reverend Larry Grooters.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a bridal gown of ivory satinessa fashioned with a high neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves, and shirred bodice trimmed with French re-embroidered lace and seed pearls. The semi-cathedral train featured silk French re-embroidered lace, and the finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a Juliet headpiece with French re-embroidered lace and pearls. The bride carried her mother's Bible covered with red sweetheart roses.

Nancy Brown of Charlevoix assisted the bride as matron of honor. She wore a long gown of blue crepe de chine with loose bodice covered with a short ruffled jacket, and carried a single long-stemmed white rose.

Melissa Moore, niece of the bridegroom, wore a blue printed cotton dress made with short puffed sleeves and ruffled bodice accented with lace trim. She carried a basket of white button chrysanthemums.

Jason Moore, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Rodney Stevens served the bridegroom as best man, and Jeff Stevens and Jack Cross served as ushers.

Flo Whitney of Petoskey furnished music for the ceremony.

A reception at the church Fellowship Hall, hosted by the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. Dee Moore and Linda Cross assisted with the cake, and Shelley Stevens and Kim Jones were in charge of the gift table. The rehearsal dinner was held at Ricciardi's of Charlevoix, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the newlyweds will be at home at 105 Petoskey Avenue, Charlevoix.

Christine Sue Mitchell and Larry C. Nunemaker

Mitchell - Nunemaker

Christine Sue Mitchell and Larry C. Nunemaker were united in marriage on Sunday afternoon, April 7, at the Church of God in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eileen Nunemaker of Charlevoix and Larry R. Nunemaker of Tampa, Florida.

Pastor William Siebart conducted the double-ring rites before an altar decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a flowing bridal gown of sheer polyester trimmed in lace and pearls fashioned with a full skirt with lace motifs and chapel-length train. She carried a bouquet of silk lilies and crocuses.

Sue Barta served the bride as maid of honor, and Tammy Mitchell, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. The maid of honor wore a lavender silk brocade tea-length dress, and the maid of honor wore a purple silk brocade tea-length dress. They both carried bouquets of purple lilies.

Steve Tuttle, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man, Rod Stevens as groomsman, and Randy Wells and Lee Barta as ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the Hayes Township Hall. The wedding cake was baked by Shirley Breeze and served by Karen Tuttle, cousin of the bridegroom. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's mother at the Grey Gables Inn.

The newlyweds are at home in Charleston, South Carolina, where the bridegroom is serving in the United States Navy as a sonar technician.

Talent show features entertainment, fashion

by ANNE KELLY

A talent show sponsored by the Charlevoix High School was held Saturday, April 13, at the high school. Co-ordinator and host for the evening was Shawn McClelland with fashion show co-ordinator and commentator Willie Holmes presenting fashions for spring and summer between segments of the show.

Winners in three divisions were announced at the conclusion of the show: Dennis and Shawn McClelland doing an Everly Brothers Medley took first place in the adult category, with singer Swanee Alden coming in second. Student Lara Stargardt, singing and accompanying herself on the piano to "In the Arms of Love" won first in the high school division, followed by rock group "Peril" (Jeff Hudson, Chris Groves, Barry Loper, and Chad DeVries).

First in the elementary division were Christie Brown and Matthew McClelland doing a singing duet. Adrian Russell, who sang "Gary, Indiana," was second.

Jodges for the show were Lois Hodgson, Claudia Kenifeck and Jim Keller.

The show was sponsored by the high school's performing arts group. The group will close out its activities for the school year with a dinner theatre scheduled for May 18 at the high school cafeteria.

Realtors give away trees

The Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors will be giving away trees on Saturday, April 27, in recognition of private property week, Joe Vogelheim of Coldwell Banker announced.

Private Property Week is April 28-May 4 and is designed to draw attention to the value of home ownership.

Vogelheim says that 4,000 trees will be given out in the Antrim and Charlevoix counties, including: 650 white spruce, 650 norway spruce, 700 black hills spruce, 2,000 silver maple.

The trees, he says, will be larger than seedlings. "These are good quality trees," he says, "and they should have a very good chance of growing well." Vogelheim says the spruce will be 6-9 inches tall and are an "accelerated growth" variety that in six months will be twice the size of the normal two-year-old tree.

One free tree will be given to each family from 9:00 a.m. until the trees are gone at the following locations: Charlevoix, Glen's Market; Boyne City, Glen's Market; East Jordan, realtors office at 111 Mill Straet.

Softball teams takes two in season opener

The Charlevoix girls softball team opened its 1985 season on Tuesday, April 11, by taking a doubleheader from East Jordan by scores of 22-9 and 8-0.

The games, played on the home diamond, marked the team's first appearance on the diamond which had been held up because of inclement weather. It also marked their first game under their new coach, Ron Cox.

"We played well as a team once we got the 'feel' of the game...once we got the hang of it" Cox said of the team's first outing.

Despite sunny skies, the game was played in bitter cold weather that had the East Jordan team huddling in their bus between turns on the field.

The East Jordan pitcher had tourble finding the plate, walking many Charlevoix batters. Once on base, they stole bases seemingly at will.

East Jordan scored once in the first inning and added four runs early in the second before Charlevoix overcame the deficit with 10 runs in the bottom of the second. They added seven more in the third inning for a 17-5 lead.

East Jordan picked up two more runs in the top of the fourth inning, Charlevoix went ahead 22-7 in the bottom of the fourth and East Jordan made it 22-9 as the game was called midway in the fifth.

Missy Sandahl, the winning pitcher, allowed four hits. Julie Lytle gave up three hits.

Angie McClanaghan had a double and Meg Fowler and Tammy Lambert singles for Charlevoix. Lytle had two hits, both singles, and Nietupski and Jody McDermott one each for the visitors.

Michelle Gagnon was the winning picther in the second game, allowing three hits as she shut out East Jordan 8-0. Carol McKenney gave up four hits.

Gagnon hit a double and McClanaghan, Amy Antaya, and Becky Smith singles for the victors. Lytle had a double and Jari Chanda and Sally Malpass singles for East Jordan.

Charlevoix got off to a fast start in the second game, scoring three runs in the first inning and five in the third inning for the shut-out.

Charlevoix will host Petoskey Thursday and Gaylord St. Mary's on Monday.

Boys' track team places third, shows well in year's first meet

The Charlevoix Rayder boys track team with 49 points placed third in a triangular meet held Thursday at Kalkaska.

The host team won the meet with 64 points, Gaylord came in second with 59 points.

"We did better than I had anticipated. The young kids, freshmen and sophomores, came through to back up the more experienced participants. The juniors also did well. I was real pleased with their performance in their first meet," Coach Hal Evans said of his team.

Charlevoix took five firsts in the meet, with Kalkaska taking seven and Gaylord five.

In the field events, Tim Wieland took a first in the discus with a distance of 113 feet 1 inch. Mike Louiselle took a second and Tom Wojan a fourth in the event.

In other field events, Jim Gibbs captured third and Paul Anderson a fourth in the long jump; Louiselle a third and Wieland a fourth in the shotput; and Darrin Batdorff tied for second in the pole vault.

Other first places were captured by Doug Sloan who ran the 400 meter dash in 54.1; Terry Bonar, the 300 meter low hurdles in 44.2; Jim Martin, the 200 meter dash in 23.2, and the 1600 meter relay team (Martin, Tim Salmonson, Gibbs, Sloan), a first in 3:39.8.

Other point winners in the track events were Salmonson with a second in the 100 meter low hurdles; Martin, a second, and Ulf Evaldssen, a fourth, in the 100 meter dash; Pat Rajewski, a fourth in the 800 meter run; Salmonson, a second in the 300 meter low hurdles and Sloan, a fourth in the 200 meter dash.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey on Tuesday with Cheboygan and Gaylord; at the Chip Relays at Mt. Pleasant on Saturday; and at Petoskey for a dual meet Tuesday.

Girls' track squad absorbs defeat

The Charlevoix girls track team scored 11 points in a triangular meet won by Kalkaska with 93 points on Thursday. Gaylord placed second with 57 points.

The team was short-handed due to illness, Coach Dennis VanGuilder said of the score.

Scoring for Charlevoix were Barbie Boss who placed second in the 100 meter dash; Betsy Haggard who came in third in the 3200 meter run and Amy Pischner who took fourth place in the 400 meter run.

Charlevoix is scheduled to be at Petoskey with Gaylord and Cheboygan on Tuesday; at the Chip Relays at Central Michigan University on Saturday; and at Petoskey for a dual meet April 30.

Seniors meal program serves fewer

by PEG OHLE

The Nutritional Meal program for senior citizens in Charlevoix County is operating in the red as the result of serving fewer meals and being behind in receiving federal funds.

At the April meeting of the County Commission on Aging, which is responsible for the program, figures were presented indicating that the number of meals served in the first six months of the fiscal year totalled 17,127, down 3,217 from the budgeted number, and project income was $11,708 less than budget. Serving fewer meals accounted for $7,654 of the difference and approximately $4,000 due from the federal government made up the rest.

Funding for the nutrition program comes from federal monies as well as from a local (county) grant and contributions from those participating in the meal program.

During the past six months, the budget of the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging Nutritional Meal program included $28,531 from Federal-USDA grants, $3,738 from in-kind services, and $18,160 from project income.

At the end of ther last six-month period, total income was $36,718, compared with budgeted income of $48,429.

The meals are served at noon five days a week at Senior Centers in East Jordan and Boyne City and three days a week at the Charlevoix High School cafeteria. The largest number of meals, a monthly average of 1,506, is served in East Jordan. Boyne City is second with an average of 1,027, and Charlevoix follows with an average of 320.

Those participating in the meal program are presently being asked to contribute for the meals on a sliding scale basis based on income, a system which is not working very well because of a hesitancy to reveal incomes to the public.

At the last meeting of the County Commission on Aging, suggestions were made that the meal program be returned to a flat rate contribution request somewhere between 75 cents and one dollar. However, since federal regulations require that everyone be served regardless of the size of his or her contribution and coercion of any kind is prohibited, the actual average contribution is always below the suggested figure.

In East Jordan, the average contribution for meals eaten at the meal site is 72 cents, and the contribution for home-delivered meals is 49 cents. In Boyne City, the average contribution for meals eaten at the site is 54 cents, and the average contribution for home-delivered meals is 42 cents.

In Charlevoix, the average contribution for meals eaten at the meal site is 38 cents, and the average contribution for home-delivered meals is 12 cents.

The meals served in East Jordan and Boyne City are prepared in the kitchen of the Senior Center in East Jordan, and those for Boyne City are transported by bus in metal containers and reheated in warming pans. The meals in Charlevoix are prepared in the kitchen of the high school cafeteria.

Means of increasing local revenues for the program and-or cutting expenses were discussed by members of the Commission on Aging. They will look into increasing the suggested meal contribution (a difficult procedure, as noted above) or reducing the number of meals served each week, perhaps cutting out one serving day a week.

The Charlevoix County Senior Center in East Jordan, where most of the Nutrition Program meals are prepared, is operated by the Commission on Aging. It provides not only a kitchen but a large dining room and a craft room for activities and guest speakers. The Senior Center in Boyne City is one room in City Hall which the City donates for senior citizen activities. The meals are served in a public general purpose room.

The facilities in Charlevoix are a corner of the cafeteria at the high school, which is used after students have finished their meals. Because there is much coming and going by students throughout the time senior citizens meals are being served and afterward it is difficult to provide for after-meal activities, which are meant to be part of the meal program. This lack of proper facilities is thought to account for the small number of Charlevoix senior citizens taking advantage of the program.

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging has been concerned for some time about the disparity of meal facilities in the three cities and is looking for a building in Charlevoix that might become available for senior citizen use. Anyone with ideas on the matter is asked to contact either "Hap" Cunningham at 547-2389 or Ed Hansen ar 547-2347. Both are members of the Commission on Aging.

Rainbow Shoppe moves to Van Pelt Alley

by ANNE KELLY

The Rainbow Shoppe, a familiar sight on Antrim St. in Charlevoix, will be changing locations to the old Hess Furniture building in the Van Pelt Alley behind Trademark Clothiers on May 1st.

The shop will continue to sell clothing, footwear, household furnishings, furniture, toys and any other used contribution which is in good condition. All items sold in the Rainbow Shoppe are donated, with the donor eligible to receive a tax credit receipt for their contribution.

Manager Joe Spurgeon works with the Ministerial Association to serve the needs of individuals and families throughout the community. Over 100 volunteers from ten area churches staff the facilty, giving of their time and talent, selling, keeping the clothing orderly, sorting, and pricing articles. The new location, being larger, will create the need for additional volunteers, according to Spurgeon.

Among the non-profit organizations receiving proceeds from the Rainbow Shoppe are: the local prison given Bibles, Chip Counseling Center given $500, the Dept. of Social Services advanced money while waiting for a grant, and The Community Food Pantry at Christmas.

To celebrate their two successful years in business, the Rainbow Shoppe is planning a Grand Opening on June 6th.

ANNUAL MEETING - APRIL 3, 1985

The Annual Meeting of the Electors of Eveline Township was brought to order by Supervisor, David Willson at 7:30 p.m. on April 3, 1985 at the township hall. All board members were present except Ted Sherman. Approximately 30 township residents were in attendance, along with representatives from the East Jordan Library, District Health Dept. #3, Charlevoix County Landfill, Inc. the Petoskey News-Review, and WPBN T.V.

The minutes of the previous annual meeting were read and approved.

The financial report as read by the clerk was approved.

David Willson read the proposed budget as prepared by the township board. A motion was made and supported to approve the proposed budget subject to the township board approval at their April meeting.

A Federal Revenue Sharing Hearing was held to receive comments from the township electors as to how the board should spend it's Federal Revenue Sharing Funds in 1985-86. A motion was made and supported to use the funds for salaries, as proposed.

Mickey Hamerski from the E.J. Public Library presented circulatory and financial facts concerning the library with a plea for more financial support. Input from the electors suggests that the township board increase the monetary support of the Library from $500 per year to $1,000.00 per year at least for two years or until the library becomes funded by the state.

Mention was made to the public of the schedule of all township board meetings.

In the supervisor's address to the township electors, David Willson shared information pertaining to roads-brine, road signs, name changes, and the roads that were worked on last year. Suggestions for road work this year are Washington St. in Ironton, Mountain Rd., Wood St. in Advance, and Olstrom Rd.

Landfill concerns were voiced. A letter of support to the township board was read by Earl Kroll. Indication from the electors present is for the township board to continue with the present litigation over matters at the landfill.

Adjournment at 9:45 p.m.

Hospital Guild volunteers are honored

Charlevoix Area Hospital announced this week that special observance is being made of National Volunteer Week April 22-28 with the presentation of small tokens of appreciation to the 70-plus members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild who donate time to work at the hospital.

"Volunteers are important to many institutions," said Diane Novotny, personnel coordinator at the hospital, "but few places rely upon them as heavily as we do."

Members of the guild, all of whom volunteer to work in their spare time, perform a wide variety of tasks at the hospital. On any given day, Guild members can be found manning the switchboard and greeting people at the reception desk, operating the Showcase gift shop in the lobby, visiting patient rooms with reading material and water trays, and coordinating the hospital's chaplaincy program.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles of Charlevoix joined the Guild as a volunteer just over a year ago after leaving her job as a nurse for the District Health Department.

Mrs. Miles now works the morning shift two Fridays a month in the Guild's gift shop where she helps visitors, patients, and even hospital staff members select from a wide variety of jewelry, toys, flowers, candy, and many other items.

Typical of most hospital volunteers, Mrs. Miles shuns extra attention for her work.

"It was just something I thought I'd like to do," she says modestly.

Also typical of other Guild members, Mrs. Miles takes great pride in her assigned job.

"There are really a lot of nice items in the shop," she said recently, "You'd think some of these things would be more expensive than in other places but the prices are actually very low."

Mrs. Novotny agreed that the hospital volunteers are an especially devoted group saying, "Their thoughtfulness and concern for our patients' comfort make them one of Charlevoix Area Hospitals greatest assets. I'm glad there is such a thing as National Volunteer Week to remind us how much the Hospital Guild's work is appreciated."

ORDINANCE #448

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

An Ordinance to amend the Code of the City of Charlevoix by amending Chapter VII, Title I, Section 1.278 by deleting therefrom the words and figures contained in the brackets below:

(the Authority shall not, however, have the power to levy ad valorem taxes on real and tangible property) and by inserting the new language contained in brackets below, as follows:

(the Authority, with the approval of the Charlevoix City Council may levy an ad valorem tax on the real and tangible personal property not exempt by law and as finally equalized in the Downtown District. The tax shall not be more than two (2) mills. The tax shall be collected by the City of Charlevoix at the same time and in the same manner as the City collects its other ad valorem taxes. The tax shall be paid to the Treasurer of the Downtown Development Authority and credited to the general fund of the Authority.)

This amendment to the Charlevoix City Code was adopted by the City Council of the City of Charlevoix at a regular meeting held April 15, 1985 by the following Yea and Nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Grealey, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Ballows, and Mume.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Normally, at CYC, the betting's on First-to-Finish or First Place-Corrected Time, the stakes are a few dew encrusted containers of the fruit of the hops and the bettors are relaxing in true comfort watching the action.

Last Saturday, all was changed. Individuals usually known to quiet, proper, serene people were totally out of character. Huge $10,000 bills were slapped on the green felt at roulette, craps, blackjack, wheel of fortune and other tables of chance amid screams of excitement, howls of anguish and squeals of delight. The background sounds of dice off the backboard, of the great wheel clicking its way 'round, of the little ball jumping wildly within its round enclosure, of the hesitant "Hit me"; all spelled out "LAS VEGAS NIGHT at CYC". And a great night it was.

The climax was the Hit Show Routine imported directly from Standish-Sterling (Michigan), so magnificently performed by the famous Charlevoix Performing Arts Players - under the direction of Connie Ford.

Las Vegas never had it so good. Many thanks, Connie, and especially to your troupers who had started the day at 4 a.m. Eighteen hours and many hundred miles later, they were simply great.

Glad to hear all the questions regarding the earlier column on Membership in the Club, here are the most asked....

Sure it's great even if you've no boating experience - you can take advantage of the very low cost Associate Membership and enjoy the associations while you try out the boating bit as you choose.

Yes, it's a family club, in fact most activities include kids of all ages - but it's also perfect for singles. You'll see lots of variety ranging from the Halloween Haunted Maze, where kids are tops - to the late night get-togethers for the slightly older.

The special welcome offer to become a member by paying only the regular renewal fee for either Full or Associate Membership is available to all who are interested and who have NEVER been members; but do it by May 10th.

Remember the big Open House is at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 10. Members: be there to meet and welcome the new comers. The rest of you: come on down to the Club and add a new excitement to your life.

Skippers: Friday, April 26, 7 p.m. - Racing Rules Seminar; Wednesdays May 8 and 15, 6 p.m. - Tune up Races; Tuesday, May 21, 6 p.m. - Skippers Meeting, a must; Wednesday, May 22, 6 p.m. - Start of Spring Series. 547-6909 for more information.

A plug for the Chamber of Commerce Spring Dance, May 11th - one of THE events of the year for Charlevoixans - and you can both pick up your tickets to that fun time frolic and get that new Charlevoix Yacht Club Membership on one trip to the Chamber Office.

end of the Mouse's tale.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Resolution #85-4-2
RESOLUTION ESTABLISHING TAX INCREMENT FINANCING AUTHORITY AND DESIGNATING THE BOUNDARIES OF THE AUTHORITY

The City Council of the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, does hereby resolve as follows:

SECTION I

This resolution may be known and may be cited as the "Tax Increment Financing Authority Resolution."

SECTION II

This resolution is adopted pursuant to the provisions of Public Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980, as amended, and subject to the provisions thereof unless otherwise specifically provided for herein.

SECTION III

The terms used in this resolution shall have the same meaning as given to those terms in Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980, as amended, or as hereinafter in this Section provided unless the context clearly indicates to the contrary. As used in this resolution:

(a) "Authority" means a tax increment authority created pursuant to this resolution.

(b) "Authority District" means that area within which an authority shall exercise its powers and within which one or more development areas may exist.

(c) "Board" means the governing body of an authority.

(d) "Chief Executive Officer" means the Mayor of the City of Charlevoix.

(e) "Development Area" means that area to which a development plan is applicable.

(f) "Development Plan" means that information and those requirements for a development as set forth in Public Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980.

(g) "Development Program" means the implementation of a development plan.

(h) "Governing Body" means the City Council of the City of Charlevoix. "City" means the City of Charlevoix, Michigan.

(i) "Tax Increment District" or "District" means that area to which the tax increment finance plan pertains.

(j) "Tax Increment Financing Plan" means that information and those requirements as set forth in Public Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980, as amended.

SECTION IV

Determination Of Necessity For Tax Increment Financing Authority

The City Council of the City of Charlevoix does hereby determine that it is in the best interest of the public to halt a decline in property values, increase property tax valuation, eliminate the causes of the decline in property values, and to promote growth in an area in the municipality hereby establishing a Tax Increment Financing Authority and providing for the operation of said Authority.

SECTION V

Establishment Of Tax Increment Financing Authority

Pursuant to Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980, as amended, the City of Charlevoix does hereby establish a Tax Increment Financing Authority for the City of Charlevoix, Michigan. The Authority shall analyze the impact of economic changes and growth in the Authority District and development area and develop plans to promote orderly economic growth in the Authority District. The Authority shall be an instrumentality of a political subdivision pursuant to Section 9 of Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980 and shall be known and exercise its powers under the title of "Charlevoix Tax Increment Financing Authority." The enumeration of a power in this resolution or in Act 450 shall not be construed as a limitation upon the general powers of the Authority. The Authority shall implement a development plan in the Authority District as necessary to achieve the purposes of the Tax Increment Financing Act, all in accordance with the powers granted by this resolution.

SECTION VI

Designation Of The Trustees Of The Board Of Downtown Development Authority As Constituting The Board Of The Tax Increment Financing District

The Authority shall be under the supervision and control of the Trustees of the Board of the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority created by Charlevoix City Code Section 1.271(1) through 1.271(14) and the said Board of Trustees of the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority shall constitute the Board of the Tax Increment Financing Authority created by this resolution. This designation is pursuant to Section 4 of Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980.

SECTION VII

Drunk driving laws lead to increase in probation cases

by PEG OHLE

Since 1981, the caseload of the Probation Department of District Court has increased 455 percent, due largely to the recent "drunk driving" legislation. Alcohol-related cases now account for 70 percent of all District Court cases.

In an effort to solve the many problems resulting from this increased caseload, an advisory committee was formed last February to study the situation and report back to the County Board of Commissioners.

The report, containing many suggestions for probation recommendations, was delivered at the last meeting of the Commissioners:

Offenders will be divided into three basic categories. Those who need intensive supervision will be required to contact the Probation Agent at least twice a month and be assigned to other activities such as joint counseling or therapy, community service work, and meaningful employment. In some cases a jail term will be included. These cases will be reviewed every three months during a maximum period of probation. Violations of the probation order may result in incarceration.

Persons assigned medium supervision by the Probation Agent will be required to contact the Agent at least once a month. In addition, they would receive additional support and monitoring from service organizations and be required to perform community service work and or maintain gainful employment. The recommended length of probation at this level of supervision will not exceed one year. The cases will be reviewed every three months and may result in either an increased level of supervision or a reduction in supervision.

Offenders who represent only a minimal risk to the community and who have a good chance of successfully completing their term of probation with minimal supervision will be assigned a plan that fits their requirements. They will be monitored by service organizations and report to the Probation Agent by mail. Their probation period will be no longer than nine months.

The advisory committee suggests that the above procedures be followed for six months, after which they will be evaluated on the basis of size of caseload, analysis of any reduction in the use of jail facilities, an impact statement on increased probation department requirements, completion rate as assigned, probation violation rates, analysis of the classification and reclassification process, and results of referrals made to service organizations.

Commenting on a specific local problem, Probation Agent Laurie Howell noted that there is a shortage of alcohol and drug treatment facilities in northern Michigan and "they are bulging". County Commissioner Thomas Breakey further commented that Alcoholics Anonymous, the voluntary organization for alcoholics, is complaining because the courts have been referring to them too many people who have no desired to be cured.

Members of the advisory committee who prepared the report were District Court Judge Harvey C. Varnum, Howell, District Court Administrator Pat Conkle, Criminal Justice Director Gary Knapp, Prosecutor Kraag Lieberman, and Sheriff George T. Lasater.

Benefit dinner planned for area Trout Tournament

The Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament will be holding a benefit dinner this Saturday, April 27, at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

Proceeds from the dinner will go toward the promotion of sport fishing in the Charlevoix area, says tournament organizer Jim Withers. The immediate goal, he adds, is to raise funds for this year's Trout Tournament.

The first Lake Charlevoix Trout Tournament will be held May 18 and 19. Withers expects conservatively to have 100-150 boats registered. There will be four fishing divisions: brown trout, lake trout, steelhead, and salmon. Over $10,000 in prizes are being offered.

The benefit dinner will feature all-you-can-eat beef and chicken buffet with a cash bar. The guest speaker will be Steve Swan, DNR regional fish biologist from Gaylord. Numerous door prizes donated by area merchants will be given away.

Tickets to the dinner can be purchased at the VIP restaurant, Chamber of Commerce, and Juilleret's. Tickets may also be available at the door, but sales will be limited to 200 so get your's early if you plan to attend.

Tickets are $15 per person, $25 per couple.

Young problem solvers in state final competition

by ANNE KELLY

A Middle School team of future problem solvers participated in this year's state competition on April 20.

Held annually in Ann Arbor at the University of Michigan, the symposium hosts student teams which have placed in the top 20 percent among teams in their age group for a "practice problem". This year's practice problem involved the question of declining educational excellence.

Qualifying for this year's state finals was seventh-grade team of Scott Miller, Ryan Holmes, Matt Schnackenberg, and Bill Crook.

"They've been involved in future problem solving for three years now," explained coach Tom Sothard. "They know just what to do and how to go about it."

The team competed in the intermediate division this year for the first time (grades 7, 8, 9). There were 32 teams in this division and a total of 4,000 kids from around the state matching wits and attempting to solve some of the world's problems.

The team placed 29th out of 42 in their division at the state finals. "The kids did very well," Sothard said, "It was a good learning experience. Considering that our team had moved into the intermediate division, these kids are among the top of their grade level in the state."

The rules of competition give very detailed and specific procedures involving brainstorming ideas, researching pertinent material, organizing solutions in the proper form and eventually drawing one major conclusion with instructions on how to go about the solution.

On the practice problem, team members cited discipline as a major consideration, and drew the conclusion that each classroom should have not only a teacher but an aide with her designated task of maintaining discipline so that maximum learning could take place.

The question the boys will face in Ann Arbor is "The Greenhouse Effect," a problem involving what happens when carbon dioxide, let into the atmosphere by fossil fuel, forms an atmospheric layer which prevents sun rays to bounce back from the earth's surface.

This condition, "The Greenhouse Effect," can be a problem in weather patterns and can affect agriculture, wind paterns, and water levels.

New road signs to be installed

Several hundred new road signs will soon be installed in Charlevoix County through the cooperative efforts of the county, townships, and Road Commission.

The county will pay for the posts for the signs, the townships will pay for the printed name signs, and the Road Commission will install the signs at the proper road intersections.

The need for new signs became evident following a survey made to provide information for a county-wide numbering system. It was found that many intersections lacked road signs and in a few instances, more than one road bore the same name. In the latter cases, new names were given to roads so there would be no name duplication.

Dance classes to start soon

The Spring session of Dance Slimnastics, titled "New Attitude," will begin Tuesday, May 7 at the Charlevoix High School Gymnasium.

The session is designed to give fitness-minded individuals the chance to work out aerobically as many times a week as desired at no extra cost. The class fee covers the cost of the two one-hour classes a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. Students may also rent a class tape or video of their own to make exercise as convenient as possible.

Participants need no previous dance or athletic experience to enjoy Slimnastics. The exercises are planned to reduce inches, tone muscles, and improve the heart and lungs system. The dance routines, set to a variety of upbeat, popular, and classical music, are easy to learn.

Bruce MacArthur puts it bluntly. Cities like Mancelona and Kalkaska are ugly. Charlevoix is not.

MacArthur, president of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc., thinks a good deal of the reason for that is the quality of the signs in Charlevoix.

He credits Charlevoix's three-year-old sign ordinance with saving the gaudy blight that plagues so many Michigan towns built along major thoroughfares.

The city regulation specifically prohibits translucent signs that are lit from the inside. It encourages, but does not require, signs made of wood and other natural materials.

MacArthur says the ordinance has been effective in eliminating many, but not all, of the garish signs from Charlevoix. He credits voluntary cooperation as much as the law itself.

"We have a favorable trend," MacArthur says. He notes 26 local businesses that have erected "quality hand-carved wooden signs within the past few years. He counts another 25 businesses with wooden signs that are either new or predate the sign ordinance.

Not that MacArthur and the sign committee of KCB are completely satisfied with the look of things in Charlevoix. They have a list of non-complying signs and a strategy for the removal of each.

When the sign ordinance was passed, existing signs were "grandfathered in," not required to comply with the regulation.

In a further effort to help those businesses with old, noncomplying signs, the City of Charlevoix will assist owners in removing the old signs. Michael Wiesner, city manager, says that the work will be done by the City Electrical Department.

The sign law is up for review this year, and Keep Charlevoix Beautiful has appointed a special committee to look at revisions in it. "It became evident that there were some inequities in the sign ordinance," MacArthur says. The committee will recommend nine ways to make the regulation less restrictive, and three to make it more so.

The sign law got its impetus, MacArthur notes, at the time when McDonalds was proposing its new franchise in Charlevoix. "The planning commission had been wrestling with a sign ordinance for seven years, but had not approved anything. McDonalds was very

Nine Mile Pointe development planned

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Wednesday, April 24, for a major development project at Nine Mile Pointe on the Lake Michigan coastline between Charlevoix and Petoskey.

Nine Mile Pointe Associates, a general limited partnership headquartered in Petoskey, plans to build a 29 condominium units on the site and develop eight more single family homesites with lake frontage.

According to Lori Jodar, general partner in the firm, construction is to begin immediately with a model ready for inspection by early summer and the first four-unit building ready for occupancy by August 1, 1985.

Planned are two buildings with four condominium units each and two buildings with six units each. Architect Don Morgridge of Gaylord has included soapstone wood stoves and west-facing, glassed in atriums in each of the units. All units will be situated on the beach and will have a view of Lake Michigan.

Zoning for the project has been approved by the Hayes Township Planning Board under the "Planned Unit Development" concept in which developers and township officials work together closely to plan a quality project within the township's established zoning guidelines.

The property was formerly owned by Ray and Nancy Wood of Charlevoix who operated a campground and cottage rentals on it for over 30 years.

It includes 3,160 feet of sandy beach on Lake Michigan and a total of 101 acres, 28 of which located to the west of the Highway U.S. 31 will provide the sites for the condominiums and residential lots. The 73 acres east of the highway, most of which are heavily wooded, are presently planned to be kept in a natural state for such light recreational uses as nature trails and cross country skiing.

Other features planned include a limited access, private road to the single family homesites and tennis courts.

Mrs. Jodar and her husband, Dr. Loyal Jodar, moved to northwest Michigan from the Detroit area in 1975. She is a registered nurse and he is an orthopedic surgeon who practices in the area.

Biologist Swan predicts sport fishing bonanza, warns of environmental threats ahead

BY DOUG TRUAX

"The seige of Lake Charlevoix is about to begin," Steve Swan, DNR district fisheries biologist, told a large, enthusiastic crowd at the first annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament benefit dinner.

"There will be at least four times, and probably eight times, the number of fish in the Charlevoix area in the near future," Swan predicted before the crowd of some 140 attending the Saturday night dinner at the American Legion Post Home.

Swan's strongest words, however, were a plea for conservation and the restoration of funding for DNR fisheries programs.

"Salmon are meant to be an open water fishery," Swan added. "We should have the opportunity to fish for them until they hit the stream, then they are surplus and should be harvested."

Swan indicated that the lesson of keeping the salmon out of inland streams had come slowly with experience gained from a Pacific salmon program that the DNR "never expected to be that successful."

He told the fishermen gathered at the event that the fishing in the Charlevoix area would soon return to or surpass the "greatest sport fishery in the world" that existed in this area during the late sixties.

Swan said that he hoped to have salmon out of the Jordan River within two years. Salmon have been credited with numerous problems in the Jordan, and other tributary streams including: habitat destruction; driving out resident populations of brook, rainbow and brown trout; and creating enforcement problems from snagging and trespassing.

"I cannot accept snagging as an acceptable fishery," Swan said.

The DNR fish biologist also warned against overdevelopment of the Lake Charlevoix watershed. "I plead with you to take care of it," he said, noting that it "took a lot of effort, a lot of courage" by sportsmen to turn back the Hemingway Pointe marina development. "There are seven more on the books," he warned.

"I am not against development," he told the audience, "but it has got to be controlled." Swan complimented the work of groups like the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee and urged the local fishermen to get involved in the process of planning for growth.

Without proper management, Swan warned, "there will be seawalls from Boyne City to East Jordan to Charlevoix and back again. It will begin to look like Lake St. Clair and then you will ask yourself why you are here."

Swan also noted that the DNR's ability to provide good fishing and law enforcement was being severely taxed. His staff has been cut by one-third.

"You are going to lose those hatcheries, lose those fish," he warned unless funding cuts are restored. "The taxpayers don't pay our way, you (fishermen) pay our way and it is just not cutting it," Swan said.

He urged citizens to write their state legislators immediately. "We have to get our funding back to the 1984 level.".

The benefit dinner was planned to raise funds for the first annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament. The dinner like the tournament itself, was organized in large part by Jim Withers, with the able assistance of his wife Sherry. Withers termed the dinner a great success and predicted that the tournament would be a tourist draw unlike anything Charlevoix has ever seen during the normally slow spring season.

Water levels on Great Lakes could reach record levels

by PEG OHLE

The year 1985 may turn out to be the year in which the highest water levels ever are recorded for Lake Michigan and other Great Lakes.

The United States Corps of Engineers reports that in March the water level of Lakes Michigan and Huron (considered as one body of water for measurement) was 580.25 feet, about 12 inches higher than it was a year ago and six inches above a month ago.

The March monthly mean level was about 25 inches above the long-term average and about the same as the all-time monthly mean high for March, which was set in 1973.

The lake level is expected to continue rising through the summer months and could exceed the all-time high set in 1973.

Lake Charlevoix, which is connected to Lake Michigan by the Pine River Channel in Charlevoix, has the same level variances as Lakes Michigan and Huron.

The high lake level is erasing beach areas and causing flooding of basements and crawl spaces throughout the coonty. The flooding is occuring not only along lake shores but inland, according to County Soil-Erosion Officer Ronald Geer, who explains that the hydrostatic pressore is causing higher water tables all over the area.

"I have noticed standing water several feet deep in places that were

WATCH ready to fund studies for Lake Charlevoix planners

His Charlevoix environmental group stands ready to raise up to $150,000 to fund studies of Lake Charlevoix, Howard Neilson, president of WATCH (Water And Air Team Charlevoix) told a county planning group recently.

"We want to do everything we can to help. We don't want to tie any strings to the money we give you," Neilson told a joint meeting of the Charlevoix Planning Commission and the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee Thursday, April 25.

The committees also heard from County Planner Larry Sullivan who said efforts to get the DNR's Coastal Management Program to fund a consultant to evaluate existing Lake Charlevoix studies and recommend further courses of action had hit a snag.

Coastal Management authorities said it was not within their authority

County land values set

by PEG OHLE

FOR SALE. 288,640 acres of prime northwest Michigan resort, residential, agricultural, and commercial-industrial property. Includes two large lakes and 33 smaller lakes and 11 islands. Roads and utilities in and paid for throughout area. $843,583,287 firm price.

If you had the money and really wanted to buy all this land, you might be able to own Charlevoix County.

County Equalization Director Joan Blanchard, in her annual report, has set the total 1985 sales value of real property and equalized value of certain types of personal property in Charlevoix County at the $843,583,287 figure.

Included in the property descriptions are 12,205 parcels of agricultural land valued at $47,724,417; 802 parcels of commercial property valued at $72,012,166; 128 parcels of industrial property valued at $77,474,523; 17,093 residential descriptions valued at $564,187.858; and 1,099 parcels of timber-cutover valued at $8,968,184.

Also, 712 parcels of commercial personal property valued at $11,382,536; 39 parcels of industrial personal property valued at $28,806,399; eight parcels of residential personal property valued at $100,200; and 91 parcels of utility personal property valued at $23,924,940.

The 1985 equalized valuation of real property in Charlevoix County, as shown in the report, is up 4.59 percent over 1984. The greatest increase is in residential property, which rose 5.58 percent. Commercial property increased by 2.05 percent, and industrial property increased by 2.45 percent. Agricultural valuation decreased by .05 percent, and timber-cutover decreased by 1.03 percent.

By political unit, the increases (or decreases) were:

Bay Township, up 13.91 percent; Boyne Valley Township, up 5.86 percent; Chandler Township, down 2.63 percent; Charlevoix Township, up 1.94 percent; Evangeline Township, up 7,68 percent; Eveline Township, up 2.50 percent; Hayes Township, up 3.85 percent.

Hudson Township, up 1.43 percent; Marion Township, up 2.52 percent; Melrose Township, up 3.02 percent; Norwood Township, up .89 percent; Peainc Township, up 5.81 percent; St. James Township, up 3.96 percent; South Arm Township, up 2.35 percent; and Wilson Township, up 1.90 perceot.

Boyne City, up 5.93 percent; City of Charlevoix, up 8.07 percent; and East Jordan, up 3.40 percent.

Since most taxes, which are based on equalized valuations, are paid to school districkts, the increases (or decreases) by school district ared also noted:

Boyne City school district, up 6.82 percent; Charlevoix school district, up 4.53 percent; East Jordan school district, up 2.70 percent; Beaver Island school district, up 4.99 percent; Petoskey school district, up .87 percent; Ellsworth school district, down .10 percent; Boyne Falls school district, up 5.01 percent; and Vanderbilt school district, up 1.12 percent.

Architects study city, to draw plans

Charlevoix was visited last week by two landscape architects working on a comprehensive plan for the Downtown Development Authority.

They are Victor Nelhiebel and Marilynn Wickens, both from Lansing.

The two architects explained that they have familiarized themselves with the downtown area and talked with business and DDA interests. The priorities they have received from the DDA include off-street parking behind Bridge Street, sidewalk improvements, and improvements to the waterfront park areas.

They will be looking at a new structure for the harbormaster and new toilets and showers for boaters. Nelhiebel added that they will also suggest possible improvements in the fish pond and band shell area.

"We will be looking at what can be done in the downtown area in the next 5-10 years," Nelhiebel explained. "We would like to achieve something that has immediate impact."

The two landscape architects have worked on a variety of park and recreational projects. Nelhiebel was responsible for the landscape work done on the Old Mill Creek park near Cheboygan.

The pair hope to have some preliminary site plans to the DDA within a month.

Tourist group posts record year

The West Michigan Tourist Association, of which Charlevoix County and many other area governmental units and businesses are dues-paying members, posted a banner year in 1984, according to a report in Michigan Business.

The association received $709,000 in tourism revenues from state grants, membership dues, and advertising for the year, called "the association's best earnings ever".

Wesley Tebeau, president of the association, says he believes his organization is the "most active region in Mid-America and maybe the whole country" in luring conventions and tourists to its area.

The West Michigan Tourist Association, which covers 31 counties from northernmost Emmet County to the Indiana border, is one of four regional tourist associations in Michigan. The others are the Upper Peninsaul Travel and Recreation Association, Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association, and East Michigan Tourist Association. They all helped to propel Michigan's tourist industry to a record $11.4 billion in revenues in 1984, a 4 percent increase over 1983.

Statewide, the Michigan Travel Bureau is operating on a $9.1 million budget for advertising and promotion this year. Each regional association will receive $151,000 of this moneh and 14 convention bureaus will share $600,000.

Michigan's advertising budget puts the state in the same category as New York, Florida, and Texas, according to David Morris, analyst and grant coordinator for the Michigan Travel Bureau.

Local Jaycees group solicits new members

A group of local people have joined together to revitalize a chapter of U.S. Jaycees in the Charlevoix area.

Karl Gilewicz, interim president of the group, explains that the group is open to anyone from the ages of 18 to 36. "The focus in on individual development and community service," he says.

Sue Smith, another leader in the Charlevoix Jaycees, points out that they are actively seeking both men and women. Jaycees, which until 1965 was called the Junior Chamber of Commerce, prohibited the membership of women until a landmark Supreme Court ruling in 1984 opened the door to them. Nationwide, Smith says, the Jaycees have absorbed some 95 percent of the women's auxiliaries into active membership and are enthusiastically recruiting both men and women.

The fledgling local group has already planned three major projects including taking care of the trout pond for kids 12 and under during the Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament, running a concession stand at the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament, and working with the Chamber in organizing the Venetian parade.

Anyone interested in joining the Charlevoix Jaycees should call 547-6431 or 547-2787, or contact any current member. The next meeting of the Jaycees will be May 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Ricciardi's restaurant. The public is welcome.

Sounds of spring

By Doug Truax

It is dusk and my five-year-old daughter and I are crouched in a small aspen thicket at the edge of a clearing.

"There," I tell her, "look for it over there."

A strange reedy bleeet comes from that direction at regular intervals. The bird, about the size of a softball, starts its errant flight with a rush directly toward us. Just as it reaches our location, it makes a ninety-degree turn and bolts directly upward.

We watch it rise in gentle arcs, singing clear whistling songs as it ascends higher and higher. Our necks are bent back as far as they will go and we eventually lose sight of it in the fast closing darkness. But we can still hear the whistling as it continues to climb.

Then the high pitched sound stops. We maintain the vigil.

"There it is," Stephanie says, "over there."

My eyes strain for the dark speck in the broad sky. I find it and we watch it fall in a lazy pattern —"like a leaf falling to earth," one observer noted — now giving off a lower, less insistent whistle.

There is silence when the bird hits ground, its location hidden by the dark. Then the bird reveals itself again, renewing its bleeeting sound. It is less than fifty feet away now.

We wait for the bird to rise and watch the ritual several times. Stephanie wants more of the game, to stay longer, but I am getting cold and coax her to walk back to the house. As we return we hear the same skyward whistling from several nearby clearings.

It is spring. Nature has looseoed its death grip on the land and the woodcock are performing their astounding mating flights throughout the north country. Head for any clearing around town — one surrounded by some young aspen trees and low, boggy areas — and you can witness these flights every evening.

Spring renews all of the senses, but perhaps none as much as the sense of hearing. Winter deafens us for too long, save the chill howl of wind rushing through cracks in the windows and doors.

The sounds of spring are the true awakening. Grouse are drumming throughout the woods — as the male grouse struts along a chosen log he pops air under his wings and creates a unique drumming sound. If you didn't know better you might think someone was trying to start an old '38 Ford back in the woods somewhere.

The sounds of birds at dawn are perhaps the sounds we most commonly associate with spring. No song is more soothing than the cooing of mourning doves.

As Stephanie and I approach the house, the swamps nearby have come alive with the sound of frogs. Endless numbers of frogs. Coaking, peeping, rasping. I have given up even hoping to know the names of them all and the sounds each makes. I am content to sit back and let it wash over me, a miraculous chorus of renewal.

Looking down at Stephanie's young eyes I know I don't have to explain. Youth accepts life with such naturalness. It is we elders of the tribe that require the reassurance of the sounds of spring.

cooperative with the city's request and installed a small wooded sign.

"But 7-Eleven was also going in and they wanted to install their standard franchise sign," MacArthur recalls. "We had 365 signatures to a petition opposing it within a short time and the sign ordinance passed within weeks."

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful was formed from among the people signing the petition, MacArthur remembers.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE REAL AMERICA?

When the Flag was a sacred symbol
When riots were unthinkable
When you left front doors open
When socialism was a dirty word
When criminals actually went to jail
When you weren't afraid to go out at night
When taxes were only a necessary nuisance
When a boy was a boy, & dressed like one
When a girl was a girl, & dressed like one
When the poor were too proud to take charity
When the clergy actually talked about religion
When clerks & repairmen tried to please you
When college kids swallowed fish, not acid
When songs had a tune & the words made sense
When young fellows tried to join the Army & Navy
When you never dreamed our country could ever lose
When you bragged about your hometown & home state
When everybody didn't feel entitled to a college education
When people expected less & valued what they had more
When politicians proclaimed their patriotism and meant it
When things were't perfect - but you never expected them to be
When our Government stood up for Americans anywhere in the world
When you knew that the law would be enforced and your safety protected
When you considered yourself lucky to have a good job and proud to have it
When the law meant justice and you felt a shiver of awe at the sight of a policeman
When you weren't embarrased to say that this is the best country in the world
When AMERICA was the land filled with brave, proud, confident, hard-working people.

Outstanding musicians

Dear Editor:

For the past ten years since graduating from Charlevoix High, I have quietly read and enjoyed the Courier from afar - and every now and then I notice a small article on the accomplishments of outstanding Charlevoix High School musicians, amidst full pages of sports coverage.

Certainly the big Friday night basketball game is a more newsworthy event than a Sunday afternoon concert - but when a Charlevoix musician, namely, Dan Staublin, scores 98 out of a possible 100 points for a 1 rating at the State Solo Ensemble competitions, that's a cover-story, or at least more than a quarter note's worth of ink.

An achievement such as Dan's is equivalent to one of Charlevoix's varsity netters making 1st Team Class 'C' All State.

Several years of work and development are represented by such state recognition whether bestowed by an AP sports poll or the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association. And in either case, the student's success has resulted from a school-sanchioned activity which reflects well upoo Charlevoix's Public School system.

As a former C.H.S. percussionist, I'm proud of you, Dan! Congratulations... as far as I know, no other Charlevoix percussionist has ever done so well in State Solo Ensemble competitions; definitely not on marimbas! Lionel Hampton look out.

Professional performance

Dear Editor:

Following the tragic aircraft accident on Beaver Island last Friday, April 19, the residents of Beaver Island again have reason to be proud of their own.

Beginning with assisting the Coast Guard helicopters in locating the wreckage, the Beaver Island Fire Department (a volunteer organization) consisting of young men rivaled any metropolitan area in professional performance.

The names are too numerous to mention and this author would not offend any by having an omission in this gallant list. They went through a battle without hearing a bullet.

Although Beaver Island consists of two townships and is a part of Charlevoix County, we received no assistance from the mainland. One county official came to the site for a period of two hours and returned to the mainland. The one part-time deputy sheriff living on the island received no back-up or relief for a period of 36 hours.

Since I am the Island physician and also the deputy coroner, I was at the crash site and made the necessary pronouncements. I want to convey to the people of northern Michigan the excellent performance in assisting me that these young men afforded. Above and beyond, they even used their own clothing as coverings since necessary materials (available on the mainland), but not made available on the island.

My jurisdiction did not reach to spend the long hours in clearing the crash site of personal effects ahd aircraft debris. However, I have heard only praise for their cooperation and fortitude in accomplishing this unpleasant task. The FAA inspectors also commented on their heoric efforts.

The Beaver Island Fire Department Auxiliary ladies prepared uncountable sandwiches, snacks, and beverages and transported food to the crash site several time during the 48 hours following the crash.

The second day as I returned to the site to give encouragement and moral support to these men I noted the emotional strain and fatigue that 48 hours on 'raw nerve' created. Although the emotional effects as a result of this tragedy will in time be healed, the spirit of cooperation and old fashioned pulling together on Beaver Island will never die.

never that wet before," he told the Courier. Geer's main concern, however, is the combination of high water and high winds, which quickly causes soil erosion.

County Sanitarian Gordon Bloch also acknowledges the damaging effect of high water, especially on septic systems. "High water definitely affects septic systems near the lake. When we make tests for new systems we try to take high water marks into consideration, and in some cases landowners could lose part of their property for building purposes," he said.

In addition, the high water table is creating more wetlands, thus enlarging the area for which Department of Natural Resources permits will be required for home construction.

County Drain Commissioner Clayton Healey was called to St. James, Beaver Island, last week to inspect the problems caused by the overflowing of Font Lake, where water from the lake was backing into nearby fields and basements and had risen to within 400 feet of King's Highway, a main thoroughfare on the Island.

The next meeting of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful will be May 4 at 9 a.m. at the 218 Bridge Street restaurant.

The meeting will discuss with block captains the preparations for Operation Petunia on May 23 at 5 p.m.

The Video Tape Committee consisting of Bob Miles, Bill Price, and Roger Putman will be making a report.

Bruce MacArthur of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful has announced that Stacey Way is the newest block captain. Stacey will represent the Charlevoix High School honor students who will be responsible for planting in the area from the 7-Eleven store to Garfield Avenue.

Clockwise

Reagan enigma

By Bob Clock

Ronald Reagan is becoming an enigma in my old age.

As a Republican, I thank him for rescuing the country from the economic follies of Jimmy Carter.

But I cannot understand why, day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year he fails to take decisive action to reduce the deficit — an economic millstone which could be more damaging to the country than a dozen Jimmy Carters rolled into one.

The needed monies could be salvaged if Reagan would only take a paring knife — and not a very big one at that — to his defense budget. But the president is standing pat.

I think old Ralph Waldo Emerson must have had Reagan in mind when he wrote:

"A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

I ALSO AM HAVING the devil's own time keeping up with Reagan's double-speak.

For example, when the House last week rejected American aid for the Contras — the Nicaraguan rebels seeking to unseat the legitimate Sandinista government — Reagan and his spokesman, Larry Speakes, somehow interpreted the negative vote as an out-and-out victory for the Contras, whom they apparently picture as latter-day Yankee Doodle Dandies.

Either Speakes and his boss are senile, or they are trying to play semantic tricks on the American public.

Reasonably intelligent persons in their middle years might be able to see through such bluff and label it for what it is — B.S.

But I feel sorry for the very old and the very young, folks not particularly hip to the language of political chicanery — who are likely to accept what the president says at face value and think it is they themselves, not the President and his mouthpiece, who are losing their grip on reality.

UNDERSCORING Reagan's flights of fancy last week was his refusal to scratch a wreath-laying ceremony at a German military cemetery from a European trip designed to coincide with the victory of the Allied armies over the Axis 40 years ago this month.

The impending visit drew so much fire from Jews, former servicemen and other victims of Nazi aggression that the president decided to act. But instead of eliminating the visit from his itinerary, the president added a side-trip to a Nazi concentration camp to sort of balance things out!

By week's end, a majority of the senators, in their infinite wisdom, passed a resolution saying the entire trip should be canceled; but at this writing, Reagan — the consumate bungler — is not listening.

to use funds for data collection or analysis of existing data, he reported. THey would be willing, Sullivan told the group, to fund an attitude survey.

The Coastal Management Program has committed $12,500 to the county which must be spent before October 1, 1985.

The Planning Commission asked Sullivan to explore the matter further with the DNR and to present a staff recommendation on the hiring of a consultant to the next meeting of the commission

Neilson's proposal to the county planning groups follows a similar appearance before the Advisory Committee on April 11 by Jerry Puhl, WATCH vice-president, where be presented the WATCH proposal for the first time.

Neilson told the group that "a scientific lake study is almost a must." Once the advisory committee and the Planning Commission have reached concensus on a management plan for Lake Charlevoix, "there still remains a job of selling seven townships and three cities."

Neilson recommended that the planning groups present WATCH with a list of studies it would like to fund. WATCH, in turn, Neilson said would ask its consultant, TIP of the Mitt Watershed Council, for advice on whether they should be involved.

Neilson balked at a suggestion that funds go through the county government. The environmental group's tax-exempt status would prevent it, he said, and his board wouldn't but it.

He recommended that the county draw up all of the necessary study requirements, select the group, and allow WATCH to contract directly with whomever the county selects.

"We don't want to get into telling you what you should do," Neilson reiterated. "But we want to make sure that what is done is going to work.

"I hope we don't convey that you are confined to WATCH as the exclusive fundraiser," he added.

John Hall, chairman of the Lake Charlevoix advisory committee called the WATCH plan "an ideal way of getting rid of fund raising activities and to continue to concentrate on a management plan."

Weddings

Christine Sue Mitchell and Larry C. Nunemaker

Mitchell - Nunemaker

Christine Sue Mitchell and Larry C. Nunemaker were united in marriage on Sunday afternoon, April 7, at the Church of God in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eileen Nunemaker of Charlevoix and Larry R. Nunemaker of Tampa, Florida.

Pastor William Siebart conducted the double-ring rites before an altar decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a flowing bridal gown of sheer polyester trimmed in lace and pearls fashioned with a full skirt with lace motifs and chapel-length train. She carried a bouquet of silk lilies and crocuses.

Sue Barta served the bride as maid of honor, and Tammy Mitchell, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. The maid of honor wore a lavender silk brocade tea-length dress, and the maid of honor wore a purple silk brocade tea-length dress. They both carried bouquets of purple lilies.

Steve Tuttle, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man, Rod Stevens as groomsman, and Randy Wells and Lee Barta as ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the Hayes Township Hall. The wedding cake was baked by Shirley Breeze and served by Karen Tuttle, cousin of the bridegroom. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's mother at the Grey Gables Inn.

The newlyweds are at home in Charleston, South Carolina, where the bridegroom is serving in the United States Navy as a sonar technician.

Homemakers celebrate with dessert social

The Charlevoix County chapter of the Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers (MAEH) will celebrate Homemaker's Week with a Dessert Social and Group Recognition party on Thursday evening, May 9, at the Hayes Township Hall, beginning at 7 p.m.

Among those who will be recognized are Julie Whitley of Barnard, Charlevoix County chairperson of MAEH; Dee Hoadley of Hayes Township, past county chairperson; Melody Ritt of Hayes Township, secretary-treasurer of the county group; Louise Hart of East Jordan, [illegible]-time Extension volunteer; and Viora Baker of Hayes Township, who was recently given a "Good Neighbor Award" by the Petoskey News-Review.

Janet Rathke, county extension home economist, suggests that this first annual Group Recognition party will give Extension Homemakers a chance to "meet old and new friends, share ideas, applaud MAEH leaders, and be eotertained". Entertainment will be provided by the Performing Arts class of Petoskey High School.

Those wishing to attend the party are asked to register with the Extension Service, phone 582-6232.

Davenport to address commencement exercises

Following a tradition set at the Charlevoix High School, an alumnus has been invited to return to deliver the commencement address for the 1985 graduating class, Vane H. Smith, high school principal, has announced.

This year's speaker is Dean Davenport, a 1963 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and currently athletic director at Ferris State College.

Davenport will address the graduates at commencement exercises scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, June 2. At that time 135 will receive their diplomas.

Davenport has entitled his commencement address "Giving Back."

Davenport has been associated with Ferris State College since 1970 when he became an assistant basketball coach, coordinator of athletics, and coordinator of the recreation and career activities departments. During that time he helped establish a recreation administration major in the School of Education which now numbers 100 students.

After two years as acting division chairmao for health, physical education, recreation, and athletics, he ascended to the athletic directorship in 1979. He now directs the 17 varsity sports, an extensive recreational sports program, and the Ferris athletic facilities.

During his Ferris tenure, Davenport has taken a leading role in the initiation of a grant-in-aid program (1977) the ascension of hockey to NCAA Division I status (1980), the addition of varsity women's sports in track and cross country and seeing Ferris win four straight President's Cup championships.

Prior to his arrival at Ferris, Davenport had been athletic director and head basketball coach at Iowa Wesleyan University and formerly was an assistant basketball coach at California State University at Northridge and Central Michigan University. In high school ranks, be coached at Traverse City, Petoskey, and Grant.

He is a holder of two degrees from Central Michigan University where be starred in basketball.

Davenport and his wife, the former Joyce Cunningham, have three children.

Wendy Richards and Robert M. Smith

Richards - Smith

Wendy Richards and Robert M. Smith exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, April 20, at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Richards of McMillan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith of Charlevoix.

Approximately 200 guests witnessed the double-ring ceremony, conducted by the Reverend Larry Grooters.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a bridal gown of ivory satinessa fashioned with a high neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves, and shirred bodice trimmed with French re-embroidered lace and seed pearls. The semi-cathedral train featured silk French re-embroidered lace, and the finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a Juliet headpiece with French re-embroidered lace and pearls. The bride carried her mother's Bible covered with red sweetheart roses.

Nancy Brown of Charlevoix assisted the bride as matron of honor. She wore a long gown of blue crepe de chine with loose bodice covered with a short ruffled jacket, and carried a single long-stemmed white rose.

Melissa Moore, niece of the bridegroom, wore a blue printed cotton dress made with short puffed sleeves and ruffled bodice, accented with lace trim. She carried a basket of white button chrysanthemums.

Jason Moore, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Rodney Stevens served the bridegroom as best man, and Jeff Stevens and Jack Cross served as ushers.

Flo Whitney of Petoskey furnished music for the ceremony.

A reception at the church Fellowship Hall, hosted by the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. Dee Moore and Linda Cross assisted with the cake, and Shelley Stevens and Kim Jones were in charge of the gift table. The rehearsal dinner was held at Ricciardi's of Charlevoix, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the newlyweds will be at home at 105 Petoskey Avenue, Charlevoix.

Rayder player gets back in time to avoid pickoff.

Baseball team wins 3 straight

The Charlevoix Rayders swept a double-header from the Cheboygan Chiefs by scores of 13-2 and 8-2 on the local diamond Saturday.

Mike Herriman went the distance in the five-inning game, allowing only two hits and three walks. He struck out seven. Larry Jenne the losing pitcher, gave up nine hits and three walks. He had two strike-outs.

Jim Young had two doubles and four RBIs, Herriman a double, Cris Havens a two-run homer, Mike Thompson two singles, and Matt Lignell, Thad Morgan, and Kyle Smith singles.

Dan LaHaie had a two-run homer in the third inning and Tom Saffean a single for Cheboygan.

Charlevoix scored three runs in the second, six in the third, and four in the fifth inning.

In the second game, Havens pitched seven innings, giving up five hits and four walks. He had 10 strike-outs.

Stempley started for the Chiefs and gave up five walks. He had three strikeouts. He was relieved in the fourth by Spray who allowed four runs before he was relieved by Kolmack who allowed two runs before Woodgate took over. He had five strikeouts.

For the Rayders, Smith had a triple, Havens three hits and three RBIs, Morgan two including a two-run homer, Jody Putman a single, and Thompson went three for three.

Senley had two hits including a homer; Stempley, Hair and LaHaie singles for the Chiefs.

Charlevoix took a 1-0 lead in the first. Cheboygan tied the score 1-1 in the top of the third before the Rayders took over 2-1 in the bottom of the inning. Charlevoix then blew the game wide open with six runs in fourth for an 8-1 lead. Cheboygan added one more run in the sixth inning.

Charlevoix will host the Soo on Tuesday.

The Charlevoix Rayders defeated Harbor Springs 13-3 in a nine-inning game played on the Rams field on Monday.

The game was the Rayders first of the season. Charlevoix will host the Soo on Tuesday.

Cris Havens gave up only three hits as he pitched the Rayders to the victory. McCarry gave up six hits and went the distance for Harbor.

Dave McKenzie and Marc Himebauch hit doubles for the Rayders and Jim Young, Thad Morgan, Brian Wilmot, and Brent Cole added singles.

John Clancy, McCarry, and Joe Battle had singles for the Rams.

Charlevoix scored one run in the first and added another in the fifth to tie the score 2-2.

The Rams made the score 3-2 in the bottom of the fifth. The score remained tied until Charlevoix broke the game wide open with four runs on the seventh and seven runs in the eighth.

3200 meter run: 4. Doug Bergmann.

1600 meter relay: 2. Charlevoix (Martin, Salmonson, Gibbs, Sloan).

Netters are overpowered by strong Harbor Springs team

The Charlevoix Rayder tennis team, in its first meet of the season, lost to a strong Harbor Springs team by a 5-2 score on the Rayder Courts.

Coach Eric Lundteigen said "Harbor has a strong team. We are young and inexperienced. This will be a year of rebuilding for us."

In the singles, Ty Wagner of Charlevoix lost to Doug Dickinson 6-0, 6-0; Mike Chew (Cx) won over Mark Carter 0-6, 7-8, 6-3; Quinton Walker (Cx) lost to Kurtis Johnson 6-1, 6-0; and Marty Joy (Cx) won over Matt Guswiler 3-6, 7-6, 6-2.

In the doubles division, Jason Brindle and Jim Morgridge (Cx) lost to Billy McNamara and Tom Overett 6-3, 6-3; Scott DeYoung and Dan Drury (Cx) lost to Brian O'Neill and Skip Garadin 6-0, 3-6, 6-1 and Julie Balmer and Rusty Coolman (Cx) lost to Dan Reed and Rick Shepherd 6-2, 7-5.

In exhibition matches, Sue Miller and Dan Staublin (Cx) won over Paul Overett and Mike Aldrich 8-6; Jon Eakes (Cx) defeated Ken Aldrich 6-0 and J.D. Boydston (Cx) defeated Jim O'Neill 6-4.

Charlevoix will be at Boyne City Thursday, May 2.

Girls come up short in track

The Charlevoix girls track team came in fourth in a quadrangular meet held Tuesday at Petoskey according to Coach Dennis VanGuilder. Gaylord won the meet with 92 points followed by Cheboygan with 69 and Petoskey with 66. Charlevoix had 13 points.

VanGuilder said one of the surprises of the meet was Heidi Olinger, a freshman, who placed second in both the mile and the two-mile runs.

Other point winners were Barbie Boss who placed second in the 100 yard dash, and Kathy Dohm who finished fourth in the high jump.

The team, shattered by injuries and illnesses, had only 12 members at the meet.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey for a dual meet Tuesday and at the Kalkaska Invitational meet, May 4.

Softball team splits doubleheaders

The Charlevoix girls softball team split a doubleheader with Petoskey on the Carpenter Ave. field Thursday.

Petoskey took the first game by a 6-4 score while Charlevoix won the nightcap, 9-2.

In the opening game Missy Sandahl had four strikeouts but gave up nine walks and allowed only two hits. Brenda Kolinski struck out three and walked eight on her way to pitching a six-hitter for Peoskey.

Meg Fowler and Michelle Gagnon had two hits apiece, Angie McClanaghan a single, and Tammy Lambert a double for Charlevoix. Leisa Kruskie and Jill Mathews had Petoskey's hits.

Petoskey jumped to a three run lead in the first inning added one in the second inning and two in the third. Charlevoix had two runs in the second and one each in the fourth and seventh innings.

The second game was a costly one for Charlevoix as Gagnon and Lambert suffered leg injuries.

Charlevoix scored nine runs in the nightcap on seven hits off the losing pitcher, Kruskie. Gagnon started for Charlevoix and was relieved by Ann Kroll in the third. They had no strikeouts but gave up only two walks.

Before being injured, Gagnon had two hits including a double and Fowler, McClanaghan, Amy Antaya, Michelle Buday, and Becky Smith had singles. Terry Behan, Kolinski, and Tracy Cone had singles for Petoskey.

In a game that went five innings, Charlevoix got off to a fast start, scoring four runs in the first inning, two in the second and three in the third before Petoskey scored its two runs in the fifth inning.

Charlevoix will be on the road for games at Gaylord Tuesday, East Jordan on Thursday, and Rogers City on Saturday.

The Charlevoix girls softball team split with Harbor Springs in away games played on Monday.

Coach Ron Cox said the teams played well but in the first game lacked the punch to bring runners in to score.

A team will be at Gaylord Tuesday and at East Jordan for a return game on Thursday.

In the opener, Michelle took the loss as Lisa Brady pitched Harbor to a 6-5 with. In the second game, Missy Sandahl was the winning pitcher as Charlevoix won 5-2.

Angie McClanaghan had two triples and Sandahl one, while Laura Witty, Toni Gasco, Debbie Fischer and Debbie Lasley had singles for Harbor.

The game was even until Harbor scored two runs in the fourth inning. Charlevoix came back to score two in the top of the fifth to tie the score; Harbor pulled ahead with one run in the sixth before Charlevoix went ahead 5-3 in the top of the seventh. Harbor added three in the bottom of the seventh for the victory.

In the second game, Charlevoix took advantage of walks and errors to defeat Harbor 5-2. Sandahl was the winning pitcher. Amy Antaya had Charlevoix's only hit off the losing pitcher, Julie McGregor.

Gasco and Brady had Harbor's only hits.

Charlevoix scored two runs in the first inning and three in the third for the victory. Harbor scored its two runs in the fourth inning.

Rayder 800 meter team places well at Chip Relays

The Charlevoix Rayder track team placed eighth in the 800 meter (4 x 200) relay in the annual Chip Relays Saturday to chalk up one point in the meet, Coach Hal Evans reports.

The team was composed of Jim Kenney, Doug Sloan, Jim Gibbs, and Jim Martin.

The 3200 meter relay team of Pat Rajewski, Harold Herriman, Ulf Evaldssen, and Peter Plagge placed 15th among the 24 Class C teams in the meet. Doug Bergmann, a freshman, placed ninth in the 3200 meter run.

Betsy Haggard, Charlevoix's only entry in the girls' meet, came in tenth in the 3200 meter run with a time of 11:05. Like Bergmann, she is a freshman.

Medals were given for the first eight places in each event.

Both the boys and girls teams will be at Petoskey for a dual meet on Tuesday and at Kalkaska Invitational meet Saturday. The boys team will participate in the Traverse City Relays on Monday, May 6.

Yachting Notes

Rules were the subject of last Friday evening's discussions, led by Commodore Dave Irish. (Congratulations and Best Wishes to Little Traverse Yacht Club's 1985 Top Flag Officer.)

The new rules had a few surprises and most of us were caught with our rule books down on several in-depth reviews of rules that haven't been changed. Funny — even though there was a nice turnout, none of the Skippers who are involved in, or even create, the real rule problems of the season, seemed to be in attendance. Ain't it always that way. Seems like they're the same guys that don't make it to the Skippers' Meeting, either.

If you're going to Skipper a yacht in the Spring Series, note the following:

Skippers' Meeting
7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 21
First Race, Start
6:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 22
Tune-up Races
6:00 Wed. May 8 & May 15

The Race Committee advises that your Yacht must have a current PHRF rating slip for you to be scored; but they will allow a three race "grace period" to allow you to meet this obligation. Better get the measuring done and the application in NOW.

I was told that this also applies to the Jib and Main Fleet, but have since heard that this is being questioned; regardless of the outcome, if you are going to race in any Regattas, and don't have the rating, you're either going to pay an awful rating penalty, or not be permitted to participate, at the discretion of the host club.

A brief editorial on the subject —if you truly enjoy sailboat racing, you really SHOULD give as well as receive. The input to PHRF and the $15 fee make possible the more and more accurate handicaps we've all been using and even the improvements in the system, itself.

It's patently unfair to be racing with a by-guess and by-god rating against other rated yachts and it's equally unfair to expect the volunteer scorers to cope with the problem of non-rated yachts. Gary Gleason has been donating his skills and time to help with the applications and a call to him at 547-4600 will get the ball rolling.

Attention all non-members; you're reminded of the open house at the Club, Friday, May 10. Get there about seven and you'll see a brief slide review of about 20 slides of the Mesquite trying to get into the Channel during the gale of April 13 and a few of her smooth entry on the 14th. This may be your only chance to see these as they're being given to the officers and crew, the next day. Special invitation: Anyone else having some good shots of the adventure(?) — Please bring them along!

Our Honor Roll this time s for the best Landlord in the World. The entire membership joins the Mouse in expressing our delight and appreciation for the Restoration of the Depot (our Clubhouse). Thanks, Mr. Robert Pew; we'll use it with even more tender, loving care.

...the end of the Mouse's Tale.

Chamber Chatter

The Chambers' first informational business workshop will be this Saturday, May 4, from 8:30 A.M. to Noon, at the Charlevoix High School study hall.

First on the agenda is THE CHAMBER & YOU: the Chambers' role in meeting the needs of the community will be discussed, and a future plan will be unveiled.

Next, the program will center on tapping your own potential. Moon Price, local organizer and motivator, will be telling you just how to get the most out of what you already have within. Her discussion will revolve around how to discover and use your own inner talents. Then well-known radio personality and station owner from WKHQ radio, Tim Moore will present: IMAGE IS A STATE OF MIND, discussing the key to successful marketing in the '80s.

Finally, the formula: TRAINED EMPLOYEES-INVESTMENTS, will be investigated. Are you looking for temporary help or re-training of your help? Would you like to save money on wages? These questions will be answered during presentations for employers by: Joanne Oxender, Job Training Coordinator, Youth Employment & Training Program; Dennis Aenis, Educational Coordinator, Youth Employment & Training Program; and Susan VanWeiren, Asst. Supervisor, Vocational Education, Char-Em Intermediate School District. Time for questions will be provided. Refreshments served. See you there.

Industrial regional fair

The Charlevoix schools qualified 11 of 19 entries in the Regional Industrial Arts Fair at Gaylord last weekend for entry in the Michigan Industrial Education Awards Program Craftsman's Fair to be held at the Grand Traverse Resort at Traverse City Friday and Saturday.

Troy Willjer, a high school junior, received a first place on a metal planter and a second place for an outdoor grill to advance to state competition. His instructor is John Mills.

Nine of the 17 middle school entries placed in the top four places and will also be entered in the state fair.

Receiving first place ratings were a games table made by Robert Coen, a Honduras mahogany lathe-turned bowl made by Dan Bickersteth, and a metal stool of wrought iron made by David Knight.

Placing second was a nautical lamp made by Leigh Richardson.

Third places were received by John O'Brien for two hand-carved pictures of cats done in walnut and oak and by Bickersteth for a clock.

Fourth places went to Tanya Gruenenwald for a nautical lamp, Bill Burns for a clock and Jason Whitley for a candle lamp.

Barry Loper received a fifth place for a lathe-turned candle holder of Honduras mahogany, Randy Zipp for a bow and arrow rack, and Chris Fjedorek for a lathe-turned lamp of Honduras mahogany.

Robert Sell was given an honorable mention for a walnut clock with a pendulum.

MAY

School holds art exhibition

by ANNE KELLY

A multi-media, all-school art exhibition will be held at the Elementary School Thursday evening May 8. Additional showings will be during school hours on Friday, May 10 and Monday, May 13 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. This year the show will be housed in the school gymnasium to provide an ample display area for student's work according to Beth McGraw, elementary art instructor.

On display will be a variety of work from students of all ages. In addition, an invitation has been extended to Nancy and Charles Koucky, local artist who will display some of their weavings and crockery as a featured part of the art exhibition.

Included in the show will be drawings, paintings, plaster masks, sculptures, plaster castings, fabric treatments, pottery, ceramics, jewelry, and wood sculpture.

Violin students present recital

On Sunday, May 5th, the violin students of Krista Knight will present a recital at 3 p.m. at the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

Students will perform pieces by Bach, Beethoven, Lully, Vivaldi, Schumann, and Dvorak. They range from the beginning to advanced level.

The general public is invited to attend. A freewill donation will be accepted.

The musical "Kid's Praise II" will be presented in the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church, Main St., Ellsworth.

The directors are Pastor Bruce and Mrs. Joyce Persenaire. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Sharon Alofs on piano.

The students want to invite everyone to hear their performance of "Kid's Praise II".

Tom Graf, valedictorian, wins National Merit Award

by ANNE KELLY

This week Tom Graf, Charlevoix High School, was named as winner of a National Merit $2,000 Scholarship. He is one of only 1,800 high school seniors who received the award from among the more than 1 million young people in 18,000 public and independent secondary schools who entered.

A committee of experienced college admissions officers and secondary school counselors met to choose all winners of the national awards from among the finalists.

Final selections were based on each finalist's academic record, qualities of leadership and contributions to the school and community, personal attributes, two sets of test scores, and a recommendation by the high school principal.

Graf is also the class Valedictorian and will be delivering his commencement address to a unique group of students. Twenty-seven of his fellow students have maintained a 3.5 or better average over their four years of high school.

"I'll probably tell them that it will be we out there who will be molding the future," Tom surmised. "We have many in our class who have excelled in the arts and sciences."

Tom's goal is to pursue the field of medicine. He has excelled in math and science during his high school years. "These are the subjects I found easiest and enjoyed the most," Tom recalls. His 4.0 average over the four years of high school indicates that his abilities are not limited to those areas.

The youngest of five children, Tom remembers that the atmosphere at home was not one of pressure to perform, but feels that his parents just "expected" him to do well. "I am quite a bit younger than my brothers and sisters," he explained. "I suppose they were in high school when I was young, and they were at home studying, so I just did the same thing."

In Middle School, Tom was part of a pilot program for the academically talented under Tom Sothard. The students did not compete then, as they do now, in problem solving, but enrichment studies in language and computers did supplement their curriculum.

"I enjoy studying. I guess everyone likes to learn sometimes. It's possibly easier for me to study than some; I may pick things up faster, not necessarily better, than someone else."

Tom appeared comfortable with his capabilities, as we discussed his accomplishments and his plans for the future.

Tom attended the Michigan Board of Education Summer Institute for the Arts and Sciences at Wayne State University, and Boy's State, last summer, at Michigan State University.

He has been a member of the National Honor Society for all three years and active in French and Computer clubs. He was a member of Band for three years, winning Solo Ensemble awards on the trumpet.

As a sophomore, Tom was awarded the Chemistry Award for being an outstanding chemistry student.

Now, as a senior, he has found all his hard work has paid off. Tom has won the $1,000 Regions Alumni Scholarship at the Univeristy of Michigan for 1 year in addition to the National Merit scholarship.

Tom has been accepted into the Inteflex (Integrated Medical-Premedical) program at the University of Michigan administered jointly by the College of Literature, Science and the Arts and the medical school. At the end of the program he would earn a M.D. and a B.S. degree.

Second row: Diana Loder, Lynn McKay, Cheryl Aull, Lenne Erber, Susan Annis, Lara Thomes, Cheryl Hartnell, Cathy Sheperd, Kelly Kenifeck, Kathy Dohm.

Third row: Angela McClanaghan, Jennifer Joy, Richard Wurst, Pat McKeow, Peter Plagge, Ed Olson, Thad Morgan, Josiah Tilton.

Historical Society raffles quilt

The Charlevoix Historical Society will meet at Harsha House, 103 State St., at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 7, for its regular meeting.

Ralph Hamilton and Bob Miles will present a program entitled "The South Side of Round Lake."

At the same meeting a quilt designed by Marilyn Boss and Louis Orlowski and handcrafted by the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will be displayed for the first time by the Quilt Committee composed of Myrtie Fulton, Dorothy Dixon, and Benona Bartlett.

The quilt, which will be displayed at the Sears Catalog Store, will be raffled as a fund-raising project with the drawing scheduled for August 10. Tickets will be available from society members.

Membership in the Charlevoix Historical Society is open to anyone in the area interested in the history of the area. Prospective members are invited to attend the meeting.

Rides on transit system down

The Charlevoix County Transit System provided 651 fewer rides during the first six months of the present fiscal year than during the same period last year.

However, because of higher fares and increased use of the system for delivery of packages and messages, income this year is $2,893 higher than last.

These figures are contained in the March report of the Transit System, which also indicates year-to-date figures from October 1, 1984 through March 31, 1985.

The average fare collected during the last six months was 74 cents, compared with 65 cents last year. This increase has cut the subsidy for each ride from $3.73 to $3.61. The subsidy comes from federal and state funds budgeted at $247,380 for this fiscal year and $90,805 budgeted from county millage.

The Charlevoix County Transit System has been in operation since August, 1980. It serves mostly senior citizens and handicapped persons, including clients of the Bergmann Center in Charlevoix, some of whom are transported from as far away as Hudson Township in the far southeastern part of the county.

Mesquite captain expresses relief

Lt. Cmdr. Bob Young, captain of the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite, reacted this week with relief and satisfaction to reports first carried in the Charlevoix Courier that the ship would be staying in Charlevoix for the immediate future.

"It sounds good to me that we are going to be around here," Young said this week upon the Mesquite's return to its home port after buoy tending operations in the Great Lakes.

"The worst thing is when you don't know what is going to happen," Young said. "During the four months of speculation, the big problem was that nobody knew what our situation would be."

Young indicated that he had not been aware of the decision to retain the ship in Charlevoix. "I tell people I get all my information from the Charlevoix Courier," he joked.

Young came to Charlevoix as captain of the Mesquite in the summer of 1983. His tour of duty will end here in the summer of 1986.

"The result of the newspaper article is that we know what is going to happen. I am relieved because word has come down," Young added.

Young said that the speculation concerning the fate of the Mesquite grew during the winter assignment in Grenada and other points in the Caribbean.

"By the end of the trip we had heard about every rumor that could be made," he noted. Young said a memo the Courier received purporting to be an official document assigning the ship to New Orleans was probably the same one that circulated on the ship during its passage through the St. Lawrence Seaway. "The crew went from great concern to the point where they were fooling around. The memo was circulated as an April Fool's joke."

Young said he could not say whether the memo was sent by someone taken in by the joke or as an effort to stir up more reaction.

The investigation of the memo led the Courier's discovery that the ship was scheduled to remain in Charlevoix.

Did Young think it was a good thing the Mesquite was staying here? "There is no doubt in my mind that having the ship here is good for a lot of reasons," he answered.

"Ninety percent of our crew is from the local area. I'm sure they're very happy about it."

Young said that the pleasures of duty as commanding officer in Charlevoix is one of the best kept secrets in the Coast Guard. Few people know about what a nice location it is, he said.

Asked if he felt the Mesquite's mission in the Great Lakes was limited in effectiveness, he said that it was not.

"There are a lot of things for ships of this size to do up here in addition to tend buoys," he emphasized. "You get a lot of mileage out of those ships. The buzz word is that they are 'Multi-Mission platforms.'"

In addition to spring and fall buoy tending, Young said, the Mesquite played an important role in search and rescue cases that required a large vessel to reach problems far out in the lake or during bad weather. "When you have a major case like that there is no substitute

Council defeats Petoskey Ave. zoning change

An amendment to the Charlevoix City Code which would have allowed Special Use zoning on Petoskey Avenue was defeated at Monday's City Council meeting.

Strong public sentiment against the special use provision for Charlevoix's north side was voiced by residents at the meeting.

The special use permit for the area would have allowed three types of commercial business in the residential neighborhood: Art and photographic studios, interior decorating shops, and florist shops. The area in question was on Petoskey Avenue between Nettleton Street and Mercer Boulevard.

The proposed Code amendment failed on a 3-3 vote of Council with Councilmen Robert Timms, Shirley Roloff, and Earl Muma voting for the change and Councilmen Ray Wood, Michael Greeley and William Bellows voting against.

When the tie vote was tallied all eyes turned to Mayor Hal Hill who remarked, "You're not going to put me in this hot seat."

Hill was saved from the controversy by City Attorney Jeff VanTreese who informed the Council that the city charter required four affirmative votes, a two-thirds majority of the full council, to pass an amendment to the charter.

The special use permit for Petoskey Avenue was initiated by Expressions Unlimited, a florist shop currently located at the north end of town and desiring to move its busi-

Official's comments get positive reaction

At least one government employee believes it pays to speak up against his boss, even if the boss is Governor James Blanchard.

Mike Davis of Boyne City, chairman of the Governor's Recreation Advisory Committee, told the Governor off last week in explaining why he did not attend the state-sponsored conference on tourism held in Bellaire.

"We're tired of going to a cocktail party and listening to Jim and Paula spout their favorite charity, which is tourism," Davis told the press. He apparently began to feel that way after attending the first annual conference on tourism last year.

"They're not helping communities develop their tourism potential," he said of the state program. "Local communities need technical assistance. They need to know how to improve quality of life."

Not only Davis, but all other members of the Recreational Advisory Committee boycotted the meeting, apparently agreeing with Davis in his feeling that "They're giving lip service to tourism and recreation," he said, "nothing more."

What recreation did Davis receive from his outburst? "It has been positive", he said. "After the story hit the wire, I heard from some of the legislators, who wanted to know what was going on. I call that positive. Other people have called me, too, saying they were glad I spoke up."

Davis' only negative reaction, he says, was from his mother, who cautioned her son that he should not criticize the governor's wife.

Schools make millage plans

Resolutions setting the date for the annual school election, the amount of millage to be voted on in the annual election, and the date for the Truth in Taxation hearing were the major issues on the agenda at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education Monday.

The election is scheduled for Monday, June 10. Voters in the school district will be asked to renew the 15.25 mills for operational purposes for two years and to approve a 1.25 mill levy for one year to underwrite the cost of a new roof, insulation, and boiler for the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Monday, June 3, was set as the date of the Truth in Taxation hearing relating to the millage renewal being requested in the June 10 election. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the high school study hall.

In other action, the board accepted the resignation of Cara Hochhalter and thanked her for a job well done as an elementary teacher.

Granted a one-year leave of absence for the 1985-86 school year to Sally McNamara with the understanding she will be re-employed only if a vacancy exists for which she is qualified.

Approved a request by the Advanced Biology Class to make an overnight trip to Picture Rocks in the Upper Peninsula, May 11-13.

Heard Christa Maria's request that a program for the emotionally disturbed be established by the board.

•Denied the use of school facilities to Christ Episcopal Church.

•May 20 was set as the date of the next meeting.

The board then went into executive session to discuss personnel.

Water study ok'd by planning group

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission last week voted to accept a free Lake Charlevoix water quality study from any civic-minded organization which wanted to present one.

There was a stipulation, however, that the study would be accepted only for review as a supporting document and would not necessarily form the basis for conclusions reached by the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee in its study of the lake.

This action by the Planning Commission follows an offer made earlier by Howard Neilson, president of WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix) to raise up to $150,000 to fund a study of Lake Charlevoix. Neilson recommended at the time that the planning groups present WATCH with a list of studies it would like funded. Then WATCH would consult with its consultant, Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, to determine if they should become involved. At a later meeting between a member of the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee and WATCH, the latter suggested serving as the fiscal agent for the Lake Management committee. County Planner Larry Sullivan asked Prosecuting Attorney Kraag Lieberman for an opinion on this arrangement.

In a letter read to the Planning Commission last week, Lieberman replied, in part:

"It is my opinion that any such binding association (fiscal agent) should be avoided, no matter how well-meaning the interest group may be. (Michigan law) specifically allows Planning Commissions to accept and use gifts or contributions made by any source, if they desire. To that extent, the Committee is free to receive any benefits in support of the Committee's decisions. A potential problem could arise, however, if any interest group which offers funds does not approve of a Committee decision, especially if that interest group has designation as the fiscal agent".

So far as money gifts or contributions from an organization such as WATCH are concerned, Neilson made it clear to the Planning Commission that under WATCH's charter it could not contribute to political units.

The Planning Commission's decision to accept lake studies to which no strings are attached clarifies one aspect of funding for the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee. This funding has been a matter of discussion since the committee was formed late last year.

The Planning Department has been awarded a Coastal Management grant for $12,500, but this money cannot be spent on a water quality study because the Department of Natural Resources is undertaking such a study this summer. The Planning Department believes that the DNR study and a septic leachate study contracted through the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Corporation, which would show where existing pollution problems exist along the shoreline as well as in deep water, would be sufficient. The leachate study could be done at a cost of about $5,000, according to Sullivan.

Some of the $12,500 Coast Management grant will be used to coordinate the lake information now in the hands of the Planning Department, and to put the information in proper graphic and mapping forms. The Lake Charlevoix Committee asked that a person be hired to do this work.

Sullivan told the Planning Commission last week that he believed the Lake Management Committee "is getting overly hung up on the topic of water quality, and not getting into other topics that are more quality of life issues than scientific issues. The number of parts per million or billion are scientific issues that certainly have some type of im-

Robert Coen, 14, with his award winning game table.

Student wins top state industrial arts award

Robert Coen, 8th grade student in the Charlevoix Middle School, won two state titles at the Michigan Industrial Education Awards Program held in Traverse City, May 2-4.

Coen's game table made of oak and exotic hardwoods won first place in the furniture category of the competition and also was awarded the division title as best of all wood working projects.

He competed in the A-level category for students from grades 6-8.

Coen, along with several other students from the Charlevoix schools had qualified for the competition by placing in the regional competition held recently in Gaylord.

He was one of 12 students who attended a special shop class at the Middle School this year under the instruction of Industrial Education instructor Jerry Puhl.

Puhl likened Coen's accomplishment to a varsity team winning the Class C state championship. "And woodworking is the toughest competition in the state because it is the most prevalent material worked with in shop classes," Puhl added.

Other students in the middle school who placed in the state finals were: Dan Bickersteth, fourth place with a walnut pendulum clock and fourth place with a Honduras mahogany turned bowl; Bill Burns, fifth place with an oak pendulum clock; Jason Whitley, fifth with a candle lamp; and David Knight, ninth with a wrought iron stove tool.

Also qualifying for the state finals and receiving honorable mention awards were Middle School students Tonya Gurenewald, for a nautical lamp; John O'Brien, for walnut and oak carved pictures of tiger heads; and Leigh Richardson, for a nautical lamp.

Charlevoix High School students receiving honorable mention in the state finals included Troy Wiltjer, for a metal planter and outside grill; and Shawn DeYoung, for a metal truck bumper.

Parish to hold summer festival

St. Mary's Church announces an upcoming event for the summer season, the St. Mary's Church Parish Festival. The festivities will begin on Friday, July 4 from 3-11 p.m. and will continue all day Saturday from 12 noon to 12 midnight.

In the planning stages are activities which range from games booths, food concessions, bingo, and a beer tent with continuous live entertainment and a band Friday and Saturday night.

The culmination of the weekend will be a drawing for a four-day, three-night trip to Las Vegas for two with $100 spending money, second and third prizes of a VCR and a microwave oven.

General chairpersons for the festival are Lil Left, Dr. and Mrs. Jim Gels, Bill and Diane Dryer, and Sister Jean Karen. The festival is being sponsored by a combined effort of all parish organizations including the Knights of Columbus, the Parish Club, the school and the Altar Society.

All proceeds will be donated for various needs of the parish, including the education and religious education programs of St. Mary's Church.

Solid waste problems pile up

by PEG OHLE

Every man, woman, and child in Charlevoix County generates approximaktely 2.4 pounds of household wasle daily. On top of that, commercial establishments generate another two pounds of waste for each person in the county, all of which adds up to a total of over 800,000 pounds of solid waste a day.

How do we dispose of our waste?

We put it in the ground, in what used to be called "dumps" but what are now called "landfills".

Most of the waste in Charlevoix County goes into the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill in Eveline Township and the rest into the partially-operating landfill run by the City of Boyne City. The Charlevoix landfill has been licensed by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), but was recently sued by Eveline Township alleging contaminated water runoff and improper covering. That lawsuit was recently settled out of court after Dawson Way, operator of the landfill, agreed to keep closer supervision over the operation.

The dispostion of solid waste (garbage and trash) in Charlevoix County was the subject of a Solid Waste Management Plan prepared under the direction of the County Planning Department and approved by the county, local units of government, and the DNR in 1982 and 1983. Implementation of the plan has been slow, according to County Planner Larry Sullivan.

The county plan calls for continuing use of the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill; shipping waste to landfills in Kalkaska and Crawford counties; mini transfer stations in the Boyne City, East Jordan, and Charlevoix areas; a major transfer station near the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill or somewhere along M-66; continuing use of green box transfer stations in Boyne Valley and Melrose Townships; and either a modular incinerator or a lined landfill on Beaver Island.

There are still no transfer stations in Boyne City or Charlevoix, although one is operating in East Jordan. Haulers to the Kalkaska landfill are being ticketed by the DNR, which wants to close the landfill. The Otsego County landfill is still in operation but distance prevents widespread use by Charlevoix County haulers. So that leaves the Charlevoix and Boyne City landfills.

Last winter, a group of Eveline Township residents petitioned the county to bring its Solid Waste Management plan up to date in light of the closing of some landfills and operating problems with others.

Although slowly, Sullivan says that local units of government are beginning to pay attention to the Solid Waste Management plan, notably in Boyne City, where there has been some recent discussion of a transfer station.

One way of reducing the burden on landfills now being studied by the County Planning Department is recycling. Glass, metal, and especially paper, add thousands of cubic footage to landfills yearly. In larger population areas, such materials are processed for re-use, thus preserving natural resources and partially solving the problem of waste disposal.

Another alternative to using landfills is incineration, also used widely in metropolitan areas. Both recycling and incineration are obviously not feasible on a county-wide basis in northern Michigan, but might be worked out on a multi-county basis, which would take some kind of regional or state coordination, according to the planners.

However, the State of Michigan seems still to be devoting its energies to landfills. House Bill 4489, recently introduced by House Conservation and Environment Committee chairman Tom Scott of Genessee Township, provides for greater participation by local units of government in resolving differences with landfill operators over operation of landfills, increases bonds filed by landfill operators, outlines procedures for updating and amending county solid waste management plans, and requires county plans to contain "enforceable mechanisms."

In the meantime, residents of Charlevoix County are being forced to dispose of their garbage and trash as they always have. But instead of burying it in their own back yards as their grandparents and great grandparents did, they use one or two communal back yards.

Forensics group does well

The Charlevoix Forensics group placed its multiple presentation in state competition for the first time during the annual state finals held in Ann Arbor last weekend Coach Connie Ford reports.

"I was really pleased with the results of the entire competition. I was especially pleased with the multiple. It marked the first time we've have made it into the finals in this event. We placed fourth," she said.

In fact, the team, entered in only four events, did very well, placing fourth in the C-D competition where there were 37 teams. A total of 104 teams were entered in all classes.

The multiple, which was tied with the first place winner at one point in the competition, a compilation of numerous children's writings. Because of illness, Aull was replaced by Cathy Shepherd.

The cast of the presentation, entitled "The World of 'What If...'" was composed of Paul Arnold, Rusty Coolman, Karl Erber, Dianna Loder, Tara McLelland and Shepherd.

The other results follow: Ember Spencer, who advanced to the semifinals in story-telling finished in eighth place; Ann Wagner, 15th in the humourous division with "The U.S. of A." and " Mrs. Porter's Rules of Etiquette"; and the duo of Maureen Buday and Ulf Evaldssom in "I Never Saw Another Butterfly", 14th.

Mrs. Ford concluded by saying the entire event was outstnading and very competitive.

Crown Drugs awards $1,000 cash to lucky East Jordan man

When Dan Mosier punctured his hand in an industrial accident, he didn't figure it would end up getting him $1,000 richer. But it did.

Mosier, from East Jordan, was the winner of Crown Drugs recent jelly bean quessing contest. To qualify for the contest entrants had to bring in a new prescription to the drug store or transfer an existing perscription.

When Mosier injured his hand, he brought his prescription for the medication to Crown and entered the contest. His winning estimate was only 67 jelly beans off the actual number.

Mosier says that the contest prize will come in handy since he has lost time from work as a result of the injury.

Jack Urben, manager of Crown Drugs, termed the promotion a success. There were over 300 entries, he notes. Urben expects to repeat the contest in mid-May. This time the prize will be a weekend for two at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

Editor's Journal

The Stranger

By Doug Truax

I cannot get the image out of my mind.

It was just over a month ago that a jury in Charlevoix's Circuit Court found Jim Gainforth guilty of one of the most heinous crimes imaginable — the cold, calculating murder of another human being.

Gainforth was given a sentence of mandatory life in prison. Two other men who had plead guilty to lesser charges in exchange for their testimony against Gainforth were sentenced to lengthy prison terms.

The image that keeps creeping into my mind is that of Gainforth seated at the defense table dressed in a crewneck sweater, hair neatly trimmed, family seated behind him. For all one could tell, this was the boy next door.

The scene was eerie in its normalcy. The trial went hardly noticed in town. Families of victim, a young college-age man, and of the accused lunched at various restaurants in Charlevoix, did a little shopping between court sessions, and generally went on about their business. You could not distinguish them from tourists.

And yet, in the courthouse were three young men who committed armed robbery and murder in a chilling fashion. Although tha prosecution could not prove conspiracy to murder, one of the witnesses testified that while drinking a few beers and riding around the two-tracks of rural Traverse City the three had hatched a plan to murder someone just for the hell of it. The armed robbery was almost incidental, he indicated, to the act of killing someone.

In the early hours of the morning, dressed in combat camouflage clothing and carrying a Colt AR15, Gainforth was alleged to have crouched in the woods for nearly an hour before shooting James Burton through the heart and lungs. The three made off with a paltry sum of money.

It brought back images, too, of Albert Camus's novel, The Stranger, a modern classic of alienation and despair.

These were not psychopaths, for all we can tell. Nor were they drug inspired or crimes of great passion. This was, it appears, murder without a cause.

How could it happen, I keep wondering? How could the seemingly normal activity of some aimless kids with time on their hands turn into a calculated murder, perhaps even an assassination? Does it tell us something important about our society in general or about the changing nature of life in northern Michigan?

To the later questions I think the answer is yes. Somewhere buried within this awful tale are clues to a social malaise.

I have a theory, supported by no scientific evidence whatever, that as communities grow in size and mess they begin to disintegrate in important ways. They leave room for people to fall between the cracks, to lose any useful or identifiable role. When people are left without a function, without meaning or dignity, they become dangerous.

I've thought of Gainforth in the last several weeks as my job as editor has put me in contact with some of our educators and youth workers. It is an impressive thing to observe just how much is being done to give our kids a sense of worth, a feeling of community. And it is important to remember as the little town of Charlevoix grows how critical those youth workers are to our future.

The Gainforth murder also echoes, I think, the horror of Vietnam. Although ostensibly there is nothing to link this case to the events of 15 and 20 years ago, it may reflect the increasing tendency to glorify the Vietnam War as its grim reality fades from memory. Gainforth was not even in elementary school when the major events of Vietnam transpired. And yet, the prosecutor told the jury, as he waited in the woods with his assault rifle — a copy of the M16 — he was at war.

What a strange notion in these supposedly peaceful times. At war. Yet any casual glance at the television, which has become something of reality itself for Gainforth's generation, reveals the battleground. Men, women, and children play at violence as though it were a game. Television has depersonalized and sanitized the act of killing.

Gainforth, for all we know, may have thought he was just another member of the A-Team.

Letters to the editor

False impression

Dear Editor:

I wish to add my sentiments to the terrific job that was done by our Volunteer Fire Dept. on Beaver Island, the weekend of the unfortunate plane accident. They worked tirelessly with no help from the mainland. In each article that I read, from newspapers all over the state, the only person receiving any credit was Sheriff George Lasater. This was a false impression. According to reports from the crash site, he did little or nothing. I would like to see credit given where credit is due. Let the Sheriff step forward and commend these men along with our Deputy, Ken Capman.

pact on the quality of life, but possibly to a lesser extent than having the ability to launch a boat without having to wait in line at a boat launch for two hours".

The broad problems that have become noticeable in recent years that led to formation of the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee are the rights of private land owners to utilize their property versus the rights of the public to make use of, and enjoy, the surface water area; the effect of intensive development on water quality of the lake; the carrying capacity of the lake for increasing numbers of boats of all sizes; and the introduction of large numbers of salmon into the Jordan River, Boyne River, and Medusa Creek, which will require additional facilities such as launching ramps, parking lots, fish cleaning facilities, and marina slips.

ness into the residential area in question.

After wrestling with the question at an earlier City Council meeting, Council had referred the matter back to the Planning Commission. The Planning Commission removed three of the six special uses originally proposed — radio and television studios, adult foster care, and beauty shops — and returned the amendment to Council for action at Monday night's session.

Among those speaking against the proposal at the Council meeting was Barbara MacArthur who noted, "I think we are in danger of losing our charm and the ambiance which makes Charlevoix beautiful."

A Charlevoix High School student, Christie Pace, commented: "What I find foolish is that you spend all this money for a master plan and then you ignore it."

Music of Your Life

By Bob Clock

Did you see the story in the Detroit papers recently about how well the "Music of Your Life" format is doing on radio station CKLW — Windsor? It's the same format dumped a few weeks ago by station WVOY in Charlevoix.

CKLW's ratings were just so-so until it began broadcasting "oldies but goodies" in January. The station zoomed into the top 10 in the Detroit area and is now digging in the for long haul in eighth place.

One of the Detroit papers reprinted some of the love-letters received by the station and they'd tear your heart out. Their jist is that, after long years of insane rock music, CKLW listeners have suddenly been catapulted into heaven.

I know exactly what they mean.

However after pondering WVOY's rejection of the my kind of music for three weeks now, I think I have spotted a weakness in the programming.

"The Music of Your Life" is not a living, growing body of music. For all practical purposes is as moribund as Sanskrit and as lifeless as the Dead Sea Scrolls because no one writes that kind of music any more. And if they do, no one plays it, demands it, or listens to it.

The entire repertoire seems to have closed with a thunk the day the Beatles "cut" their first record and apparently very little new music has been added to it since.

What the world needs is not more stations playing "The Music of Your Life," but a whole new generation of composers with rhythm in their souls and lyricists with poetry in the hearts. In other words, we need musicians to write our music.

I guess what bothers me is that there doesn't appear to be any direct connection between the music I grew up with and the raucous cacophony that tries to pass for music today. It is almost as if we are dealing with two distinct artistic mediums that happen to share the same name.

But one of them, unfortunately, is extinct.

If there were a connection, if we could trace the evolution of so-called "popular music" into rock 'n' roll, it might make even a modicum of sense to folks of my generation. Instead rock arrived on the scene full-grown, one of William Butler Yeats' monsters, "slouching" toward Tin Pan Alley to be born for having a ship of this size. It has proven a workable system over the years."

He noted that the ship and crew also spent time refurbishing older lighthouses and installing new ones.

The Mesquite commanding officer said this winter's trip to Grenada "had some rewards, but required a great deal of sacrifice by the crew."

He noted that for some families of crew members there was the difficulty of moving out of existing housing for the winter and finding new housing in the spring.

The Mesquite is scheduled to leave port his week to work on unlighted buoys, then return to Charlevoix in five or six days to do warm weather maintenance on the ship.

"It doesn't matter to me whether it stays or goes. But Charlevoix is a nice town and I hope we stay a while longer."

Dennis Poad

"The Mesquite would be more valuable in another area. Five buoy tenders is too many for the Great Lakes. The trip to Grenada proved that it (the Mesquite) is a multi-mission cutter, that we can do more than just tend buoys."

Engagements

Laura Henry and Dwayne Farmer

Henry-Farmer

Laura Lynn Henry and Dwayne Allan Farmer will be married on June 29 at the Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix.

The intended bride is the daughter of Mrs. Coreen E. Henry and the late Daniel P. Henry of Charlevoix, and the intended bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Farmer, also of Charlevoix.

Both young people are graduates of Charlevoix High School. She is currently attending North Central Michigan College and he is employed by the State Department of Natural Resources.

Curtis-Sladek

Marjorie V. Curtis and Gerald P. Sladek will exchange marriage vows on June 15 at the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix.

The intended bride, who has been making her home in Charlevoix, is the daughter of Otto Curtis of Roseville, California and Marjorie Smith of Sacramento, California. She is a graduate of Encina High School in Sacramento and attended American River College there. The intended bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sladek of Charlevoix. He is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended St. Clair County Community Colleged.

The engaged couple are partners in the Family Video Showcase in Charlevoix.

Tina Marie Mueller

Mueller-Whitley

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mueller of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Tina Marie, to Mike Whitley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitley, also of Charlevoix.

The intended bride is a 1984 graduate of Charlevoix High School and is presently employed by Weathershield Sports Equipment. Her fiance is a 1978 graduate of Charlevoix High School and is employed by Swanson's K & D Excavating.

The wedding will take place August 24 in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Estates seminar scheduled

James F. VanHouten, attorney, will be presenting a two hour seminar on "Wills and Estates" Friday, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, M-66 Highway.

"The day, nor the hour when life will end is something no one can answer," organizers of the event say. "But we can ask ourselves 'Am I ready? Have I done all there is to do to assure my family that things will be taken care of in an orderly fashion at a time when the loss is so great?'"

"As Christians we have a responsibility to be good stewards of that which God has given us," they note. "This includes having a will and keeping it current."

VanHouten is a principal in the law firm of Counard, Kevelinghan, and VanHouten, P.C. of Southfield, and is a frequent lecturer at Estate Planning Seminars. He has been in law practice since 1970 and a member of the State Bar of Michigan and a member of Probate and Trust Section.

VanHouten will be available to draft wills if you so desire following the seminar on Saturday, May 11, or you may use your own local attorney.

For more information, contact the church at 547-6430.

Weddings

Aimee Elzinga and William Cooper, Jr.

Elzinga-Cooper

Aimee Leigh Elzinga and William Edward Cooper, Jr. were married April 5 in Trenton, New Jersey.

The bride, who has been living in Trenton, is the daughter of Harrison and Shirley Elzinga of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cooper, Sr of Trenton.

For the double-ring ceremony, performed by Mayor Jack Hafferty, the bride chose a tea-length dress with a high lace collar, lace bodice, and tiers of lace over satin. She wore a corsage of red and white roses.

Donna DiPaola served the bride as maid of honor, and Joseph Broniszewski served the bridegroom as best man. A reception at Mastoris Diner in Bordentown followed the wedding ceremony, after which the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Ontario.

The newlyweds are now at home at 1208 Whitehorse Hamilton Square Road, Apt. No. 6, Trenton, New Jersey, 08690. They are both employed by Congoleum, Inc. in Trenton.

We are the children of the Charlevoix Middle School — honor students from the sixth and seventh grades, to be exact. And we are eager to raise money for the annual honors trip to Chicago.

Part of our fund-raising effort is to help the Charlevoix Courier sell subscriptions. Half of the money collected for every new subscription sold by us in May will go toward the trip. For every subscription renewal sold, we get 25%.

It is a good deal. You get the excellent Charlevoix Courier. We get a trip to Chicago.

Subscription rates to the Courier are $12.50 in Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet counties, $16.75 elsewhere. Student subscriptions are $9.50.

Call Tom Sothard at the Middle School to make sure the honor students don't miss your home or business as they canvas the Charlevoix area.

We are the children and we hope to be helping you read about the world.

Couple to revamp building

The old See Building on the corner of Antrim and Bridge streets will be taking on a dramatic new look in the near future.

Also known as the Kuaina Building, it weas sold recently by Bill Kusina to Barb Trudeau of Cheboygan and Paul Brandrowski of Milford.

Paul Brandrowski and Barb Trudeau

The couple, who plan to wed in August and live in Charlevoix, will be opening a new store called Villager Candies. They will sell hand dipped chocolates, fudge, ice cream, and specialty candies. The hand making of candies will be open to the view of customers and the ice cream will be sold in a section of the store with the look of an old-fashioned ice cream parlor.

Brandrowski and Trudeau plan extensive renovation to the building including a new exterior facade for both their candy business and the Great Lakes Whitefish and Chips Restaurant located in the same structure.

The inside of the candy store will be completely altered to take on the look of an old-fashioned village setting. The facade will reflect the same design and feature new awnings and the installation of windows and a new entrance on the south side of the building.

The revamping of the upstairs will include redoing the seven apartments currently there into two large apartments and two offices, subject to city approval.

"We will be cleaning the outside and giving it an elegant look," Brandrowski saya of the building built in 1911 as a funeral parlor.

Despite the couple's age - Paul is 20, Barb is 21 - they have considerable experience, having worked in Mackinaw City for the past five years.

Although they have no aet timetable for completion of the project they expect to begin work within a few weeks and may be open for business later this year.

Hospital offers guided tours

Guided tours of Charlevoix Area Hospital will kick off the hospital's participation in National Hospital Week which will be observed across the country May 12-18.

Members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild specially trained n explaining the medical equipment and procedures available will be on hand to escort small groups through the hospital from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, May 12, and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Monday, May 13.

Said Guild President Marilyn Izor, "The hospital tours have been very popular whenever we have offered them in the past. They give people from the community a much better understanding of the complexities and technical wonders in a modern hospital.

In addition to the tours, Charlevoix Area Hospital is planning several other events during National Hospital Week.

On Monday there will be displayed in the hospital lobby of current nursing uniform fashion plus some ideaa of how nurses dressed many years ago.

On Tuesday the Hospital Guild will hold an indoor plant and flower show and on Wednesday, WKHQ will be taping interviews of hospital staff members for later broadcast.

On Thursday there will be a barbecue for hospital staff members and on Friday, area art students will display some of their work on hospital themes in the lobby.

Rod Cortright, county extension director, explains how to plant trees to children of the Elementary School.

Kids observe Arbor Day

Students and faculty gathered at the Charlevoix Elementary School Friday, May 3, to plant a mountain ash tree on the grounds in observance of Arbor Day.

Charlevoix Area Garden Club members were also on hand to present the tree as a gift to the school. The particular variety waa chosen for its bright red berries, instead of the usual orange, to add color to the school grounds in autumn.

Rod Cortright, director of the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service, distributed red pine and Norway spruce seedlings to 547 students for home planting. The two-year old seedlings were donated by the Charlevoix Soil and Water Conservation District.

Prior to the ceremony Cortright showed students a slide program detailing trees and their benefits and gave them planting instructions.

The Club revived the local Arbor Day observance after a lapse of several years to cooperate with national Arbor Day efforts to promote tree planting and a better understanding of the role trees play in the quality of life.

Co-chairpersons of the Club's conservation committee arranging the event were Mrs. Nancy (Robert) Murray and Mrs. Barbara (Bruce) MacArthur.

Emergency testing at nuclear plant

Consumers Power Company will activate its nuclear plant emergency preparedness plans during an emergency exercise at the Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant on May 21, 1985.

The exercise will test the ability of the utility, the State of Michigan, Charlevoix County, and Emmet County to respond to an accident at the power plant located five miles north of Charlevoix on Lake Michigan.

A Joint Public Information Center (JPIC) will be set up at the Petoskey Holiday Inn. Media briefings on the progress of the simulated emergency will be conducted throughout the day-long exercise at the JPIC by representatives from the utility, the State of Michigan, and Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

In a tough year, an advertising cutback is the easy way out. (out of business that is).

Laurie Moore on her way to France

— by ANNE KELLY

Laurie Moore is a high school junior who was just a little envious of her friends and classmates who traveled to Paris over spring break. Only a little envious, because Laurie is making plans of her own to spend part of her summer in France.

As a participant in the Nacel Cultural Exchange Program, Laurie will spend nearly a month, from July 25 to August 21, living with a French host family assigned to her through the program. Placement is usually based on interests and Laurie has specified that she is a water sports enthusiast, especially sailing. It will be some time before families are designated to the participants, but Laurie is already anxious to know.

"I'm really excited about the opportunity. I guess I've been thinking about it since Middle School. I've always been interested in French culture."

Of course, a first experience aboard under these circumstances, is due cause for a little apprehension, and Laurie is feeling a little of that at this point as well.

"After only two years of French," communication is a big concern but Laurie has a determination to see the experience through. After visiting Quebec last summer with the French Club, she realized more than ever that she wanted to see Europe, and France in particular.

As an ambassador of sorts to France from the United States, Laurie will pack with a fresh all-American glow, an enthusiasm for travel, and an appreciation for the French culture. Her favorite subjects in high school have been language, literature, and performing arts. She has participated as a cheerleader, a member of the flag corps, in band, and in French Club.

Perhaps the most important quality that Laurie will bring with her is an ability to work one-on-one with people. Working as a peer group facilitator has been among the most fulfilling activities for Laurie this year.

"I didn't expect it to be as rewarding as it has been," explained Laurie. She has become very attached to the two elementary students with whom she spends after-school time each week.

Orientation for participants in Nacel will be held on May 18 in Detroit. Two Charlevoix students, Laurie and classmate, Chay Moore, will be attending in preparation for their stay in France this summer.

Performing Arts spring dinner theatre planned

Plans for the annual spring dinner theatre sponsored by the Performing Arts group at the Charlevoix High School have been announced.

Tickets for the event to be held at the high school gymnasium at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, May 18 are now on sale. They may be purchased from Performing Arts students or at the Shop of the Gulls, 7-Eleven, Wharfside, or McLelland's Home Furnishings.

The entertainment will emphasize nostalgia with music and skits from the 40s, 50s and 60s.

The price of tickets will be $10 each for the dinner theatre.

Voices will lift up in song

The May Festival of Song, a celebration of spring and recreation featuring a 50 voice chorale, soloists and a 22-piece orchestra, will be presented at St. Mary's Church at 5 p.m. Sunday under the direction of Ellen Addington, widely known director.

As a welcome to spring, the program will offer a variety of vocal and instrumental music including classical, religious and modern, all of it happy, Miss Addington said in describing the concert. Interspersed in the program will be anthems by Hayden, Brahms, Franck, Billings, Medema and two spring carols arranged by Deems Taylor, giving the congregation an opportunity to join in singing happy spring hymns.

A hymn, "The Old Hundredth", composed for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth in 1953, with the congregation joining the chorale and orchestra, will open the program.

"God's Trombones" by Roy Ringwald, a collection of negro folk sermons, a remarkable folk form which had its origin with the pre-Revolutionary negro preachers, will feature Fran Pletz of East Jordan as the leader of the preliminary prayer. John Frey of Charlevoix has the role of the preacher and soloists will be Kurt Vallenga and June Zoerhof of Petoskey and Robert Herbon of East Jordan. To many, the principal voices sounded like trombones that intoned, moaned, pleaded, blared, crashed and thundered, hence the name "God's Trombones".

"Suite for Flute and Jazz Piano" by Claude Bolling, a delightful fusion of classical flute and gentle jazz piano, will then be presented by Joyce Personaire of Ellsworth, flutist, and pianist, Elizabeth Humphrey of East Jordan. Accompanying the pair will be Tom Woerhman of Harbor Springs on the string bass and Larry Wojcik of Petoskey on drums. This selection is a fun dialog between the baroque and the modern elements of music which fight playfully, interrupt, mimic and untimately embrace each other, Miss Addington said of the number, adding "This is a happy and tender little gem."

The program will then turn to modern music with the orchestra playing highlights from Meredith Willson's "Music Man", assisted by the "Pine River Four", Jim Keller, Ross Renwick, Bob Tollas and Bob Martin, and a potpourri of Rodgers and Hammerstein selections featuring Phil Schairbaum leading the congregation in the singing of the moving "Edelweiss", accompanied by a guitar.

At this point in the concert, Vince Chew will introduce a new composition by Elizabeth Humphrey, pianist and composer, entitled "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

The concert will conclude with the singing and playing of the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

There will be no charge for the concert but a free will offering will be accepted for the benefit of the Charlevoix County Hospice. Sheet music for the selection "Charlevoix the Beautiful" will be offered for sale with all proceeds going to the Hospice.

Bike riders raise money

Gene Mickey, Bike-a-thon chairman, today asked the East Jordan area residents to join the St. Jude Children's Hospital "Wheels for Life" Bike-a-thon scheduled for May 11 at 9 a.m. at the Heritage Hills subdivision of East Jordan.

Mickey said that this ride honors Jaime, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. "With every turn of the wheel, riders become 'spokes'-men for all children with cancer, like Jaime, who want to know that they aren't in this battle alone." He went on to say, "People willing to give time to create more time to children crying for help stimulates a better event and raises more money for the hospital. Riders are really needed. They make or break a Bike-a-thon."

A rain date of May 25 has been set if we aren't able to have it on the 11th.

Sponsores donating a sum for each mile completed are enlisted by riders. Those who raise $25 receive a St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a barrel tote bag and a T-shirt. Pick up sponsor forms at Glen's Market in East Jordan or call 536-7945 for details on riding or sponsoring a rider.

"The general plan is to have a good time while helping a wonderful group of children who are counting on our support," Mickey concluded.

Trackmen lose to Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayders tallied 55 points to 81 for Petoskey in a dual track meet at the Northmen's track Tuesday.

The Rayders won six first in the meet including three by Jim Martin in the 100, 200, and 400 meter runs and one each by Darrin Batdorff in the pole vault, Jim Kenney in the discus, and the 400 meter relay team.

Martin took the 100 in 10.48, and 440 in 54.52 and the 220 in 24.22. Batdorff won the pole vault with a 10' vault; Kenney the discus with a throw of 103;10'' and the 440 relay team (Ulf Evaldsson, Kenney, Jim Gibbs, Kevin Shepard) in 48.81.

Others who placed were Mike Louiselle, a second in the shot put; Briah Slattery, a second in the discus; Gibbs a second and Shepard a third in the long jump; Packy LaBlance a second in the high jump.

In the track events Kenney had a third in the 100; Doug Sloan, a second in the 880; Tim Salmonson a second and Terry Bonar a third in the 330 yard low hurdles; Evaldsson a third in the 220.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey with Cheboygan and Rogers City for the Frosh-Soph Invitational meet Tuesday and at the Soo Invitational the following Saturday.

Injuries hurt girls' track

The Charlevoix girls track teams, with only nine members, finished eleventh among 15 teams at the Kalkaska Invitational meet Saturday.

Barble Boss, with a second place finished in the 100 meter dash, in 13.4. The winning time was 13.3.

Charlevoix had a total of 18 points in the meet won by Grayling with 81 points. Charlevoix's remaining points were tallied by the four relay teams.

The 400 meter relay team (Chaya Moore, Kris Austin, Boss, Michelle Louiselle) placed third; the 3200 meter relay team (Michelle North, Betsy Haggard, Kathy Dohm, Jennifer Ritt) came in fifth; and the 800 meter team (Moore, Austin, Boss, Louiselle) and the 1600 meter team (Amy Pischner, Dohm, Moore, Haggard) placed sixth in the meet.

The team will be at St. Ignace Thursday with the Soo and Cheboygan; at the Soo Invitational Saturday and the Rogers City Relays on Monday.

The Charlevoix girls scored 24 points to Petoskey's 98 in a track meet at Petoskey Tuesday.

Kathy Dohm had Charlevoix's only first place with a high jump of 4'2".

Placing second in the meet were Barble Boss in the 100 yard dash, Michelle North in the mile, Michelle Louiselle in the 220 yard run and Betsy Haggard in the two-mile event.

Others who finished third in the meet were Kris Austin in the shot put, Heidi Olinger in the discus, Jennifer Ritt in the 100 yard run, Olinger in the mile, Amy Pischner in the 440 yard run, Molly Bolduc in the 880 yard run, and Olinger in the two mile.

The team will be at St. Ignace with Petoskey and the Soo on Wednesday, May 15.

Softball team falls to Rogers City in two games

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix girls softball team dropped two games to Rogers City Saturday by scores of 13-4 and 14-12, giving the team a 7-6 record.

Each pitcher gave up seven hits in the first game. Yerks went the distance for the Hurons in the game that went seven innings. She also gave up seven walks and had seven strikeouts. Missy Sandahl went three innings with Ann Kroll taking over in relief in the fourth inning. They allowed seven walks and had seven strikeouts.

Jennifer Sell and Amy Antaya had two hits each and Angie McClanaghan, Kroll, and Lara Stargardt bad singles for Charlevoix.

For the Hurons A. Rasbe had two including a double and Standen also had two hits; Wojtaszek, Zerkes, and Kollember had singles for Rogers City.

Charlevoix scored in the first inning, Rogers City had two runs in the second, Charlevoix countered with two runs in the third inning for a 3-2 lead. Rogers, however, tied the score in the bottom of the third and took command of the game in the fourth inning with five runs for an 8-3 lead. Charlevoix made it 8-4 in the fifth inning before Rogers City put the game on ice with five runs in the sixth inning.

In the second game, Sandahl started and Kroll took over the second inning. They gave up six hits, 13 bases on balls, and had three strikeouts. L. Budnik allowed four hits, gave up 12 walks and bad three strikeouts for Rogers City.

Charlevoix got two runs in the first inning before Rogers City went ahead 4-2 in the second inning. Charlevoix battled back to a 9-4 lead in the third, only to have the Hurons score 10 runs in the bottom of the inning. Charlevoix scored three more runs in the fifth but could not overcome the Huron lead.

Sell, Sandahl, Kroll, and Becky Smith had singles to account for Charlevoix's hits. Kawalewski, Goebel, Kierzek, Schaedig, Budnik and Towl had singles for Rogers City.

The girls softball squad won a doubleheader from East Jordan by scores of 22-4 and 17-5, Coach Ron Cox reports.

In both games, Charlevoix took control in the early innings and coasted to easy five-inning wins. Through Thursday, the team had a .293 batting average.

Missy Sahdahl was the winning pitcher in the first game, giving up two hits and six walks and posting nine strikeouts. Mayhew, on the other hand, allowed 12 walks and had only one strikeout.

Reed with a single and Nietupski with a triple had East Jordan's only hits while Meg Fowler had two including a single and a double, Sandahl had two including a homer, Ann Kroll and Lara Stargardt each had two singles, and Jenny Sell, Amy Antaya, and Heidi Bolduc each had one single.

Charlevoix jumped to a 9-0 first inning lead, increased it to 14-3 in the second inning, 19-4 in the third, and 22-4 in the fourth.

Ann Kroll had three strikeouts and gave up seven hits and four walks as she pitched her team to a win in the second game. Mayhew allowed 12 hits and eight walks and had three strikeouts.

Collecting hits for East Jordan were McDermott who had a double, Mayhew with one, Neitupski, a double, Noirot and Zoulek with one single each, and Burt witb two.

Fowler had three single, Sell, Angie McClanaghan, and Ann Smith, two singles each, Antaya, a double and Kroll and Bolduc, one single each.

Charlevoix built a 15-0 lead with five runs in the first, one in the second, three in the third, and six in the fourth inning before East Jordan scored its first run in the bottom of the fourth. Charlevoix scored two more in the top of the fifth before the Jordanites added four in the bottom of the last inning.

Earlier in the week the softball team won two games over Gaylord High School in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference action and dropped two to Gaylord St. Mary's in non-league action early last week.

Charlevoix won over Gaylord 11-12 and 19-3 while losing to the Snowbirds 5-3 and 11-4.

Missy Sandahl allowed one hit as she pitched Charlevoix to victory in the first game allowing seven walks and posting seven strikeouts. She gave up nine hits. Campbell gave up 11 hits and seven bases on balls and had a single strikeout for Gaylord.

Gaylord got its one run in the top of the first for a 1-0 lead before Charlevoix came back with five runs in the bottom of the second. They added another in the fourth and five more in the fifth for the win.

Boughner had Gaylord's only hit. Meg Fowler, Sandahl, and Ann Kroll had singles, Jenny Sell and Angela McClanaghan had two each, Amy Antaya, and Lara Stargardt each had a single and a double.

In the second game, Kroll gave up four hits and one walk and had one strikeout for Charlevoix while Skylark, Mosely, and Goodenow allowed at total of 16 hits and 20 bases on balls and had one strikeout.

Gaylord scored one run in the first, but Charlevoix came back strong in the second to take a 5-1 lead. They added four runs in the third, two in the fourth, and eight in the sixth inning. Gaylord scored one in the fourth and fifth innings.

Swinging hot bats for Charlevoix were Fowler with two hits including a double, Sell with three including a triple, Michelle Siebert and Lisa Smith with one single each, Antaya, Becky Smith and Heidi Bolduc with two each, and Kroll with three.

Gee and Damer had singles and Bozzler and Measeh had triples for Gaylord.

Gaylord St. Mary's was well in control of both games. In the first one, Mankowski allowed five hits and three bases on balls and had three strikeouts. Sandahl, on the mound for Charlevoix, gave up nine walks and had two strikeouts. She allowed five hits.

D. Howak had a double and Mankowski and C. Jasinski had two singles each for the Snowbirds. Fowler had a double, Sandahl two singles, and Stargardt and McClanaghan one single each for Charlevoix.

Gaylord scored in their half of the first inning with Charlevoix scoring three runs in the bottom half of the inning for a 3-1 lead which was short-lived as Gaylord scored two each in the third and fifth innings for the win.

Jasinski pitched Gaylord St. Mary's to their second win, giving up five hits and allowing seven walks while pitching three strikeouts. Sandahl started but was relieved in the second by Kroll who allowed six walks.

The Snowbirds scored six runs to open the game and five in the second to account for their scoring. Charlevoix had scored three in the bottom half of the first inning and another in the third but were unable to overcome the lopsided lead.

Mankowski, Jasinski and Lindsley had singles and Nowak two singles fo the victors. Fowler and McClanaghan had singles and Antaya two doubles for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey May 9 before hosting Central Lake the followin Wednesday.

Rayder team drops two

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team dropped two games to Rogers City on the Hurons' diamond Saturday. The Hurons won the first by a 7-3 margin and the second by a 4-0 shutout.

Curtis, on the mound for the Hurons, allowed only two hits, had eight walks and nine strikeouts to Mike Herriman's five hits, six walks and eight strikeouts in the first game.

Brent Cole and Dave McKenzie had the Rayders' only hits.

Curtis had two singles and Sangefrei, Smolinski, and Chrzon one each for Rogers City.

Rogers City took an early lead, scoring one run in the first and third innings before Charlevoix scored its three runs on the top of the fourth to go ahead 3-2. The Hurons, however, came back strong to score two runs in the fifth and three in the sixth for the win.

In the second game, Felax held Charlevoix scoreless though he allowed three hits and gave up two walks. He also had seven strikeouts. Cris Havens held the Hurons to two hits and gave up seven walks. He had a single strikeout.

Kyle Smith, Havens, and Marc Himebauch had Charlevoix's hits. Sangefrel had a double and Fleming a single for the victors.

Rogers City scored in the second and third innings.

The Rayders will be at Grayling on Tuesday, and at Onaway Saturday.

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team split a double header with the visiting Soo nine in closely contested games that saw the visitors take the first by a 3-2 score and Charlevoix the second by a 4-2 margin.

Home runs in the late innings decided the outcome in both games.

A Shane Thompson homer was the winning margin for the Soo in the first game.

The Soo's first run came in the third as Thompson hit his first home run with one man on to put his team ahead 2-0 before Thad Morgan and Cris Haven tied the score in the seventh with home runs for the Rayders. In the eighth it was Thompson who won his own game with a homer.

Thompson, the winning pitcher, allowed five hits including the two home runs and singles by Kyle Smith, Mike Herriman, and Matt Lignell. Arbic had started for the Soo and had been relieved by Thompson in the sixth.

Marc Himebauch started for Charlevoix and was relieved in the seventh by Herriman. They allowed seven hits to Thompson, Pike, Andary, Bush, and LaJoie who had two; a single and a double.

In the second game, it was Herriman's homer in the bottom of the sixth that made the difference.

Mike Thompson went five and one-third innings for the Rayders before Brent Cole relieved him on the mound.

In a pitchers battle, Charlevoix scored two in the third on a single by Jim Young and a home run by Jody Putman. The Soo tied the score in the fifth when a home run by Shane Thompson brought home Pike from third to tie the score.

The tie threw the game into extra innings. Putman hit a single. With two out and two strikes on him, Herriman let loose with the home run that gave the Rayders the victory.

Olson had the Soo's second hit, a single. Young had two singles, Putman a single and a home run, Morgan a single and a double, and Herriman a home run.

The Rayders will be at Grayling Tuesday and at Onaway the following Saturday.

Softball players sought by city recreation department

A second meeting for softball aspirants will be held at the councilroom in the City Hall at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 9, Dwight Boss, city recreation leader, has announced.

"We are still seeking additional teams in both the men's and women's leagues," Boss said, stating that the women's league, especially, needs more teams if a league is to be formed. If a women's league is not formed, there is a chance that a coed league would be organized he said.

Anyone wishing to organize a team or to play on one is urged to attend the meeting at which the final decisions regarding the season will be made.

The men's league is tentatively scheduled to open its season May 28.

Seniors to gather at capital

Senior citizens from all over Michigan will demonstrate the strength of their generation when they gather in Lansing on May 15 for Senior Power Day.

Local senior citizens will be able to go to Lansing by bus through arrangements with the Friendship Center in Petoskey. The round-trip cost of $60 will include bus fare, overnight lodging, and a box lunch.

Billed as "the largest event of its kind in the nation", Senior Power Day is expected to draw 6,000 senior citizens to Lansing's Civic Center.

With the theme "Advocacy for Action, representatives from the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Council of Senior Citizens will be keynote speakers. Other events will be:

–A public hearing for senior citizens' problems and issues, chaired jointly by the Michigan Commission on Services to the Aging and by legislative leaders.

–A Consumer's Fair, featuring exhibits ranging from public utilities and health maintenance to recreation and travel.

–Ratification of the Senior Power platform.

–Addresses by Governor Blanchard, House Speaker Gary Owen, and Senate Majority Leader John Engler, each giving responses to the platform.

–Distribution of the magazine "Senior Pawer Herald", that will be full of senior power and senior issues information.

–Box lunches served by legislators.

–A march to the Capitol.

–Music and dancing, including singers, jazz ensembles, a marching band, and a wind ensemble from Michigan State University.

Senior Power Day is planned and organized by Michigan's major senior organizations, assisted by the 14 Area Agencies on Aging. The steering committee is composed of representatives from these organizations.

The day's activities begin at 8:30 a.m. on May 15, with the Consumer's Fair and public hearing convening concurrently in separate Civic Center facilities. All activities will end by 3 p.m., following events at the State Capitol.

For further information, contact Rosemary Ternes at the Friendship Center, phone 347-3211.

Tennis squad wins two from Boyne

The Charlevoix Rayder tennis team, in a return meet with Boyne City Thursday, posted a 6-3 victory, winning four of five singles and two of four doubles Coach Erik Lundteigen said.

Mike Chew, playing in the No. 1 singles, defeated Pete Smith 6-1, 6-3; Ty Wagner (C) lost a close match to John Judkins 7-6, 2-6, 6-4; Marty Joy (C) d. Bill Casper 6-1, 6-2; Julie Balmer (C) d. Joe Schlinck 6-4, 6-2, and Sue Miller (C) d. Marion Smith 6-1, 6-0.

The teams split in the doubles with Boyne's Steve Rickard and Todd Buckmaster defeating Jason Brindel and Jim Morgridge 6-3, 6-2.

In other doubles, Scott DeYoung and Dan Drury (C) d. Merle Carson and Jelf Johnson 3-6, 6-1, 6-0; Rusty Cooiman and Dan Stabulin (C) d. Mike Looze and Craig Napont 6-3, 6-2, and Jon Eakes and Dave Warth (C) lost to Norman Howard and Kyle Fitzpatrick 6-3, 6-4.

Charlevoix rolled up a decisive 9-0 victory over the visiting Boyne City netters at the municipal courts Tuesday.

Coach Erik Lundteigen said the team is developing well and is looking better in each meet.

Against Boyne City, Charlevoix's Mike Chew defeated Pete Smith 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 in the opening singles match.

In the Rayders sweep of other singles matches, Ty Wagner defeated John Jenkins 6-0, 6-1; Mary Joy defeated Bill Casper 6-3, 6-3; Julie Balmer defeated Joe Schlinck 2-6, 7-6, 6-3; and Sue Miller defeated Marion Smith 6-4, 6-2.

The Rayders also took the doubles with Scott DeYoung and Dan Drury defeating Merle Carlson and Jelf Johnson 6-4, 6-3; Rusty Cooiman and Dan Staublin defeating Mike Looze and Craig Napon 6-4, 6-0; and Jon Eakes and Dave Warth defeating Kyle Fitzpatrick and Norman Howard 6-2, 7-6.

Charlevoix will be at Harbor Springs Thursday, May 9.

Recreation office will open soon

Effective Monday, May 13, the Recreation Department office in the city hall will be staffed from 2:30 - 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

The office will be staffed full time after June 10.

Garden club convention ahead

May brings not only the readying of the five community gardens maintained by the garden club, but preparations for the state convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, May 29-31. Thirty members of the club will travel together to the Grand Traverse Resort Village at Acme for this event.

President Julia Leedy and vice-president and flower show chairman Derith Lane will be in-resident delegates. At the banquet Wednesday evening, Michigan Life members will be honored, among them Mrs. Anna Belle Webb of Charlevoix.

Table decorations for the opening luncheon will be burlap garden hats on stands made by the members. Mrs. Nancy Fowler has chaired this project, assisted by Mrs. Webb, F.H. Leddy and John Lane. A workshop to complete these decorations will be held Tuesday May 21 at the home of Anna Belle Webb, during which time the hats will be decorated with flowers, ribbon and veiling.

The monthly meeting will be a fun adventure at the lodge at Mt. McSauba, 1 p.m. Tuesday, May 14. The program featuring wild flowers of the park will include a lecture, slides and walking tour presented by Mrs. Peter Spieles. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Mary Biddick and Mrs. F. Mikulski.

MARIAN B. TYRRELL

Marian B. Tyrrell, 83, of Central Lake, died May 4, 1985, at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility in Bellaire.

Funeral will be 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 7, at the Eastport Baptist Church. The Rev. John Gillette will officiate. Graveside service will be 1 p.m. Wednesday, May 8, at the Davison Cemetery, Davison, Mich.

The former Marian B. Brown was born Dec. 28, 1901, in Kalamazoo, the daughter of Dewey and Nellie (Rundel) Brown.

She was married to Milford Tyrrell and since 1929, the couple operated Tyrrell's Resort near Atwood. Her husband preceded her in death in 1975.

Mrs. Tyrrell was a member of the Eastport Baptist Church and the Antrim County Farm Bureau.

She is survived by: three sons, Edwin of Central Lake, Jack of Gatlinburg, Tenn. and Richard of Burton; one sister, Caroline Reagan of Holt; five grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; many nieces and nephews.

The family suggests memorials to the Eastport Baptist Church Building Fund. Envelopes for that purpose are available at the Mortensen Funeral Home, Central Lake, where friends may call.

HELEN V. JENNINGS

Commital services for Mrs. Helen V. Jennings, 88, were held Friday, May 3, at St. Mary's Cemetery. The Rev. Casimir Zawacki of St. Mary's Church officiated.

Mrs. Jennings, a native of Michigan where she was born Jan. 1, 1897, died March 2 at San Antonio, Tex. She was preceded in death by her husband, Clayton F. Jennings.

Names In The News

Airman KEITH R. POTTER, son of JANET M. VALENTINE of Charlevoix and THEODORE R. POTTER of Gaylord, has completed the Army's construction machine operator course at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the course, students were trained to operate and maintain heavy construction equipment and received practical experience by actually working at construction sites.

He is a 1984 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Two former local boys are still making news. DAVE and DAN BATDORFF recently were pictured on the front page of the Huntington (Indiana) Herald-Press as they led a group of participants on a 25-kilometer Walk-A-Thon for Huntington College.

JEFF GEE, East Jordan High School, representing Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company in Boyne City wos among five Michigan high school students elected to the Michigan Electric Cooperative Association's Youth Advisory Board at the conclusion of the Rural Electric Youth Days '85 in Tustin April 25-26.

The newly formed board will help MECA develop programs to educate Michigan youth about the rural electric cooperative business. Students on the baord will help plan next year's Youth Days and future Rural Electric Youth Tours to Washington D.C.

BEN G. GRIFFIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Griffin of East Jordan was among twenty-seven juniors and seniors recently inducted into Alpha Chi honor society in ceremonies at Lake Superior State College. In order for students to be considered eligible for the honor society, they must be in the top ten percent of their class.

Griffin is a junior majoring in mechanical engineering technology and a 1982 graduate of East Jordan High School. In high school, he was a member of band and national honor society. At LSSC, he has been on the dean's list and is president, Society of Manufacturing Engineers (LSSC chapter).

Veterans hospital secured for area

Congressman Bob Davis has announced that he has secured an agreement with the Veterans Administration (VA) to fund a long-awaited veterans outpatient clinic in Gaylord.

The announcement follows five months of VA investigation, citizen lobbying and negotiation between Davis and the VA. Davis said he expects the facility to be open and operating by the end of the year.

The general purpose clinic will be located in the Hazel Shipp Building of Otsego Memorial Hospital and is expected to draw 2,000 veteran visits the first year, 5,000 the second and 8,000 in the third year. Northern Michigan veterans, who in the past have traveled to the Saginaw Veterans Medical Center, will be served by this new Gaylord clinic.

Cemetery work bee planned

A cemetery work bee will be held at the Norwood Cemetery Saturday, May 11.

Residents of the community are asked to gather at the cemetery with their tools and equipment at 9 a.m. to prepare the grounds for the season.

The work will continue until completed.

A potluck lunch for the workers will be served by the women of the community at noon at Friendship Hall.

Kotowich appointed to agency

At a recent meeting of the Area Agency on Aging Board of Directors, Thora Kotowich from East Jordan was appointed as a member of the non-profit corporation board. Thora has been active with aging organizations since the programs were developed in the early 70's.

As a county commissioner, she helped establish the Charlevoix Commission on Aging in 1974 and has served on the Regional Advisory Council on Aging during most of the 10-year history of the council.

As a board member, Thora joins Oral Sutliff of Boyne City who is president of the AAA Board for 1986.

According To Ron Crummel, AAA Director, Thora's experience in working with aging organizations and concern for senior citizens programs is a real plus for the agency's board. The agency plans and administers services funded by the Older Americans Act for the 10-county area in Northwest Michigan.

Ten-year-old wins March of Dimes walk

The weather was cool but sunny as 30 walkers took part in the 30-K Walkamerica Saturday, April 27, raising $2100 for March of Dimes in their fight against birth defects.

Winning the colored television set, first prize for the 18 and under age category was ten-year-old Alexis Erreca of Horton Bay who collected $512 in sponsorship money. Runner-up was Becky Soulliere of Charlevoix with $154 who won a pair of athletic shoes from Little Red Shoe House.

First place winner of the adult division was Louise Klooster of Ellsworth who raised $214 and won the Bed-and-Breakfast at Harbour Inn on the Bay. Louise was one of the eight members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital team, who were first in the team walk with a combined total of $526.

Also participating in the team walk were Judy Skippergosh and Girl Scout Troup 264, and District Health Department No. 3. Youngest participant was Jamie Roloff, three years old, who was pushed by her mother Audrey Roloff, also a member of the Hospital team. Trina Wiser and Micbelle Seibert were the first ones to complete the full 30-K course.

Area businesses who supported the walk were: 7-Eleven, McDonad's, Burger King, Charlevoix County State Bank, Ricciardi's and Michigan National Bank.

According to Marion Parker, coordinator of chapter services in the area, sixty percent of the money raised in the community goes for reasearch, education and genetic counseling. The remaining forty percent stays in the community to support local field genetic clinics; a nutritional aide at Char-em Alternative School for Teeanage Parents; Health Career Award at NCMC; -rehatal class scholarships at Charlevoix Area Hospital, and professional public health informtion as requested.

Arts group to tour area artists' studios

Crooked Tree Arts Council volunteers will tour the studios of four Charlevoix area artists in a day-long excursion scheduled for Thursday, May 9.

Volunteers will meet at the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center at 9 a.m. to car pool for the studio visits.

First on the itinerary is a stop at Bill and Bonnie Staffel's studio and sales gallery south of Charlevoix. Bill, a blacksmith, has promised to have his forge fired for the visitors. Bonnie, a potter whose new collection of porcelain is highlighted in the arts center sales gallery during May, will provide a backstage peek at her studio.

Next tour will be of potter Jo Moffit's shop and studio at Norwood. When completed there, the group will move on to Elk Rapids, for lunch at the Torch Lake Inn. Following lunch, volunteers will see the home and gallery of artist-illustrator Betty Beeby.

Enroute back to Petoskey, the group will stop at the Off Bridge Street Artist's new salesroom in Charlevoix.

This is the fourth in a series of special "Meet the Artist" programs sponsored for CTAC volunteers.

Volunteers are needed for a variety fo jobs at the arts center, from sales help in the Art Tree gallery, bookkeeping, typing, preparation of mailinga, telephoning, hanging shows, to preparing and serving food for receptions and making contacts for Community Concerts.

Anyone interested in volunteering is encouraged to contact Audrey Collins at the McCune Arts Center, 347-4337. All volunteers are welcome to participate in the "Meet the Artist" series, according to volunteer program coordinator Mary Fink.

Lou Hollow, president of First State Bank of Charlevoix, presents a check to Charles Heise during the bank's special promotion offering interest on $1 million. To enter the drawing, participants had only to witness a demonstration of the 24-hour banker.

Officials attend meeting

Michael Wiesner, Hal Hill and Earl Muma recently attended the Michigan Public Power Agency annual meeting in Grand Rapids. Charlevoix is a member of MPPA and Wiesner serves on the Board of Commissioners. Presentations at the conference covered subjects that are important in planning and operating electrical systems.

Walter J. McCarthy, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Detroit Edison Company discussed some of the future concerns for the electrical industry. He particularly cited the need to shorten the time ot develop new generating plants to less than five years.

Now it takes about 12 years to plan, design, and construct a new station. He pointed to progress in other countries. For example, a nuclear plant in Japan was recently put in operation after only five years.

In response to a question about the future of nuclear power, he predicted that within 100 yers, all the generating plants in the United States will be nuclear.

He based the prediction on the problems with other fuel sources. For example, even though coal is plentiful, its use contributes to acid rain. Gas, oil, and hydro-electric power also have limitations, and alternative technology is not advanced enough to meet the demand.

Hayes township calls hearing on proposed amendment

by PEG OHLE

Hayes Township has called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 21 at the Township Hall to hear comment on a proposed amendment to the Township Zoning Ordinance.

The proposed amendment involves a modification of Section 5.13 of the ordinance, entitled Shoreland Protection Strip. This section was the basis for a lawsuit filed against the township last January by Fox & Associates, owners of 338 acres of land on the north side of Lake Charlevoix.

Section 5.13 provides for not more than "one slip or dock space for each 100 feet of lake frontage or lake access of more than one single family living unit for each 100 feet of lake frontage". Because Fox & Associates owns only 2,800 feet of shoreline, the company was told it could construct only 28 dock spaces and 28 dwelling units with lake access (one of each per 100 feet of shoreline), although the Fox project called for 27 buildings containing 168 condominium units and 66 boat slips on the 338 acres it owns.

Fox & Associates claimekd this restriction "limits and deprives (the company) of its riparian rights in and to the navigable waters of Lake Charlevoix".

The proposed amendment to Section 5.13 to be considered at the public hearing does not address this restriction. The amendment simply proposes that in restricting the number of boat slips, space not be limited for rowboats, canoes, dinghies, rubber boats, and other such hand-powered vessels.

The proposed amendment also specifies that Section 5.13 does not apply to public access sites under the possession and control of a government agency such as the county, township, or road commission, which allows public access across the site to a lake or stream.

According to Sara Gay Dammann, chairman of the Hayes Township Zoning Commission, there are few public access sites in the township at this time, but the establishment of more such sites is the top priority of the newly-formed township Recreation Committee. The only public access to Lake Charlevoix is at the end of Maple Grove Road and there is one site on Susan Lake and another at the State Roadside Park on Lake Michigan.

"We want to make the lakes available to everyone", Mrs. Dammann explained. "We believe they are the resource of all the people and not just the privileged. Our ordinance is designed to provide for use by all; that's why we want to control funnel access sites, not public access sites."

Funnel development allows persons who do not own lake frontage to "funnel" themselves to a development's commonly-owned lake shore for recreational purposes. The objection commonly voiced against such funneling is that it gives many more people access to the lake and thus adds to the pollution of the lake.

Fox & Associates' lawsuit against Hayes Township is pending in Circuit Court.

Floating concert by woodwind group scheduled in June

The American Wind Symphony Orchestra will be appearing in Charlevoix on Thursday and Friday, June 6-7.

The orchestra decided to add Charlevoix to its Great-Lakes tour following a commitment by The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to raise funds for the event.

The orchestra travels and plays aboard a specially constructed 195-foot barge that will be brought into Round Lake for the concert. The group is composed of 45 musicians from around the world. They are under the direction of Robert Boudreau.

Susan Neszpaul, director of community relations for the Pittsburgh-based orchestra, says that its members will be housed in Charlevoix for one-on-one contact with residents of the community. She adds that several separate woodwind or brass quintets will be available to play at various locations within Charlevoix.

Neszpaul and the Chamber of Commerce hope to raise $15,000 to sponsor the tour stop in Charlevoix.

The American Wind Symphony Orchestra has been in existence for 29 years. It was originally housed on a barge. The current boat was launched in 1976 and cost $4 million to build. It is a self-propelled flat-bottomed boat weighing 1100 tons.

It serves as a center for a variety of arts programs. There will be an artist and poet in residence, each available for seminars during the stop in Charlevoix.

The boat also features an art exhibition worth over $1 million dollars that will be open to the public.

The Chamber is planning a patron's concert Friday evening, preceded by a wine and cheese reception. The patron's concert will cost $50. Organizers are also looking for corporate and individual sponsors for the event. Anyone seeking further information should contact Tom Warth at the 218 Bridge Street restaurant.

Over the years, the orchestra has commissioned some 300 new works; 13 new works have been commissioned for this concert tour.

Local court is tough on drunk drivers

By PEG OHLE

Judgo Harvey C. Varnum

Charlevoix County District Court is the third toughest jurisdiction in the state in handing out jail sentences for drunk driving.

That information is included in a copywrited story in Sunday's Detroit News.

The local court is reported as handling 135 drunk driving cases in 1984 and sending 98.5 percent of the drivers to jail. Sixty percent were tried on the original charge (without plea bargaining). First time offenders got a minimum of three days in jail and repeaters got longer sentences.

In addition, convicted drunk drivers in Charlevoix County were fined an average of $435 (30th from the highest in the state), had their driver's license suspended for various periods of time, were put on probation, and were required to participate in an alcohol abuse counseling program.

The two court jurisdictions rated tougher than Charlevoix County in putting drunk drivers in jail were Centreville and Midland. The three most lenient jurisdictions were Wayne, River Rouge, and Taylor, according to the report.

Charlevoix County District Judge, Harvey C. Varnum firmly believes his mandatory jail sentences for drunk drivers is having a positive effect, not only on the offenders, but on the public as well.

He told the Courier, "My philosophy about having mandatory sentencing up front is that it gives drunk drivers a chance to think about it. We have cut down on repeaters considerably. And the word is out among the general public about the jail sentences. People are thinking twice about drinking and driving."

The names of persons convicted on drunk driving charges in Charlevoix County appear regularly in the Courier.

Oil spill cleaned up

A minor oil discharge into Lake Michigan reported recently at Medusa Cement Co. has been contained and the source of spill was found, according to Bill Nall, environmental and Safety Engineer at Medusa.

"Everything is in perfect shape. There is not a hint of it (the oil) any more," Nall said.

Nall adds that he believes some 100-200 gallons of fuel oil was discharged into the lake before the leaking fuel line was discovered.

The oil was contained in the company's boat slip with the use of containment booms, absorbent pads, and absorbent booms, Nall said.

Nall said the leak released only "trivial quantities" and that "everyone was well satisfied with the clean up efforts."

Jim Withers: A man for off seasons

Spring and fall may never be the same in Charlevoix

by Doug Truax

Jim Withers is a big guy, standing maybe 6' 4", and he is propelled by a youthful infectious enthusiasm that just may make him an irresistible force.

Residents of the Lake Charlevoix area are beginning to see just how compelling he can be.

Sometime last winter Jim got the idea of a trout tournament for Charlevoix. On May 18 and 19 Charlevoix will witness a complete, full-blown event — the first annual Lake Charlevoix Trout Tournament with all flags flying. In the process it just might find an answer to the perennial question of a northern Michigan tourist town: the spring and fall seasons.

It should be noted that Withers does not tell the story quite that way. He begins by reciting a long, long list of people other than himself responsible for helping this vague notion become a working reality in such a short time.

"I've had so much enthusiastic support from everyone out there that it was a sure thing," Withers says of the event, "no risk". His observation is undoubtedly true, to an extent. Withers provided the seed for an idea whose time had come. Community support followed quickly and surely.

But the decisive way this has all been accomplished could only have come from an individual with Withers' drive and spirit.

As the owner of the Village Inn Pizza restaurant Withers stands to gain from the increased tourist action like most of his fellow merchants.

You sense, however, that the motivation for the tournament is a little deeper within him. "I just want to have good fishing until my dying day," Withers says, "and I want my kid to have that kind of fishing, too."

In the end, Withers sees the tournament — which he hopes will eventually be broadened to include a fall salmon tournament — as an effective weapon to insure that good fishing for some time to come.

"As the tournament brings more numbers of people to town, the DNR will have to become more involved in building a sport fishery for the area. It's a wham-bam type of thing. You can find out right now how many people are interested. It is going to tell a story that a lot of people are involved in the whole concept," Withers adds.

He sees this as an important piece of insurance. "I want to see that fishing never returns to the situation we had in the late fifties when the lake trout nearly disappeared from the Great Lakes."

Withers remembers that time

Two-county growth alliance is planned

A two-county Community Growth Alliance came another step toward enactment last week when the County Board of Commissioners received a resolution of intent for its signature, along with a proposed annual budget.

Appearing before the commissioners, Dennis Jason of the County Economic Development Corporation and Richard Beagle of the Business and Industry Task Force recommended that they take the necessary action to create the Alliance. The commissioners indicated this would probably happen at their next meeting, on May 22.

The two-county Alliance, made up of Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, is an outgrowth of a proposed three-county Alliance of which Emmet County was the third member. However, Emmet County has not been able to get support for the project from its local units of government and does not want to proceed with it at this time.

The Community Growth Alliance is described as a means of promoting the area as a desirable place for businesses and industries to operate, and as a source of needed goods of many different types. It would assist businesses and industries in getting a fair share of federal procurements and enable them to compete in all markets. This would be done through an Area Development Office working with existing businesses and industries, and active recruiting of new

Operation Petunia getting underway

Operation Petunia is swinging into full gear, Dale Boss of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful reports, with planting scheduled for Thursday, May 23 at 5 p.m.

Crews have been busy removing the heavy load of sand on the parkways. Bruce MacArthur says that help for this work has come from a variety of sources, including trustees for the county jail, young people assigned to work in lieu of court fines, and some paid help.

Next week the seed beds will be prepared with a spraying of Treflan, a week killer. They will then be rototilled and raked in preparation for the arrival of the petunias — all 900 flats of them — on Wednesday night.

The mayor has proclaimed the week of May 20 "Community Pride Week" in honor of the planting.

Plans are again being made for the picnic in East Park at the conclusion of the planting. All persons participating in the petunia plant will be given tickets entitling them to hot dogs, Tom's Moms chocolate chip cookies, and other fixings in the park.

The picnic will also feature the country-western band, Jasper and His Tag-Alongs, who will play from 7-8:30 p.m.

The Star of Charlevoix will be berthed at East Park and open for tours during the picnic.

Anyone interested in helping plant petunias on Thursday, May 23 should show up on U.S. 31 near your home and look for a block captain in a white hat. Persons wanting a reminder call should contact the Chamber of Commerce at 547-2101.

Rotarians organize here

Plans are underway for the new organization of a Rotary Club in Charlevoix by a group of many local business and professional men. Meeting with Rotarian Warren K. Parker of the Petoskey Rotary Club, they agreed to consider applying for a charter in Rotary International, worldwide association of more than 21,000 Rotary Clubs throughout the world with over one million members in 159 countries and geographical regions.

Rotary is an organization of business and professional men who are united worldwide, and who provide humanitarian services, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace over all the world.

Rotarian Parker and several other Petoskey rotarians such as Wm. McCune, M.D., Ned Tanner, Robert Brummeler, and 1985-86 District 629 Governor Ernest H. Mainland, as well as others representing the Petoskey Club are assisting the newly formed provisional club to become organized and apply for the charter, hopefully before the end of the Rotary fiscal year (June 30th).

The new Rotary Club will reflect the spirit of friendship and concern for others which characterizes Rotary everywhere. Rotary's motto is "Service Above Self."

By selecting members from recognized businesses and professions in a community, a Rotary Club becomes a cross-section of its business and professional life.

The new provisional club is meeting regularly in Charlevoix at Ricciardi's Inn (formerly the Weathervane Restaurant) on the channel, at 12 noon each Thursday.

"We are already established as a make-up club (for those Rotarians who may have missed last week's meeting somewhere — or will miss their next meeting within the week). We are now having programs each week, both informative, educational and entertaining," Themm said.

"We are already making plans for elections of officers and directors to lead us into the charter. And we are getting more and more of our local men out each week," Themm added.

Senior Center has active program set

The annual dinner honoring the senior citizens living in the Charlevoix School District will be held at the American Legion, Leslie T. Shapton Post at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 16, Fritz Allard, post commander has announced.

Senior citizens who reside in the Charlevoix School District are invited to gather at the post home at 106 E. Garfield for a happy hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. and a family style chicken dinner at 7 p.m. There will be entertainment following the dinner.

The American Legion with the assistance of the Charlevoix V.F.W. Post No. 1153 annually host the dinner honoring the senior citizens of the Charlevoix School District.

Children's musical at St. Mary's Church

Come and enjoy a children's musical entitled "The Story Tellin' Man" by Ken Medema to be presented by the students of St. Mary's School at St. Mary's Church at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, May 19, is the invitation issued by their director, Jeanie Lignell.

Solos will be sung by D'Arcie Moore, Helen Hamlin, Ann Hogan, Erich McElroy, Tiffany Palmer, Jamie Doan and Tom Dembinski.

Instrumental accompaniment will be by Erik Fiedler, Paul Knapp and Mrs. Lignell.

Everyone is invited to attend the event.

Chicken coop gets new life

by ANNE KELLY

No one would have guessed, least of all the one-time residents, that Vernon Mathews' chicken coop would today house a new breed of producers.

Thanks to a dream and a lot of hard work, daughter-in-law Andrea and her husband Vernon "Babe" Mathews Jr., have turned the old coop, built in 1944, into a delightful little country gift boutique called appropriately The Country Coop.

Located on Ferry Ave. opposite Lakeview Court and adjacent to the Mathews' landmark white barn, The Country Coop will provide a show place for Andrea's handiwork and pottery.

Andrea, who has been creating one thing or another all her life, has always been fascinated with "the country" and the way people used to do things before automation and mass production took away the charm. She has dabbled in sewing, natural foods, and potpourri and given classes in many crafts including candlemaking and decoupage. Her pottery, a tangent her talents took about eleven years ago, has been displayed and sold at Brown Bag Originals, with which Andrea has been associated for the past three years.

"I really appreciate the time I've spent with the other hand-crafters at Brown Bag," said Andrea. "I've really learned a lot during that association. But I'm not a mass-producer. I would rather make just one thing and feel satisfaction from doing it. Creativity thrusts me in that direction."

Andrea feels that having her own ship and being able to supplement her own work with craft supplies and other items which she has found in her travels, will give her the freedom to try many new things.

The Country Coop will specialize in all types of country ware and one-of-a-kind items created by Andrea. Also for sale are Williamsburg candles, tin ware from North Carolina, baskets from Vermont, soaps and potpourri from the Eden Trading Co. of Annapolis, Md., and some local calicos. There are duck and goose door stops, country painting and stenciling supplies, and everything needed for potpourri. Andrea hopes to have demonstrations in stenciling and cut and pierced lampshades in the near future.

"Look at this." Andrea takes down a hand-painted "Welcome" sign for me to inspect. "This is painted on a muskrat board (a board used to stretch and dry muskrat skins). We found a lot of these in the basement of the barn."

Making use of what she found around the farm and on local farms, and adding a touch of ingenuity, Andrea has created a unique shop from turkey crates, doors stored in the old barn, a few pieces of restored furniture, and an old chicken coop.

Grand opening will be later in the month, with registration for gifts to be given away. Store hours are from 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday until Christmas.

Senior Center has active program set

The Charlevoix County Senior Center in East Jordan has scheduled several special events for May.

Director Sue Brill reports that there was a Health Screening Clinic on May 10, and a "Gong Show" on May 15 and entertainment by country-western singer Debbie Brill on May 22 coming up.

Craft classes in basket-weaving, quilting, and making place mats are held every Tuesday and Friday morning, and there are bingo games every Friday afternoon.

Some patients at Grandvue Medical Care Facility, accompanied by volunteers, eat lunch at the Senior Center every Monday and Friday, and some residents of foster care homes attend bingo games.

Medicare counselors may be contacted by calling the Senior Center, phone 536-7831.

Building starts up

Building starts began their seasonal upswing in April, when the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued 45 permits.

In January, the Department issued 17 permits, in February, 20 permits, and in March, 14 permits.

Four new houses were included in the permits in April. One new house will be built in Charlevoix Township, one in Boyne City, one in East Jordan, and one in Boyne Falls.

Thirteen permits were also issued for remodeling and adding to houses, 10 for garages, one for a new commercial building, eight for remodeling and adding to commercial buildings, one for a demolition, one for a sign, three for additioos to mobile homes, and four for outbuildings other than garages.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 3, 1985, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at Charlevoix High School the Board of Education of Charlevoix Public Schools will hold a public hearing to consider the levying in 1985 of an additional proposed millage rate of .7022 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 24.85 mills be levied in 1985 from within its present authorized millage rate. The additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1985, by two and eight tenths percent (2.8%).

The increase restores the millage rate to the amount authorized by the voters on June 11, 1984.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing the Board of Education may approve the levy of all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Spring Tonic

By Doug Truax

Okay, you've had a long winter, the spring chores have given you a sore back, and the boss is insisting on impossible hours.

You feel a little left out of spring's charms.

I have a tonic for you. It is called bluegill fishing.

I know, you protest, fishing is not your thing. You are allergic to worms or consider anything less than twenty-pound brown an unworthy foe. You've had it up to here with fishing and fishing tournaments. Hear me out. You may be surprised how quick and painless this tonic is.

Bluegill fishing is simplicity itself. Numerous lakes surrounding Charlevoix contain good populations of these fish. Quiet little lakes sunk down among the hills. Pick one with few people in sight.

Your second most important ingredient is a child. Bluegill fishing is kid's fishing. That's why it works well on frayed nerves and high blood pressure. The simpler the better here.

If you have your own child, you are in business. If you are a grandparent, so much the better. If your children are too old for this, or you have none, you will have to borrow one. It is easily done. Kids love bluegill fishing and with a little thought you can probably think of a dozen of them who could use a peaceful trip to the lake.

Collect child, or children if you feel ambitious, but be careful. Too much of a good thing can complicate things unnecessarily. The child should be supplied with worms — bluegill fishing would not be bluegill fishing without kids squirming at the sight of worms being impaled on the hook. A simple spinning rod, closed-face reel, and some small hooks complete the outfit. The old cane pole with a section of monolili-ment attached will also do the trick just fine.

For the adult the gear can be slightly more complicated. If you happen to be among the cult who take fishing as a solemn and sacred act, you are permitted a fly rod. But resist overpowering the situation. Leave the family heirloom split-bamboo fly rod or the boron/graphite composite rod at home. Select something a little more basic.

For the fly rodder a few sponge-rubber spiders are perfect. The spin fisherman can use worms, little jigs, whatever.

Head for your favorite lake, use an old rowboat — fancy boats are not allowed in this game. Better yet, wade along the shoreline.

Flip your lure, bait, or fly out over the spawning beds. Within no time you will be landing fish. A short while later you will be watching the child with you land all the fish.

After an hour or so check your pulse. Feel your breathing. Things are getting better aren't they. The deadline is receding from your consciousness. Soon you will be observing little bugs on the surface of the water. You will hear sounds you haven't heard for a year. The little ripples of water in the evening light will rivit your attention. Gradually you will start to drift off into another world.

Enjoy. Spring has arrived. The tonic has done its job.

And now if you will excuse me, I am headed for the lake over the hill. If Ken Winter calls please let him know that I am doing what any responsible journalist would do, checking the authenticity of a story. I will let you know how it works out.

Letters to the editor

Sheriff's Response to Letters

Dear Editor:

Please be advised, in order to set the record straight regarding the issue that was raised, I would like to submit the following documents to show that an effort was made to give proper recognition to the Beaver Island Firemen.

Document #1:

News Release on the aircraft accident where the Beaver Island Firemen were listed twice.

Document #2:

Letter of Appreciation for Beaver Island Firemen submitted to St. James and Peaine Townships on May 1, 1985.

As Sheriff of Charlevoix County, my role at the scene was to see that the scene was secured which it had been prior to my arrival by the firemen and the deputy sheriff assigned to the island. In addition, I had to take charge of the deceased persons and see that they were transported back to the mainland, to see that photos and measurements were taken as part of the investigation process.

Once the deceased persons were removed, the site was left secured leaving Beaver Island deputy sheriff in charge until FAA investigators arrived

As Sheriff, I left with the deceased persons to bring them back to the mainland and start notifying next of kin and start dealing with the press.

I'm sorry that an islander felt I was not doing my job, I felt that the tragic situation was dealt with very professionally by everyone involved from the firemen, to the medical examiner, to the deputy sheriff assigned to Beaver Island.

George T. Lasater
Sheriff

Document #1

News Release:
Aircraft Accident:
April 20, 85

The CCSD assisted by the FAA and the Beaver Island Fire Dept. is presently investigating an aircraft accident in Peaine Township of Beaver Island that occurred sometime on the evening of April 19.

The aircraft, a twin engine Cessna 310, was located at 10:30 a.m. April 20 by the U.S. Coast Guard helicopter and Beaver Island Fireman, approximately one mile south of the township airport.

The deceased are as follows: Richard Wierenga, age 41 of Holland, Mich.; William Wierenga, 6, son of Richard; Eli Coates, 49, Holland; Steve Zonnebelt, 33, Holland area; Robert Vandermullen, 35, Holland area; Linda Vandermullen, 33, wife of Robert; Joshua Vandermullen, 6, son of Robert and Linda.

The accident is still under investigation by the CCSD and FAA.

Sheriff

Additional information:

The craft was last heard from at 10:05 p.m. by Minn. FAA.

Document #2

May 1, 1985.

RE: Letter of Appreciation and Commendation for the Members of the Beaver Island Fire Department.

As Sheriff of Charlevoix County, I would like to commend your Beaver Island Fire Chief and members of the Volunteer Fire Department for their professional actions and responsiveness during the recent aircraft accident.

Even as tragic as the situation was with the death of seven people, it was refreshing to work with a group of volunteers that were so willing to help and assist.

As Sheriff, I have the opportunity to work with many organizations and I can truthfully say that my experiences with the Beaver Island firemen are some of my most rewarding experiences during my tenure in office.

The Volunteer Ladies Auxiliary should also be commended for their efforts in providing refreshments for all the workers.

Sincerely,
George T. Lasater
Sheriff

By Bob Clock

Intrigued by stories about the vast herds of deer in the Norwood area, the Clocks took a ride in that direction Saturday night to see if we could encounter any.

If there are "vast herds", we didn't see them; but we did meet one slender little doe alongside the shore road south of Antrim City. We stopped to look at her and she stopped to look at us. Then she turned on her heel and did some beautiful broken-field running through the rapidly greening forest.

The trip was well worth while.

At Antrim City we pulled into the cemetery driveway and parked. The gate was open and I suppose we could have driven in, but the cemetery road was steep and rutted. So we piled out of the car climbed the hill where a fantastic old beech tree reaches out in a thousand directions. Many of the branches are engraved with initials and hearts — a strange place for lovers to congregate.

Nearby we found the graves of the men who were little boys in the historical novel "Whistle Up the Bay." At least the names sounded familar.

And then all of a sudden, we were attacked by swarms of .... I don't know what to call them. Gnats of some kind. Millions of them. We couldn't get back to the car quick enough.

Rumor has it that the spring of 1985 is going to be a veritable paradise for bug-life, because of our long, cold, moisture-laden winter. I have heard that black flies, which used to be fairly uncommon hereabouts, are plentiful this spring in the Ellsworth area. Up until recent years you hardly heard of them below the straits.

June bugs also are posing a problem in some areas. Big fellows they are, too. Swarming around a street lamp, they look like bats.

I haven't seen a great many mosquitoes yet, but they are sure to be out in force because of the high water tables and the standing water in every woodlot and cow pasture.

FEW ROUTINE criminal cases in recent years have generated as much world-wide interest as the commutation of the 25 to 50-year prison sentence of Gary Dotson of Illinois. Many prestigious foreign newspapers have even sent their top reports to Chicago to cover the story.

Dotson was sentenced to prison for rape, but after serving six years his former accuser, Cathleen Crowell-Webb, says she made up the story because she feared she was pregnant with her boyfriend's baby. She wasn't, but the discovery came too late to do Dotson any good. He spent 72 months in the slammer before she decided to recant.

But the same people who were only too willing to believe Ms. Webb was raped were unwilling to believe her when she said she was lying. Dotson was freed, then yanked back into prison.

Finally he was released again and Gov. James Thompson presided at a three-day clemency hearing. This time common sense ruled and Dotson was set free for good.

He wasn't pardoned, mind you. Cathleen Crowell-Webb's admission that she lied is still suspect. But Dotson was set free and that's all that matters. We hope he is given some compensation from the state for the six years he wasted in prison. We also hope Ms. Crowell-Webb is brought to the bar of justice for the inconvenience she occasioned upon Dotson and the courts. Her actions, after all, was far more serious than a childish prank.

Ask Gary Dotson.

I wouldn't mind, except I find
He puts him on my lawn.

Growth Alliance

businesses and industries.

To make the area more desirable for these ventures, the Alliance would embark upon a program of long-range assistance along the lines of tax and regulation relief, mutual self-help network, personnel training programs, and perhaps a venture capital association.

The other major function of the Community Growth Alliance would be that of a Small Business Assistance Center. This group of activities would include direct assistance to businesses, such as Alliance staff attending business meetings throughout the area to become familiar with business people and their problems; assisting with local, state, and federal regulations, licensing, or tax problems; assisting with financing or refinancing problems, and assisting with technical management help and business plans.

The Alliance budget proposal calls kfor $8,250 in local cash for office operation and program implementation, $9,175 in state funds for these purposes, and $6,330 in local in-kind services. In addition, office salaries are listed at $42,500.

The total local match calls for $12,350 cash from Antrim County and $15,150 from Charlevoix County, both based on population at 76 cents per capita; contributions from cities and villages at 76 cents per capita, minimum $2,000; and $5,500 from the private sector.

In-kind services amounting to $27,500, would come from the two counties, the cities and villages, the private sector, Northwest Michigan Employment and Training Consortium, and North Central Michigan College.

The Consortium's service would be legal services and part time employment assistance; the College's services would be assistance in development and publication of promotional materials; the private sector would pay fees for specific direct business assistance; and the counties would provide office space, utilities, and phone and furniture for staff use.

Jim Withers

well. It was what forced his father, Bruce, out of the charter boat business and into becoming a restaurant owner.

Fishing and cooking are two familiar themes to Withers. He is a second generation charter boat captain and a third generation restaurant owner.

His grandmother and grandfather, Zelma and Mont Withers, owned and operated Mont's on Bridge Street. "Grandma had the best chicken noodle soup in town," Jim recalls.

Jim grew up in Hastings, Michigan where his father taught school. Every summer they would return to Charlevoix, at first for his father to operate the charter boat business and then to run the A&W Restaurant (at the location now occupied by the Fireside).

Withers' nautical and culinary experience was further broadened by serving as cook on a nuclear powered Polaris submarine for four years. He also attended three years of college studying hotel and restaurant management.

"My father and Bernie Ward, Sr. pioneered charter fishing in Charlevoix and worked out of the same boathouse in the 40's and 50's," Withers remembers.

When the sea lamprey, introduced to the Great Lakes through the St. Lawrence Seaway, decimated the lake trout stocks, Jim's father opened the root beer stand that Jim eventually inherited in 1972. He changed it to the Village Inn that year, started selling pizza in 1974, and a year later moved downtown to his current location.

Jim reversed the process of history last year when he entered the charter business his father had abandoned. "I wanted to turn a hobby into a business so that I can spend more time on the water. It is a different world out there, and as long as I have a business I can be out there enjoying it."

Jim terms his first year in business a success, having taken out over 300 people.

Despite Jim's enthusiasm for the tournament and his confidence that it will prove the tourist draw this town needs, he admits there could be problems. "I just plead with everyone for their cooperation and open mindedness in getting through this first tournament," he says. Withers believes that the city must eventually act to provide more launch facilities, cleaning stations, and room to park cars and trailers.

Urged by some to get involved in local politics, Withers has always declined, telling them he has no interest in politics. "But this is fun," he says, "and perhaps it is a way to do something for Charlevoix."

Members of the award winning performing group

Performers hold dinner theater

Spring fever and the joy of having summer break just ahead brings out the crazy in all of us and that's what has happened to the Charlevoix High School Performing Arts Group. They have spring fever and since it's so infectious they will be passing it on to their audience at their annual Dinner Theater, Saturday, May 18 in the high school gym.

The evening will be a mixture of old and new songs, dances and skits to remind you of the days and nights that make our summer months. Reminisce at the ice cream social with "Shipoopie," be conned by the politician who always shows up in the summer parades "Do a Little Sidestep," chase ghosts, goblins and mythical beasts with the players in Thurber's "Unicorn in the Garden," or wonder what happened to our superhero "Superman" in a Jules Phieffer skit. Naturally warm weather brings thoughts of the beach, tennis, and outdoor sports, so the team will take their audience from the tennis courts of Neil Simmon's "California Suite" to fun with the girls as they "Splish, Splash" and join the C.H.S. Beach Boys for a medley of summer memories. For both the young and old in the audience, the State Finals winning multiple will present their "World of What if..."

The evening will begin with a dinner served at 6:30 p.m. with the show immediately following in the High School gym. Performers are from all levels of the program and the audience will have an opportunity to meet the team from the very onset of the evening as they will not only perform but serve the dinner.

Tickets are $10 and may be purchased from any member of the team or are available at McLelland's Home Furnishings, Wharfside, 7-Eleven and the Shop of the Gulls.

Big Rock receives training award

The training staff at the Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant has received a "Quality Improvement Certificate of Achievement" from Consumers Power Company for its program to train nuclear plant operators. Certificates were presented today to members of the department.

The award was made because of the one hundred percent success rate experienced by graduates of the training program in passing reactor operator licensing examinations required by the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Industry-wide, the success rate for license candidates ranges from 60 to 80 percent. At Big Rock Point, the success rate has been one hundred percent for the past three years. An opeator must possess an NRC license before he can operate the reactor controls at a commercial nuclear power plant.

Receiving the award today were William G. Merwin, former Big Rock Point training supervisor who now heads the training department at the company's Palisades Nuclear Plant; Dennis G. LaCroix, Elwood B. Mosley, Valois A. Avery, Thomas K. Pence, and John R. Hutchison, Big Rock Point training instructors, Roland H. Scheels, shift supervisor and former training instructor; and Ilona H. Monteith, office clerk.

The awards were presented by Thomas H. Elward, executive director of Nuclear Planning and Administration for Consumers Power Company's Nuclear Operations Department. "The attainment of the Big Rock Point Nuclear Operations Training Department's goal of licensing one hundred percent of all candidates is no small-achievement," he said.

David P. Hoffman, Big Rock Point plant superintendent noted that teamwork is one of the keys to any success story. "At Big Rock Point, we started with top-notch auxiliary operators and turned them over to an excellent training department. The result was a perfect report card."

To become an NRC-licensed reactor operator at Big Rock Point, an employee must have spent two years as an operator of non-nuclear auxiliary systems at the plant. This is followed by up to nine months of on-site training which includes both classroom instruction and on-the-job training under the supervision of a licensed reactor operator.

Olson wins merit award

Edwin J. Olson of Charlevoix High School has become the second member of the 1985 graduating class to receive a National Merit Scholarship.

Olson was recently awarded one of the college-sponsored four-year Merit Scholarships.

Thomas Graf had previously been named the winner of a $2,000 one-time non-renewable National Merit Award.

Olson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Olson, has a grade point average of 3.872. His scholarship is from Michigan State University where he expects to major in chemistry next year.

This marks the first time in recent years that the Charlevoix High School has had two recipients of a National Merit Scholarship.

National Merit Scholarship winners are chosen from among the more than one million young men and women in 18,000 public and independent secondary schools entered in the competition. Participants take a qualifying test as high school juniors, and semifinalists - representing half of one percent of each state's senior class - are chosen. The field is further limited to finalists and the scholarship winners picked from that group.

In 1985, a total of over 5,700 Merit Scholarships worth more than $20 million have been awarded

Youth orchestra seeks students

by ANNE KELLY

"Music likes company," explained Krista Knight with a smile. "It's a special thing to be able to share with other musicians."

"I'd like to invite any middle school student who plays a wind or a brass instrument, to come and see what our youth orchestra is all about," continued Krista. The orchestra meets once a week in five or six week sessions, with the last practice an open practice so that parents and friends may hear what they have accomplished.

Practices for this session will be held at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix. For further informtion contact Krista Knight at 536-7875.

Tennis team ready for regional action

The Charlevoix Rayder tennis team closed out its scheduled season Thursday by dropping a meet 4-3 to Harbor Springs, Coach Erik Lundteigen reports.

It was a well-played meet with the event up for grabs until the last two matches, Lundteigen said. He went on to say that the team is improving daily and should reach its peak for the regional meet at Glen Lake Friday.

In the singles, Doug Dickinson, Harbor Springs, defeated Mike Chew, Charlevoix, 6-2, 6-0; Ty Wagner, Charlevoix, came back to defeat Mark Carter, Harbor Springs, 6-7, 6-4; Kurtis Johnson, Harbor Springs, defeated Mary Joy, Charlevoix, 6-3, 6-3; and Paul Overett, Harbor Springs, won over Julie Balmer, Charlevoix 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

In the doubles, Jason Brindel and Jim Morgridge, Harbor Springs, won over Bill McNamara and Matt Guswiller, Harbor Springs; 2-6, 7-5 5-1; Brian O'Neill and Skip Girarden, Harbor Springs defeated Scott DeYoung and Dan Drury, Charlevoix, 6-3, 6-2 and Rusty Coolman and Dan Staublin, Charlevoix, defeated Dan Reed and Tom Overett, 6-3, 6-2.

Jon Eakes won an exhibition match 6-2.

The Charlevoix Rayder tennis team dropped a meet Tuesday to a strong Petoskey team by a 7-0 score, according to Coach Erik Lundteigen.

Lundteigen said his team was improving with each meet, gearing up for the regional meet to be held at Glen Lake May 17 and 18.

In Tuesday's games, Nick Hoffman (P) defeated Mike Chew (C) 6-2, 6-2; Kyle Mathers (P) d. Marty Joy (C) 6-4, 7-5; and Dan Cormichor (P) d. Julie Balmer (C) 6-3, 6-1 in the singles.

Rayder baseball team takes two at Grayling

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team took a double header from Grayling Tuesday on the latter's diamond by scores of 13-5 and 7-6.

Home runs played major roles in both games with a sixth inning homer by Brent Cole winning the second game.

Cole was on the mound in the first game. He allowed eight hits and three walks. He had 10 strikeouts. Hudson went the distance for Grayling, giving up 10 hits and one walk. He had eight strikeouts.

Getting hits for the Rayders were Matt Lignell who had a two-run homer, Thad Morgan a three-run homer, Cole a three-run homer and a single, and Cris Havens two singles. Hitting singles were Jody Putman, Kent Ketchman, Marc Himebaoch, John Gray, Brian Wilmot, and Kyle Smith.

For the Vikings McClellan had a [illegible] homer, McKinney a homer, Patterson two singles, and Palmer, Duncan, and Erb one single each.

Charlevoix scord three runs in the first on Lignell's homer and added one in the second and one in the third before Grayling scored its first run in the bottom of the third inning. Charlevoix scored another five points for a 10-1 lead in the top of the sixth before Grayling came back to score four runs in the bottom of the inning. The Rayders scored three in the seventh for the 13-5 win.

In the second game Charlevoix trailed 6-5 at the end of five innings before scoring the winning runs on Cole's two-run homer in the top of the sixth. The Rayders had scored two runs in the first and one in the third before the Vikings went ahead 4-2 in the fourth inning. Charlevoix led briefly on two runs in the top of the fifth until Grayling went ahead 6-5 in their half of the fifth inning. Cole then brought in the tying and winning runs with his home run in the top of the sixth.

Besides Cole's homer, Nike Thompson had two singles, Putman a double and a single, Morgan three singles, Smith a double and a single, and Mike Merriman a single for the winners. McClellan and Palmer had two singles each and Nicholas, Meagher, McKinney and Branch one single each for Grayling.

Himebauch started for the Rayders and was relieved in the third by Mike Thompson who was credited with the win. Between them they gave up eight hits and two walks and had nine strikeouts. The losing pitcher, McKinney, allowed 11 hits and one walk and had eight strikeouts.

Charlevoix will entertain Central Lake on Wednesday, play at Petoskey Saturday, and host Gaylord the following Tuesday.

Girls softball team splits doubleheader in high scoring contests with Petoskey

The Charlevoix Girls softball team split with Petoskey at games played Thursday with Petoskey winning the first 26-24 and Charlevoix the second 16-14, according to Coach Ron Cox.

Charlevoix will then finished their scheduled season with three home games with Central Lake on Wednesday, Rogers City on Thursday, and Gaylord Tuesday before going into pre-districts on May 24.

Petoskey used three pitchers in their winning game with Kolinski leaving the game after being injured but credited with the win, Kruskle and Mathews who gave up eight hits, 12 walks, two players hit by balls, and one strikeout. Missy Sandahl went the distance for Charlevoix allowing 11 hits, 25 bases on balls, hitting one player with a ball, and six strikeouts.

Michelle Gagnon had three hits including a double; Sandahl, two singles, Jennifer Sell, Maureen Buday, and Lara Stargardt, one single each.

For Petoskey, Turchan had four hits including a double, Stevenson, three singles, Kruskie and Still two singles each.

Petoskey jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the first inning; the score was 11-5 at the end of the second; 15-14 at the end of the third; 22-14 at the end of the fourth; 26-22 at the end of the fifth and 26-24 at the end of the sixth inning. There was no scoring in the final inning.

In the second game, Charlevoix came back strong with Michelle Gagnon on the mound. She gave up 10 hits and six bases on ball and hit two players with the ball. Mathews, pitching for Petoskey, allowed 14 hits, six walks, two hits by pitched balls, and had one strikeout.

In this game, Charlevoix scored three runs in the top of the first and was never headed as they led 5-2 at the end of the second, 10-4 at the end of the third and 16-4 when the game ended at the fifth inning.

Amy Antaya led the hitting with three hits including a double; Angie McClanaghan had two including a double; Sandahl had a double; Meg Fowler, Sell, and Gagnon two hits each; and Amy Coates and Stargardt had one single each.

Track squad places fourth at Invitational

The Charlevoix girls track team finished fourth among five teams in the St. Ignace Invitational meet Thursday according to Coach Dennis VanGuilder.

The Soo won the meet with 79½ points followed by Cheboygan with 76, St. Ignace with 34½, Charlevoix with 24, and Boyne City with 22 points.

Scoring for Charlevoix were: Barbie Boss who took a second place in the 100 meter dash; the 3200 meter relay team (Heidi Olinger, Betsy Haggard, Michelle North, Molly Bolduc) second place; 400 meter relay (Boss, Dianna Loder, Chaya Moore, Michelle Louiselle) second place; 800 meter relay (Boss, Loder, Moore, Louiselle) second place.

Other placements by Charlevoix team members included the mile run, North, third; two-mile run, Haggard, third; 400 meter run, Haggard, fourth; long jump, Loder, fourth; mile relay (Kathy Dohm, Loder, Amy Pischner, Moore) fourth.

The team will be at St. Ignace with Petoskey and the Soo on Wednesday; at the Class C regional meet at Traverse City Saturday, May 18, and at the Petoskey Relays on Monday, May 20.

Burns Clinic sponsors stop smoking session

The Burns Clinic Foundation is sponsoring a Freedom From Smoking Clinic program to help smokers kick their habit permanently.

Developed and tested extensively by the American Lung Association, the Freedom From Smoking Clinic Program runs for eight sessions.

A free orientation session to introduce smokers to the program will be held Tuesday, May 14 at 7 p.m. in the Burns Clinic Classroom. The fee for the eight sessions class is $40.

To register or for further information about the program, call 348-2134.

Cantata planned Sunday

A cantata in recognition of the Ascension, entitled "Up From the Grave" written by Joe E. Parks, will be presented at the United Methodist Church at 5 p.m. Sunday, May 19 under the direction of Cheryl Thayer.

The presentation will feature the 25-voice volunteer community choir and several soloists with Carol Gels at the piano.

Narrators for the cantata celebrating the Ascension of Christ into heaven will be Sue Wilcox and Philip Kluczynski. Robin Maurer, Randy Maurer, Cindy Mansen, and Eldon Potter will be the soloists.

In describing the cantata, Mrs. Thayer said "This is a light piece with joyous music which points up the happy event of the ascension. If you liked our earlier offering, 'Joseph the Carpenter', you'll like this."

The presentation is being sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association. A free will offering will be accepted and used to support the work of the association.

Yachting Notes

by A. NONY MOUSE

The Charlevoix Yacht Club's 1985 season began inauspiciously Wednesday, May 8, with the first of two "tune-up" races to prepare crews for the Spring Series opener on May 22. Lackluster winds greeted the fourteen skippers who brought their boats into Lake Charlevoix to rekindle racing memories, familiarize veteran crew members with tacking tactics, and, to teach novice mariners sheets from shrouds. Such was not to be the case as capricious winds practically disappeared altogether for the shortened course. Apothecary practiced the novel "dip-finish" to perfection, being the last yacht to cross the start and the first to finish, finding the rhumb line to be a U-turn.

The spinnaker leg served as a catharsis to the otherwide dull race, however, as the billowing sails produced the evening's only color and excitement. We retreated to our docks reassuring our crews, "next week there will be wind."

See you Wednesday.

End of the Mouse's Tale.

Spring Band Concert scheduled for Thursday

The Charlevoix Schools instrumental music department will present its annual Spring Band Concert on Thursday, May 16 at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The high school symphonic band and the eighth grade band will perform music which will include the selections which they played at the district and state band festivals.

The John Philip Sousa Award will be presented to the outstanding high school senior band member, and all graduating senior band members will be recognized during the concert.

Selections which the eighth grade band will play include "Landrover March" by Kerkorian; "Festival Day" Overture by Thomas; and "Creole Suite" by Kinyon.

Among the numbers which the high school band will play are: "Alpheus" concert march by Leckrone; "If Thou Be Near" by J.S. Bach; and "Fiesta" by Del Borgo. Several senior band members will be featured in an arrangement of the "Dixieland Concerto" by John Warrington.

There will be a band boosters' meeting at 7 p.m. in the high school study hall prior to the concert. Parents of band students and others interested in the school band program are urged to attend this meeting to make plans for next school year.

JAMES L. MITCHELL

Funeral services for James L. Mitchell, 60, of Charlevoix, were held Thursday, May 9, at the Ball-Dunn Chapel of Gorsline-Runciman in Mason. The Rev. Michael L. Stambaugh of the Eden United Brethern Church officiated. Interment was in Maple Grove Cemetery at Mason.

Mr. Mitchell died Sunday, May 5, at his Bay Shore Villa home.

Born in Willmar, Minn., Dec. 27, 1924, Mr. Mitchell had lived in Detroit many years, retiring in 1972 and moving to northern Michigan to pursue a career in real estate. He was associated with Ski & Shore, Inc. at the time of his death. His wife, the former Marion Dubell, preceded him in death.

He is survived by a daughter Mary Kay Dryer of Hollywood, Calif.; one son, James of Charlevoix; a grandson, Dean Dryer of Charlevoix; his mother, Mrs. Emma Mitchell and a brother, Richard L. both of Mason.

Anyone wishing to honor Mr. Mitchell's memory may contirbute to the Jim Mitchell Memorial Fund. Checks may be mailed to Alice Lesser at Ski & Shore, Inc., Charlevoix.

MARTIN ELZINGA

Committal services for Martin Elzinga, 75, were held Monday at Brookside Cemetery. The Rev. David W. Yingling officiated. Military rites were under the auspices of Torch Post No. 6895, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Central Lake.

Mr. Elzinga died January 2.

DOUGLAS C. BLOOM

Douglas C. Bloom, 53, former Charlevoix resident, died May 11, 1985, in Costa Mesa, Calif.

He was born Jan. 18, 1932, in St. Paul, Minn. He grew up and attended school in Chicago. In 1949 Mr. Bloom joined the U.S. Army and in 1953 re-enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Mr. Bloom was an Air Force careerist and came to Northern Michigan in 1964 as part of Detachment f, First Combat Evaluation Group, at the Air Force radar station in Bay Shore. He retired as a staff sergeant, in 1973, and moved to California.

While residing in Charlevoix, Mr. Bloom was a free lance photographer and many of his photographs appear in the Charlevoix history book authored by Earl Young.

Mr. Bloom is survived by: one son, Steve Bloom, 2379 Orange Ave., Costa Mesa, Calif., 92627; one daughter, Janece Bloom, 1080 Edgewater, Petoskey; two sisters, Mrs. Frank (Helen) Hill of Huntington Beach, Calif. and Marvel Welch of Arkansas; one brother, Bruce Bloom of Arkansas.

There will be a memorial service at the Saddleback Chapel, 220 E. Main, Tustin, Calif., 92680, on Thursday, May 16. Mr. Bloom will be cremated and his ashes will be taken to Alaska for interment.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society or the Douglas Bloom Memorial Fund, c/o Mrs. Frank Hill, 21701 Kaneoka Lane, Huntington Beach, Calif., 92646.

Three Charlevoix residents are among 5,900 University of Michigan students expecting their degrees this spring.

Michigan Gov. James Blanchard was the main speaker at the May 4 commencement.

Degree candidates from Charlevoix include: MARY ELIZABETH ELDREDGE, Bachelor of Arts; KRISTEN LIGNELL, Bachelor of Science in Nursing; and MICHAEL A. ZEDNICEK, Bachelor of Arts.

Several former Charlevoix High School students now attending Ferris State College recently participated in the 28th annual Ferris Principal, Counselor, Student Conference. The meetings were designed to provide feedback for secondary school personnel from their former students. Charlevoix counselor GAYLE GENNETT met with students LEE ALLARD, KRISTEN ALLARD, MARTHA REISING, STEVE ROZEMA, KELLY THOMPSON, and BETH REVOIR.

Youth for Understanding International Student Exchange today announced that MITCHELL HOUGH, of Charlevoix has won acceptance to spend a year as an exchange student in France.

The 2,000 high school students selected from across the United States to participate in YFU's programs to 24 different countries will live with specially selected host families and, if they are spending a year abroad, will attend highly competetive academic high schools in their countries, gaining another language and firsthand experiences in a different culture.

HARLAN W. PETERSON, chef at the Tapawingo, and JIM MILLIMAN of the Rowe Inn, both in Ellsworth are among the five top chef finalists in the "All-Michigan Meal" contest. The winner will be announced on Friday, May 17, helping to kick off Michigan Week festivities.

Each finalist, chosen from over 40 entrants in the contest - sponsored by the Michigan Restaurant Association, the Greater Michigan Foundation, and AAA Michigan - has created a unique, four-course menu of such diverse Michigan products as pheasant, morel mushrooms, fiddlehead ferns, and maple syrup.

The menu will be served at the winning chef's restaurant during Michigan Week (May 18-25) and will be unveiled at the commencement of Michigan Week celebrations at 10 a.m., May 17, at the Detroit Press Club.

Entries in the first "All-Michigan Meal" contest were judged on the most innovative use of Michigan agricultural products, originality, simplicity, taste and eye appeal. Recipes include only Michigan ingredients for four servings of soup, vegetable, entree, and dessert.

Christian schools explored in talk

"Why Christian Schools?" This question along with ideas on creative Christian curriculum will be presented at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church on May 15. The guest speaker will be Mike Davis, principal of Living God School in Traverse City. Mr. Davis will be showing a multi-media presentation that explains the concepts and philosophy of Christian education.

The presentation will be at 8 p.m. at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church on M-66.

Everyone with an interest in seeing a Christian school in Charlevoix should plan to attend.

County helps youths get summer employment

by PEG OHLE

Summer vacation months can be rewarding ones for teen-age students who seek and receive employment through the Hire-A-Teen program sponsored by the Charlevoix County Youth Activities department.

With the double purposes of keeping young people busy during their out-of-school days and providing them with spending money, the program has operated successfully during the last three years, according to Mike Davis, Youth Activities Director. He has been appearing at schools throughout the county to explain to students how to sign up and participate in the program.

Each interested student fills in a card containing information about himself and indicating when he or she will be available to work, what his or her special skills are, what work experience he or she has had, and the type of work being sought.

Each student in the Hire-A-Teen program must participate in the orientation session held in his or her school district. Topics covered at the orientation sessions include simple employability skills, on-the-job behavior, and Hire-A-Teen operations.

Among job classifications for Hire-A-Teen are house cleaning, mending and sewing, sweeping, washing cars, washing windows, lawn work, babysitting, cat or dog sitting, painting, farm or orchard work, installing docks, cleaning garages, and helping to move heavy articles.

The student cards are kept on file in the Hire-A-Teen office. When an employer contacts the office, the Hire-A-Teen clerk locates an interested student and gives the name and phone number of the employer. The employer then contacts the student directly. When contact has been made, both the employer and the student inform the office whether or not the job has been filled.

When the job is completed, the student must then contact the Hire-A-Teen office to inform the clerk that he or she is once again ready for a job, and evaluate the employer. The employer is also contacted for an evaluation of the student.

Both the student and employer sign codes setting forth their responsibilities in the student-employer relationship. The employer promises to describe clearly the hours, pay, and duties of the student; to pay promptly in cash (unless otherwise agreed upon) at a rate no lower than $1.25 an hour for odd jobs and $1 an hour for babysitting plus 25 cents an hour for each additional child; to arrange for the student's transportation if needed; to observe minor work laws; to assume liability for the student while working; and, in the case of babysitting, telling when the parents will be home and not asking for overnight babysitting.

The student, in turn, promises to consider whether he can do the job being offered; to inform Hire-A-Teen whether or not he or she takes the job; to report to the job on time; to be polite and friendly; to advise the employer if he or she can't work on a day agreed upon; and not to take friends when reporting for a job.

The phone number of Hire-A-Teen is 547-4471.

Sheriff's Marine Patrol threatened by DNR cut

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Marine Safety Patrol will be in jeopardy unless the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) can come up with its share of funding for the Patrol.

The Sheriff's Department owns two Marine Patrol boats. One is operated on Lake Charlevoix and the other on Walloon Lake. The Walloon Lake boat is moved to other smaller lakes when needed. Three marine deputies are hired each boating season to operate these boats, to instruct in water safety, to make livery inspections, to recover drowning victims, and to perform other tasks in an effort to ensure safe use of the large body of water in Charlevoix County.

Costs of the Marine Safety Patrol are borne by the county and the DNR on a one-third county basis and two-thirds DNR. The 1985 Charlevoix County budget contains an item of $17,695 for the Marine Safety Patrol, which would indicate a total operational cost of $53,085 for the season.

Of special concern to the county and to the Sheriff's Department is the fact that the DNR has not yet paid its share of last season's operational costs. It is unlikely that the Patrol would be re-activated this year without payment of monies due from the DNR.

Statewide, the DNR owes $294,000 to the counties for its share of last year's Marine Safety Patrol activities. Dale E. Davis, deputy director of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, indicates that (this deficit) "will likely be passed on to county taxpayers and local marine safety programs will be cut severely unless we have funding by Memorial Day".

In addition to the present deficit, the DNR has threatened a 50 to 60 percent cutback in funding for fiscal year 1985-1986, according to Davis.

The Michigan Sheriffs' Association called a meeting of its members last week in Lansing to urge legislators to pass a measure to ensure adequate funding of Marine Safety operations.

Following the meeting, Davis told the Courier that the appearance of Sheriffs from throughout the state not only impressed the legislators but the Governor as well and he expects some positive word from the Governor's office some time this week.

Commissioner reports on juvenile program

by PEG OHLE

As part of a study to find a means of lowering the costs of caring for delinquent, neglected, and abused children in Charlevoix County, Commissioner Don Smith recently visited with the head of the Juvenile Diversion Unit of Delta County.

This juvenile diversionary program has been cited as bewing especially successful in handling children who for one reason or another have run afoul of the law. As Smith explained to the Board of Commissioners last week, Delta County's program is based on the belief that young people must be held accountable for, and face the consequences of, their actions.

As an example of assuming this accountability, Smith gave an example of punishment for shoplifting:

"The child, along with his parent(s), must appear before the manager of the shop from which he stole and apologize to the manager. Then he must pay for the stolen article, but he is not permitted to keep it. He must give it away or otherwise dispose of it. He, his parent(s), and the store manager then sign a statement saying the child has apologized and paid for the article. Also, the child is prohibited from entering the store for a period of six months to a year."

The case does not end there, however. The child may be "sentenced" to in-house grounding, early curfew hours, a community work program, or other activity. He and his parent(s) will also be required to attend a series of monthly counseling sessions, held in the county building. The reason for holding these sessions in the county building, according to to Smith, is to face reality further. (The county building, with its courtroom, is the center of punishment activities.) This type of case is usually supervised by the Juvenile Diversion Unit for a period of three to six months.

For the few children who are not "cured" by this type of treatment, there is action by Probate Court. It is explained that some children just seem to need the court process.

Another innovative aapect of the Delta County Juvenile Diversion Unit explained by Smith is the "Voluntary Foster-Placement Plan", in which parents sign their child into a foster care home for a "cooling off" period of one to four weeks. Referred to as a "crisis separation", this program is the most cost-effective for the county, according to Smith, because parents pay the full cost of foster care during this period.

Forester reports to County Board on study

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) forester Jerry Lawrence reported to the County Board of Commissioners last week on some of the work being done by the DNR in state forestlands in Charlevoix County.

Each compartment of state forestlands is examined every ten years and marked for cutting and whatever other treatment is necessary. The DNR has recently completed a study of 3,012 acres of forestlands in Charlevoix County, most of which are located in Melrose, Chandler, Boyne Valley, and Hudson Townships, with a small stands of 118 acres in Bay Township. Of these acres, 679 acres were prescribed for treatment.

Beaver Island state forestlands, which are of considerable size, will be examined at a later date.

Lawrence's report indicates the examination covered 2,407 acres of mixed hardwoods, 138 acres of aspen, 320 acres of red pine, and 23 acres of mixed conifers. In addition, treatment was given to 130 acres of aspen seedlings and saplings and 12 acres of mixed hardwood seedlings and saplings, as well as 104 acres of grasslands.

Chamber Chatter

With consistently warm weather not far away, the anticipation of yet another busy summer in Charlevoix has everyone buzzing. East Park is green and ready for all to enjoy, the city docks have been repaired from winter damage, changes on the Star of Charlevoix are nearing completion, and the petunias are coming soon.

As merchants fill their stockrooms and prepare for the many shoppers soon to come, the restaurants create new menus and the hotels, cabins, and cottages put on the finishing touches. Soon, the entire town will be transformed into what has come to be known as one of the nicest vacation areas in the country.

The calm before the storm.

As we weather the "storm" this season, let's all try to remember we're all in this together, as a community. We all, individually, represent Charlevoix as ambassadors of the community. So, it's up to each and everyone of us to welcome the tourists, fudgies, resorters, phonebook fudge, or whatever you choose to call the vacation people, and let them see and feel the warmth of the Charlevoix people.

Honor Society inducts members

Seventeen Charlevoix High School students were inducted into the National Honor Society during an impressing ceremony at the cafeteria witnessed by parents and friends on Friday.

Ann Wagner welcomed the guests and introduced this year's officers, Mary Camilleri, president, Maureen Buday, vice-president, Jennifer Joy, secretary, and Peter Plagge, treasurer, who spoke briefly on the requisites of the organization, service, character, leadership and scholarship, respectively.

The Rev. Phillip G. Schairbaum of the First Congregational Church, guest speaker, addressed the gathering, challenging the members to develop the characteristics necessary to be not only a member of the organization but to be a success in life.

The members were inducted and the officers for the 1985-86 school year installed during a candlelight ceremony.

The new officers are: president, Danielle Johnson; vice-president, Jason Brindel; secretary, Stacy Way, and treasurer, Lara Stargardt.

Closing remarks were by Dianna Loder.

The new members are: Terry Bonar, Sandy Brosofske, Rebecca Christensen, Russell Coolman, Matthew Dixon, Lori Gleason, Kristin Holmes, Ann Kroll.

Stephanie Martin, Angela McClanaghan, Susan Miller, Michelle North, Laura Reibel, Daniel Staublin, Josiah Tilton, Wendy Voisin, Katherine Washburn. Noni Pace, who was not present for induction at an earlier ceremony, was also inducted.

Glen Taylor, the faculty advisor, assisted at the ceremony.

Lake Trout history sketched

by Gerald P. Rakoczy
Great Lakes Fisheries Biologist
Charlevoix Great Lakes Station

Lake trout have been raised in fish hatcheries and planted into the great lakes for over 80 years. During the early years (1902-1916) lake trout eggs were collected by commercial fishermen who fished on offshore spawning reefs during the fall, normally late October to early November, and were shipped to the federal hatchery at Northville, Michigan.

After the eggs developed to the eye-up stage, usually in late February, they would be shipped back to the Charlevoix hatchery which at that time was a small wooden building. The city waterworks building was also used for handling the eggs to the hatching stage. The eggs hatched in late March and the resulting fry were planted into various areas of the Great Lakes in late April by commercial fishing tugs. This type of operation was conducted at the old Charlevoix hatchery througout the twenties, thirties, and fourties.

Native lake trout atocks became extinct in Lake Michigan by about 1956. The cause of their demise was probably the combined effects of intensive commercial fishing and the sea lamprey predation.

Since the early 1960s both the federal and state government have conducted vigorous programs to control the sea lamprey and to restock lake trout. As a result of these programs a anbstantial sport flahery developed in Lake Michigan by the early 1970s. By the 1980s a significant commercial fishery had also been established by Indian fishermen under rights granted them in 19th century treaties.

Competition between sportsmen and commercial fishermen for lake trout stocks has been intense. The issue has futher been complicated by the fact that except in Lake Superior the large stock of planted lake trout have not yet reprodnced in great numbers.

Recently the future for lake trout in the lower Great Lakes has brightened considerably. Dnring 1983 and 1984 the Charlevoix Great Lakes Fishery Station personnel have found evidence of naturally reproduced lake trout in lower Grand Traverse Bays, and encouraging sign indeed. Most recently an accord has been reached between the major parties in the Indian rights fishing case. This may bode well for a concerted effort by all user groups to limit lake trout catch and allow the fish to once again reproduce naturally.

Lake Charlevoix has long history sport fishing

While the possibility there is a brown trout in Lake Charlevoix worth $5,000 may dazzle many anglers this weekend, five grand is really a pittance when the historic value of the fishery is considered.

Century old resort brochures promoted the state's third largest inland lake's sport fishery. Featured were smallmouth bass, behemouth northern pike, lake trout, and perch. For years a national outdoor magazine rated Lake Charlevoix as one of the world's finest smallmouth hotspots (along with Garden Island, just north of Beaver Island).

Northern pike up to 30 pounds made the downstate newspapers. Lake Michigan was tops for lake trout, but Lake Charlevoix, with the longest shoreline of any inland lake in the state, produced some 20 pounders when the surf was pounding outside the channel.

Boyne City and Advance were featured in the national press for their winter smelt fishery.

By the late 1920s and into the 1960s, the lake's rainbow trout produced a fishery that kept resorters and tourists stuttering as they told friends and neighbors about their adventures on the big protected waters. The rainbow fishery fed local families as guides (now called charter boat skippers) exploited it.

But—the fish that brought people to Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Ironton by the thousands was the lowly yellow perch. Into the 1960s, boats virtually paved Round Lake, the waters off what is now the Ferry Avenue Beach, and Ironton as folks from the cities dunked minnows and bobbers for perch.

By 1960, the perch, rainbow, and lake trout fishery had died. Victims of gill nets, a sea lamprey, and invading alewives. The only fish that made the papers back then were three and four pound smallmouth and big pike. (Oh, once in a while someone would tie into a sturgeon, but so few were landed they seldom made more than barroom talk.)

What happened to the perch was hotly debated for a decade. The late Jake White, a commercial fisherman, said it was the alewives, preying on perch eggs. Others said it was the new sewer plant, which eliminated direct discharge of raw sewage into Round Lake. And there were wilder theories. Many blamed gill nets.

The turning point, the beginning of the contemporary history of the lake, started in 1964, with the arrival of Stan Lievense as district fish biologist for the Dept. of Natural Resources. Long recognized as the pioneer of modern trout lake management, Lievense looked at Lake Charlevoix and told a reporter: "I'm gonna steal me some trout and make this a great trout lake."

The next year he did it. He found some surplus trout in the Oden fish hatchery and without authorization from Lansing, sent a truck up to fetch them and planted them in Lake Charlevoix.

Though few people realized it, by 1968, rainbows were, again, being caught in the lake. Steelhead runs were on their way back in the Boyne and Jordan Rivers and in Horton Creek. Smallmouth were still king, but trout were on their way back.

About that time, salmon fishing started

Charlevoix brown trout fishing one of finest

to take hold. Though DNR fisheries brass said they would not stray, coho planted in the Platte River found their way into the Jordan and Boyne in 1968. Then small plants made off Charlevoix and Petoskey and in the Boyne River and Advance Creek bolstered the fishery.

Savvy fishermen were taking limit catches of chinook in Lake Charlevoix, and between Fisherman's Island and North Point by 1972. The Jordan River was producing more naturally reproduced baby chinook than the brook trout it was famous for.

Due to the lamprey control, which helped kill the brook trout fishery in the Jordan River, the plantings in Lake Michigan, lake trout were also making a comeback in Lake Charlevoix by 1970. The Wards were back in business with charter boats running on Lake Michigan in favorable weather and on Lake Charlevoix when things were snotty on the big water.

Under the prodding of Great Lakes Fisheries Supervisor Myrl Keller, of Charlevoix, and District Fish Chief Steve Swan, of Gaylord, brown trout plantings started in a big way in the mid-1970s. Several times Lansing bureaucrats threatened to cut off the plants. Keller and Swan dug in their toes.

Though few people were fishing for the wary browns, they insisted they would produce a world class fishery if given the chance. By 1980, dozens of local anglers were regularly taking limit catches of browns up to 20 pounds.

Then word got out. Charter skipper Billy Williams, of Ironton, started showing visiting sportsmen one of the finest brown trout fisheries in the Great Lakes regions.

In East Jordan, where the Jordan River brook trout fishery had kept the economy purring before it was killed by road commission activity, lamprey control chemicals and competing salmon, people started coming back to catch Lake Charlevoix brown trout.

Today, the Lake Charlevoix brown trout fishery is one of the finest in the world. Due to the abundance of alewives and smelt, it is possible a new world record brown will be caught from the lake — possibly this weekend.

While that may be the big news for this weekend's contestants, for many others it is the apparent comeback of perch in Round Lake and Ironton. The perch were biting in Round Lake last fall, for the first time in a couple of decades.

Biologist Stan Lievense's research confirmed that Jake White was right: their final blow, the last round in their obituary, was due to alewives. Apparently, the brown trout have been chomping down on them enough to give the perch a chance to reclaim their niche.

Many oldtimers would rather be taking perch off the piers in Round Lake than 20 pound brown trout out of Lake Charlevoix. But with a completely revitalized fishery the choice would be yours.

Wouldn't it be grand?

The East Jordan Chamber of Commerce welcomes everyone to the great Northwest. We hope each boat has good luck in finding your catches.

While fishing Lake Charlevoix Trout and Salmon Tournament and considering your best spots to fish, please consider the south arm of Lake Charlevoix — a great place to fish. From Three Mile Point to Hemingway Point and on down the south arm to the mouth of the Jordan River is prime trout weters. Hemingway and Three Mile Point host good stocks of lake, rainbow and brown trout.

The season is still very young and these fish will be in the shallows working on the baitfish preparing to spawn. The south arm of the lake has excellent brown trout populations from top to bottom. Working the mouth of the Jordan River in East Jordan, we'll offer you good odds that you meet up with some hungry steelheads.

Jim Senical, construction representative for the Army Corps of Engineers, looks over the water intake construction site.

Water work slows

Work on the Charlevoix water intake system received a setback last week when a stop work order was written on May 13 because the bonding company responsible for the project, Union Indemnity Co. of New York, N.Y., was ruled to have inadequate insurance, Jim Senical, construction representative for the Army Corps of Engineers reports.

Senical said that activity last week was limited to the off-loading of materials.

He expected Union Indemnity to have the proper insurance arranged by this week and for construction to resume.

Union Indemnity Co. has hired South Shore Equipment Co. of Avon, Ohio to built the water intake system. South Shore was hired and then fired as the construction agency after numerous delays. It was rehired this spring by the bonding agent, Union Indemnity.

The Army Corps of Engineers is the on-site representative of the Environmental Protection Agency which is paying 90 percent of the costs of the water system. It was learned in September of 1981 that the city's present water well is contaminated with TCE. Additional costs for the water system will be paid for by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Some progress has been made in the construction of the water intake, Senical said. He noted that most sections of the intake pipe had been fused together. He says that work on digging the vault for the intake valves will begin as soon as the construction company is cleared to begin work.

Then a trench will be dug in the floor of Lake Michigan, the intake area excavated, and the pipe floated into place and sunk.

Council approves tax

City Council unanimously approved a two mill levy on the Downtown Development District at its meeting Monday, May 20.

The Downtown Development Authority had previously indicated that the revenues generated by the two mill tax on businesses in the downtown area would be used to further master including the replacement of sidewalks, construction of new parking, and the landscaping of East Park.

The two mill levy would generate approximately $4,000 per year, to be added to the $27,000 per year raised by the Downtown Development Authority on the district north of the U.S. 31 bridge.

In another unanimous action, the Council approved the Tax Increment Financing Plan and Development Plan for the Ferry Avenue district.

Tax Increment Financing for the Ferry Avenue area has been planned for some time and the formal proposal met no resistance or objections.

Under the plan, the City would be

School Board sets tax, announces calendar

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education set the tax levy for 1985, adopted the calendar for the 1985-86 school year, and heard a report from the citizens committee relating to the proposed renovation at the elementary school at its meeting Monday.

The millage rate was set at 26.16 mills which will include 9.10 allocated, 15.25 mills voted for operation, .50 mills voted for the public library, .30 mills for the 1969 debt retirement (high school), .53 mills for 1968 debt retirement (elementary school), .48 mills debt retirement for 1979 debt retirement (addition to the high school). The millage will be levied on the School District's S.E.V. of $170.6 million.

The school calendar for the 1985-86 school year, approved earlier by the Charlevoix Education Association,

Charlevoix Trout Tournament gets off to a successful start

by DOUG TRUAX

The first annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament ended with a bang as a fierce storm blew in off Lake Michigan disrupting the awards presentation.

But if the weather dampened any spirits you couldn't prove it by those gathered in East Park.

The nearly unanimous opinion of those questioned was that the first trout tournament was a whopping success. The only negative factor appears to have been the weather which kicked up some high winds on Saturday and Sunday and added rain and finally a squall on Sunday.

None of that was enough to discourage the 421 fishermen who entered the tournament. Or the many more who came by to let their kids fish in the trout pond or to eat lunch or dinner in the park.

"It was a total, complete success, even with the rain," concluded Jim Withers, chairman of the trout tournament committee.

DNR Director Ronald Skoog, who fished both days of the tournament, concurred. "It has been a great event, very well run," he said. "Considering that it is the first one, they did a heck of a job."

Skoog, who seldom gets time to fish personally on the Great Lakes, seemed to delight in getting a chance to fish with his wife, Marian. "It is a heck of a nice lake," Skoog said afterward. "I really like this area. It is the nicest place I have been to along the western coast of Michigan."

There were no reports that the influx of fishermen and tourists had caused any problems. To the contrary, officials went out of their way to praise the behavior of the participants. Sheriff George T. Lasater, whose department maintained marine patrols during the weekend, said that the marine officers reported that things went very smoothly. "There were no major problems," he said. "It was a very cordial group of fishermen, a very appreciative group," he noted.

Bruce MacArthur, head of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, added that it "seemed to be a caring group of people. The clean up people did a great job, as well."

City Police Chief Jack Mol added his praise. "It appeared to us that it went very well." Chief Mol noted that many of his regular and auxiliary officers had volunteered their time to cover the tournament.

Sherry Withers, one of the prime movers in getting the tournament established, extended her thanks to those involved. "We would like to thank all the many people who helped for the whole tournament. We would also like to thank the fishermen who came to the area for being so polite and courteous and picking up after themselves."

Mike Greeley, owner of the Wharf Side Market next to East Park said that the tournament "went very well." He noted that his business was up 20 percent from last year, and although he could not tell whether all of the change was due to the fishing event "it was a definite help." He added that there were "no hassles, fuss, or bother" caused by anyone involved.

Fishermen collect prizes

The tagged brown trout worth $5,000 is still swimming around happily in Lake Charlevoix.

But fishermen in the first annual Trout Tournament walked away with a great many valuable prizes.

Winner in the brown trout category was Charlevoix's Gary Spencer with a 12 pound, 14 ounce fish. Spencer received a trophy and a $1,000 cash prize. Second place went to Ken Padgett, 9lbs., 6oz.; third was Robert Potts, 8 lbs., 11oz.

Charlevoix's Gordon Himebauch took top honors in the lake trout category with an 11 pound, 7 ounce fish. He won $500 and a trophy. He was followed by Russ Brown, 11 lbs., 4 oz., and Scott Butcher, 10 lbs., 1 oz.

The winner in the steelhead division was Vinnie Voisin, age 10 and a Charlevoix resident. He landed a 9 pound, 12 ounce fish that earned him $250 and the first place trophy. He landed a 9 pound, 12 ounce fish. Second place went to Patrick Chaps, 7 lbs.; third to Joe Powell, 6 lbs., 5 oz.

Only two salmon were caught during the tournament. The largest was an Atlantic salmon caught by Jeff Lutz who received $200 and a trophy. Jack McIntyre caught the other salmon, a chinook that weighed 3 pounds, 10 oz.

Jim Withers adds that Spencer's victory in the brown trout division may have been poetic justice. Spencer and Mike Webb bought a boat and used motor from Irish Boat Shop so that they could fish in the tournament. When Spencer turned in the winning brown he was also awarded a new Yamaha motor for his efforts.

In another interesting sidelight, Withers adds, Spencer fished the first day with a Stinger lure – worth $2,000 if it caught the winning fish. On Sunday he did catch the prize winner but this time he was using another lure, and was honest enough to admit it.

Winner of the Tournament within a Tournament, for the boat with the heaviest catch of 10 or less fish for the two days was Charlevoix's Bernie Ward and his boat, My Fran. David W. Seeley of Boyne City on the Stinger placed second; John Shuler of St. Ignace on the School's Out placed third.

Chinook salmon planted at Medusa Creek

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) planted 244,000 chinook salmon in the Medusa Creek last week in a continuing effort to bolster the Charlevoix area fishery.

Steve Swan, district fisheries biologist from Gaylord, oversaw the operation at a site within the Medusa Cement Company. The creek is formed by water pumped from the stone quarry and empties into Lake Michigan only a few hundred feet downstream of the quarry outflow.

The spring fingerling chinook salmon will stay in the creek for a week or two before moving out into Lake Michigan. Some fish – aproximately 1 percent of the original plant – will begin returning to the creek in two years and will weigh approximately five pounds. An additional 3-5 percent of the fish will return in the third year, at 15 pounds, and 3-5 percent more in the fourth year, at 25 pounds.

The net effect of the plants should be a fishery worth millions of dollars to the local economy.

The first planting of salmon at the Medusa location was done last year when 500,000 chinook salmon were planted. Prior to that fish had been planted at the mouth of the Jordan River in 1983.

The move to Medusa Creek was done by Swan with the cooperation of Medusa Cement Comapany in an attempt to alleviate problems that salmon caused when they returned to the Jordan River. It is hoped by the DNR that salmon will return to the Medusa site, creating an excellent open water fishery in Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix, without causing problems for rivers and tributaries in the Lake Charlevoix system.

The DNR is also making heavy plants of salmon and trout in Little Traverse and Grand Traverse bays in an effort to revitalize the entire northwest Michigan sport fishery.

The DNR hopes to build a salmon harvest facility at the mouth of Medusa Creek with facilities for people to observe the harvesting operation.

Spring erupts, dumps clay into Jordan River

by DOUG TRUAX

The normally crystal-clear Jordan River turned a dense milky white last week as a freak spring erupted on one of the river's tributaries, filling the river with clay particles.

Ty Black, assitant to the regional geologist at the DNR district office in Roscommon, called the occurence "a natural breakthrough of groundwater through the clay layer."

The source of the problems was at Cascade Creek which feeds into Landslide Creek which in turn empties into the Jordan near Pinney Bridge.

Black said that pressure had built up in the underground aquifer from spring runoff and rainfall resulting in an underground spring breaking through the clay layer.

"I've never seen anything like it," Black said although he was aware of a similar occurence north of Lansing where a river had eroded a clay bank and released an underground spring.

District Fisheries Biologist Steve Swan has been at the site and said that as of the weekend the situation was "stabilized at terrible."

Swan said that efforts to drive a well casing through the clay layer and bring the water to the surface without disturbing the clay had proven unsuccessful on Saturday. Swan and other DNR officials have consulted with chemists from Dow Chemical Company who have a polymer that will settle clay and could be introduced into the well.

As of press time, no decision had been made on the use of this chemical.

No one appears certain of the effect of the clay and marl on the river's fish. Swan said that the clay particles were inorganic and therefore should not use up the dissolved oxygen in the stream and suffocate the fish as occured in the Pigeon River after huge amounts of silt were released into the river when water was released from a dam.

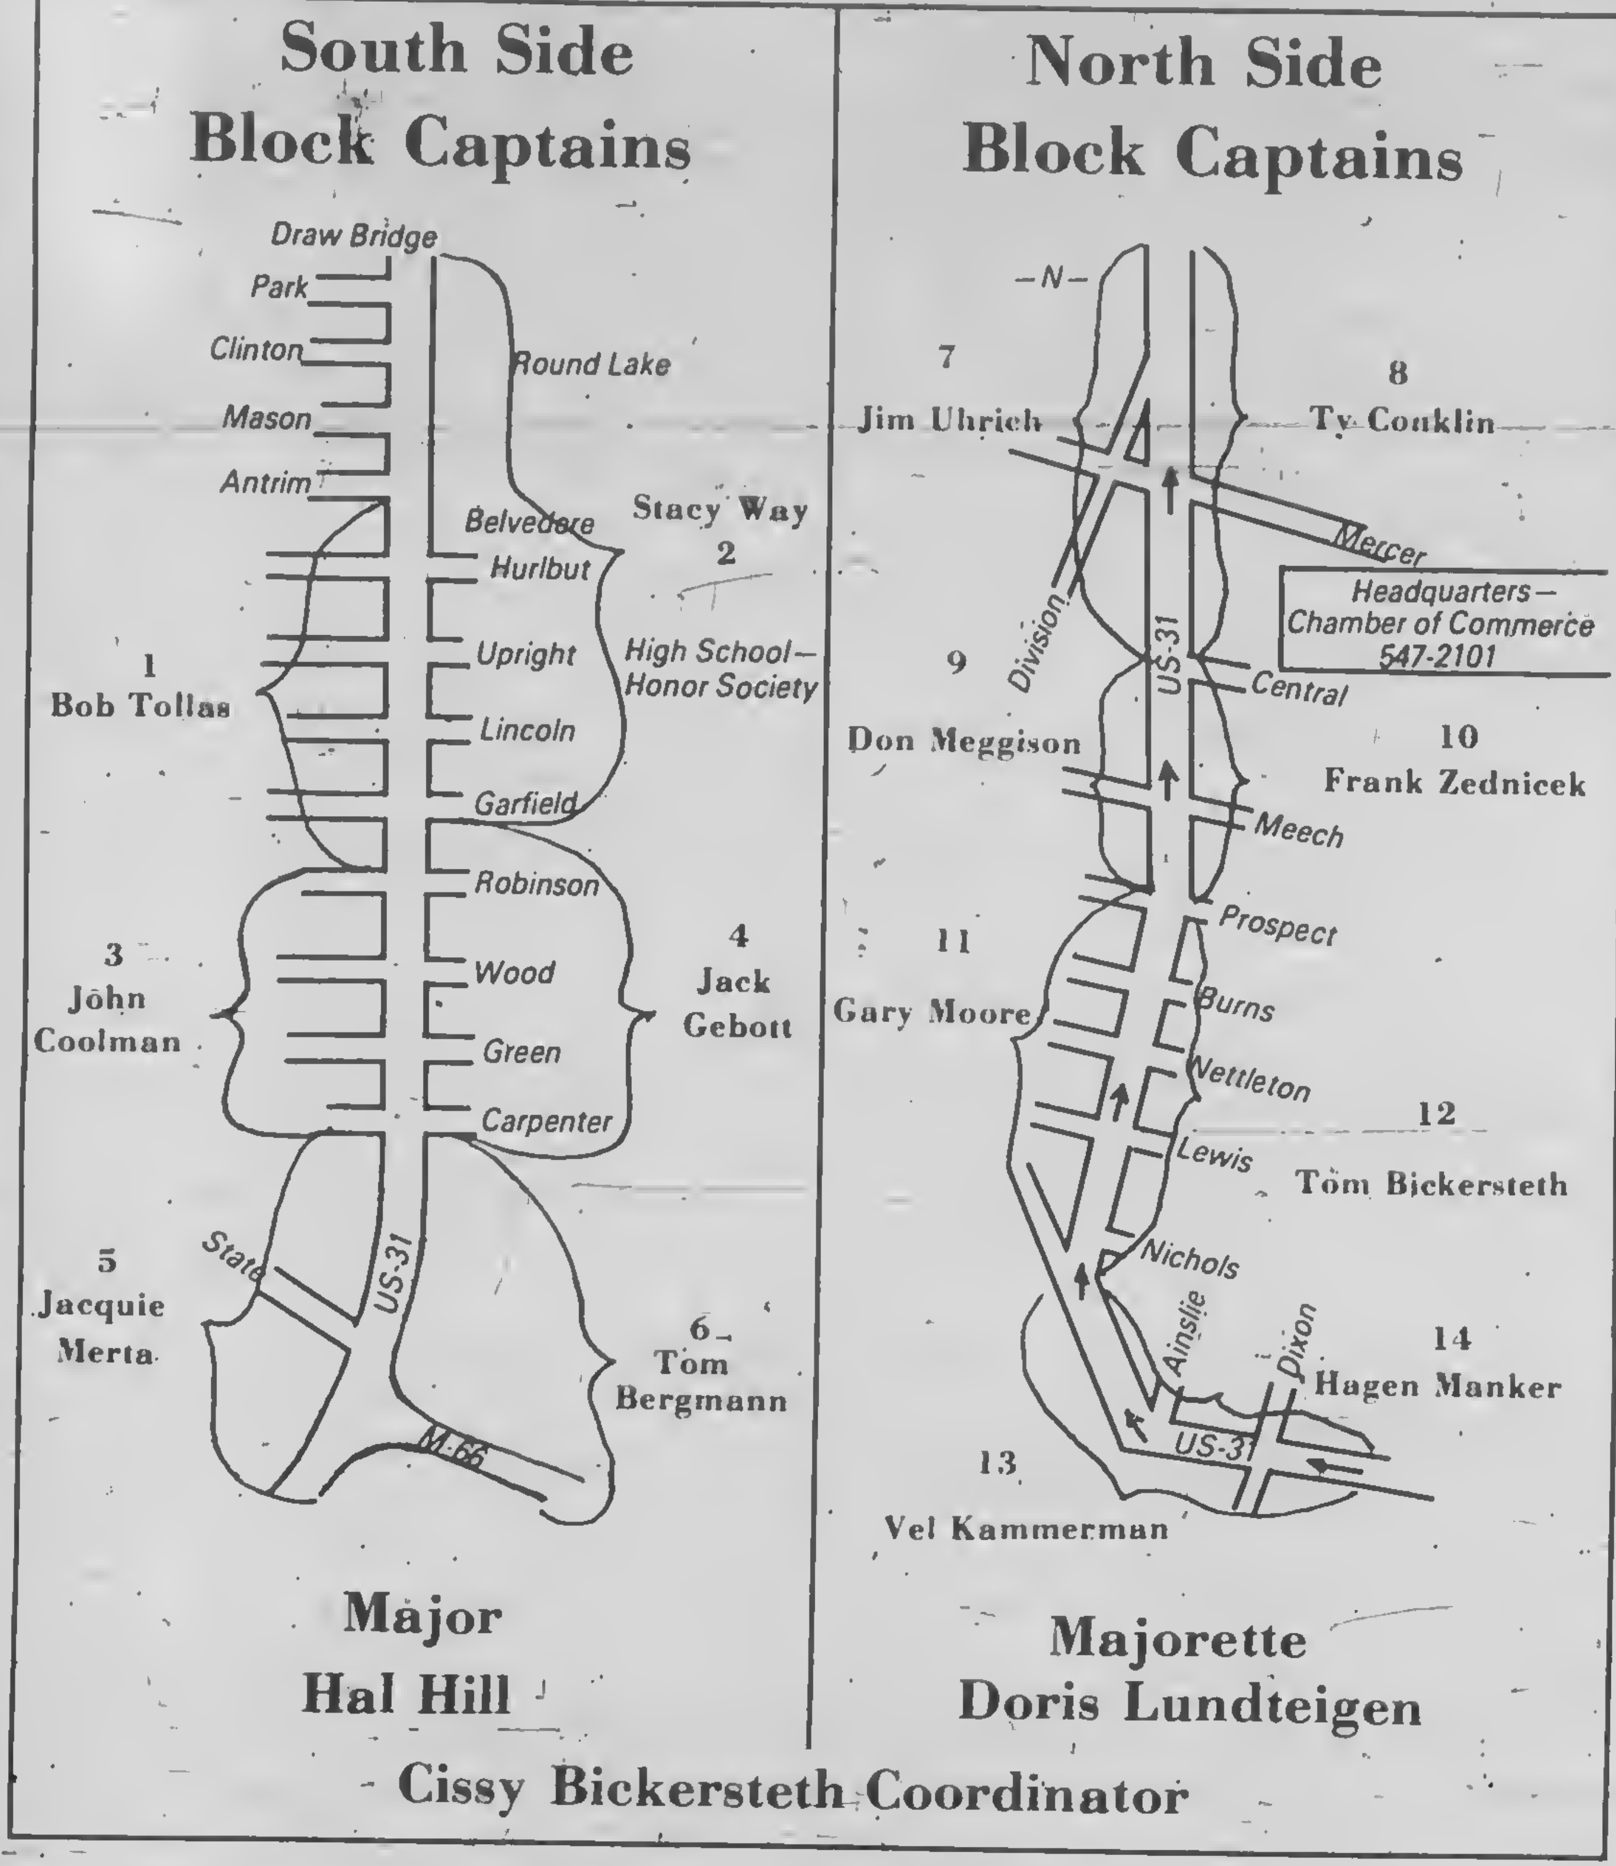
"I don't think it is a major catastrophy," Swan said. "But the fish are not very comfortable with the high turbidity." There is concern that the settling of the clay could cause problems for trout and steelhead eggs in the river and destroy aquatic life.

Swan indicated that unless efforts to fix the source of the problem were successful the clay could continue to enter the river for a long time to come.

Geologist Black warned that the area around the spring on the Cascade is "very dangerous" and could collapse further. There is some quicksand in the area, he said, and when he entered the area surrounding the spring it was "like stepping into chocolate pudding."

Steve Swan plants salmon.

MAY



Petunia Day Arrives

Oranizers say all is ready for the 4th Annual Operation Petunia on Thursday, May 23, at 5 p.m.

Volunteers are urged to report to block captains, see illustration, at a location near their home.

It is expected that all the petunias will be planted again this year in some two hours. Although Bruce MacArthur of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful is confidently predicting a new record time for the planting, due in part to new equipment for digging holes designed and donated by DCL, Inc.

Joining the annual planting for the first time will be a contingent of Coast Guard members and their families; they will be planting the area in front of Harbor Industries. Also planting for the first time will be a group of Charlevoix High School honor students who will be putting in petunias under the direction of block captain Stacy Way; they will be planting from Garfield north to downtown.

Cissy Bickersteth is coordinating the work of the planters and block captains this year.

There will be Big Mac certificates given to the largest family of workers, the oldest worker, the planter traveling the farthest distance, and the first middle school student to arrive.

Vince Grew will sing "Charlevoix the Beautiful," a new song written by Elizabeth Humphrey who will accompany him on the piano.

Following the planting there will be a picnic in East Park for all who participated. Don Dannecker of Mayfair is the chairman of this year's picnic. Jasper and His Tag-A-Longs will provide the entertainment and persons with tickets validated by block captains will be entitled to a hot dog dinner with ice cream and one Tom's Mom's Chocolate Chip Cookie.

Oleson Food Store is donating the hot dogs and rolls for the picnic.

The picnic is on, rain or shine, the organizers say since the tents from the Trout Tournament will be left up.

March of Dimes Golf outing

As surely as spring follows winter, when the grass turns green and temperatures rise, golfers head for the golf courses.

In keeping with this annual phenomenon, Joe Etienne, owner of Kentucky Fried Chicken in Charlevoix, announced the Sixth Annual March of Dimes Two-Man Best Shot Golf Tournament to take place Sunday, May 26, at the Belvedere Golf Club in Charlevoix. The tee time, with a shot-gun start, is 8:30 a.m. Participants are asked to be there by 8 a.m.

In case of rain, the tournament will be held Monday, May 27.

Teams will be flighted according to the total handicap of both golfers, with approximately ten teams per flight.

The entry fee of $30 per person or $60 a team includes greens fees, a buffet dinner of Kentucky Fried Chicken and accompaniments, beverages, prizes, and special awards. Sponsoring the event are Belvedere Golf Club and Charlevoix Kentucky Fried Chicken.

The buffet dinner will be in the Club House at 1:30 p.m. with presentations following. Guests of players may join them for $5.

Entry forms are available at K.F.C., Charlevoix, or Belvedere Golf Club. The registration deadline is May 24. For additional information, call Joe Etienne, 547-4071.

New county number system ready this fall

by PEG OHLE

Most people are used to change in this changing world. Now, residents of Charlevoix County will be asked to cope with another change:

Without moving one foot, they will have new addresses.

Charlevoix County is completing a four-year-long job in which every passable road has been travelled, location of residences noted and measured by a starting grid point, and numbers assigned. The only exceptions are the roads on Beaver Island, which will be covered within the next few weeks.

The new numbering system was undertaken to replace the outdated post office route and box numbers, and to facilitate the location of residences by Police, Sheriff's Department, Fire Departments, and Ambulance Services.

The new numbers are now being assigned to property descriptions on the tax rolls, and a letter advising residents of their new addresses will soon go out from the county. All post offices in the area will enforce the new numbering system and will not deliver mail to boxes without new numbers affixed by September 1. Numbers are being assigned during the summer months so seasonal residents will be able to affix them as required.

Those whose mail box is some distance from their house must also affix the numbers to the house in full view from the street, or on a tree, sign, or post indicating the house exists. Recommended numbers are the stick-on reflector type, which may or may not be furnished free of charge by the county, depending on a decision by the Board of Commissioners.

Cinda Crozier, who is completing the numbering job for the county, explained to the Courier how address numbers were determined:

The grid system designed by Consumer's Power was used as a numbering base. The grid uses Richardson-Marshall Roads extended to the eastern border of the county as the north-south number dividing line, and Korthase Road extended north along the town line to the northern border of the county, as the east-west number dividing line.

All roads were numbered from south to north and east to west. As an example, starting with Miles Road, in the extreme southeast corner of the county, the metered County Number System automobile was driven from the beginning of the road northward and the first house was noted at a distance of 102 feet.

By calculation involving the number of feet between the beginning of Miles Road and the next section line, at Rodgers Road, the distance of the house from the beginning of the road, and the grid section line, the house number was determined.

As the Numbering System vehicle proceeded northward, the location of other houses was noted by footage from the beginning of the road so their numbers could be calculated. At the intersection of Miles and Rodgers Road, the meter was reset so distances could be measured for the houses in the next section. And so on along Miles Road to its end at Metz Road.

All new county addresses will include five digits, many of them beginning with zero. A typical address could be:

John Doe
01247 Green St.
Charlevoix, Mi.
49720

Those building a new house or moving a mobile home onto a piece of property in the county will be given an address number by the Numbering System office, phone 547-6500.

John Martin, fire chief, demonstrates the fire department's new Extrication Collar Set. Bea Parton serves as model and Clement Olach, of the Telephone Pioneers, looks on.

Rescue equipment given

The City of Charlevoix Fire Department recently became the recipient of two Med Spec Extrication Collar Sets.

Fire Chief John Martin explains that the units are designed to immobilize accident victims who can then be lifted from the scene of an accident without complicating injuries.

The donation of the extrication units was made by the Petoskey Club of the Telephone Pioneers, a national organization of telephone company employees who work with the handicapped, the hospice program in Petoskey, and other charitable causes.

Clement Olach made the presentation of the new equipment to the Fire Department.

The XP-1 Extrication Sets weigh only six pounds each and are constructed of a thick layer of plastic foam covered with ballistic nylon.

Editor's Journal

Kudos for tournament

By Doug Truax

I have a confession to make. I wouldn't walk across the street to catch a fish with a $5,000 tag in its dorsal fin.

There, I feel better having said it. But don't get the idea that I'm playing Scrooge at this party, or that I dislike fishing. As you may have already gathered, I rank fishing as among the most noble pursuits of man.

It is just that, personally, I'm not much for fishing for money and prizes. Fishing is too much fun to do it for money. Like...well you know.

So consider me a somewhat unbiased observer when I conclude what is fairly obvious to all – the fishing tournament was an unqualified success. People had fun. They caught a fair number of fish – 359 to be exact– and they developed a wonderful community pride in the Lake Charlevoix fishery.

That is something that has been missing for awhile. Gill nets, lamprey, overharvest, and bad luck have all plaqued the Charlevoix area, fish stocks for too many years. Things are beginning to change for the better again, and the Trout Tournament did much to draw attention to that fact. We have some of the most enlightened and educated fisheries managers in the country here – in the persons of Steve Swan and Myrl Keller – and there is little doubt that we have among the best waters anywhere. That combination, and the determination of local citizens, should prove enough to restore and maintain a quality fishery for many years to come.

No one can say enough about the insight, dedication, and energy of Jim and Sherry Withers in conceiving of the tournament and bringing it off with such polish. Anyone that has been around this pair the past several months must have had occasion to ask themselves why they aren't running the country. We could use this kind of organization.

Raise a glass as well to Don Swartz, Norm Probert, Dave Juilleret, Joanie Burkey, and who knows how many others who worked with such enthusiasm and good spirits.

Charlevoix has found itself a spring event that not only promises to bring bucks into the local merchant's tills, but more important, to look after the resources at its doorstep.

I have only one perverse wish. That the tournament's success bear modest and moderate fruit. It can and should grow. But may it never reach the stage where it looses the charm and comradery that was experienced in East Park this weekend.

School Board

was approved by the board. The calendar calls for school to begin Sept. 3 for the teachers and Sept. 4 for the students; a tentative walk-through and Parents-Teacher Conference at a date to be set in October; a tentative in-service day Nov. 27; Thanksgiving, Nov. 28-29; last day prior to Christmas break, Dec. 20.

Classes resume Jan. 6; work day, Jan. 17; mid-winter break, Feb. 21-24; last day before spring break, April 4; classes resume, April 14; Memorial Day, May 28; last day of school, June 12. There will be a half-day of school March 28, Good Friday.

John Pearl, representing the citizens committee whose other members are George Krchak and John Frey, presented a detailed report on the committee's recommendations regarding the needs at the K-5 school. The recommendations included a new roof to replace the roof that has been on the building since it was constructed in 1968; two layers of insulation and a new heating plant consisting of four 1.0 million unit boilers to replace the existing boilers which have been condemned. He added that the committee figured the work would save up to 50 percent on energy costs. This figure was based on the savings on energy costs at the high school after that building was renovated.

The overall cost would be an estimated $285,999. Since the proposed 1.25 mills the voters will be asked to approve for the work will not cover the cost, the remainder would have to come from the general fund.

The committee recommended that specifications be written and readied for bidding followed the June 10 election.

In other action, the board approved the ordering of the following new textbooks, that have been approved by the curriculum council: Life Science, Pre-Algebra — an accelerated course, the Reader's Anthology, and United States in Literature.

—Approved the Michigan High School Athletic Association resolution which renews the school's membership in the organization.

—Named the electon inspectors for the June 10 election.

—Was advised that the Charlevoix Education Association had voted to go with Blue Shield rather than the Equitable Company at a savings of approximately $7,500 a year. The C.E.A. advised the school district that the organization would leave the savings with the district to be used as needed. The Support Group chose to remain with Equitable and forgo the savings.

—Approved an amendment to the general appropriation which would allow transfer of line items from one account to another where it was needed.

—Approved a dual enrollment for Danielle Johnson during the 1985-86 school year. She met all requirements and will have a dual enrollment with North Central Michigan College.

June 3 was set as the date for the next meeting.

The board went into executive session to discuss personnel.

Clockwise

Legionnaires' disease

By Bob Clock

As the weekend progressed, it became more and more apparent that a Trout Festival was just what the doctor ordered for Charlevoix for mid-May.

I would have welcomed a few more BTUs in East Park, but the fishermen didn't seem to mind the typically chilly May weather. And neither did the trout.

What I enjoyed most about the festival is that it attracted a crowd vastly different from the familiar denizens of East Park, scene of the Hobbycraft Fair, the Waterfront Art Fair, the Venetian Festival and the Apple Festival.

These fellows and gals didn't weave afghans, paint pictures, make silk purses out of sows' ears or grow Granny Smiths. But my! Could they fish and fish they did. There was a lot of good eating on display in the big ice tubs in the park.

Of course, it was a stroke of genius stocking the park pond with scrappy trout and turning them over to the young fry. I read once that if you catch a trout when you're a kid, you're a fisherman for life. If so, a lot of lifelong fishermen were created over the weekend.

AS A MATTER of curiosity, did you notice that the trout in the pond all seemed to congregate in one spot — under the northernmost island — virtually ignoring the rest of the pond. Everytime I passed through the park, the fish were in the same place.

I mentioned their peculiar behavior to Judy and she said something about there being "safety in numbers." Maybe so. Of course, fish do travel in schools, so perhaps it is all part of the same phenomenon. But these fish weren't traveling anywhere, just lolling around.

I think if I were a trout, I would be a little more adventuresome.

DESPITE ITS tragic consequences, the outbreak of Legionnaires' disease in Detroit this month served to underscore how quickly time flies.

It seems at though it were only yesterday that the nation — and the world — were stunned when the dread malady erupted for the first time among members of the American Legion attending a convention in Philadelphia.

There was even speculation that the American vets had been singled out for a macabre kind of retribution by our World War II enemies or by some home-grown anti-war group.

The disease eventually was diagnosed as a particularly virulent form of pneumonia and is now treatable, although it still poses a threat to the old and infirm.

But the surprising part is that the Legion convention which gave a name to the disease was held in 1976 — all of nine years ago. It doesn't seem possible that so many years have slipped away since then.

able to freeze the tax base in the Ferry Road area and apportion any increase in valuation of property to improvements in the area. Among the City's plans are the purchase of additional beachfront property at Ferry Beach, make park improvements, and improve sidewalks, parking, and paving in the area.

In other action Council:

–held a public hearing as required by law on the proposed millage increase of .4078 mills to be levied in 1985. The millage increase will raise operating revenues from property taxes by 3.64 percent in 1985.

–agreed to rent the east one-half of the railroad right-of-way that abuts Nanny's Old Place to Nanny's. The one-year lease would give Nanny's the parking it needs to comply with the city code when it establishes a concession stand on part of its existing parking area. In the event that the City chooses to construct a road over the right-of-way, as has been suggested in the Ferry Avenue development plans, the City could terminate the lease on 30 day's notice.

–approved the licensing of city property adjacent to Northwest Marine Yacht Basin for a public pumpout facility.

–gave temporary approval to 1985 dock rates, pending review by the Waterways Commission. Rates increased slightly from last year.

–passed a resolution adopting a new Industrial Tax Abatement Policy.

–accepted the resignation of City Clerk Laurel Butcher effective this coming Friday and accepted Arlene Staley as new city clerk.

–allowed Sue Gengle to operate a concession sland at Ferry Beach.

Talk of the Town

"What did you think of the first Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament?"

"I entered but nothing worked out. The boat is still on the trailer. I got the wrong hitch so I fished from my neighbor's dock. I think it is great. One of the nicest things to happen this time of year."

"Well conceived. You have a sleeping fishery that has been discovered. I'm impressed by the caliber of fishermen. I'm disappointed that more rainbows weren't caught since we plant nearly as many – about 60,000 per year – as lake trout. We're going to look into that."

Medals were awarded on the following basis: gold medals, 20 books and over; silver medals, 10 to 19 books; bronze medals, 4 to 9 books. Everyone participating received a Certificate of Achievement.

A film entitled "The Same Inside" was shown at the assembly. A winner of many film awards, the film features four children born with birth defects. They talk aobut themselves - what they like to do and how they cope with their handicaps.

Fire destroys barn

An early morning fire at the Robert Potter farm approximately six miles south of here on the Barnard Road, destroyed a section of a large barn located in Marion Township.

The fire, which is believed to have started near an electrical box, was reported at 6:20 a.m. to the Charlevoix Fire Department which responded with its pumper and two takers. Assisting were two tankers from the Charlevox Township Fire Department and one each from Ellsworth, Atwood and East Jordan.

The barn that was destroyed was an old farm barn constructed with a field stone foundation and walls topped by a frame hay loft approximately 40x50 feet in size. A pole barn addition was damaged. A large amount of hay stored in the loft was lost in the fire but young livestock housed in the barn were saved.

Assembly of God to hear Pelham

Rev. Cody L. Pelham will be speaking at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, M-66 Highway, on Sunday May 26, at the 11 a.m. worship service.

Rev. and Mrs. Cody L. Pelham, appointed missionaries of the Assemblies of God, have recently returned to the United States for deputational work after completing a four-year assignment in Belgium.

Mr. Pelham serves as Academic Dean of Continental Bible College in Brussels, Belgium, a school operated by the Division of Foreign Missions of the Assemblies of God for the training of pastors, evangelists, missionaries, and church workers across the continent of Europe, the Middle East, and many other parts of the world.

Mr. Pelham is a graduate of Evangel College and the University of Missouri. He is a candidate for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in history. He served as a professor in the Department of History at Evangel College between 1971-78, prior to being called into missionary service.

He is an ordained minister with the Michigan District of the Assemblies of God. In addition to his administrative duties at the foreign school he also teaches courses in the history of Christianity.

The Pelhams look forward to resuming their ministry in Europe after a year of reporting to the Assemblies of God congregations which have supported their work over the past four years.

Baseball team drops two

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team dropped two games to the Petoskey Northmen Saturday by scores of 6-3 and 3-2, according to Coach Brian Certa.

Tim Nelson, the winning pitcher, for Petoskey, allowed ten hits and three walks and had four strikeouts. Petoskey collected four runs in the first two innings and then defended their lead until the fifth inning when the Rayders managed one run. Petoskey scored two more runs in the bottom of the fifth inning for a 6-1 advantage. Charlevoix had two more runs in the seventh but lacked the punch to even the score.

For the Northmen, Ross had two hits including a double; Slough had two singles, and Beer, Nelson, Shomin, Schuch, and T. Sodowski had one single each.

Mike Herriman, the losing pitcher, gave up nine hits and six bases on ball. He had three strikeouts. Collecting hits for Charlevoix were Mike Thompson who had two runs including a double, Putman, two including a two run homer in the seventh inning, Herriman two, and Cris Havens, Brent Cole, Matt Lignell, and Brian Wilmot one single each.

In the second game, Petoskey scored one run in the second inning for a 1-0 lead. The Rayders then went ahead in the top of the third with two runs and held the lead until Petoskey tied the score in the bottom of the fifth and then brought the winning run home in the sixth inning. Beer started for Petoskey and was relieved in the sixth inning by Piehl who struck out five of the next six players up. Beer had allowed eight hits. Cris Havens was on the mount for Charlevoix. He allowed seven hits and three walks and had five strikeouts.

Ross had a home run and Nelson, Slough, and Rosevear had two hits each. Havens, Cole, and Herriman had two hits each and Thompson and Putman one each for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix will host Gaylord Tuesday and will meet Elk Rapids in a pre-district game Friday.

Rayders shut out St. Francis

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team shut out Traverse City St. Francis 9-0 in an elimination game played here Tuesday prior to the Class C District play-offs to be held at Kalkaska May 31.

Brent Cole was the winning pitcher allowing seven hits which were scattered. He had eight strikeouts.

Kleinrichert started for the visitors and gave up four runs. Weatherholt came in relief and allowed five runs.

The first two innings were scoreless but in the third the Rayders scored four runs, added three in the fifth, and two more in the sixth inning of the seven-inning game.

Chalking up hits for the Rayders were Cole with three, including a double, Jody Putman with two home runs and a single, Thad Morgan with a home run and two singles, Mike Herriman with two hits including a double, Mike Thompson with two singles, and Jim Young and Cris Havens had one single each.

Kuhlman and Finnian had two hits each and Cleland, Gerard and Denoyer one each for the Gladiators.

Charlevoix will meet Elk Rapids in a second pre-district game on Friday, May 24.

Tennis squad peaks at right time

The Charlevoix Rayders' No. 3 doubles, Rusty Coolman and Dan Staublin, emerged the winner of their flight among 11 schools in the Class C-D regional meet at Traverse City Friday and Saturday, Coach Erik Lundteigen reports.

As a team, Charlevoix finished tied for fifth place with Boyne City at nine points each.

Harbor Springs and Northport were co-winners of the meet with 18 points followed by Glen Lake and Traverse City St. Francis tied for second place with ten points each. Elk Rapids had five points; Pathfinder of Traverse City and Frankfort, four each; Leelanau Schools, three; and Leland, two points.

"We peaked at the right time. The kids did very well and we won one flight, the first time we've done that in several years," Lundteigen said of his team's performance. He added that the Rayders should do well next year. "We haven't a senior on the team and the kids are excited that they've won."

Lundteigen went on to explain that though the No. 3 doubles had won their flight they cannot advance to state competition. "Only the No. 1 singles can advance to state competition," he said.

Coolman and Staublin defeated Reed and Overett of Harbor Springs 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 in their first match; Iverson and Smith of Leelanau 6-2, 6-0 in their second; and Craker and Phillips of Northport 4-6, 7-6, 6-0 to win their flight.

The tournament results follow:

Mike Chew lost to Erik Early of Leelanau 6-1, 6-0; Ty Wagner lost to Tom Rutkowski of Pathfinder 1-6, 6-2, 6-1; Marty Joy defeated Dan Spinner of Elk Rapids 3-6, 7-6, 12-10 before losing to Jay Stowe of Northport 6-4, 6-4; Julie Balmer lost to Paul Wonacott 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

In the doubles, Jim Morgridge and Jason Brindel defeated Walters and White of Traverse City St. Francis 6-1, 6-2 before losing to McNamara and Guswiler of Harbor Springs 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 and Soe Miller and Scott DeYoung defeated Johnson and Howard of Boyne City 7-5, 6-3 before losing to Grover and Wilson of Leelanau 6-4, 6-4.

The regional meet closed out the schedule for the team which had a 4-2 record for the season.

Girls split with Rogers City in softball

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team split with the league-leading Rogers City Hurons in close games played here Thursday. Rogers City won the first by a 5-4 score and Charlevoix, the second 9-8.

The Hurons', Kathy Yerks, allowed six hits and six walks in the first game, and Missy Sandahl gave up two hits and nine bases on ball, for Charlevoix. She had six strikeouts.

Yerks and Kris Wojtaszek had hits for the Hurons. Michelle Gagnon had two doubles, Angie McClanaghan two singles, Amy Antaya a double; and Ann Kroll a single for Charlevoix.

Rogers City scored two runs in the second and fourth innings and one in the sixth while Charlevoix had two runs in the fourth and sixth Innings.

In the second game, a single by Ann Kroll in the bottom of the fifth brought in the winning run after Charlevoix had tied the game earlier in the inning.

Gagnon was the winning pitcher, giving up seven hits and three bases on ball. Lisa Nadolsky allowed 12 hits and three walks.

Ruth Hudak had three doubles, Sherri Sorgenfrei two singles, Nadolsky a double and Lisa Rasche a single for the Hurons.

For Charlevoix, Kroll went four for four, Meg Fowler and Gagnon had two singles each and McClanaghan, Antaya, Lara Stargardt and Jenny Sell one single each.

The Rayders scored two runs in their first time at bat only to have the visitors score six runs in the top of the second inning for a 6-2 lead. Scoring runs in the third and fourth innings put Charlevoix ahead but the Hurons made the score 8-6 in the top of the fifth inning. Three runs in the fifth including Kroll's single gave the Rayders the win in the five-inning game.

Charlevoix will host Gaylord Tuesday and travel to Elk Rapids for a pre-district game on Friday.

Track squad qualifies one

The Charlevoix girls track team qualified one runner, Barbie Boss, for state competition in the Class C regional meet at Traverse City Saturday.

Boss placed second in the 100-yard dash to win a medal and qualify for state competition at Clare, June 1.

Charlevoix, one among 17 teams in the meet, had 12 points for the day.

The 800-yard relay team (Boss, Michelle Louiselle, Chaya Moore, Kris Austin) placed fourth in the meet.

Mason County Central won the Class C title.

The team will travel to Gaylord Thursday for the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet, Coach Dennis VanGuilder said.

Michigan Amateur deadline nears

The deadline for entering the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship tournament has been set ahead to Friday, May 24, following the establishment of a new format for qualifying for the tournament held annually at the Belvedere Golf Course the last week in June.

Jeff Rivard, executive secretary of the Michigan Amateur, explained that entries would qualify at golf course closest to their respective homes. A given percentages determined by the tournament officials will then be among the 167 plus the defending champion who will play the last qualifying rounds at the Belvedere Golf Course.

In the past, the entire field of entries played qualifying rounds at the Belvedere and a neighboring 18-hole course until the magic 64 number (which always includes the defending champion) was reached. The finals were then played at the Belvedere Course. In recent years the second course was Antrim Dells.

The change in the format was made in order to give more golfers an opportunity to participate in the tournament, it was said.

The qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday, June 24 and 25, thus cutting the number to the top 64 who would begin match play on Wednesday, June 26. The final 64 would include the defending champion, Roy Schultheiss of Bay City, if he choses to defend his title.

The match play tournament will be played Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Belvedere course will be open to qualifiers for practice purposes from noon June 22 through Sunday, June 23.

Qualifying rounds will begin Monday, June 3, and will continue through June 17 at the following sites and dates: June 3: Country Club of Jackson; June 10: Green Ridge Country Club, Grand Rapids, Meadowville Country Club, Northville, Michawye Hills Golf Club, Gaylord, and Saginaw Country Club.

Rayder trackmen qualify for state

The Charlevoix Rayder track team, coached by Hal Evans, qualified thinclads in four events for state competition at Clare, June 1, at the Class C regional track meet held Saturday at Traverse City.

Mason County Central won the Class C regional title.

The Rayders with 26 points, finished in sixth place among 16 teams.

The Rayders had three second places and one third to qualify for state competition.

Jim Martin placed second in the 200-yard dash; Doug Sloan second in the 400-yard run; the 800-yard relay team (Martin, Sloan, Ulf Evaldsson, Jim Gibbs) qualified with a second place. The mile relay team (Martin, Sloan, Gibbs, Tim Salmonson) placed third to qualify.

In other events Martin placed fifth in the 100-yard dash. The 400-yard relay team placed fourth. Members are Jim Kenney, Gibbs, Kevin Shepard, and Evaldsson.

The team will be at the Petoskey Relays on Tuesday and at the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet at Gaylord on Thursday.

Blood drive set to meet quota

The spring visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Charlevoix has been scheduled for Thursday, May 30.

The American Legion post home at 106 E. Garfield Ave. will again be the site of the Bloodmobile from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m.

The quota for the visit is 125 pints. The quota has not been met at the two previous blood drives so the committee is anxious to "go over the top" at this time according to Mrs. David Fowler, coordinator for the event.

Volunteer callers will be contacting previous donors urging them to make appointments. Appointments help to keep a steady flow of donors throughout the day. However, if you make an aappointment please keep it, Mrs. Fowler urged.

Mrs. Vernon Mathews, Jr., is recruiting a corps of volunters to staff the Bloodmobile. Mrs. Thomas Carey will be calling registered nurses needed that day. Mrs. Herman Izor is handling publicity. The Charlevoix Lions Club will again unload the Bloodmobile equipment, held set up, and return Thrusday evening to dismantle and re-load the equipment.

Homemade cookies are served to those donating blood. If you can help by baking cookies, please contact Mrs. Fowler at 547-9314.

Juice for the canteen is supplied by Oleson Food Stores and coffee by the First State Bank. Workers to staff the canteen are members of Kappa Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Bloodmobiles are community events. Do your share. Call 57-9314 for an appointment to donate blood Thursday, May 30.

Country gospel concert at Reformed Church

Lynnelle Pierce will be heard in a "Country Gospel" concert, May 26, 7:00 p.m. at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

Lynnelle Pierce's creative way of presenting the gospel in song has inspired many people. She has sung with such people as Pat Boone and the Gaithers and traveled to countries outside the United States.

Lynnelle has been a frequent guest to our area and again on May 26 she will be here to share her faith in music.

A free-will offering will be taken for her ministry.

Gospel music at Ellsworth

A gospel music program sponsored by the Banks Township Fire Department to purchase equipment, will be held May 25, 7 p.m. at the Ellsworth High School Gym.

The groups present include: The Believers from Petoskey, The Singing Grandfathers from Ellsworth, The Messengers of Melody from Bellaire, The Bluegrass Express from East Jordan, and The Sounds of the King from Atwood.

The public is invited. A free will offering will be taken.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

On the eve of the season first [illegible] the Mouse thought that a brief description of our sport might be [illegible] for some of our newer [illegible].

The [illegible] into three [illegible] Spring, Summer and Fall, with approximately [illegible] races in each [illegible]. The course we sail varies with the direction of the wind and is decided by the Race Committee only shortly before each race. [illegible] eight nautical miles.

Each yacht sails with a handicap, much like a golfer so that at the [illegible] are equal. [illegible] To the casual shoreside [illegible] it may appear that there is no organization to what [illegible] the lake yacht racing [illegible] by very explicit rules which carefully dictate to each crew what is allowable during the race. To commit an infraction of those rules usually results in another yacht flying a red flag which [illegible] the Protest Committee at the conclusion of the race. That's something akin to going before Judge Vartnam with beer on your breath.

The goal of each yacht is to score the fewest points of their particular fleet for that series. First place is awarded 0.75 points; second place gets 1.5; third place 2.75. Each subsequent finisher is "out of the money" and earns 4 points for fourth, 5 for fifth and so on. Total points are tabulated at the conclusion of each series with flags awarded to the top three yachts. The Spring and Fall series are often conducted with squalls, high winds, and occasionally snow storms, while the summer series is usually the most gentle on yachts and crews.

Each skipper must use the knowledge of the sailing characteristics of his yacht in differing wind conditions, be ready to alter sail combinations, be quick to capitalize on errors of competing crews, and be eager to employ the racing rules to his advantage in order to gain one of the three coveted flags.

Each year the Club gains a few new members who had their introduction to sailing as an observer on a racing yacht. Many of the yachts you see in Lake Charlevoix on Wednesday night would welcome a novice observer aboard for a race if we thought that it might inculcate into you the thrill that we feel as we approach the starting line.

Come on down to the Club and meet us. We look forward to meeting you.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

May 15, 1985

By the City of Charlevoix
210 State Street
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720
(616) 547 3270

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS

On or about June 7th, the above named City will request the State of Michigan to release funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-383) and the Michigan Economic Development Authority created by Public Act 70 of 1982 for the following project

Platting the public works improvements in the Charlevoix Industrial Park Area "Mercer Blvd., Taylor Road, and Ance Road" located in the northeast section of Charlevoix. Estimated project costs $285,000.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the above named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (P.L. 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows: that the project will have no significant effect on the environment

An Environment Review Record respecting the proposed project has been made by the above named City which documents the environmental reviewed of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for copying upon request between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of Federal funds.

PUBLIC COMMENTS ON FINDING

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to the Office of the City Manager. Such written comments should be received at 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720 on or before June 7, 1985. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the proposed project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence

RELEASE OF FUNDS

The City of Charlevoix will undertake the project described above with Community Development Block Grant funds from the State of Michigan under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 and Michigan Economic Development Authority funds under Public Act 70 of 1982. The City of Charlevoix is certifying to the State that the City and Michael R. Wiesner, in his official capacity as City Manager, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval Charlevoix may use the Block Grant funds and the State will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969

OBJECTIONS TO STATE RELEASE OF FUNDS

The State will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the certifying officer or other officer of applicant approved by the State; or (b) that the applicant's environmental review record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Business and Community Development, 4th Floor, Law Building, P.O. Box 30004, Lansing, Michigan 48909

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objection received after June 24, 1985 will considered by the State.

The stands for the hats were made by E.H. Leedy, husband of Garden Club President Julia Leedy.

4th Annual Field Day entertains many

Under brisk, sunny skies, the 4th Annual Charlevoix Field Day was held this past Friday, May 17.

The event, similar to the Special Olympics program, is run for kids in the Char-Em special education programs, the Bergmann Center, and the Antrim-Kalkaska special education programs.

One hundred fifty-four kids participated in the Field Day this year.

The program included an afternoon of field events, followed by a talent show performed by the children from the Charlevoix schools, dinner, and a dance featuring Jasper and his Tag-A-Longs.

The event is sponsored by the Odd Fellows, the Masons, and the Knights of Columbus.

Bruce Bergmann is chairman of the joint committee overseeing the field day; other members of the committee include Dave Phillips and Clem Olach.

Couple opens new antique shop

Anyone with an interest in country primitives, old tools, oak furniture, and other American antiques may want to come calling at Jeff and Cara Hochhalter's back door.

What they will find is the entrance to a new antique businss situated in the basement of the Hochalters' residence on 604 Bridge Street.

Called appropriately Back Door Antiques, the new business will be open on weekends at ll a.m., or by chance or appointment.

Jeff, who by day is a surveyor for John E. Ferguson, will operate the business in his spare hours. In addition to his own collection of antiques he will be selling items for others on consignment.

The Hochhalters' new business is a continuation of an interest in antiques that Jeff has had for the past five or six years. Cara's father got him interested in them initially and Jeff ran a part-time business when the couple lived on Warner Road. That involved going to a lot of flea markets, Jeff says.

When the couple moved into town last summer, they saw the opportunity to run the business from their home. Jeff, who had rebuilt a log cabin for their previous home, constructed the shop in the basement.

This past Saturday the sign went out and the public began to explore the Hochhalters' interesting collection of Americana.

War dead to be honored Monday

The community of Charlevoix will pay tribute to war dead of this country's numerous conflicts at a traditional Memorial Day parade and formal program Monday.

The parade is at 10 a.m. from Park Ave. and Bridge St. via Bridge St. with stops at two memorials enroute. The parade will be followed by a formal program at Brookside Cemetery at approximately 10:45 a.m.

Gregory A. Shadko, World War I Veteran, will be Parade Marshall. Col. Robert J. Rajewski, USAF (Ret.) will deliver the Memorial Day address. The Rev. Casimir Zawacski of St. Mary's church will give the invocation and the Rev. Thomas Black of the First Baptist Church, the benediction. A Charlevoix High School student will deliver an appropriate declamation. Vincent Olach will serve as master of ceremonies.

There will be a floral tribute by Post Commander Fritz Allard of the American Legion and Col. Robert J. Rajewski, Post Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A salute will be fired by the firing squad of the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion. Taps will be sounded.

Music will be by the Charlevoix High School Marching Band directed by Terry Isenbarger.

The parade preceding the formal program will form at Park Ave. and State St. at 9:30 a.m.

The American Legion color guard and firing squad will lead the parade followed by representatives of their respective organizations and auxiliaries.

The Charlevoix High School Flag Corp will be followed by the marching band.

Others in the parade will be representatives of the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations; boys and girls on decorated bicycles and riders on horses.

The parade will halt briefly at the memorial to the Michigan Chapter of the Submarine Veterans of World War II in East Park and at Memorial Park at Bridge St. and Belvedere Ave. At each site the flag will be lowered from half mast and placed at full mast, taps will be sounded, patriotic selections played by the band and flowers strewn on the water of Round Lake by the auxiliaries of the service organizations.

The parade will then proceed to Brookside Cemetery for the formal ceremony.

Veterans and auxiliary members marching in the parade are invited to return to the American Legion post bome for coffee and cake following the program.

All veterans are invited to march in the parade. Residents of the community are asked to display the flag on this special day.

The parade and program have been organized under the chairmanship of Col. Rajewski post commander of the Charlevoix V.F.W. Post No. 1153 and Allard, post commander of the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

Field Day

This recently-organized rock group "Peril" entertained the more than 100 participants in the annual Field Day for the mentally-physically handicapped held Friday at Kipke Field here.

The band was invited to play for more than an hour at the Charlevoix high school gymnasium prior to the dinner following the field day events.

The group is composed of four 14-year-olds including Jeff Hudson, lead guitar who organized the quartet, Barry Loper on drums, Chad DeVries, bass guitar, and Chris Groves, vocalist. All are eighth-grade students at the Charlevoix Middle School except DeVries who is a freshman at the high school.

PUBLIC HEARING

The City Council of the City of Charlevoix will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, June 3, 1985 at 7:00 P.M. in Council Chambers at City Hall, 210 State St., Charlevoix. The Public Hearing will be regarding an Amendment to City Code Chapter 51, title V, Section 5.173 by adding Section 5.173 (A) which would allow the division of a lot in a recorded plat if filed with the Zoning Administrator, then forwarded to the Planning Commission for approval, and then approved by City Council. This would be for certain specifications only.

A complete copy of the proposed Ordinance is available at City Hall for inspection.

Solar greenhouse cuts energy costs

One of the most cost-effective solar systems available, the solar greenhouse can save its owners up to 50 percent of household heating requirements while supplying fresh food.

Solar greenhouses are different from conventional greenhouses. Solar greenhouses have large amounts of insulation where there is little or no direct sunlight. They face the south to receive maximum solar heat in winter, while providing shading and natural ventilation for summer cooling. Heat-storing materials (thermal mass) are used to retain and control solar heat.

When the sun's radiant energy strikes windows, it becomes heat. This is absorbed by the thermal mass. On cloudy days and during the night, the thermal mass releases the heat to the cooler surrounding air. Proper ventilation, thermal mass and shading devices keep the area cool in the summer.

Many greenhouses are attached to the building or home sharing a common wall. This provides additional living space, home heating aid, lower greenhouse building costs and construction ease. The estimated cost of building such a structure is 5-40 dollars per square foot, says the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources.

Building the attached solar greenhouse can be done with easy-to-locate building materials. A concrete block foundation with wood-framed walls and ceiling is the most common structure. Other necessary materals include: double-layered glass or plastic glazing, vents which open and close, insulation and thermal mass. These materials should be sized and placed according to established guidelines for maximum effectiveness.

Your local library has many books on the attached solar greenhouse. There you will find the specifics for your geographic area and explicit directions on building this food and energy supplier.

Adding a solar greenhouse or room can save homeowners in heating costs and provide extra usable space.

Good windows can save money

Are the dollars you spend to heat and cool your home going right out the window? They certainly could be. You see, homes lose heat through every inch of exposed surface. And very little surface in a home is any more exposed than the average window. If your windows are cold to the touch in a heated, valuable heat is being lost.

Windows should be sashed and framed with materials which insulate well and minimize heat conduction. Wood is a natural insulator and a very wise material choice. Vinyl sheathing over wood increases the insulation factor.

Double-pane windows are about twice as effective as single-pane glass when it comes to reducing heat loss. And they are more convenient than storm windows, which have to be removed and installed every season.

Look for tight, factory-applied weather stripping to keep cold air from leaking in around the room. Cold air infiltration can account for as much as 30 percent of the heating costs in an otherwise well-insulated house.

By keeping windows clean, more sunlight will enter the house and provide solar warmth. As unpleasant as the job may be, it can be a real natural energy-booster. And, it's always more pleasant to gaze at the world beyond your home through a shiny, clean window.

Landscaping: more than looks

How your yard is landscaped can play an important role in your home's energy consumption.

Up to 30 percent of your home heating cost is a result of air infiltration, according to the Department of Energy. This can be lessened considerably by careful planting of trees and shrubs.

A thick line of evergreen trees located north and west of your house will provide an effective windbreak during the winter. Evergreens should not need frequent replacing, repair or upkeep. And they add charm to your property, while helping to keep energy costs down.

Home improvements revitalize for spring

Winter is finally over. The spring sky is bright and clear, the air warm, and the "extra" hours of daylight are an especially welcome change from the winter darkness. This season of new beginnings is invigorating and refreshing, and there are many lovely weeks yet to come.

During the winter months, you and your family spent a great deal of time indoors. Now you're faced with an accumulation of books and magazines which kept you occupied during cozy evenings at home. Countless pairs of dripping boots and shoes have trekked through the house, and harsh winter weather has battered the exterior of your home.

For many people, the traditional spring cleaning and home improvements rituals are the solution to these situations.

At this time of the year, there are closets to reorganize, a layer or two of winter grime to remove from windows, and perhaps there are several minor repair jobs to be undertaken by the enterprising do-it-yourselfer.

By planning in advance, organizing your time efficiently, and making adequate preparations for each job, you will find that all these projects can be accomplished satisfactorally without severely disrupting your regular schedule.

Don't try to do every chore in one grand sweep. First, decide on a specific time span during which a spring overhaul of your living quarters will be the priority, and then decide the same for work on the exterior of your home.

A single weekend might be sufficient, or maybe a two-week period of less concentrated work would be preferable, depending on your temperament and the condition of your home.

Consider whether you would rather spend two days concentrating exclusively on cleaning, reorganizing and repairing, or if you would prefer to space these jobs over a longer period, devoting shorter intervals to these projects.

You may want to arrange your schedule so that you do related jobs during a single period of time, but this isn't necessary.

If you dread reorganizing the closets more than any other job, you may want to do one each day, or maybe you'll find it easier to complete this project before starting another.

Within the framework you've chosen, designate the jobs you plan to do at specific times, balancing the more complicated, time-consuming jobs with simpler less involved tasks that can be completed more quickly.

Be realistic about the length of time each project will take, and be sure to have everything available that you will need.

It is much less frustrating to spend the necessary time in preparation than to be forced to interrupt a project because you need to go to the hardware store or search the basement for a nail of the correct size.

Although rain may disrupt your schedule for outdoor work, planning for this possibility will help you be prepared to make the most of the situation.

Perhaps this would be the ideal time to give the kitchen a new coat of paint, or maybe there are some indoor repairs that you could tackle instead.

Involving every member of the family in some part of the spring cleaning and home improvement projects will make these jobs seem less overwhelming.

Even young children can help to pack away their winter clothes and return warm weather cloths to drawers and shelves.

Be sure to consider all the ways that the interior or your home can be brightened. Does the bathroom need a new look? Or does the living room carpet need to be replaced?

By coordinating decorating and repair projects with the annual spring cleaning, you can rejuvenate your home, bringing the vibrance of the spring sunshine indoors.

Spring is the right time to get the house in shape for the year ahead.

Here are some simple fix-it tips for mending screens

Repairing, replacing and installing screen doors and windows is a springtime chore that can drive some homeowners buggier than the bugs they're trying to keep outside. And it needn't be. There are simple approaches to most household tasks, and screening is no exception.

For those who abhor the semi-annual put-'em-up, take-'em'down routine, the ultimate solution is to leave 'em be. Unless the screened space is later replaced with insert-type storm glass panels, that's perfectly permissible with many of the aluminum storm door-window screen systems available today.

These combination units feature the dimensional stability of extruded aluminum frames and the non-corrosive, low maintenance advantages of aluminum screen cloth. And they're available in many sizes and combinations.

Double-track glass and screen combinations are designed for the glass panel to be opened for screen-only use, with latchlocks for easy lift-out of the screen panel to clean the screen and window exterior.

Triple-track units include screen and standard pane glass backed by a removable double-pane insulating glass panel, all within an integral system.

With many of these, the screens can be taken down or left in place on a year-round basis. Why leave them up? Well, why not?

The take-'em-down philosophy dates back to the type of wire mesh screening that rusted from exposure to rain and snow. Aluminum screen cloth is naturally non-corrosive and affords homeowners the opportunity to keep screens in place year-round.

Besides, window screens are more frequently damaged during installation, removal and storing. Also, screens provide at least some protection for the glass, which is much more costly to replace than screening.

Generally, the only maintenance required with year-round screening is to clean out the drainage holes at the aluminum track bottoms, hose down or clean the aluminum screen cloth with water or brush attachment of a vacuum cleaner, and lightly oil the latchlocks and frame sides.

Another type aluminum-framed insulating door-screen system comes with glass and screen insert panels. The panels are interchangeable, depending on the season, and eliminate the drudgery of replacing entire framed units.

So, if you are still using old-fashioned wood-framed screen doors and windows, now is the time to consider converting to all-aluminum, ideally in storm sash-screen combinations for long term energy savings.

Of course, all screens are susceptible to damage, expecially full-length doors and patio sliding door screening. But, again, there are quick-and-easy fix-it solutions to save both time and money.

To repair small holes and tears, use an awl, nail, ice pick or pencil point to realign the strands. Then dab the repaired area with several coatings of clear fingernail polish, model airplane glue or household glue.

Larger rips, tears and holes are mended with screen patches available from most hardware stores. Always use the same screen material - aluminum screen cloth over aluminum screen cloth, for example - as that being repaired.

First trim the edges of the damaged area. Then cut a piece of screen patch of the same shape

Save money — install gutters and downspouts

It is estimated that you can save up to $300 by installing gutters and downspouts on your house yourself. If you possess ordinary handyman skills, the job can be a breeze.

Determine the materials you need by sketching the area the gutter and downspout will service, indicating all inside and outside corners. Allow for a downspout approximately every 40 feet, with enough hangers to attach the gutter to the roof at approximately 30-inch intervals. For each downspout, you'll probably need an end piece, two elbows and two bands to secure the downspout to the house. At corners, use either an inside or outside miter to direct the gutter in the direction desired. Mark your needs on a piece of paper and check it against your sketch to make aure yuou have overlooked nothing.

After you purchase the necessary materials, lay them out on the ground around the roof to donblecheck that you have all the pieces you need.

fnspect the fascia board. ff necessary, paint or replace it and install a detal drip edge under the first row of roof shingles.

For proper drainage, the gutter should slope from the highest point, or the point farthest from the downspoot. Determine the slope with a chalkline and tape measure, then mark the siope on the fascia board to use as a guide for positioning the hangers.

On the ground, if possibie, fasten complete runs of gutter together with slip joints. Attach these by filling the joints on the connector with gutter seal and then firmly insert the connectors onto the gutter. Next, determine the position of miters or end pieces where downspouts are to be placed. These pieces are also attached using slip joint connectors and gutter seal. Fasten an end cap to the end of the gutter, again using the gutter seal.

Before raising the joined sections, attach the crossbar hangers to the fascia board. Line up the top of each hanger with the chalk like and fasten it. Install the first hanger approximately 3 inches from the end of the fascia board. Space the other hangers at intervals of approximately 30 inches. It is recommended that you have assistance when raising joined sections to the roof.

After the complete gutter is in place, use two elbows and a piece of downspout, if necessary, to bring the downspout flusb with the building. Extend the downspout down the wall toward the ground, and then with one additional eibow, direct water away from the building. Fasten the downspout to the wall with one band at the top and another at the bottom.

The downspout should be iocated at the iowest ground level possible to keep water running away from the house. To prevent seepage into the basement or beneath the house, make some provisions such as a splasb block or drain pipe to lead water away from the fundation.

After hanging the gutter, run water from a garden hose into it, where necessary, seal any leaking joints.

Screen repair is easy but slightly larger. Strip off several cross wires from each end and bend tbe wires at rigbt angles.

Place the patcb so the bent wires go through tbe screen beiug repaired. Lastly, bend the protruding wires flat and dab the repaired edges with clear fingernail polish or glue.

If a screen is badly damaged or has become unsightly because of repeated patching, it'll need replacing. Tbe simplest solution is to take the screen, frame and all, to any hardware store offering screen repieacment services.

If you take pride in your fix-it abilities, you can save on installation costs by replacing the screen yourself. Simply lay the frame on a flat firm surface and proceed as follows:

1. Screening is held in place in metaf framing with splines. With a screwdriver, pry up the spline at one corner, carefully pull it out of the groove and remove the screen.

2. Center the replacement screen in the frame witb ½-inch edges extending beyond the inside frame edges. Press the spline back into place with a blunt-

Install vinyl tiles for easy care flooring

There comes a time in every bomeowner's life when new flooring becomes a necessity. With the easy-to-install vinyl and ceramic tiles and the new wider-width vinyl sheeting, thia "chore" can become an exercise in creativity.

Always start with a clean, smooth surface. Fill any cracks and holes with a non-shrinking patching compound. Remove furniture, appliances, grills, baseboard moldings and quarter rounds before you begin.

Concentrate on matching seams if you are laying narrow vinyl sheets or patterned tiles. Imperfect alignment will shout "amateur instailer" afterwards. In sheet vinyl coverings, try to buy a sheet as wide or wider than the space you intend to cover, to avoid matching. When you install tiles, start in the highly visible areas with whole tiles. Then, if you cannot match patterns later, it won't be as noticeable.

And try to start off on a straight line. With sheets, begin on the window wall, when possibie, and straigbten only that wall first. Then move about the room, trimming slowly for a snug fit. If you make a diagonal cut in the corner, the whole sheet will fit better and trimming will be much easier.

As for tiles, draw a straight line, with a board if possible, and use it as your guide. Move out into the room, trimming around protrusions like you would with sheet flooring.

In a day's time you should have a brand new floor and a beautiful room to show for your efforts.

Vinyl floors save time

Give your door a new look

What does your front door say about the people living inside? If it's like most front doors, it says very little. In fact, it probabiy is quite plain.

Give your door visual interest with molding. These decorative curved or flat wooden pieces come in a vast array of atyles and designs. Molding can be purchased already assembled, or you can use your creativity to fashion anything from a simple rectangle to an intricate lattice design.

You can find molding at home centers and building supply stores. Choose a design which complements your home's architectural style. Once you've found a molding design to brighten your door, make a list of the moiding lengths you'll need. Round the measurements off to the next iargest foot to allow for cutting and trimming.

Cut all pieces before attaching them to the door. Remove the door and lay it flat. Then simply position, glue, and tack the molding in place.

Replacing screens edge tool.

3. With the top and one side in place, pull the screen taut, complete the splining, and trim off any excess protruding beyond tbe spline.

A final piece of advice concerns what to do with badly warped wood frames, rusty and bent metal frames, and rusty, tattered screening. Discard them and convert to aluminum screen cloth in lightweight, corrosion-free aluminum frames.

Virtually all home improvement contractors will tell you it's the only way to go for good appearance, easy installation and low maintenance.

Insulated attics need airing

What could be better than a well-insulated attic? A well-insulated attic with proper ventilation.

Ventilation is important because during the winter, heated air carrying moisture from cooking, showering, dishwashing and other everyday activities tends to raise and concentrate in your attic, where it is retained on the inside of the walls and roof. When the sun draws this moisture out through the walls and floor, considerable damage results.

Proper ventilation allows moisture to escape. During the summer months, this same ventilation eliminates heat build-up and helps keep your home cooler and more comfortable. It also allows air conditioning to work with greater efficiency and economy.

To ensure proper attic ventilation, have at least two vent openings located where air can flow through the attic area. On most conventionally built homes, these are at the gable ends, but vent efficiency is increased if the roof is aligned so prevailing winds can enter and exit with maximum ease. Unforturnately, few homes are built with this consideration in mind. However, some builders today are beginning to recognize the importance of siting and positioning homes to take advantage of natural forces such as the sun and the wind to achieve greater comfort and reduced energy consumption.

Proper clearance of vent openings is important when new insulation is added. Otherwise blockage or restrictions caused by the insulation will reduce the vent's eficieocy and defeat its purpose. If you have soffit vents, be sure to keep a minimum of one inch of unblocked free air space between insulation and roof sheathing.

Gable end vents on some older homes used to be installed with windows that could be closed in the winter, thus preventing cold air from entering the attic where it would seep down into the rooms of the house. These were designed for homes built when little was known about the benefits of insulation, and just as little known about moisture problems and the advantages of proper ventilation. Anyone owning such a home should, at the very least, insulate the attic floor and leave the eave vents open all year around, especially in winter when mosisture problems are most severe.

Replacing a worn roof with new shingles can add to the attractiveness and value of a home.

Roof repairs save problems

A badly weathered roof can lead to severe water damage in the roof deck, rafters, walls and floors - even furnishings, if the roof is left unreparied long enough.

Even the best roofing materials weather after a time. A standard shingle roof is a prime candidate for reshingling after about 15 years. Roofs tend to wear uniformly, so if your roof appears worn at all, it is probably time for replacement. Limited repairs won't held a badly worn roof, the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association warns.

Weathered roof signs are excessive loss of protective mineral granules and cracked, curled or missing shingles. These can be seen from the ground with binoculars or from an upper story dormer window, without damaging the roof any further. A professional roofer can best estimate weathering.

The ARMA suggests you call in a professional roofer to do the replacement job. Professional roofers can give expert advice on materials and the use of color to improve your home's appearance.

Especially attractive are the three-dimensional asphalt shingles. They come in popular earthtone colors, relating the home to its natural surroundings. Deep, rugged shadow lines are created by theses shingles designed to last many years with minimal maintenance.

Incidentally, real estate brokers report a home with a new, quality, attractive roof sells quickly. It is a major selling point because buyers know it is one guaranteed aspect of the house.

Moisture is the worst enemy of painters

When house paint blisters, peels, cracks, flakes, checks or mildews, the tendency is to blame the paint instead of the painter. But more often than not, the painter is responsible - not for being a bad painter - but for being unaware of or ignoring the source of the problems.

Professional painters and paint company researchers know that moisture is the worst enemy of paint. And it is this aggressor that the average homeowner who does his own painting needs to battle.

The interior of the average home produces a large amount of moisture throughout the year. But is is during the winter that moisture plays the greatest havoc on exterior painted walls. Moisture accumulates on the inside of walls, where it is eventually drawn through to the outside by the heat of the sun. When moisture goes to work on wood siding and the paint covering it, the result is trouble.

To combat the negative effects of moisture, first find the source. Depeoding upon your particular circumstances, it could be improper venting; water leaking from the roof, gutters or plumbing; or rain getting into siding through seams and gaps around doors and windows.

After locating the source of moisture, eliminate it by sealing up all cracks, openings and leaks. Then provide proper ventilation by installing roof or wall mounted ventilator ducts and fans in moisture-producting areas. Vent tubes or under-lap vents can help relieve the moisture build-up in a wall. Using a vapor proof paint on interior walls can also help.

With the moisture problem solved it's time to take a look at the second enemy of paint - poor surface preparation.

Lack of proper priming, applying new paint over chipped, cracked or chalked paint or a heavy build-up of old paint is a guarantee that problems will soon follow. Another situation that can lead to trouble is applying a second or third coat of paint before the previous coat completely dries.

Begin all painting jobs by properly priming wood and metal surfaces. If the old paint is damaged, use a scraper, paint remover or power sander to remove all loose paint. Then, either feather edge the remaining paint areas or use a filler or caulking to smooth tbe surface before priming. If, for any reason, you intend to give your house a second coat of piant, be sure to wait until the first coat has had plenty of time to dry. The improved appearance of your home and the money saved by a paint job that lasts are well worth the extra effort.

Clean chimneys for safety's sake

The heartbreak and expense of fire could result from a chimney coated with creosote, the condensed wood smoke which adheres to chimney walls. This highly flammable material creates dangerous burning debris and sparks which shoot out of a chimney and may set a house ablaze.

Creosote accumulation is often caused by burning large loads of wood in an enclosed space. Smaller fires with plenty of air slow down the rate of accumulation. Although you have to add wood more often to smaller fires the total amount of wood burned and the heat produced will be about the same.

To inspect for creosote accumulation, look for a sticky black build-up on the walls by peering down the chimney from the rooftop and up the chimney from inside during daylight hours.

If the creosote has a hard tar glaze, a deposit only one-quarter inch thick can fuel a substantial chimney fire. If you see what you believe to be a creosote deposit, call a chimney sweep.

Chimney sweeps, like any other service professionals, know their business better than the average do-it-yourselfer. They can clean more thoroughly, in a shorter time, than can most non-professionals. Don't play with fire. Inspect your chimney and call a chimney sweep if necessary.

Insulate your water heater

In the average home, the hot-water heater is second only to household heating in terms of energy use. It consumes twice as much energy as lighting, cooking, and running appliances. But there are ways to reduce this energy cost.

Turning down the thermostat is the simplest and most effective method. A water temperature range of 110-120 degrees is sufficient for most homes. And less heat will escape to the cooler air around the water heater when the thermostat is lowered.

Insulation also prevents heat from escaping into the cooler surrounding air. It is present in all hot-water tanks, but covering the exterior increases heat retention.

If the tank is located in an unheated area, insulation is especially important to slow heat loss. If a hot-water tank feels warm on the sides, exterior insulation is required.

Use three-and-a-half inch, R-11 fiberglass to insulate water tanks. Wrap it around the tank to measure and mark it. Do not cover the top or put insulation near the burner. Trim to fit. Write down the hot-water heater's serial number in case the unit should ever need replacement parts. Then seal the insulation with duct tape.

A word of caution: the insulation could cause overheating if the heater is not equipped with a pressure relief valve and goes unused for a long period of time.

Within one or two seasons, more than enough money will be saved to pay for the initial investment.

Fox development is focus of Hayes meeting

by PEG OHLE

The Hayes Township Planning Commission voted last week to amend the township's zoning ordinance to clarify Section 5.13, the "Shoreland Protection" part of the ordinance.

This section provides for not more than "one slip or dock space for 100 feet of lake frontage or lake access or more than one single family living unit for each 100 feet of lake frontage."

The amendment of clarification specifically states that the restriction on number of boat slips does not apply to rowboats, canoes, dinghies, rubber boats, and other such hand-powered vessels. It also specifically states that the ordinance does not apply to public access sites under the possession and control of a government agency, county, road commission, or township.

In announcing the public hearing at which the zoning amendment was adopted, Township Planning Commission Chairman Sara Gay Dammann explained that it is the desire of the township "to make the lakes available to everyone. We believe they are the resource of all the people and not just the privileged. Our ordinance is designed to provide for use by all."

It would seem that passing an amendment as simple and seemingly innocuous as this would be a matter of routine. However, the Hayes Township Hall was overflowing for the public hearing.

The reason for the high level of interest is that Section 5.13 is the basis for a lawsuit filed against the township last January by Fox and Associates, owners of 338 acres of land with 2800 feet of shoreline on Oyster Bay on the north side of Lake Charlevoix.

Fox proposes to develop this property with 27 buildings containing 168 condominium units and 66 boat slips. However, under Section 5.13 only 28 dwelling units could have lake access and there could be only 28 dock spaces (one for each 100 feet of shoreline).

Fox claims that these restrictions limit and deprive him of his riparian rights in and to the navigable waters of Lake Charlevoix, and, further, the Hayes Township zoning ordinance was not written under provisions of the Township Rural Zoning Act of 1943 as amended, and therefore does not apply.

These claims are the basis for Fox & Associates' lawsuit, which is now pending in Charlevoix Circuit Court.

In commenting on the large crowd attending last week's meeting, Mrs. Dammann said, "It became apparent that Fox was going to take advantage of the situation last Friday when township voters received a letter from Fox making unsubstantiated and wrong statements about his project and the attitude of township officials. He was trying to get people to attend the meeting and encourage us to push for an amendment that would benefit him.

"I had to keep reminding the people that we were there to discuss clarification of parts of Section 5.13 that might be ambiguous, and that it was not the intention of the Township Board or its attorney to increase restrictions. We just wanted to state that we wanted public access sites and we were not trying to limit the number of small boats."

The letter to which Mrs. Dammann refers, signed by William R. Fox of Fox and Associates, recited his contacts with the township last year in an attempt to get approval for his development. According to Fox, he made several modifications of his original plans, notably:

–Reduced the number of proposed dwelling units from 228 to 128.

–Eliminated a proposed 18 hole golf course.

–Reduced the number of boat docks to only 28, accomodating 56 boats.

–Designed an inland harbor to preserve the aesthetic value of the natural shoreline by concealing the harbor from lake view.

–Offered to pay for, install, and dedicate a public water system and public sanitary sewer facilities.

–Offered to dedicate approximately 200 acres to be designated as a conservation preserve.

He continued, "Despite these actions, which we feel result in a project that is environmentally, architecturally, and socially desirable for the collective owners and the people of the township and county, the Hayes Township Planning Commission continues to arbitrarily deny approving the proposed development."

He added that he simply wanted to give township residents a "firsthand" understanding of the facts involved.

In defending the township, Mrs. Dammann said that it is not against development, as Fox has indicated. "We simply have a difference of opinion of what the density should be. This space is ideal for development if done right. Fox never formally applied to the township for anything on proper forms, and has not even yet contacted the Department of Natural Resources (whose approval is necessary because parts of the land are wetlands.)

He has talked about having

Fran Martin honored by yearbook staff

Fran Martin, reporter for the Charlevoix Courier and the Petoskey News-Review received two prestigious "firsts" in recent awards ceremonies.

On Wednesday, May 23, it was announced that the Charlevoix High School yearbook, The Rayder, was dedicated to Martin. It marked the first time that the yearbook had been dedicated to someone not directly affiliated with the school system.

One week earlier she had been given the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference recognition award in honor of her 50 years of sports coverage. That award, also, marked the first time that the award had been given to a member of the news media. In the past the league recognition award had gone to coaches, athletic directors, or school administrators.

In addition, K. Dale Burge, Charlevoix athletic director and conference board member, announced that when the Charlevoix track facilities are improved the school would establish the Martin Invitational track meet in honor of Fran and her deceased brother, Claire.

"It's just a way our league can thank her for all the years of coverage," Burge said in making the presentation. "She's been very supportive through all the years and we've been very happy to have her."

The surprise presentation of the yearbook honor was made by yearbook editors Amie Coates and Angela McClanaghan. A plaque accompanying the yearbook was inscribed: "In appreciation. Frances 'Fran' Martin. For all your time and efforts on behalf of the students of Charlevoix High School. May 1985."

Martin began working for the The Petoskey Evening News in 1939 and for the Courier shortly after that. In 1948 she also began working for the Grand Rapids Press as a northern Michigan stringer. She has written extensively on many subjects for both the Courier and News-Review including coverage of sports, Board of Education, County Commission, Charlevoix Area Hospital Board, local courts, police, sheriff's department, and other public and quasi-public organizations.

50,000 petunias planted in one hour

The 4th Annual Operation Petunia attracted more people for planting, set a new record for speed, and provided more festivities than any previous planting.

The last of the 50,000 petunias was in the soil by 6:10 p.m., one hour and 10 minutes after the start of the operation. In previous years the planting has taken some two hours, which in itself was considered by many to be something of a miracle.

The speed of this year's planting was attributed in large part to a DCL designed device which punched and spaced holes for the petunias.

Over 600 people joined the picnic in East Park at the conclusion of the planting. They helped themselves to hot dogs and Coke and listened to Jasper and his Tag-a-Longs. They also heard a performance of the song Charlevoix the Beautiful, composed by Elizabeth Humphrey and sung by Vince Chew. The crowd applauded enthusiastically when the song reached the line "where else can you find the streets petunia lined."

The first block captains to finish planting were John Coolman and Hagen Manker, both of whom had their areas completely done by 5:30 p.m.

Stacy Way directed an enthusiastic group of high school students who not only planted their blocks but helped out in other areas as well.

The largest family to participate was the Carl Miller family – all eight of them. Carl is also the auctioneer who volunteers his time for the auction to benefit the petunia planting..

Bruce MacArthur, president of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, credits much of the ease in getting preliminary work on the planting done to the cooperation of Sheriff George T. Lasater who has released six prisoners in the last two years to work on preparation of the flower beds.

"These guys have really worked hard," MacArthur says. He notes that this year one prisoner rototilled the town twice, marked all the holes, and raked many of the parkways in addition to much other work.

Commencement held on Sunday

The ninety-seventh annual Commencement Exercises at the Charlevoix High School will be held at the high school gymnasium at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 2.

At that time, 136 seniors will receive their diplomas.

Dean Davenport, a 1953 graduate of the Charlevoix High School who is currently Director of Athletics at Ferris State College, will deliver the Commencement Address which he has entitled "Giving Back."

Dr. Gordon W. VanWieren, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Public Schools, will introduce the speaker.

Maureen E. Buday and Mary E. Camilleri, co-salutatorians, will open the program with their salutatory addresses followed by Thomas R. Graf who will give the valedictory.

Dennis D. VanGuilder, assistant high school principal, will introduce the students receiving scholarships and awards.

Vane H. Smith, high school principal, and Barry A. Anderson, senior class advisor, will present the Class of 1985. Conferring the honors of graduation will be Dr. VanWieren, Vincent R. Olach, business manager at the Charlevoix Public Schools, C. Max Novak, president, and Mrs. Doris A. Pearl, trustee of the Charlevoix Board of Education.

The Rev. Fr. Gary Heniser of Christ Episcopal Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Thomas Black of the First Baptist Church will deliver the benediction.

The Charlevoix High School Symphonic Band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, will play the processional, Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance", the senior selection, "Festa" by Del Borgo, the National Anthem and the recessional.

Resolution #85-5-8
RESOLUTION OF THE CHARLEVOIX CITY COUNCIL ADOPTING A TAX INCREMENT FINANCING PLAN AND DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE FERRY AVENUE TAX INCREMENT FINANCING AUTHORITY DISTRICT
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix has heretofore established a Tax Increment Financing Authority for the Ferry Beech Tax Increment Financing District, and,

WHEREAS, said Board of the Authority has heretofore prepared a Development Plan and Tax Increment Financing Plan and has proposed that said plans be adopted by the Charlevoix City Council pursuant to Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980, as amended,

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

Section I

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that it is necessary, for the best interests of the public, to halt property value deterioration and increase property tax valuation where possible in the Charlevoix Ferry Avenue Tax Increment Financing Authority, and to eliminate causes of that deterioration, and to promote economic growth within the City of Charlevoix; and that the Tax Increment Financing Plan and Development Plan constitutes a public purpose.

Section II

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that the Tax Increment Financing Plan and Development Plan meets the requirements as set forth in Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980.

Section III

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that the proposed method of financing the development is feasible and that the Tax Increment Financing Authority has the ability to arrange the financing.

Section IV

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that the development is reasonable and necessary to carry out the purposes of Act 450 of the Public Acts of 1980.

Section V

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that the Development Plan is in reasonable accord with the approved Master Plan of the City of Charlevoix.

Section VI

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that public services are or will be adequate to service the development area.

Section VII

The Charlevoix City Council does hereby make a determination that changes in streets, street levels, intersections, and utilities are reasonably necessary for the project and for the City of Charlevoix.

Section VIII

The Charlevoix City Council hereby approves the Tax Increment Financing Plan and Development Plan as approved and proposed by the Charlevoix Tax Increment Financing Authority Board.

The above Resolution was approved by the Council of the City of Charlevoix by the following yea and nay vote.

Char-Kay Realty joins forces with State Wide

Charles F. Themm, broker-owner of Char-Kay Realty Co. of Charlevoix and East Jordan, and Hugh D. Harris, president of State Wide Real Estate, Inc., have announced that the Charlevoix real estate office is now known as Char-Kay-State Wide Realty Co.

Chuck Themm of Island View, Charlevoix, and a former banker and realtor in the Charlevoix and Antrim County areas, opened his office at 1002 S. Bridge in February, 1983 with himself as the only employee until 1984. He now has seven realtor-salespersons working with him. Three with him in the home office in Charlevoix and four in the East Jordan branch office, (opened in November, 1984).

As Chuck stated in early 1983 when he opened the first office, he is an optimistic person. He knows people and likes to work with and for them "I prefer to treat others as I like to be treated. With concern, honesty, and follow-through with thorough involvement and deliverence."

Themm is very excited about the new affiliation with State Wide Real Estate. He states "I have never been in an office and met such enthusiastic and energetic persons as there are in the national Headquarters office of State Wide. Right from the receptionists to the president. They enjoy working with each other and for the company. And they are rewarded justly.

"State Wide Real Estate is also now affiliated with K-Mart in that the first five Real Estate Marts opened April 19th are situated within the K-Mart stores," Themm says.

"We are also the only real estate affiliation in Michigan representing Vistana, a time-sharing condominium concept right in the middle of Walt Disney World and Epcot Center in Florida - the most visited place on earth. They are really plush units, yet within easy reach of the common working family. We plan to present programs on this by fall, with possible 'fly-downs' for the prospective clients.

"So with all of these new tools, new affiliations, and renewed enthusiasm of our sales staff, we stand ready and anxious to work for our clients. Both in selling and buying."

Themm invites all to stop in either the Charlevoix or East Jordan office.

More than books: Charlevoix Library offers many services

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix Public Library is always a busy place, but the summer months are the busiest.

Two special programs for children will be offered during June and July and many services for adults will be expanded during vacation time.

The Children's Story Hour, conducted by Peggy Spang, will continue through July, offering three-to-five-year-olds a chance to listen to stories being read, see children's books come alive in movie films, and learn simple handicrafts. The Children's Story Hour is held from 10:30 to 11:30 Tuesday mornings.

Marybeth Wallick, librarian, shows F.L. Dammann the original edition of Bob Miles's book, Charlevoix.

The annual Summer Reading Program for older children will begin at 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 2, and continue through Tuesday, August 6. With the slogan, "Books Are Best Friends", this program is designed to encourage children to read. It is not a contest.

Adults, both local residents and summer visitors, will find the library a source of several recreational opportunities. In the lobby of the library building, there is a stand laden with used magazines and books contributed by area people. They are there to be taken and read by anyone who wants them.

The library also subscribes to 70 magazines and six newspapers, and current issues are available in the reading room for study or fun reading.

The stacks of the Charlevoix Public Library contain over 18,000 books of fiction, non-fiction, and reference. The library is one of 17 members of the Northland Library Cooperative, which makes it possible to order books that are not on its shelves from the Inter-Library Loan.

Audio-visual equipment is also available from the library. This includes 16 mm. movie projectors, 35 mm. slide and filmstrip projectors, 8 mm. home movie projectors, an overhead projector, a Polaroid 640 Land Camera, and 35 tape cassettes and players, including four major foreign language tapes. For children's parties, there is a selection of 17 cartoon takeouts of Walt Disney full feature cartoons.

The library's Michigan Room contains much historical information about the early days of the Charlevoix area, including microfilmed Charlevoix newspapers dating back to 1883.

The Charlevoix Public Library houses many works of art, including two new acquisitions: a print of local artist Jim Annus's painting of the old C & O train depot, titled "Waiting for the Morning Train", donated by Annis, and a print of an aerial view of Charlevoix, donated by Mike Holmes of the Appletree Gift Shop.

The works of art that have been in the library the longest are 120 dolls dressed in fashions from the earliest days to 1940. These dolls were made and donated by the late Rosa Nettleton, whose early history of Charlevoix is also a library treasure.

The late industrialist and former Charlevoix summer resident, Nathan Cummings, was also a library benefactor. The Abbot Pattison sculpture in front of the building was a Cummings gift, as were other sculptures inside the building. Among other works of art in the library are a painting by the late Charlevoix architect and builder Earl Young, two tapestries by Willie Joseph, an oil painting featuring northern Michigan lighthouses, and a model ship made by prisoners at Alcatrez Prison.

The Charlevoix Public Library, which is under the jurisdiction of the Charlevoix Public School District, is really more than just a library. Its lower level provides a meeting place for several local organizations, and its bulletin board always features an item of special interest. This week it is pictures of the 1985 Charlevoix High School graduating class as they appear in the Charlevoix Courier.

One problem which has plagued the library for years, according to librarian Marybeth Wallick, is lack of adequate parking space. That is one reason she is hoping the City Council will adopt the suggested plan of building a new Fire Department building on the present site of the Post Office and building the new Post Office east of State Street along the alley between Mason and Clinton Streets. If this is done, the present site of the old Erber Building would become parking area, and, since it is just across the street from the library, that would solve the library's parking problems, Miss Wallick says.

Louise Evarts has been working with Miss Wallick as assistant librarian for eight years. Jean McGhee and Shirley Kemp assist on a part-time basis.

Dick Georgi at the Foster Boat Works

Renovated Foster Boat Works is newest area resort hotel complex

Charlevoix's newest resort condominium-hotel complex - the restored and renovated 100 year old Foster Boat Works will have its first 36 units ready for daily and weekly rental by Memorial Day says Dick Georgi, president of Ski and Shore Real Estate, and partner in Charlevoix Development Company, project developer."

It's wonderful architecturally, because of the way the old was transformed into the news," Georgi says.

Georgi and his partner, Arch Wright, undertook to transform the three storied wooden building in 1983. Before the first nail was pounded, most units in the first phase were sold to private investors. Today now 6 of the 36 units remain unsold.

The second phase of the project, which will connect the major portion of the boat works, with the copper roofed club house of the neighboring Northwest Marine Yacht Basin, is scheduled for completion this year. It will add another 18 units.

The units were designed to be sold unfinished, at prices ranging from $49,400 to $65,200. Investors finished each unit to their individual designs. A 20 percent tax credit for the restoration of an historic building, was also significant.

Each unit is unique, because they were finished to owners' designs; but most combine the old and new. In a typical top floor unit, contrasting woods against white walls complete the traditional theme established by the oiled original solid hemlock beams.

Most units have jacuzzi hot tubs and fireplaces. All have efficiency kitchens.

With one bedroom, walk through kitchen and living room, and convertible couches, the first and second floor units will accomodate a small family. Third floor units with lofts are more spacious and in some cases suites have been formed with owners of adjacent units.

Rates for overnight guests range from $99 per unit per night to $139, depending on time of week. Weekly rentals range from $499 to $599 per week per unit.

The building was first built by M.D. Ferry Seed Co., in the early part of the century, to process locally grown produce. In the late 1930's it was sold to the Foster Boat Works for the manufacture of small flat bottomed plywood rowboats and oars. During World War II, small liason craft were built there. Finally it became a repository for a collection of marine memorobilia.

Metric System Film donated

Mrs. Maria Hiehle, mother of the late Petronella Hiehle, has donatd a copy of a 16mm educational film produced by her daughter to the Charlevoix-Emmet intermediate School District Media Center. The 30 minute film is entitled The Metric [illegible] Measurements and includes a description of the system of metric measurement as well as practical applications in daily life."

Ms. Hiehle wasthe Metric Education Specialist for the State of Michigan, and developed many materials to help sutdents understand the concepts of measurement using the metric system. She provided mathematics education consultation services to the staff at Char-Em prior to her death in 1984. She was also very involved in the establishment of the cross-country skiing facility at Windmill Farms.

The film will become part of the collection of educational materials circulated by the Char-Em Media Center to the school of Charlevoix, Emmet, and part of Antrim counties. Students throughout the area will benefit from this clear explanation of measurement. Sincere thanks are expressed to Mrs. Hiehle for her generosity.

Fran Martin

By Doug Truax

Traditionally, I am told, one of the best kept secrets in town is the identity of the person to whom the high school yearbook is dedicated.

The choice this year — Fran Martin — may have been as big a surprise as any, since Fran is not a member of the administration or faculty as most of the past recipients of the award have been.

A better or more appropriate choice, however, would be hard to imagine.

For nearly a half century Fran has reported on events in northern Michigan with particular attention to the schools and their children.

I've only known Fran personally for the seven weeks I have been editor of the Courier. It may be a little presumptous to say very much about someone I've known for such a short time. But let me risk a few impressions on behalf of the people at the Courier to whom she brings such great credit.

Picture your normal little retired grandmother occasionally repotting a prized begonia. Fine. Now you know what Fran is not. What she is is a combination of gritty journalist, godmother to generations of school kids, and a caring member of the community.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, she works just about any hour of the day, often all of them. She has trained a generation of coaches to call in with their teams' results, no matter what the hour of the night. Yet I have not found the hour before dawn when she is not available with copy from the previous day.

She is irritated if you run her byline often. She would be just as happy if you were to do so not at all.

What might rankle her a bit — and she has been known to get a bit crusty with hardheaded editors — is if you left out an important story on the kids at school or didn't get their name in correctly.

After nearly five decades of reporting nearly anything worth reporting Fran Martin still devotes tremendous energy and enthusiasm to the community. She gives a little league baseball game the same dedication to accuracy and detail that gives a major spot news story or a varsity championship.

It is often mentioned as almost a footnote that Fran has been confined to a wheel chair since 1933. I suspect that this information is treated parenthetically since that is the way Fran wants it. You deal with Fran on the basis of what she can do. Period.

It is gratifying to see a group of young students honor a preson who has devoted so much of her life to their well being. There is a nice poetry to it.

Letters to the editor

test ban urged

To the Editor:

I would like to urge people to write your representotive and senators and urge them to support an end to nuclear testing and to call upon the president to resume CTB negotiations.

Tell them that:

A test ban is verifiable. Nuclear tests are already being monitored by satellites and by a global network of sophisticated seismic stations, operated by the U.S. and our allies. The Soviets have even agreed to allow the U.S. to place seismic monitoring stations inside their territory.

A test ban could be the first step towards a comprehensive freeze and reduction in nuclear weapons. Without a test ban technological advances will continue to push the arms race to unprecedented levels. New weapons will become increasingly accurate and more difficult to monitor.

A test ban works. In 1963, President Kennedy initiated a unilateral testing moratorium. The soviets followed suit, and the Limited Test Ban Treaty resulted. Now is the time to complete the ban on testing.

Urge your representative to support the Brown resolution to extend the ASAT (anti-satellite) testing moratorium in the House through FY'86. Ask your senators to support the Kerry ASAT resolution. The resolutions are expected to be voted on as amendments to the Fy'86 Defense Authorization bill.

Arguments in support of an ASAT testing moratorium include:

It would continue the status quo. Over the past year, both the U.S. and the Soviet Union have refrained from testing their ASAT weapons, though the Air Force is planning a test in June.

An extension of the testing moratorium would enhance negotiations and prevent an ASAT competition.

The protection of our early warning and intelligence satellites is critical. An ASAT moratorium is in our own national security interests.

Sincerely,
Doris Schaller

Saints and Sinners

by Sister Barbara Ann Seymour
St. Mary's Catholic Church

As I read St. John's version of the "Good News" I hear many variations of the theme, "God loves me". And then I begin to ponder; GOD loves me - God LOVES me - God loves ME! To say that I'm awestruck is putting it mildly!

The great, good wonderful, powerful, beautiful, God loves me. He actually loves me. He cares; He is concerned; He wants the best for me. He loves ME. His creature who He created; His creature who doesn't always return His love or does it in a meager way; who hurts others in many ways; who misuses his own body; who mistreats the other creatures - animals - birds, fish, flowers; who "can't see the trees for the forest"; who misses a beautiful sunrise or sunset because be doesn't even know its there; who sees mud rather than stars. But God still loves me.

Then I begin to think - If God loves me He must love everybody else too because He made all of us.

Maybe, just maybe, if we would all look at each other, thinking of the love that God has for each and everyone of us, we could make this a better world.

Clockwise

Disrespect

By Bob Clock

I have tried to pin the blame on myself, and I guess I am partially responsible.

I am getting a little too old to appreciate the hijinks of the young, particularly 500 of them gathered together in one place.

Although I used to teach, I do not remember that kids 25 years ago were openly disrespectful to their teachers, adults in general, or their classmates. Furthermore, I am sure that 99 percent of the youngsters attending Charlevoix High School are the nicest people you would ever want to meet on a one-to-one basis.

But when they are in a crowd, watch out!

A case in point was the student honors assembly last Wednesday in the Charlevoix High School gymnasium.

The assembly is an annual event, bringing together students, teachers and school administrators for the presentation of awards of various kinds for academic achievement, perfect attendance, special honors and the like.

One would almost expect that such a ceremony should be attended by a certain amount of decorum. After all, it is the students themselves who are being honored.

However such was not the case. The undercurrent of laughing, talking, pushing, shoving, cheering, booing and general mayhem that took place during the assembly made it difficult to hear who was being honored or for what.

The most embarrassing moment came when a U.S. Army officer in dress uniform appeared in the gymnasium to present awards to four recent Army enlistees. As the captain approached the speakers' table, one young whippersnapper in the stands stood up and gave him a "Heil, Hitler!" salute.

I felt like crawling under the stands.

Here was this gentleman, a guest in our school, being shown the utmost disrespect by a kid young enough to be his son.

"Thank you for the warm welcome," the captain said wryly as he began his presentation.

Regardless of your politics, you simply don't treat strangers in this manner and I cannot help wondering where this kid acquired his values. At home? In church? At school? Somebody has slipped up badly along the way.

Almost as bad was the reception the student body gave to three or their number who had managed to achieve perfect attendance records during the past school year. As you'll remember, this winter wasn't the easiest on record. Even though we had our share of "snow days," I think there is something pretty special about a kid who gets up and makes it to school every single day the school is open.

Only three students out of 500 achieved this record, and if I were a potential employer I certainly would give these youngsters special consideration if they ever applied to me for jobs. They are made of pretty stern stuff.

But the one sophomore and two freshmen who received attendance awards were actually booed by their classmates when their names were announced by Assistant Principal Dennis VanGuilder. The honorees were painfully reluctant to step forward to receive their certificates.

If I were running the show I would have ended the assembly then and there and sent the students back to their last-hour classes.

The human psyche can only stand so much nonsense.

Softball team wins, heads for district

The Charlevoix softball team posted a 13-3 win over over Elk Rapids in a pre-district game Friday to advance to district competition against Traverse City St. Francis at Kalkaska, Friday.

In Friday's game, Charlevoix took a 1-0 lead in the second inning and added nine runs in the top of the third inning before Elk Rapids scored their only runs in the bottom of the inning. Charlevoix went on to score one more in the fourth inning and two in the fifth for the victory and a chance to advance into district play.

"The girls played a great game. Missy Sandahl threw the ball well and was in control all the way. Everyone had an excellent game," Coach Ron Cox said of their performance.

Sandahl allowed only three hits and three bases on ball. She had three strikeouts and hit the same player twice with the ball.

Di Couturier, the losing pitcher, gave up 12 hits and 11 bases on ball. She had five strikeouts.

Collecting hits for Charlevoix were Meg Fowler who had two including a double, Michelle Gagnon two, Sandahl two, Lara Stargardt two, Amy Antaya a double, Angie McClanaghan, Jennifer Sell, and Ann Kroll one single each.

The team now has an 11-10 racord.

Charlevoix is scheduled to play a make-up game with Central Lake here on Wednesday before going into the district tournament.

Hayes meeting

asurance from the City of Charlevoix that it would extend its water and sewer lines to the Fox property, but we have never seen anything in writing about that. He has the only proposed ideas."

When asked by the Courier if the city had given Fox this assurance, City Manager Michael Weisner said, "No. I talked to John Campbell (engineer for the project) and told him that when the township and the developer decided what they were going to do, to put in a written request and we would take the matter to City Council. I told Campbell that he had recently made arrangements with Charlevoix Township to furnish water on the south side of the township and still had some capacity. I did not make any promises. I do not have that authority."

Fox's attorney, Seberon Litzenburger of Petoskey, elaborated further on the water and sewer lines:

"Those (sewer and water) plants were constructed with federal funds. They are running at only two-thirds capacity and they have to run a tap-in when requested. Also, Fox has a verbal arrangement with Charlevoix Township to construct a water treatment plant."

In preparation for the trial, Litzenburger has been taking depositions from township officials, among them Orville Beale, township zoning administrator. According to Litzenburger, Beale testified that applicants for zoning permits do not fill out applications forms until their site plan is approved. Fox's site plan was oot approved and therefore he did not proceed with a formal ap.plciation, according to Litzenburger.

The case of Fox and Associates against Hayes Township will probably not go to court until next fall.

Memorial service planned

A memorial service for William A. Pawley of Norwood, who died March 18, will be held at the Norwood Cemetery at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 1.

Pastor Robert E. Bellairs of the Norwood United Methodist Church will officiate.

In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held at the Norwood United Methodist Church.

Benefit pancake breakfast

The June 2 All-you-can-eat pancake breakfast at the American Legion post home will be a benefit for Jimmy Harbaugh of Bellaire who is terminally ill. Fritz Allard, post commander, has announced. He is the son of a fellow American Legion member, Jim Harbaugh, Fritz Allard, post commander, said in announcing the benefit.

The breakfast will be served at the post home at 106 E. Garfield Ave. from 8 a.m. until 12 noon.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black

Dubey-Black

Cristol Lee Dubey and Thomas William Black were married on Saturday afternoon, May 11, at the First Baptist Church of Charlevoix.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dubey of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom's parents are the Reverend and Mrs. Thomas Black, also of Charlevoix.

The bridegroom's father officiated at the double-ring rites before the altar graced with blue and white candles. Other decorations were pots of white chrysanthemums on the steps leading to the altar and bow-tied daisies marking the pews.

Approximately 150 guests participated in the service in which the bride was given in marriage by her parents. Her bridal gown was an off-the-shoulder model of lace over satin fashioned with a Juliet-style waist. Her headpiece was a ring of white and light blue daisies, and her bouquet was composed of white and light blue daisies and baby's breath.

Cathryn Liotta served her sister as matron of honor. Four sisters of the bridegroom, Jackie Beechner, Sharon Black, Patricia Boggs, and Sandra Spohn, served as bridesmaids, as did Terri Warner. They wore long gowns of light blue organdy and headbands holding light blue flowers. The matron of honor carried a bouquet similar to that of the bride, and the bridesmaids each carried one long-stemmed daisy tied with ribbons.

Jennifer Liotta, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a long white dotted Swiss dress, tied at the waist, and a headpiece like those of the bridesmaids. She carried a wicker basket of daisies and pink roses.

Many of the flowers were made by Nell Glasscock.

Bryan Liotta, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mike Thomas served the bridegroom as best man. The Reverend Gary Bogga, Thomas Price, Steven Stone, and Dean Wagner were groomsmen, and Gene Liotta was usher.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Jerry Featherly, Sandra Spohn, who sang "A Wedding Prayer", and the bridegroom, who sang "Woman".

The bride's parents hosted a reception at the American Legion Hall following the ceremony. They were assisted by Genetta Cole, who was in charge of the cake, Kay Rogers, who served coffee and punch, and Jackie Russell. Pam Drury and Scott Way attended the guest book, and Mr. and Mrs. Condit Drury, uncle and aunt of the bride, presided as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the newlyweds are at home in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Greene

Cook-Greene

Sheryl L. Cook and Christopher D. Greene exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, May 18, at St. Mary'a Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Cook of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Jack Greene of Grand Rapids and Camille A. Greene of Charlevoix.

Father Casimir J. Zawacki officiated at the double-ring rites which were witnessed by approximately 200 guests. For the occasion, the altar was decorated with bouquets of white gladiolus, white carnations, and blue Iris.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of ivory tafetta and organza with Alecon lace and seed pearls. It was styled with a Chapel train and fitted bodice with sheer yoke and standing collar. Puffed sleeves of taffeta were worn over long fitted sleeves of sheer organza, accented with back bows and ribbon streamers. The fingertip-length veil was trimmed with lace and attached to a cap trimmed with lace and seed pearls.

The bride carried a trailing bouquet of white roses, miniature carnations, and lilies of the valley, accented with blue cornflowers.

The bride's three sisters, Patricia Cook, Kathryn Heckendorn, and Joan Cook, were her only attendents. They wore gowns fashioned with blue satin skirts and ivory point d'esprit tulle blouses accented with waistline ribbon sashes worn over ivory camisoles. They carried colonial bouquets of white miniature carnations and blue cornflowers.

The bridegroom was attended by three brothers, John Greene, Don Greene, and Jeff Greene. The ushers were Jeff Downs, Tim Stevens, and David Devlin.

Organist Jeannie Lignell and vocalist Vince Chew provided music for the ceremony, offering "The Wedding Song", "Our Father", "Prayer of St. Francis", and "Hail Mary".

A reception at the Belvedere Club Casino, hosted by the bride's parents and bridegroom's mother, followed the ceremony. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's mother at Ricciardi's.

Both newlyweds are graduates of Central Michigan University. The bridegroom is employed in Charlevoix by Hugh E. Mason, Certified Public Accountant, as a staff accountant. They will make their home at 203 Burns Street, Charlevoix.

Engagements

Shari Barnes and Douglas Foreman

Barnes-Foreman

A June wedding in Austin, Texas is announced for Shari Michele Barnes and Douglas Allen Foreman.

Shari is the daughter of J.T. Barnes of Charlevoix, and Jo'Ann B. Barnes, formerly of Charlevoix, now residing in Austin, Texas. The bride-to-be is a 1980 graduate of Charlevoix High School; she attended Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas.

Her fiance is the son of Boyce and Glenda Foreman of Houston, Texas. Doug has owned and managed several restaurants in the Austin area, and he and Shari presently own and operate a restaurant in downtown Austin.

Following their June 8, 1985 wedding, the couple will honeymoon aboard a Caribbean cruise ship.

Garden Club holds sale

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club will be holding a garage sale, selling garden-related items on Saturday, June 1 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 807 E. Dixon, Charlevoix. Proceeds will be used to maintain the various community projects of the Club.

The public is invited to contribute items to the sale. These might be house plants, bulbs, seedlings, garden tools, patio furniture, perennials, etc. - anything related to gardening. Those interested in donating may come to the Dixon address on Friday, May 31, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The gardens maintained by the Club are the Post Office planter, the Charlevoix sign garden on the south side of town, the Pere Charlevoix garden on West Dixon, the triangle at Petoskey and Michigan, and the Memorial Garden on Mercer at the end of E. Dixon.

Items for sale will be reasonably priced in order that all gardeners will be encouraged to beautify their homes even more. Left over items will be donated to the Rainbow Shoppe.

Charlevoix percussionist is a talent to watch

by ANNE KELLY

"I always wanted to be a drummer," reflected Dan Staublin. "I used to go to football games and think, I'd like to do that'."

Dan reached his goal. Only a sophomore in high school, he is already an accomplished musician, a percussionist in the school's symphonic band.

Dan began studying piano when he was young. Then his interest in music turned to rhythm and he began with summer drum lessons before joining the sixth grade band in Middle School. He has been a percussionist in the band ever since and has taken private lessons from instructor Rex Thuston, currently at McCune Arts Center.

When studying percussion, Dan explained, you start on the snare, then learn to tune and play the tympani. The next step is the marimba. The process is a progression from rhythm to melody.

"There's a lot more to it than what people see on the surface," Dan continued. "A lot of people think that there's nothing to it. That drumming looks easy. They're not aware of the skill involved."

And skill is just what Dan has acquired during his five years of training in percussion. He has been featured in some of the symphonic band selections on the band's newly acquired marimba. A marimba, Dan pointed out, is different from a xylophone in that its tones are rich and resonant and from a vibrophone which has a foot pedal.

Dan has quite a few honors compiled for a 10th grader, but is hesitant to enumerate them. Band director, Terry Isenbarger, on the otherhand, is quite proud of Dan's talent and achievements and was happy to fill in the details.

Dan has placed 1st chair in Honors Band for both the 9th and 10th grades in the percussion section. Honors Band is a grouping of talented young musicians who audition for their participation in the program which is sponsored by the District Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association, held at Interlochen each year.

He has also received "I" ratings at every Solo-Ensemble festival he has entered since sixth grade. Dan has performed with community groups in presenting "The Messiah" and "A Festival of Carols" and in church-related performances. Attending the Summer Youth Program at Michigan Tech, taking a jazz-lab workshop, Dan feels that he "learned a lot there about drumming beyond band and rock music; about jazz and scales and theory."

Dan attributes his enthusiasm and successes thus far to the encouragement and supportiveness of his family and friends, the private lessons with Rex Thuston, and Mr. "I" (Isenbarger), "without whom I couldn't have had the opportunity to have gone as far as I have."

With his most recent honor being "I" rating at the State Solo Ensemble Festival competition in March at Big Rapids, where he scored at total of 98 out of 100 possible points in a three-part performance, the next two years of Dan's participation in band should be exciting to watch.

Playing at the Carpenter Ave. Field, Charlevoix Garbage will meet Townhouse at 6:30 p.m., the H&L Softball Club will play Glen's Market at 7:45 p.m. and Simpson Electric will meet Swanson's at 9 p.m.

Games will be played at the same hours Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week. Beginning Monday, June 3, the league will play every Monday and Wednesday.

The Women's Softball League will open its schedule next month.

Softball team loses two to Gaylord

The Charlevoix softball team lost two games to Gaylord on the home diamond Tuesday by scores of 10-9 and 11-7 in their last game prior to the pre-disctict game with Elk Rapids.

The team, which will play make-up games with Central Lake this week, presently has a 10-10 record for the season.

In the first game, Gaylord jumped to a 2-1 first inning lead and held the lead until the sixth inning when Charlevoix scored five runs to go ahead 7-6.

The visitors, however, came back in the top of the seveth to score four runs. Charlevoix added two in the bottom of the seventh but could not manage a winning run.

Becky Campbell allowed six hits and seven walks and had one strikeout for Gaylord. Missy Sandahl allowed eight hits, 10 walks and had three strikouts.

Hoyt had three hits including a double; Ciszewski two including a double; Kierczynski, Campbell and Goodenow one each. Angela McClanaghan had two hits including a double; Michelle Gagnon a double; Amy Antaya, Sandahl and Jenny Scll one single each.

Sklark allowed seven hits and 11 bases on ball and had one strikeout while Gagnon, on the mound for Charlevoix, gave up eight hits and eight walks and had two strikeouts in the second game.

Gaylord scored one run in the first and five in the second before Charlevoix scored on all seven runs in the third inning for a 7-6 lead which was shattered when Gaylord scored four in the top of the fourth and one in the fifth for the four-run win.

Baseball team closes season

The Charlevoix Rayders dropped two games to Gaylord here Tuesday by scores of 8-4 and 13-5.

The Rayders closed out their regular season with an 8-8 record.

In the first game, Gaylord scored one run in the second and third innings to take a 2-0 lead and were never headed as they added two more in the fifth and another four runs in the top of the sixth before Cris Havens hit a homer to put Charlevoix on the board. The Rayders got their last three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Each pitcher allowed nine hits. Miller gave up one walk and had four strikeouts for Gaylord. Brent Cole went three innings and gave up four walks and had six strikeouts before being relieved by Marc Himebauch who allowed five walks and had four strikeouts.

For Charlevoix, Havens had three hits including a double and a homer; Judy Putman and Mike Herriman doubles; Cole two singles; Jim Young and Joey Tilton, a single each.

In the second game, both teams scored two runs in the first inning. The Rayders took the lead briefly on a home run by Kent Ketchman in the second inning before Gaylord tied the score 3-3 in the third. The score remained knotted until the sixth inning when the Blue Devils brought in four runs. Charlevoix managed one in the bottom of the sixth. In the final inning the visitors added six more for the 13-5 win.

Perzondek, on the mound for Gaylord, allowed five hits and three walks and had three strikeouts. Mike Thompson and Dave McKenzie together allowed 11 hits. Thompson had two strikeouts. McKenzie gave up three walks.

For the Rayders Havens had a two-run homer, Ketchman a home run, and Thompson, Putman and Scott Denny had singles.

Coach Brian Certa said everyone got to play.

Track teams' season ends

The Charlevoix Rayder track team finished third in a field of nine and the Rayder girls team eighth in a field of ten at the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet at Gaylord Thursday.

"They did an excellent job. Everyone gave that little extra," Coach Hal Evans said of his team. He went on to say that Doug Sloan has won the 400-meter run each of his four years in high school; that Jim Martin has had an equally fine year as well as high school career and on Thursday had to come from behind to win the 800 meter relay. He mentioned the two mile relay which was scratched because of the injury of one of the runners, freshman Pat Rejewski, in an automobile accident.

He had only praise for the entire team but especially Martin, Sloan, and Jim Kenney, the seniors who have been on the team four years, Mike Louiselle, a three year veteran and Peter Plagge, Will Syvertson, and Ulf Evaldsson, first year runners, who added so much to the team as newcomers by adding those extra unanticipated points to the score when they were needed.

Coach Dennis VanGuilder was equally as generous with his praise of the girls team, which though small in number, gave so much. He mentioned especially Dianna Loder and Kathy Dohm who have been with the team for four years, Molly Bolduc who has been equally dedicated and the other seniors, Kathleen Campbell and Diana Stilwell. "This team deserves a lot of credit," VanGuilder said. "Because of their small number they have gone to meets where the odds were against them but they gave their best. That's dedication," he added.

Rogers City won the meet with 150 points. Gaylord was second with 81 points, and Charlevoix third with 80 points. They were followed by St. Ignace with 53, Chegoygan with 52, Petoskey with 50, Boyne City 32, Onaway 18, and the Sault 10.

Sault won the girls meet with 97 points followed by Gaylord with 94½, Rogers City 64½, Petoskey 62, Cheboygan 60½, Grayling 49, St. Ignace 38, Charlevoix 16, Boyne City 13, and Onaway two.

The Charlevoix Rayders took four first places with Martin winning 200-meter dashes in 23.2, Sloan finishing fourth, and Evaldsson sixth.

Sloan finished first in the 400-meter dashes. 17.52.35.

The team also came in first in the 800 and the 1600-meter relays. The 800-meter relay team is composed of Jim Gibbs, Sloan, Evaldsson and Martin. The 1600-meter team is composed of Martin, Tim Salmonson, Gibbs and Sloan. The time in the 800-meter, 1:34.45 and the 1600-meter 3:32.31.

Martin finished second in the 100-meter dash; Salmonson fourth in the low hurdles; Terry Bonar fifth in the high hurdles.

The 400-meter relay team (Gibbs, Kevin Shepard, Evaldsson, Jim Kenney) came in fourth.

In the field events Darren Batdorff tied for second in the pole vault; Mike Louiselle, fourth in the shot put and; Syvertson, fourth in the discus and Packy LaBlance, fifth in the long jump.

In the girls meet, Barbie Boss finished fourth in the 100-meter dash; the 400-meter team (Kris Austin, Boss, Chaya Moore, Michelle Louiselle) finished third; the 800-meter team with the same members fourth and the 3200-meter team (Michelle North, Molly Bolduc, Betsy Haggard, Dianna Loder) fifth.

The teams will close out their season at the State Meet on June 1.

Track squad is third in Petoskey Relays

The Charlevoix Rayder track team finished third in the annual Petoskey Relays held May 21. Charlevoix had 43 points. Rogers City won the meet with 53 points, followed by East Jordan with 46.

The Rayders captured two firsts in the meet, the three-quarter mile relay and mile relay, according to coach Hal Evans.

The results follow:

Three-quarter mile relay: Jim Martin, Jim Gibbs, Ulf Evaldsson, Doug Sloan. Time: 2:36.57.

Mile relay: Martin, Gibbs, Tim Salmonson, Sloan. Time: 3:39.82.

880 yard relay: 2. Sloan, Gibbs, Evaldsson, Martin.

440 yard relay: 3. Gibbs, Kevin Shepard, Evaldsson, Jim Kenney.

Mile medley: 3. Salmonson, Shepard, Kenney, Terry Bonar.

100 yard dash: 5. Kenney.

Sprint medley: 5. Sloan, Kenney, Evaldsson, Martin.

Charlevoix was the defending champion in the meet.

Girls capture relays

The Charlevoix girls track team captured the Kiwanis-Petoskey Relays held Monday at Curtis Field, edging Rogers City by one point in the final event of the meet.

"We'd had only a mediocre season up until this time but on paper I told the girls we could win if they'd give their best and just a little more. They did and we won. It was a great meet for a small group of girls who've hung in there all season despite the odds against them," Coach Dennis VanGuilder said of the win.

In winning the meet, Charlevoix had 43 points, Rogers City 42 and Mancelona, 40.

Charlevoix took four first places and two fifth places.

VanGuilder went on to say that the team was trailing by three points going into the last event, the 880 relay. "We had to win the 880 in order to win the meet. That gave us the win by one point," he added.

The meet results follow:

Three-quarter mile medley relay: Charlevoix (Kris Austin, Barbie Boss, Michelle Louiselle, Amy Pischner) Time: 3:16.77.

Sprint medley: Charlevoix (Austin, Boss, Chaya Moore, Louiselle) Time: 1:27.04.

440 relay: Charlevoix (Boss, Loniselle, Moore, Austin) Time: 55.73.

880 yard relay: Charlevoix (Moore, Boss, Austin, Louiselle) Time: 1:57.83.

The mile relay team of Betsy Haggard, Dianna Loder, Pischner, Kathy Dohm placed fifth. Haggard came in fifth in the mile run.

The state meet at Clare June 1 will close out the season for the team.

Relay teams aid Lions

Relay teams are being sought for the annual Journey for Sight, a fund-raising project sponsored by the Charlevoix Lions Club, scheduled for Saturday, June 1.

The event calls for the first member of the relay team to jog over a course at the municipal golf course and then to the foot of Prospect Ave. where a second member will row across Round Lake to the LeHarve condo. The third member will then bicycle over a designated course to the high school where a fourth member of the team will walk to the finish line in East Park.

Entries will be accepted in three age divisions: up to 25 years; 26 to 35 years and 36 years and up. Trophies will be awarded in each catagory.

Row boats will be furnished for the Round Lake leg of the relay.

Roger Sievertson and Brad Campbell are co-chairmen of the event.

Entries are open to everyone.

Teams will solicit pledges for the Journey for Sight project, a sight preservation program sponsored by the Lions Club.

Entries may be made with Sievertson at 547-4024 Ext. 216 or with Campbell at 547-6560.

Welcome Wagon names officers; starts golf group

New officers for the Welcome Wagon Club of Charleviox are Ginnie Schairbaum, chairperson, Clare Kahn, secretary and Lani Ochs, treasurer. The phone committee includes Leafa Ford, Marci Jones, Moon Price, and Marian Reynolds. Sue Ann Wiesner and Debbie Schaefer will head up the Apple Festival Committee.

The Charlevoix Welcome Wagon is open to all new residents of Charlevoix and any who enjoy meeting new people. Many people do not realize that eight to twelve new families move to Charlevoix each month.

Welcome Wagon is now forming a Women's Golf League for play at the Charlevoix City Golf Course every Wednesday with tee-off time between 5 and 5:30 p.m.

All amateur women golfers in the area are invited to join the group.

Sports banquet honors seniors

The sixth annual Sports Banquet honoring the senior letter-winners in various sports programs at the Charlevoix High School was sponsored and hosted Tuesday evening by the Charlevoix Sports Boosters headed by Larry Lemerand.

Sixty-five members or 48 percent of the graduating class were recognized by their coaches. Each was then presented a plaque bearing their name and the sports and years in which they lettered by Dale Burge, athletic director.

Introducing the athletes were: Greg Bryan, wrestling; Brenda Bryan, volleyball; Don Carey, football; Hal Evans, boys track; Ron Cox, softball; Erik Lundteigen, skiing-tennis; Dave Smith, basketball; Peter Spieles, cross country; Glen Taylor, golf; Joyce Ketchman, cheerleading; Dennis VanGuilder, girls track; Henry Wagner, girls basketball and Brian Certa, baseball.

The senior athletes and their parents, coaches and assistant coaches, members of the Charlevoix Board of Education, junior letter winners, and school administrators were guests at the dinner held in the high school cafeteria.

Charles Bentley was master of ceremonies. Robert Drenth gave the invocation.

Members of the sophomore class assisted with the serving of the buffet dinner.

Mrs. Gordon Himebauch was general chairman of the event. Liz Meadows who heads the food program at the school prepared the food. John Martin was in charge of the pig roast.

Yachting Notes

By A. Nony Mouse

The 20th year of a tradition of Wednesday Night at the Races began last week. My memory recalls the very first race being on a spring evening with too much beauty and too little wind. So it was on this opening night.

Despite the growth and expertise that those twenty years have contributed, the language of a becalmed skipper, watching a few more fortunate yachts glide smoothly by, has not improved. We don't have the formal results and refuse to guess at the corrected finish positions but Canusa sure left our Fleet far behind. The nearly 30 boat turnout sure eclipsed the two or three of us out there so many years ago.

ATTENTION! all Racing Yachts! The Rules provide that you must have paid the Race Fee and your entry must be on file at the Yacht Club before the race on Wednesday, June 12, or you will not be scored for the Spring Series. Late comers wishing to participate in the Summer or Fall Series, must be registered and paid prior to the first race of the series in which they plan to race.

All skippers must be club members before any race will be counted unless they are new to the Club (they are allowed three races while membership is being obtained).

Lots of events now on the schedule - Saturday, June 15 is the CYC Invitational Regatta (Bumpty-bump to Boyne City and back); Skippers Meeting at the Club at 8:30 a.m., start a 11. The next day is the new CYC Olympic Triangle with a start scheduled for 10 a.m. (Father's Day, Sunday June 16). 'Tween the two will be a Chicken Barbeque, Saturday night.

Now - all you guys that have been yelling for more weekend races - get out there. Since we have a lot of visiting yachts expected (these are scoring races for the NORC), it is important that most local yachts participate.

POWERBOATERS, Now Hear This! Friday Night, June 28, is dedicated to you - be at the Club by 7 p.m. Some windjammers will be hosting a social evening that will include planning the next day's Predicted Log Race. Any vessel with power, a tachometer, compass, and room for an observer can participate and will have fun. Here's your chance to prove that you do know your yacht (or boat, tug, or steamer) and can both read a tach and steer a compass course. Mark June 28 and 29 in your Log, now.

Watch out for a couple of procedures if you're sailing in the Wednesday Races: The "big" boats are starting first during the Spring Series, but that's reversed for Summer and Fall. Any boat finishing by 9 p.m. makes it a race for all classes, but during the Sprubg Series only, there is a 10:30 p.m. scoring time limit to allow an extra half hour to compensate for the "slower" yachts later starts.

You MUST notify the "infringing" yacht, at the time of the incident, if you are protesting, as he then has three options available - 1) Acknowledge and fly a white flag (2 position penalty); 2) Acknowlege after the race but BEFORE the start of the Protest Hearing (3 position penalty); or 3) present a counter protest (if red flag was flown and other yacht so advised) or a defense to the Protest Committee (5 positon penalty if original protest is upheld).

the End of the Mouses' Tale.

Coast Guard Auxiliary shows kids water safety

COAST GUARD
UARD

Jerry Evans and Velda Richter en route to Beaver Island aboard the Coast Guard helicopter.

by PEG OHLE

Two members of the Charlevoix Coast Guard Auxiliary are taking the lessons of water safety to school children throughout the area.

Last week, Velda Richter of Petoskey and Jerry Evans of Ellsworth flew to Beaver Island in a Coast Guard helicopter to talk to children in kindergarten, first, second, and third grades. They showed a slide film explaining how to swim and use boats safely, answered questions about specific water problems, and left coloring books emphasizing the lessons of the day.

They also explained the use of life jackets, showed what they were made of and how they stayed afloat, and demonstrated with the children how to put them on and wear them comfortably.

And while the older children were learning about water and boats, Beaver Island High School students had a chance to inspect the helicopter up close and ask questions of the Coast Guard officers.

The Beaver Island trip brought to 1,928 the number of children contacted by Mrs. Richter and Evans this spring. Other schools to which they have brought the message are Alanson, Ellsworth, Central Lake, Pellston, Boyne City, East Jordan, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Cross Village, and Mackinaw City. Still to be covered are Wolverine, Vanderbilt, Elmira, Gaylord, and Indian River.

This is the third year these Auxiliary volunteers have brought the water safety message to school children. They started out in Petoskey and Harbor Springs, then added Alanson, and this year expanded to the 18 schools mentioned above.

Mrs. Richter is District Information Systems Officer for the local Coast Guard Flotilla, Evans is Public Education Officer, and they are both past Flotilla Commanders. They explained that they are just two members of the Auxiliary, which supports and assists the Coast Guard in its activities, including search and rescue. The water safety program which they are presenting is part of the general Coast Guard program. For their time-consuming efforts, they receive only the good feeling that they may have saved the life of a child.

Mrs. Richter and Evans work with Chief Mark Simmons of the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station as their liaison officer. He was responsible for securing the helicopter from the Traverse City Coast Guard Station for the trip to Beaver Island. The crew of the helicopter was Lt. Jim Peoples, Lt. j.g. Steve Hickok, and Crewman At-1 Bill Rhodes.

Memorial garden to be enlarged

The Memorial Garden, established and maintained by the Charlevoix Area Garden Club since 1977, will be enlarged considerably this year due to generous contributions from members, the public and from the Club's general fund.

With the help from Site Planning and Develoment, Inc., the Garden, located on Mercer at the end of E. Dixon, will be lengthened to 115 feet, raised and shaped with additional dirt, and edged. This will provide room for new plantings.

In 1978 the City Council resolved that these two islands be made a part of the park system of the city. This can be changed only through a public hearing.

Many have remembered their loved ones with this living memorial. Those for whom gifts have been givenm are: Frank Webb, Daniel Schoelberger, Harley and Mildred Ochs, Hubert Olach, Doris Ochs, Irene Young, Marian Purdy, Edward Golden, Mable Cromwell, Floye Martin, Jerrine Durnl, Franklin Curtis, Dorothy Parker, Frank P. Funeral services for Mrs. Alice E. (Clarke) Symons, 87, formerly of Englewood, FL., were held Thursday May 23, at the Winchester Funeral Home. Elder Volz of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Cheboygan officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born Feb. 5, 1898, in Eveline Township, Charlevoix County, the former Alice E. Sherman was married to John W. Clarke. She had been employed as a cook in private homes on the Belvedere Club and, in 1936, moved to the Grosse Pointe area where she ws employed in private homes as a cook. On Dec. 21, 1940, she was married to William Symons who preceded her in death April 6, 1975.

In 1969 they had moved to Englewood, FL., to make their home. She returned to Charlevoix in 1984 to live. Mr. Clarke died Feb. 25, 1965.

She is survived by two sons, John R. Clarke of Charlevoix and Channing C. Clarke of Ortonville; a daughter, Mrs. John (Patricia) Chesman of Las Vegas, Nev.; 11 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; two stepsons, Ronald Symons of Kinde, Mi., and Earl Symons of Warren and a step-daughter, Mrs. Frances Mendelssohn of Golden, Colo.

The family suggests memorials to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

Scouts spread international goodwill

Scouts from Charlevoix traveled to Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario recently to participate in a unique international exchange.

The scouts included Brownie Troop 253, lead by Sarah Boss, and Pack 11 Weblo Scouts, lead by Dave Phillips.

This year's event marked the third time the boys had participated in the scouting exchange with Canada; it was the first time for the girls.

The scouts left Charlevoix on Friday, May 10, and traveled to the Canadian Soo by car where they were met at the Blessed Sacrament Church by their counterparts, the Wolf Cubs and the Girl Guides.

The Weblos then proceeded to set up camp outside of town where they exchanged songs and stories around the campfire.

The 18 American girls and their two adult leaders toured the Canadian locks with their new scouting friends. They then proceeded to the Salvation Army where they played games and had treats. The American brownies presented the Canadian girls with American flags which each had made.

After spending the night at the Salvation Army, the girls went to the Dubreuil Lumber Co. where they enjoyed a pancake breakfast.

The breakfast was followed by a hay ride and then a trip to Cambrian Mall where they paired off with Girl Guides and shopped for souvenirs, in the process learning how to exchange Canadian money.

The Weblo scouts spent Saturday in planting trees for Canada and mankind.

Late Satorday afternoon the scouts made the return trip to Charlevoix with a new awareness of international cooperation, the scout leaders said.

Joining Phillips and Boss in supervising the group were Betsy and Arnold, Dave Arnold, Don Voisin, and Cissy Bickersteth.

Plans are being made for the Canadian scouts to visit Charlevoix this October.

Industrial Park OK'd for northside land

by DOUG TRUAX

Land on the city's north side was rezoned from Public Reserve to Industrial by City Council at its meeting Monday night. The action, approved by Councilmen Earl Muma, Robert Timms, Michael Greeley, and William Bellows, paves the way for the establishment of an industrial park in the area.

Councilman Raymond Wood cast the lone dissenting vote on the rezoning question. Shirley Roloff was not present.

Council also approved the rezoning of a parcel of land on the corner of Mercer Boulevard and Taylor Road from Public Reserve to Commercial to allow for sale of the property to Wilmot Electric, Inc. which expects to locate its business at the site.

The land approved for the industrial park zoning is located between Mercer Boulevard and Ance Road, north of Taylor Road. Council's action allows the city to apply for a Small Cities Block Grant to improve the industrial park with water mains, sanitary sewers, gravel roads, and roadside ditches.

A parcel originally proposed for industrial zoning by the Planning Commission, located on Mercer Boulevard north of the Char-Em School District Building, was kept in Public Reserve by the Council.

The rezoning issue was met with considerable public comment, most of it opposed to the change to industrial zoning. Among those testifying against the plan was William Brady who argued that "you'll gain absolutely nothing. The only reason this is being done is that they are trying to get federal money."

Don Smith argued that the rezoning should be tabled until a more comprehensive plan could be developed in cooperation with other townships in Charlevoix County. "Think over whether there are alternatives," he stated. Smith added that the area in question was probably too small to accomodate future growth and that a better site could be found.

Several residents challenged the use of the property for Industry, stating that it would be better used as prime residential or recreational land. Among them was Chris Papineau "who questioned the wisdom of providing a variety of city services and then giving up to 12 years in tax abatements to the industries that locate there. "I'd rather see it (the industrial park) go to the airport," Papineau said. The land would be better used as a recreational area, he added.

Speaking for the plan was Walt Hufford, a member of the City Planning Commission. Hufford cited the city Master Plan, noting that the industrial park was needed in that area in order to achieve the goals of the plan. "If it is maintained as industrial," Hufford said, "it will give you a higher valuation than any other use." He contested the complaints of several at the meeting that the industrial park would mean increased traffic on Mercer. Traffic could be routed to Taylor and Ance roads, he said.

Steve Paterka, Jr., a resident of Waller Road directly north of the industrial park, argued for the appointment of a joint city and

136 seniors graduate

"Your turn to give back" Charlevoix graduates told

"You have been given many things by your parents, your school and your community. Now It is your turn to give back some of the good things that have been made available to you," Dean Davenport, 1953 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and presently Director of Athletics at Ferris State College, told the 1985 graduating class of his alma mater.

Reminiscing of his days as a student here, he recalled the support the people of the community had given its students, whether in the classroom or the athletic field. "I am told you are a fine class with an excellent record. One of the reasons you are is because Charlevoix has instilled a certain pride in you. It has expected you to achieve and so you have.

"I know what it's like here. I grew up here. You say things have changed in the 30 years since I graduated. Some have but some things remain the same. Among them is the pride the people of Charlevoix have in themselves, their school, and their town. Because they had pride in you and believed in you, you have given your best.

"You have reaped all those good things. Now it is your turn to give back something in return for all you have received. I'm not talking about material things. I'm asking you to pay some attention to the kids on the block by recognizing their endeavors, by patting someone on the back for a job well done, for letting someone know you care about him or her and are interested in what he or she does.

"It's what is needed in Charlevoix, it's what is needed in the world. Let it start with you...give a little love and caring whereever you go. Give back some of those good things you've enjoyed," Davenport told the 136 graduates and a record crowd that had gathered for the 97th Annual Commencement exercises.

Vane H. Smith, high school principal for the last 16 years with Barry Anderson, class advisor, presented his last class for graduation honors before transferring to the Elementary School as principal. Dr. Gordon W. VanWieren introduced the speaker and with Vincent Olach, business manager, and Mrs. Doris A. Pearl, a member of the Board of Education, all of whom had members of their families in the class, and Max Novak, president of the Board of Education, presented diplomas.

Maureen E. Buday and Mary E. Camilleri presented salutatory addresses and Thomas R. Graf the valedictory. Charlevoix High School Sumphonic Band direcred by Terry Isenharger played the music. The Rev. Gary Heniser gave the invocation and Rev. Thomas Black the benediction.

Lake planners debate consultant's position

The role of the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee in developing a management plan for Lake Charlevoix was debated at the county group's meeting Wednesday, May 29.

The issue arose when County Planner Larry Sullivan told the group that the County Planning Commission would be hiring an individual to prepare graphics and maps from existing data for presentation to the Advisory Committee.

Members of the advisory group, which had earlier recommended the hiring of an expert to evaluate existing data and make suggestions for further study, questioned the adequacy of Planning Commission's proposed action.

"Will this be someone that is qualified to read through and interpret which studies are useful and which are not, which have scientific merit and which do not?" Advisory Committee Chairman John Hall asked Sullivan.

"We will let you (the committee) make the value judgements," Sullivan responded. "The data has been pretty much all gathered," he said.

Advisory Committee members also questioned whom the hired person would be reporting to and who would do the hiring.

"It is a management decision," Sullivan said. "The Planning Commission has the final authority on hiring of the individual."

Members of the Advisory Committee expressed concern over their lack of input into the process.

"If we are being asked to be held accountable, we should have as much input into who is going to make the determination on the individual," Hall said. Jerry Puhl added that "the amount of time and energy we are putting into this doesn't make much difference." He added that "the resolution on hiring an individual to analyze data was not approved. We are back to where we were at the beginning."

Paul Klingenberg, Marion Township representative to the Committee, added "I don't think we should stop at the point of gathering data."

"If he (the consultant) doesn't come to this committee then why are we here?" Hall asked.

Although the Advisory Committee and the County Planner appeared to have continuing differences on the nature and scope of work to be done by the consultant, it was agreed that two members of the Advisory Committee would be included when applicants for the new temporary job were screened.

Sullivan estimated that the job could be done in two months beginning in mid-June.

Sullivan also announced plans to do an attitude survey this summer of people using, living near, or visiting Lake Charlevoix. He told the Advisory Committee that the study could be done for $6000-8000 using funds available from the DNR Coastal Management Program.

Enrollment to drop

by FRAN MARTIN

At Monday night's Board of Education meeting Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren projected an enrollment decrease over a five-year period for the high school and middle school and said K-5 enrollment will level off.

The Charlevoix Board of Education also heard reports on test results and took action on several other issues.

At the Truth in Taxation hearing the Board proposed a levy not to exceed 24.85 mills which includes an additional millage rate of .7022 fiscal year be levied.

In discussing the enrollment, VanWieren said the greatest problem will be adjusting the staff to meet class needs. He said it would likely mean re-certification of teachers to meet the needs and would be necessary to move on some assignments during the 1985-86 school

Lake planners debate position

Survey experts from the Michigan State University Department of Resource Development would be used to help design and implement the survey, Sullivan said. He expected the survey, to be done largely but not exclusively by mail, to be completed by August of this year.

Jerry Puhl, who represents WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix), asked for a Committee reaction to WATCH's proposal to fund up to $150,000 in studies of Lake Charlevoix. "For the past six months we have been pushing for a water quality survey, but we've been having to fight to give some money away," he said.

The Committee was unanimous in its desire to have a water quality study done by WATCH. The Planning Commission had earlier decided that it would not ask WATCH to be a fiscal agent for the County but would accept studies from any group that presented them. It was stipulated that the study would be accepted only for review as a supporting document and would not necessarily form the basis for conclusions reached by the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee in its study of the lake.

township committee to consider a cooperative industrial park. The city property rezoned to Industrial is surrounded on three sides by Charlevoix Township property. "The city and township should get together and do it as a joint venture," he said. Otherwise you could end up with two industrial parks."

Don Berlage questioned the price of the property which Michael Wiesner, city manager, said had been assessed at $12,000 for the Wilmot property and $9,000 for the interior of the industrial park. The city assessor, Berlage said, has for years claimed that property in Charlevoix has a true cash value of $25,000 per acre.

Speaking against the rezoning for the property on the corner of Taylor and Mercer was Otto Yemmans who lives on Mercer. He stated that once zoned commercial, the property could be used for other purposes and could eventually prove a nuisance to neighbors. "I very much object to wby you would put a commercial building on property that doesn't have one on it."

Norm Probert favored the rezoning of that parcel, noting that Wilmot Electric had employed his son and allowed him to stay in Charlevoix. "I question the need for additional land for public reserve," he said.

In additional action at Monday night's meeting City Council approved ordinances for the operation of arcades and bed and breakfast businesses, adopted the 1985 property tax levy of 13.6 mills, approved a lease of the city dock to Williams Charter Service for $1,550, adjusted the two mill DDA levy to 1.979 mills to comply with the Headley Amendment, and approved a site plan for Mrs. Robert Lieberman to construct a private dwelling at 217 Belvedere Ave.

Condit Drury, coordinator for the testing programs in the schools, gave a brief report on the results of the Metropolitan tests, stating that the students who took the test, the kindergarten through the eighth grades, scored well. Scores that he gave as examples were well above the averages.

Ted Miller, Spanish teacher in the schools, reported on a proposed trip to Spain by the Spanish Club in the Spring of 1986 and requested permission for the trip so reservations may be made early in order to receive a discount. He outlined the proposed trip, stating that it included not only tours but a week with a Spanisb family. The request was granted.

Charlevoix voters decide two millage issues Monday

Voters of the Charlevoix School District will be asked to vote on two millage issues and for trustees to the Board of Education when they go to the polls on Monday, June 10.

The first porposition is a renewal of the present 15.25 mills ($15.25 on each $1,000 of state equalized property valuation) for 1986 operational purposes.

The second proposition is an increase of 1.25 mills ($1.25 on each $1,000 of state equalized property valuation) to replace the roof, including energy conservation improvements, at the elementary school, and to replace the boiler in the elementary school.

The extension of the present 15.25 mills for one year is the base millage that voters have approved for operation of the school since 1981. "The increase in the State Equalized Valuation in the school district was at a new low this year, 4.52 pecent, most of which was due to new construction. As a result, the increase in property taxes in the school district has been comparatively low," Vincent R. Olach, business manager, said. He went on to say that the continuation of the 15.25 mills will raise the monies needed to meet the budget which has remained at approximately the same figure despite the increase in the cost of living, operation, and supplies.

"We have kept the budget at the same figure as last year in an effort to hold the line on spending," Olach added.

The second millage request is for 1.25 mills for one year to underwirte the cost of replacements and repairs at the Charlevoix Elementary School located on Division Ave.

These would include replacing the existing heating plant, replacing the roof, installing insulation, and making related repairs.

This building was constructed in 1968 and has necessitated no major repairs until now.

The heating plant to be replaced was installed when the school was contructed. That model of boiler was discontinued by the company three years later because of high maintenance requirements and problems with the system. This past winter the state inspector condemned one of the boilers because of excessive cracks in the water tubes.

George Krchak, a local heating contractor, John Pearl, a building contractor, and John Frey, a resident of the school district, were named to a Citizens' Committee to study the needs and make recommendations.

"The school has been very lucky to have gotten 17 years of use out of that system," said Krchak. "Only continued maintenance and tender loving care on the part of ther persons operating it have kept it in opeation this long," he added.

After discussions with area heating consultants, the committee has recommended a series of four smaller boilers that can be installed without removal of walls or a section of the roof. The boiler output would be one million BTU's each which would allow the building to have an adequate heating system operating at all times. Should one or more need repairs at some future date, the load on the remaining boilers could be increased to take care of the problem and not leave the building without heat at any time, it was explained.

In discussing the recommendation, Krchak said it was foolish to put in just one boiler. Even two similar to those to be replaced would not be feasible because a section of the roof would have to be removed in order to set them in place. "This is the most practical way to go," Krchak emphasized. A series of four, he added, would always allow a back-up in the event something went wrong.

After assessing the present roof of tar and stone, the committee agreed it was beyond repair. "This is the type of roof in use at the time the building was constructed but it's not practical in this climate," Frey said. He went on to explain that it does not allow for the varying expansion and contraction that the new type roof permits.

"With temperatures that vary from 10 to 20 degrees below zero in the winter to 90 or 100 degrees in the summer, a tar and stone roof does not have the elasticity to keep it from cracking. Newer types of roofing that we are recommending will allow for this and give you a good roof up to 20 years," Frey said of the committee's recommendation.

Pearl and Krchak concurred with his statement.

The Citizen's Committee is also recommending that 12 inches of insulation be added to the roof. When the school was constructed in 1968, little or no thought was given to energy conservation and, as a result, no insulation was installed. "With a new heating plant and roof plus the addition of insulation you will see as much as a 40 percent or better saving in energy costs. The energy conservation projects at the middle school and high school back this statement," Pearl said.

"It only makes good sense to do all three things at the same time," the committee agreed.

The estimated cost of the entire project is $286,000. The 1.25 mills would raise $212,00 toward the project with the remaining $76,000 coming from the general fund.

"Voting the millage for one year seems the more practical way to go because spreading it over two years would necessitate borrowing which would increase the overall cost," Olach commented.

The repairs and replacements at the elementary school would continue the long-range plan of improvements that began with the renovation of the middle school and continued with the energy conservation program completed last year at the high school.

School board members unopposed

Two members of the Charlevoix School Board are seeking re-election at next Monday's School District election.

C. Max Novak, who has been serving as chairman of the Board, is seeking his fourth term. He is a retired Charlevoix teacher, having taught locally from 1942 to 1972. A native of Charlevoix, Novak graduated from Alma College, received a master's degree from the University of Michigan, and a counseling and guidance degree from Michigan State University.

Doris Pearl, the former Doris McBride, graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1963. She is seeking her second full four-year term, having been appointed to fill a vacancy in the fall of 1980. Following high school graduation, Mrs. Pearl attended Western University in Kalamazoo and later studied cosmotology in Grand Rapids. She and her husband, John, also a 1963 graduate of Charlevoix High School, live in Norwood with their two children. Their son, John, is a member of this year's graduating class at Charlevoix High School.

Voters will also be asked to elect two members to the board of the Char-Em Intermediate School District. There are three candidates for the two seats: Barry A. Anderson of Charlevoix, Herbert L. Carpenter of Central Lake, and Opal Goldsmith of Petoskey. The latter two candidates are incumbents. Those elected will serve for six years.

Voting will take place from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the elementary school on Division Street.

A new slate of officers of the Charlevoix Lions Club will be installed later this spring to serve during the 1985-86 club year.

They are Robert Murray who was elected to succeed Alvin A. Ranger as president; Michael Carland, first vice president; Patrick McKeown, second vice president; William Krutsch, third vice president; Lee Barta, secreatry; Jerry Russell, treasurer.

Directors are: Roger Sievertson, Brad Campbell, Russell Brown, and Jack Schmidt.

Tom Warth will be the Lion tamer and David Strawbridge, the tall twister.

The date of the installation has not been set at this time.

Two school teachers retire

by ANNE KELLY

Ralph Raymer and Marga Coleman

A dual retirement from the Charlevoix Elementary School, marks a total of more than 30 years of service rendered by two well-known and appreciated members of the educational community: Ralph Raymer, principal and Marge Coleman, school secretary.

Mrs. Coleman has worked for the schools either part or full time for over 20 years. It's Marge who answered the phone, duplicated materials for teaches and notes to go home, made up menus, ordered supplies, passed along messages, tracked down children and teachers upon request, and kept students supplied with pencils at the K-5 building all these years.

An indispensable part of the effective workings of a school building, Marge, as school secretary, has earned a masters of arts degree in: counseling, bandaging knees and morales, and mothering children in need who passed through her office.

Ralph Raymer, leaves Charlevoix Elementary having served as its principal since 1974. Since then, he has enriched the lives of community children, operating under the all-inclusive philosophy of education which states: "All children can succeed."

Raymer earned his degree in Fisheries and Education from Michigan State University and taught science, math, and biology in both junior and senior high school in the Battle Creek area from 1957-1965. In 1965, he completed work on his M.A. and went to work for the government in the Office of Economic Opportunity for Calhoun County. Other job experience included directing student teaching at Western Michigan University and six years of the same at Olivet College, before coming to Charlevoix.

Raymer and his wife plan to enjoy retirement. They will travel in the Upper Peninsula this summer and will winter in Florida.

Both Raymer and Mrs. Coleman were honored at an informal get-together of employees throughout the system and received gifts from the Board of Education on Thursday after school, and at a special dinner in their honor with the elementary staff and members of the administration Saturday evening at Duffy's.

Charlevoix Area Hospital

Maybe you never thought of a hospital as a nice place to spend the weekend. We'd like to change your mind. Charlevoix Area Hospital is now offering a "Weekend Guest" program for individuals who are home-bound with a chronic illness or disability. For about the cost of two nights' lodging, guests can be registered at Charlevoix Area Hospital allowing those family members or others who are normally responsible for providing care a few days to pursue other activities.

We'll provide basic, supportive care in the atmosphere for which we have become well-known — peaceful, caring and concerned. Located right on the shore of beautiful Lake Michigan, many rooms have a scenic lake view.

We believe it is important to do what we can to assure the well-being of everyone in this area, including older people with special needs and the people who care for them.

To learn more about the Weekend Guest program, call Kathy Boss, director of Patient Services, at 547-4024.

We're Charlevoix Area Hospital and we're different. We offer a complete range of health services including emergency treatment, inpatient and outpatient surgery, coronary care, physical therapy, respiratory therapy and a broad range of community health education programs.

But we're also a small, 44-bed hospital and staffed by your friends and neighbors whose tradition of caring and community service goes back over 65 years.

County compromises Lake planners

Last week's meeting of the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee made it clear that this group would serve a limited role in advising the Charlevoix County Planning Commission on the future management of Lake Charlevoix. Anyone expecting this advisory group to take a strong independent stance in gathering data and presenting its own independent recommendations on the future use and protection of the lake is likely to be disappointed.

The County Planning Department and the Planning Commission by their recent actions have sent a message to the Advisory Committee which says, essentially, let us determine how much data on Lake Charlevoix needs to be gathered and how it should be gathered; the Advisory Committee will be used to make value judgements and provide limited advice and evaluation.

Two actions by the Planning Commission have made the point. First, it deflected a proposal by the Advisory Committee to allow WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix) help in the funding of a comprehensive study of the Lake Charlevoix water, soil, and people systems–a study for which WATCH said it could raise some $150,000. The County found the proposal legally difficult and was wary that the source of the funding would affect the study results. WATCH, for its part, said that it would leave design and analysis of the study completely to the discretion of the County and the Advisory Committee.

Second, the Planning Commission considerably altered a proposal from the Advisory Committee to hire an independent consultant to assemble, review, and evaluate existing studies on Lake Charlevoix and to indicate areas to be studied in the future. The County Planner told the advisory group that the County would be hiring an individual to do remapping and graphic presentation – a far cry from the goal originally indicated by the Advisory Committee.

Whether the Advisory Committee has any useful role to fill in the future remains to be seen. It is clear now that it will not be undertaking any ambitious data gathering and analysis functions.

In the process the burden has shifted to the Planning Commission and the County Planner's office to come up with the means to develop a workable management plan for Lake Charlevoix.

Vote yes for schools

Citizens of the Charlevoix School District go to the polls next Monday to decide two important millage requests. The first is a renewal of the present 15.25 mills for 1986 operations. The second would add 1.25 mills to replace the roof on the elementary school, replace the boiler system, and add insulation.

The school system has kept its budget for next year at the same level as this year and the modest increase in state equalized valuation for the homes in the school district will mean equally modest increases in the property taxes of residents. A vote for continuation of the current operating millage is needed and justified. We urge a yes vote on the 15.25 millage renewal.

The 1.25 mills for repairs to the elementary school building is also necessary and should receive the voters' support. An independent evaluation has confirmed that the building is in bad shape. One boiler is condemned and the roof lacks insulation and is in need of constant repair.

The $1.25 per $1,000 dollars of state equalized property valuation is a reasonable price to pay to get the elementary school in proper operating condition. Why a building would have been built in northern Michigan without insulation is a mystery to us. But that is history. The new roof with proper insulation and the newer energy efficient boilers will cut down significantly on energy costs. Voters should say yes to the millage increase.

Letters to editor

A big thanks

Dear Editor:

Recently a team of third and fourth graders had the distinct honor of representing Charlevoix Elementary School at the Regional and State level competition of Olympics of the Mind. Had it not been for a few dedicated persons and the help of the Lions Club, these boys and girls would have missed out on one of the best weekends of their lives.

We, as a team, would like to express our deep appreciation to the following people and organizations for helping this dream become a reality:

The Lions Club of Charlevoix for their financial contributions which enabled us to travel to Lansing and compete. Without them, the trip would never have materialized.

The Charlevoix Elementary School staff, Mr. Raymer, and Mrs. Elliott for their monetary support through the PAT and school system.

Mrs. Elliott put in a great deal of energy and knowledge to our cause. She also obtained the school van for our use.

Mr. John Campbell for all his expertise, helping our team with our long-term problem.

Kathi Martinchek for helping organize our first OM endeavor.

Last but certainly not least, our coaches Sue Sheets and Ginnie Schairbaum for their long suffering staying power throughout all these weeks of working with 6 of the most challenging kids around, as well as all the parents who went with us and helped us during the trip.

But beyond all those people and organizations I would like to personally give my thanks to six little people who made it all worthwhile for all of us - our OM team. Thanks Kids!

Sincerely,
Neva Himebauch

Open letter

Dear Editor:

Since the first of April to the 22nd of May I have collected 108 signatures on the question of Government funding the MX, the Nicaraguan Contras, the Satellite for military purposes, a budget limit of 2 percent on tax exempt bonds and 6 percent on all debts public and private.

The results are a 100 percent for a control on interest rates, 2 would fund the star war, 6 would fund the Contras and 7 would go for the MX. This should wake up Mr. Reagan and our representatives that they are out of step about 90 percent of the time on the needs and desires of most of the people. I am sending a copy of this 4 page petition to Mr. Reagan, Tip O'Neil and Carl Levin.

Dear committee of the White House letter openers: I hope you will bring this to the attention of President Reagan and I expect a reply to acknowledge this action in respect to the signatures on this petition.

Commencement

By Bob Clock

It has been an academic weekend of sorts. First, the commencement ceremonies at Ellsworth Community School Saturday night, followed by the Charlevoix High School graduation Sunday.

The speakers were excellent – Robert Wilson, director of Social Services in Grand Traverse County at Ellsworth, and Deano Davenport, athletic director at Ferris State College, at Charlevoix.

Both of them gave the graduates plenty to think about. Wilson stressed the boundless opportunities for young people across this broad land or ours; Davenport said the graduates have reached a time in life when they should start paying dividends on the rather large investment their families and society at large already has made in them.

BUT SOMEHOW I feel that commencement speeches are directed at the wrong people. I think eighth graders – those entering high school next year – would benefit more from hard-hitting rhetoric about the future than seniors who already have completed four years of high school. After all, these kids have four golden years of guaranteed education spread before them – and they should be encouraged to use every minute of the next four years to their own advantage.

Through their teachers, their books and their computers, they literally will have at their fingertips all of the accumulated knowledge of mankind. And what a fascinating world is about to open to them.

What would a commencement speaker tell an Eighth Grade graduating class?

If it were up to me, I think I would tell them – starting tomorrow – to become experts in something over the summer vacation. This, of course, would involve setting goals: Learning to play the guitar. Reading all of the works of Charles Dickens or the Chronicles of Narnia, plus a biography of the author. Learning to identify all of the weeds in the vacant lot next door. Experimenting with on an easle with charcoal, pen and ink, watercolurs, oils. Buying a set of wood-carving tools and making scale models of all of the wildlife found within five miles of Charlevoix.

Writing? I would suggest that they set a goal for themselves of writing one short story a week for eight weeks. Or keep a diary, writing one page a night before going to bed. I can guarantee that that diary will become one of their most cherished possessions in the years ahead.

By the time school starts in September, I would hope that they not only have honed their own self-esteem to a fine edge, become experts in some field of study and are ready for new goals and new challenges in the classroom.

Memorial Day is something not to be forgotten

Editor

In the old European countries citizens who rendered service to God and the "Crown" (government) were often given land and personal titles in recognition of such meritorious service. In a democracy the only payment is their monthly stipend and possibly a medal commemorating a service beyond the call of duty. Therefore there are no dukes, counts or barons but our servicemen, from privates to high-ranking military, should be accorded the same kind or respect which the "titles" of old Europe are granted.

Our May-day Memorial service for democracy's fallen heros gives loyal citizens a golden opportunity to express thanks and respect for our living heros in the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars who march in the Memorial Day parade, to honor their "buddies" who lost their lives serving God and country.

They cary our star-spangled-banner with pride and dignity and a tribute to our doctrine first presented by President Monroe in 1823 that stated plainly that our democracy would interpret an act of foreign powers to extend foreign idealogy in North or South America hemisphere as an unfriendly act. It is to be noted the USA has never fought a war to extend democratic idealogy abroad but only to preserve and make the world safe for democracy as expressed by President Woodrow Wilson in 1917 a hundred years after Monroe. He sent American troops "over there" to secure our way-of-life against the despotism of the German's Kaiser Wilhelm "over there".

Like our Bible states, we will always have the "poor" among us so we find we also have the malcontents and megalomaniacs among us from Attilla the Hun to present day idealogists who work tirelessly to foist foreign idealogy and destroy democracy once and for all.

Unfortunately we find in today's world that among the rank and file our own citizens may be inadvertently working toward that same end when the malcontents will suffer personal hardships to make arduous trips to demonstrate in centers of government to proclaim dissatisfaction they have learned from enemies of democracy. Perhaps if they suffered a lifetime of hardship such as our pioneer forefathers knew, they wouldn't be so unhappy with their affluent lot today. Remember the land from the Atlantic to the Pacific had to be attacked by the pioneer by hand to cut down trees and rid the soil of heavy stones to plant the beans and potatoes that kept his family alive in winter.

So hopefully those patriots who appreciate the democracy bequethed to us, and finalized by the refusal of our first president to accept the kingship offered to him by a grateful nation, will now show their approval of the men and women in democracy's uniform as well as reverance for the red-white-and-blue by standing erect with right hand over their hearts as the parade passes by enroute to the cemetery for memorial service.

Unlike the infamous Hollywood movie actress, who has advised America to get down on its knees and hope of communism in American (according to Moral Majority via a Cosmopolitan magazine interview) we patriots can thank our lucky stars that we were born free in the citadel of the "free and the brave". The actress who journeyed to Hanoi to cheer the communists to victory while yankee POWs were facing starvation and torture daily was an unbelieveable act and POWs find it hard to forget even now that they are finally released and back home. Many are deluded about communism but our POWs have no delusions.

Now, on this Memorial Day of 1985, patriots must show our brave men and women who have defended democracy around the world that we appreciated their efforts and support them all the way.

(On February 27, the Courier ran a "Charlevoix Yesterday" picture of a group of local deer hunters at a hunting camp called "Camp Good Luck". The picture hangs over the mantle in the Charlevoix Masonic Temple, but none of the men in the picture are identified, so the Courier asked for help in doing so. Last week, we received a letter from Captain C. S. Webster of Middleburg, Florida identifying some of the men. Part of his letter follows).

In the foreground is my Grandfather Amos Webster. Behind him is Morris J. Stockman, a longtime family friend and from whom I got my middle name. I seem to recall the far left hunter was a Mr. Stroud.

This cut also appears in "Bob Miles' Charlevoix" taken about 1906. The camp was located about in between Gaylord and Grayling. In 1941, Grandfather Amos took me to the same spot. I got my first buck at daylight and got back to Charlevoix to win the Courier's "First Buck" award. Ken Usher was Editor-Publisher.

I still get the Courier in a most curious way. A cousin, Mrs. Hubert Hammond in Tonowanda, New York bundles up about four months' worth at a time and sends them to the rest of the tribe here in Florida. Dandy.

Being Charlevoix High School class of '43, I go back a while. If Harry Bingham, our Leader, Principal, Warden, Mentor, etc. is still raking leaves out at Pine Point, please buzz him up and give him a 42-years-later "hello". Perhaps also that perennial-perennial Ray Kipke.

Charlevoix Chamber prepares for concert

The American Wind Symphony Orchestra will present a unique concert on the Charlevoix waterfront on Thursday, June 6 at 8 p.m.

The Point Counterpoint II, a 195 foot combination boat and band shell, will tie up at the city docks next to East Park for the performance, which is open to the public free of charge.

Tickets are still available for two special patron's concerts to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday and at 6 p.m. prior to the main event. The patron's affairs will also include a wine and cheese reception. Tickets are available at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

The American Wind Symphony orchestra's sleek, silver, self-propelled floating arts center has now traveled over 130,000 miles on the waterways of the U.S., Caribbean, and Canada, performing in over 200 ports.

A modern legend to people along the waterways, the orchestra performs from the floating stage to audiences along the shore with concerts of classical, popular, and contemporary music. The Point Counterpoint II houses the stage, art gallery, and 125-seat theatre and focuses attention on the waterways as centers of culture and recreation, as well as commerce.

As the orchestra tours, it provides to each host community:

- Backyard and institutional chamber concerts, featuring brass and woodwind ensembles of orchestra members.
- A special patrons concert in the vessel's theatre, at which time the local sponsors are honored.
- A truly personal dimension as the orchestra's musicians, all young professionals, live with families in the community.
- Art and poetry symposia on the vessel.
- Guided tours of the vessel and its extensive art collection.
- A spectacular waterfront full orchestra concert from the floating stage.

Pittsburgh's American Wind Symphony Orchestra, ready to begin its 29th year, remains one of the most unusual, highly lauded performing units in our country. It has been described as "the classiest act ever brought to Jeffersonville" (Indiana); a "splendid ensemble of culture and the arts" (Ohio); making "sensitive and serious music" (New York); and "with a daring and freshness that put most of our supposedly serious symphony subscription concerts to shame." (Texas). Its remarkable vessel from the Port of Pittsburgh, "surely the most elegant vessel of its type since Cleopatra sailed down the Nile," has been "breaking the barriers between art and life, and "steering a true course through the mainstream of innovative American music."

A musical event of this caliber presents itself rarely in Northern Michigan.

Please help us make this happen. For more information on Patrons tickets, contact the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, 547-2101.

Engagements

Olach-Erber

CW-4 (USA Ret.) Vincent R. and Mrs. Olach of Charlevoix announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dori Ann, to Paul J. Erber of Union Lake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Erber of Bruce Crossing.

The wedding will take place on June 29.

Sheriff's patrol set for summer

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Marine Patrol started its 1985 season patrolling Lake Charlevoix during the Trout Festival and is now fully in operation.

A last-minute promise from a house budget committee to make available funds due Charlevoix County and other counties in the state for last year's Marine Patrol activities made it possible for Sheriff George Lasater to reactivate the Patrol.

The state funds, which are funneled through the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), are paid to the county on a two-to-one matching basis, with the state providing over $35,000 annually as its share. According to Sheriff Lasater, between $15,000 and $17,000 is still due the county for last year's program.

Dale E. Davis, deputy director of the Michigan Sheriff's Association, told the Courier that final legislation freeing the funds would probably be passed within the next two weeks.

Davis said the Sheriff's Association is now focusing on making Marine Patrol funds available for the current year. The DNR, in its budget-cutting action, has threatened to cut these funds by 50 to 60 percent. The Sheriff's Association, on the other hand, believes the state is not apportioning the funds fairly.

As Davis explained in a recent news release, "The DNR continues to blame the problem on federal cutbacks in funding, but the real problem is the current state funding formula which shortchanges sheriffs in proportion to their participation in the marine safety program".

Davis illustrated this by saying that more than 400 sheriff's deputies in Michigan's 83 counties attend to marine safety needs on a budget of $1.2 million.

Davis further noted that there are an estimated 104,000 unregistered boats in the state, which, if properly registered, would bring in about $1.2 million, making more than sufficient funds available to support the Marine Patrol program.

Hal Hill (right) draws the winning name in the First State Bank's contest to win interest on one million dollars. Frank Ochs, member of the bank board of directors, and Elaine Martin, assistant bank vice president, help out. The lucky winners were David and Kathy Plumm. They won $194.52.

Coast Guard changes navigation aids

In the spring of 1983, the U.S. Coast Guard began making modifications to U.S. aids to navigation in support of an agreement sponsored by the International Association of Lighthouse Authorities (IALA), and signed by representatives from most of the maritime nations of the world in April 1982.

The modifications were adopted after 17 years of work by an international committee of buoyage system authorities including U.S. Coast Guard officials. The primary purpose of the modifications is to improve safety by making buoyage systems around the world more alike and less confusing to the international mariner.

For the past 10 years the Coast Guard has been making modifications now sanctioned by IALA. Port hand daymarks were changed from black to green and research was conducted on paint to identify the best shade of green for buoys. Comments received from the maritime industry and the boating public were used in the selection process.

On the Great Lakes the USCGC Mesquite has been implementing IALA changes in the buoyage systems for the past two years and will have completed all modifications by the end of this spring's booy commissioning season. All aids to navigation in Grand Traverse Bay, Little Traverse Bay, Straits of Mackinac, and around Beaver Island will be exhibiting the appropriate IALA characteristics. The modifications listed below outline the basic changes in these areas:

1. Lateral Aids Marking the Sides of Channels. Modifications: Port hand aids will be green with green lights. All starboard hand aids will have red lights. White lights will no longer be used on port and starboard hand aids.
2. Safe Water Aids Marking Mid-channels and Fairways. Modifications: Red and white will replace black and white. Buoys will have a red spherical topmark.
3. Preferred Channel Aids. Modifications: Green will replace black. Light rhythm will be changed to composite Gp Fl (2+1).
4. Special Aids. Modifications: Aids used to mark these areas or systems will be all yellow.

Old house gets elegant new look

by PEG OHLE

The once shabby dowager of 107 Mason Street emerged last week in three shades of pastel rose to show off the gift and decorator items now being sold in her interior.

We are speaking, of course, of the restored and refurbished 94-year-old house which Elizabeth Jean and William Martin have brought to life in a most attractive manner.

Once headed toward demoltion to provide more downtown parking space, the house was purchased last year by the Martins for use as a retail shop. It was restored, literally, from the ground up, with a new foundation, new roof, new plumbing, new wiring, new deck, restored plaster, enlarged rooms, and four coats of exterior paint, all set on new landscaping.

The first record of the property at 107 Mason Street dates back to November 24, 1873, when John F. Dixon and his wife Phoebe deeded the lot to Elizabeth Fisher for $145. The next transaction was on August 13, 1891, when Elizabeth (Fisher) Keltner deeded the property to Mary D. Ball for $1,000. According to County Register of Deeds Charlene Gaskin, this higher price would indicate that the house had been built on the lot some time before this transaction, so the house is at least 94 years old, and probably older.

And now, back to the gift and decorator shop. It is called "Elizabeth's County Store" and features such items as country furniture and accessories, folk art, pottery, lace, collector Teddy Bears and dolls, and some antiques.

Elizabeth Jean Martin

The first floor rooms display a variety of items, and the second floor rooms (which are now two instead of the original three) are arranged as bedrooms, with the bathroom used to show off toys and dolls.

The back deck is an open showroom for iron furniture. For those who need help in decorating, there are wallpaper books and advice from Mrs. Martin.

The Martins, whose year-round home is in Flushing, first "found" Charlevoix about eight years ago. Since then they have purchased a boat and a condominium at The Harbour Club, so they spend much of the year here. "Elizabeth's" is their first retail venture, although Mrs. Martin is a long-time collector of primitives and cranberry glass. She is a Registered Nurse and she and her husband are the parents of five grown children.

Assisting the Martins in their shop this summer are three local women, Kathy Heckendorn, Kathy Terrill, and Thelma Ditlow. The Martin daughters, Kathy Liggett and Marilyn Callan, will also be around from time to time to help out.

'Think before you drink'

by PEG OHLE

This is National Safe Boating Week, and because of some startling statistics, the slogan for the week is "Think Before You Drink – Be a Responsible Boat Operator".

The U. S. Department of Commerce, of which the Coast Guard is an important part, reports that last year, an estimated half of all recreational boating accidents occurred because someone had too much to drink and got careless. More than 1,200 people died on our nation's waterways, many of them from alcohol-related incidents.

It is further reported that even small amounts of alcohol while operating a boat are more dangerous than most people realize. Even without drinking, the effects of wind, noise, glare, and motion can cause fatigue and slowed reaction time after just a few hours on a boat. And if a boat operator has been drinking as well, these effects are compounded.

Boat traffic on the lakes in Charlevoix County is under the jurisdiction of the Marine Division of the Sheriff's Department and the Department of Natural Resources.

The annual report of the Sheriff's Department indicates that the Department issued 523 warnings to boaters who were violating marine law in some way and issued 13 citations to more serious offenders. The Department also investigated 91 complaints about such actions as driving too close to swimmers or too fast for safety.

Fifty-three persons were rescued by personnel of the Sheriff's Department from disabled boats or other dangerous circumstances. Thirty-seven boats were involved in these rescue procedures. The value of property saved was estimated at $100,000.

The Sheriff's Department is responsible for inspecting boat liveries, 109 of them last year; and pleasure boats, 646 last year. Of the latter number, 388 failed to meet requirements and the owners were issued warnings.

Boat safety classes for children were held this spring and other classes for non-resident children will be held in July.

Fortunately, there were no deaths from drowning in Charlevoix County last year.

Persons apprehended in Charlevoix County by the Sheriff's Department or the Department of Natural Resources and ticketed for driving a boat while under the influence of alcohol are treated in the same manner as those found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated. They are fined an average of $435, sentenced to jail for a minimum of three days, put on probation for an average time of one year, and required to participate in an alcohol counseling program.

Other boat driving violations such as reckless or impaired are also treated in the same manner as automobile driving violations.

Each year, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, in conjunction with the U. S. Coast Guard, the U. S. Power Squadrons, and the National Safe Boating Council, helps promote boating safety through the National Safe Boating Program.

This year, the Auxiliary will be giving free boat examinations at the Petoskey Marina on Saturday, June 8. Those unable to attend at that time should contact Velda Richter at 347-4404 to make other arrangements.

Boat class

A boating safety course, "Michigan Pleasure Boating," will be offered on Saturday, June 8, and on Saturday, June 15, from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District Service Center on Mercer Boulevard in Charlevoix.

The class is presented by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and is open to any young boaters free of charge. Boaters between the ages of 12 to 16 will be awarded a boating safety certificate which allows them to operate a motor boat with a 6 h.p. motor or larger without adult supervision, upon successful completion of the course.

The meet marked the close of the season for the middle school girls team coached by Henry Wagner.

Men's slow-pitch starts season

The Charelvoix Men's Slowpitch League got off to a fast start last week with games every night before tapering off to two games per week, Monday and Wednesday, according to Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

The league boasts 10 teams this year, the largest number in recent years. They are Townhouse, H&L Softball Club, Simpson Electric, Wojan Aluminum, Grey Gables, Paul Bunyan Lanes, Tidy Car-Family Video Showcase, Swanson's, Glen's Market and Charlevoix Garbage.

In the opening games, Townhouse dumped Charlevoix Garbage 22-3, Glen's Market edged H&L Softball Club 14-10, and Swanson's won over Simpson Electric 20-5.

Jim Werner pitched Townhouse to its first win, allowing only seven hits to 17 for Bob Jones, the losing pitcher.

Glen's Market scored 14 runs on 15 hits allowed by Mike Mapes while H&L Softball scored 10 runs on 12 hits given up by Howard Zoet.

In the nightcap, Swanson's was in control all the way as they scored 20 runs on the 17 hits the team collected off Rob Stebe.

Phil Skeel, the winning pitcher, allowed only eight hits, one a home run by Mike Pearsall.

In action Wednesday night, Grey Gables defeated Paul Bunyan Lanes 11-6; Tidy Car-Family Video edged Wojan Aluminum 6-5, and Townhouse downed Glen's Market 14-10.

Three home runs, two by Mike Loper and one by Ray LaVole, were among the 15 hits Grey Gables collected off Mike Crain. Pat Kerr and Dave Storm each hit homers off LaVole who allowed a total of 12 hits.

Trailing by five runs in the late innings, Jon Spieles had the winning hit as Tidy Car-Family Video upset Wojan Aluminum 6-5.

Kirk Heckendorn, the winning pitcher allowed 10 hits. Jim Ciuk gave up nine hits. Pat Kerr and Dave Storm posted home runs for the losers.

Though Bill Trubilowicz allowed 22 hits, his team, the Townhouse, won over Glen's Market 14-10. Howard Zoet allowed 19 hits.

Thursday night saw Swanson's defeat Charlevoix Garbage 12-5; H&L Softball edge Tidy Car-Family Video 11-10 and Paul Bunyan Lanes win over Simpson Electric 7-6.

Phil Skeel was the winning pitcher, giving up eight hits to 10 for Bob Jones, the losing pitcher.

In a game that went 10 innings, Mike Mapes, the winning pitcher and Kirk Heckendorn, each allowed 18 hits as H&L downed Tidy Car by a one point margin.

Paul Bunyan Lanes capitalized on seven of its 13 hits to defeat Simpson Electric 7-5 in a tight battle. Mike Crain posted the win. Alex Niedzialkowski was on the mound for Simpson Electric and allowed 13 hits.

Rayders drop season finale to Elk Rapids

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team ended its season Friday, May 24, with a 6-3 loss to Elk Rapids on their home diamond. The team, coached by Brian Certa, concluded the season with an 8-9 record.

Elk Rapids advanced to the district tournament at Kalkaska.

Charlevoix took a 1-0 lead in the second inning only to have the visitors tie the score in the top of the third. Elk Rapids scored four runs in the fourth inning and one in the fifth before Charlevoix scored on a two-run homer in the sixth by Cris Havens, the losing pitcher. Havens gave up six hits, six bases on balls and had 10 strikeouts.

For the Rayders, Thad Morgan had a double, Havens a two-run homer and Brent Cole, Jody Putman, Mike Herriman, Jim Young and Joey Tilton one hit each.

Girls take district title, advance to regional play

The Charlevoix girls softball team earned a berth in the Class C District Softball Tournament at Kalkaska Friday as the underdog and returned home as the District Champions.

They defeated Traverse City St. Francis 8-2 in the opener and Rogers City, a team that had defeated them three times during the season, 6-5 in the second game. "They played smart today. They went into the game determined to do what had to be done and they did it," Coach Ron Cox said.

"Missy Sandahl, on the mound in both games, was in control all the way, Meg Fowler did a superb job behind the plate. Everyone did what they had to do and played well. They were alert, they took advantage of every break. I'm mighty proud of them," Cox commented.

The team will now advance to the regional tournament at Clare on Saturday.

In their opening game against St. Francis, Charlevoix took an early 3-0 lead in the second inning and were never headed. The team added one more in the third for a 4-0 lead before Traverse City scored two in the sixth inning. Charlevoix wrapped up the win in the bottom of the sixth with four runs to advance in the tournament.

Sandahl as the winning pitcher pitched a no-hitter and had nine strikeouts while allowing five bases on balls. Kuhlman, the losing pitcher, allowed three hits and seven walks and had three strikeouts.

Jenny Sell had two hits and Amy Antaya a single to account for Charlevoix's three hits. Traverse City scored on an error and a wild pitch after getting on base on balls.

Cox said the second game was delayed several times because of rain. At one time, he said, Charlevoix had two outs and bases loaded when the game was interupted. The girls, however, did not lose their concentration and were not shaken by the delay.

"This was the game we wanted and the girls gave it their all," Cox said of the win over Roger City.

This game saw Charlevoix score three runs in the first inning, Rogers City two in the second and one in the top of the third to go ahead 4-3 before Charlevoix tied the score in the bottom of the fourth.

Rogers City added a run in the fifth to go ahead 5-4 before Charlevoix tied the score in the bottom of the sixth. The score remained tied until the eighth inning when Fowler beat out a sharp hit to third that brought Ann Kroll home with the winning run.

"The girls worked for this one" is all Cox could say in conclusion.

Fowler was four for four at the plate, Ahgie McClanaghan had a double and a triple, Antaya two singles, and Kroll one hit.

Sandahl gave up five hits and six walks and had nine strikeouts. Kathy Yerks allowed nine hits, six bases on balls, and had four strikeouts.

Record broken at regional meet

Charlevoix Rayder runnera, entered in four events in the regional Class C meet at Clare Saturday, won medals in two events, breaking the school record in one, coach Hal Evans reports.

The 1000 meter relay team (Jim Martin, Tim Salmonson, Jim Gibbs, Doug Sloan) placed seventh in the meet in a time of 3:28.02 bettering the school record of 3:28.70.

Sloan placed eighth in the 400 meter run. This is the third year he had earned a medal in this event, Coach Evans said.

The 800 meter relay team (Ulf Evaldsson, Gibbs, Martin, Sloan) ran its best time of the year but placed ninth in the meet.

Barbie Boss, a sophomore and the only girl who qualified for regional competition, had her best time of the year but did not qualify for the finals.

Only seniors on the team are Martin and Sloan who have lettered for four years. Mike Louiselle and Jim Kenney who letered three years, and Evaldsson and Peter Plagge who were first year participants.

Good health necessary for young campers

Summer time is when many children are sent off to camps. Parents are reminded that children should be in good health and that there are state laws governing licensed camps.

Licensed camps are required to have a completed health history form (DSS-353) and a medical emergency care authorization statement (DSS-3978) signed by the parent or legal guardian for each camper. Also, each camper shall be screened by the camp's health officer upon arrival at camp.

Dr. Brian L. Youngs, Medical Director for District Health Department No. 3 reminds parents that, "The health history obtains information which allows camp staff members to meet physical, intellectual and emotional needs of the child. General medical illnesses, disabilities, emotional and behavioral distrubances, medications needed or used, special conditions such as allegies, and immunizations are recorded. The kind, frequency, and dosage of medications should be known. Children must be up to date on the routine childhood immunizations to include measles, mumps, rubella, diptheria, tetanus, pertusis, and polio."

Although the requirement for a physical examination has been waived, a camp may have admitting requirements that exceed those discussed above. A health officer at a camp must have at lest eight hours of basic first aid and eight hours of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation training.

Blood donated

One-hundred and twentysix prospective donors responded to the request for blood during the recent visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile with 116 donating blood towards a quota of 125 units, Mrs. David Fowler, coordinator for the project, has announced.

The response was good though we did not quite reach our quota for the visit, Mrs. Fowler said in thanking those who responded as well as the corps of volunteers who assisted throughout the day.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile is scheduled for Sept. 5.

Hospital initiates new weekend guest program

Charlevoix Area Hospital has announced a novel, new program aimed at providing a few days of respite for people who care for disabled or chronically ill individuals in their home.

Under the hospital's "Weekend Guest" program, a person who requires special care normally provided in the home by family members or othes can spend a weekend in a hospital room as a guest, thus giving those who provide the daily care a few days away from their responsibilities.

Said Kathy Boss, Manager of Patient Services at Charlevoix Area Hospital, "Caring for someone at home over an extended period of time is a true labor of love. Those who have done it for long stretches know, however, that it can be a very exhausting and stressful situation at times. Our Weekend Guest program is designed to provide those who work so hard providing daily care a well-deserved rest and those who need the care a weekend in a nice room with the same friendly, expert care they receive at home."

Prospective guests must be at least 13 years old and may have varying levels of dependence. For example, they may need 24-hour supervision, help getting in and out of wheelchairs or beds, help with meals or supervision of medication. Their health status must be stable though they may be suffering from either chronic disease or functional disability.

All guests will be registered on a private pay basis. The cost will be about the same as two nights hotel lodging and includes basic supervision and care, meals, linen, and other activities contributing to the patient's care. Additional supplies and services will be available at extra cost.

Guests will check into the hospital late Friday afternoon and stay until Sunday evening. Reservations are requested two weeks in advance of the stay.

"Charlevoix Area Hospital takes seriously its responsibility to provide for the well being of tha entire community," said Mrs. Boss. "And, to us, that means both those who need care and those who provide it."

She added that the "Weekend Guest" program is available not only to local residents but those who vacation in the area and would like to bring someone they care for at home along.

Those wishing more information on the program are asked to call Mrs. Boss at 547-4024.

Township clerks dislike voter registration plan

by PEG OHLE

City and township clerks in Charlevoix County are "up in arms" over the proposed changes in the Michigan voter registration system, according to County Clerk Jane Brannon.

One concerned township clerk is Sandra Somerville of Hayes Township, who says of the proposed changes:

"I'm not in favor of them because I think they would create utter chaos. Registering up to the day of election would be very confusing. Now we can have everything ready in advance. It would make our job much harder; in fact it would make it a full-time job."

Mra. Somerville also believes it is the citizen's reponsibility to register to vote and it should be done in a timely fashion.

"They can register with the Secretary of State when they get a new driver's license or new license plates, or just go to his office to register," she explained.

The recently-introduced bill, sponsored by Representatives Perry Bullard of Ann Arbor and Maxine Berman of Southfield, would change the resgistration system in several ways:

Clerks would be required to appoint any number of deputy voting registrars without consideration of their qualifications or place of residence. They would not be required to live in the city or township in which they are deputized.

Deputization and training of would-be deputies would have to be completed within two weeks of the deputy's application.

These deputy registrars, other than registration assistants appointed in schools, could register voters in any jurisdiction in the state.

Clerks and their deputy registrars would be required to take registrations up to 20 days before an election, as opposed to the present 30 days. Also, residents of a city or township could register after living there only 20 days, compared with the present 30 days.

Under the proposed legislation, clerks and the Secretary of State would have to send voter registration forms to applicants, either individuals or organizations such as political parties, who would use them for mass voter registration drives. However, the state would not be required to advise local clerks about how many registration forms it had sent to persons within their jurisdiction, so it would be difficult for clerks to keep records.

Registration by mail with the Secretary of State or local clerks would be permitted. Registrations received by the Secretary of State would he forwarded to the proper clerks, even though they might not be received until the day of the election.

Clerks would be required to register voters on election day at their offices or at other designated sites if the voters completed a registration card, took an oath, and provided proof of residence.

The only time registration by mail could be considered invalid would be if the names and addresses couldn't be obtained by the clerk by contacting the applicant, or if the clerk mailed a "confirmation of residence" to the person and it was returned as non-deliverable. For these people, the clerk would have to establish a "challenge registration list" containing names of persons whose residences couldn't be confirmed.

As Mrs. Brannon explained the purpose of the legistation, it is to get more people to vote. However, she noted further that Michigan already has more of its eligible voters registered than any other state in the country.

A positive feature of the proposed legislation for clerks is that it would permit them to cancel registrations, with notice, after seven years of inactivity. At the present time, they must be kept on file for 10 years.

Another bill under consideration, HB 4425, would allow elections by mail for ballot questions. A public hearing on this proposed legislation was held in April in Dearborn Heights.

These and other township government matters were discussed at the Michigan Townships Association meeting held last week at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. Association representatives indicated at the meeting that the legislation relating to the duties of clerks (H.B.4552) had a good chance of passage.

Area golfers play for March of Dimes

Sixty-two golfers participated in the Sixth Annual March of Dimes Two-Man Best Shot Golf Tournament on Sunday, May 26th at Belvedere Golf Club in Charlevoix. The heavy rain during the night and early morning delayed the starting time, but good weather prevailed during the tournament, according to Joe Etienne, owner of Kentucky Fried Chicken in Charlevoix, and organizer of the yearly event.

After a buffet of Kentucky Fried Chicken and accompaniments, prizes were awarded to the following: Championship Flight - 1st, Scott Parker and Dean Parker, 67; 2nd, Dick Stangis and Dick Kenny, 70; 3rd, Harry Holden and Casey Carson, 72. First Flight: 1st, B. David and P. Paught, 71; 2nd, D. Tucker and C. D'Angelo, 72; 3rd, Q. Walker and F. Allard, 73. Second Flight: 1st, G. Zundel and R. Collins, 70; 2nd, D. Fowler and R. Willard, 76; 3rd, R. Tollas and W. Wilson, 77.

The Belvedere Golf Club donated half the tournament's greens fees, $483.50 to the March of Dimes. Marion Parker, Coordinator of Chapter Servicess for the area, presented Joe Etienne with a special award for his volunteer leadership of behalf of March of Dimes.

Saints and Sinners

by Jill Eakes
Christ Episcopal Church

How do you view God?

Do you view Him as a "sugar daddy" from whom you expect material blessings and prosperity?

Do you see Him as a "body guard" whose duty it is to keep you from harm and bail you out of difficulties?

Do you view Him as a "tyrant" who sets down impossible rules and makes impossible demands, then dispenses harsh judgment and discipline when His standards are not met?

Do you view Him as the "chief programmer" for the great computer of the universe, pulling levers and pushing buttons to control all that happens on the earth?

Do you see Him as the "last resort" to whom you turn when all else fails?

Or do you view Him as the Loving Father, whose desire it is to have an intimate relationship with you, so that your life will be the best that it can be?

God's choice would be that we see Him as the Loving Father. This is easy to understand if we relate it to the realtionship we desire to have with our own children. As parents don't we do all that we can, to the best of our ability, to ensure that our children have a good life? Don't we watch over them in love, providing, protecting, encouraging, guiding, training, disciplining, and advising? Don't we long for them to see us as loving parents?

Ahd yet, in spite of all our efforts, we see them making mistakes, doing things we know will not result in the best for their lives. We have difficulty getting them to spend time with us, to listen to us, or follow the guidelines we lay down. We anxiously await the day they will come to their senses and realize the error of their ways, acknowledging that we were loving parents after all, and to admit that had they followed our guidelines their lives would have been better.

How similar is our relationship with God! He, too, watches over us in love, providing, protecting, encouraging, training, guiding, disciplining, and advising. He, too, sees us making mistakes, doing things that do not result in the best for our lives. He too, has difficulty getting us to spend time with Him, to listen to Him, or to follow His guidelines. He, too, anxiously awaits the day we will recognize the error or our ways and turn to Him, acknowledging that His way is the best way for our lives.

Youth Corps jobs available

Between 40 and 50 young people in Charlevoix County will be employed this summer by the Michigan Youth Corps, according to a news release from the office of Governor James J. Blanchard.

The jobs will be available to needy men and women between the ages of 18 and 21 who are unemployed and the head of a household, or who live in a household whose head is unemployed.

All work will pay $3.35 an hour. Much of it will be outdoors in state parks and recreation areas, along rivers, lakes, and highways, and at state fairgrounds, as well as in schools and hospitals.

Job application forms for the jobs are now available at the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services, on M-66 just off US-31 in Charlevoix, and at the offices of the Michigan Security Employment Commission (MESC), 911 Spring Street, Petoskey.

This is the third year of operation for the Michigan Youth Corps. It has already provided employment for more than 45,000 young people in Michigan, and will serve another 15,000 this summer.

Move State Amateur from Belvedere Club former titlest says

by DOUG TRUAX

Will the Michigan Amateur golf championship continue to be played at Charlevoix's Belvedere Golf Club as it has for the last 22 years?

Not if former champion Glenn Johnson, of Grosse Ile Country Club, has his way.

Last week the Detroit papers reported that Johnson, a five-time former champion, used the occasion of a tournament banquet honoring him at the Horton Smith Memorial to urge a change of venue for the state amateur tournament.

"Belevedere's course is fun and we've never had a bad champion," Johnson was reported as saying in a Detroit Free-Press article. "But I'd like to see it go to Boyne Highlands. It is a better test of golf."

Johnson was further quoted as saying "There are no facilities. Players there ask where's the pro shop, the locker room, the dining room. I'd like to see them upgrade the Michigan Amateur."

Howard Neilson, Charlevoix summer resident and chairman of the state amateur from 1956-69, disagrees wholeheartedly with his long-time friend Johnson. "I don't agree with him one bit on there not being facilities, and I don't agree that it is not a championship golf course," Neilson told the Courier.

Neilson termed Johnson's contention that there were inadequate facilities at Belvedere "a lot of baloney." Neilson pointed out that the many young golfers that attended the amateur championship depend on the free help and cooperation of people in the community. "Many young players cannot afford the Boyne format," he added.

Further threats to the State Amateur championship staying in Charlevoix could come from the Golf Association of Michigan, which sponsors the event, and from the Belvedere Golf Club.

After last year's tournament, Belvedere President Eugene Tower wrote Dave Knight, then Chamber of Commerce president, requesting the payment of $4,000 to the Belvedere Club to help offset the revenue lost by the club during the tournament. Belevedere is paid by the Golf Association of Michigan, but Tower indicated that those funds did not make up for the estimated $10,000 the Club would take in during that period under normal playing conditions.

1.Lee Moreland, caretaker of the Belvedere Club, added that, "the tournament doesn't generate any net revenue for the golf club." The Club, he said, "would like to have it not cost so much."

Claudia Kenifeck, executive director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, reports that the Golf Association had contacted her office with some complaints about the lack of amenities at last year's tournament – including the absence of a concession stand. She has assured them that the concession stand will be there this year and that the Chamber will assist in preparing pairing sheets, provide bag tags, and arrange for a copy machine to distribute releases to the press.

Kenifeck reports that the tournament is scheduled to be played at Belvedere through 1986. "After that it is anyone's guess," she said. "There is a lot of competition from other fine golf courses. We would certainly like to see them stay in Charlevoix. I think coming to this town would give them a lot more variety than at Boyne."

Mayor Hal Hill, an avid golfer, adds that "I would like to see all the parties involved in this get together and see if we can't resolve this." The city, the Chamber, merchants, and the Belevedre Club should all discuss the future of the tournament in Charlevoix, he said.

Swimming lesson signup

Sign-up for the summer swimming program has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 19, at the recreation office in the City Hall, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

Classes will be offered at all age levels beginning with toddlers (2-4 years).

The city hall office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. (closed one hour at noon) for those who wish to sign up. The swimming instruction, sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department, are taught at the Ferry Avenue beach by qualified instructors.

The fee for lessons will be $12 per child or $25 per family for city residents and $17 per child or $35 per family for those from outside the city limits.

Senior lifesaving will also be offered if there is a demand for it.

Further inquiries regarding the program may be directed to the Recreation Department. The final date for registering for the program will be Friday, June 29, Boss advised.

City forms band

The first rehearsal of the Charlevoix City Band is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 12, at the Charlevoix High School Band Room, Terry Isenbarger, director, has announced.

Membership in the band is open to musicians in the Charlevoix area and surrounding communities. Anyone who plays an instrument is invited to play with the band.

The band presents weekly concerts at 8 p.m. Wednesday in East Park beginning in late June and continuing through July.

Interested persons are asked to attend the first rehearsal June 12.

Further information relating to the band may be obtained by calling Isenbarger this week at the high school band room 547-3234 or at his home, 533-8382.

JOURNEY FOR SIGHT

A broken oarlock didn't stop the competitor on the right from getting across Round Lake.

Roberta Scholay, LPN nurse at the Charlavoix Area Hospital, sprints to the finish in tha Journay for Sight relays.

Cheryl Jacobs, right, hands the baton off to taammate Sherry Bergmann who is about to row across Round Lake.

The world is growing accustomed to the sight of triathalons, ironman competitions and the like, but the City of Charlevoix was witness to a new version of endurance competition that should interest even the most jaded follower of atheletic events.

Called "A Journey for Sight," the event was sponsored by the Lions Club and pitted eight teams in a four-part relay. The first participant for each team was a runner who started at the Municipal Golf Course and wound his or her way down to the base of Prospect Street where the baton was handed to an oarsman waiting by the dock in a rowboat.

The rowers crossed Round Lake where they passed the baton to a bicycle rider who proceeded down Belvedere and Ferry avenues and eventually ended up at the high school.

The final intrepid members of the relay teams were speed walkers who took the baton to the finish line at East Park.

The purpose of all of these heroics was to raise money for the Lions Club program for the blind. Eight local teams participated this year.

The winning team for the Division I relays (an average age under 24) was Ricciardi's which finished the course in 23 minutes, 50 seconds. Winners of Division II (average age, 25-35) was 218 Bridge Street with a stunning time of 20 minutes flat. The Charlevoix Area Hospital teams won a special award for raising tbe most money for the cause.

Tourism could reach record levels

1985 will be another record tourism year for Michigan, according to John Savich, Michigan Travel Bureau director.

"We are expecting the 1985 increase to be about the same as 1984, up four percent in the number of visitors and up eight percent in inflation adjusted expenditures, which adds up to another record year," Savich said. "If our forecast is accurate, more people will visit Michigan during 1985 than in any other year in the state's history."

Savich said the previous best year for travelers visiting Michigan was 1978.

"Tourism has consistently bcen a major growth industry nationwide and Michigan is well-positioned to reap the benefits of this continuing trend," he added. He described the travel spending outlook for the remainder of 1985 as "very bright."

Savich said all factors contributing to Michigan's 1984 tourism success are present again in 1985.

Conductor turns to Washington for help, boat stays in port

by DOUG TRUAX

The final movement of the American Wind Symphony's discordant duet with the United States Coast Guard is being played in Washington this week as Robert Boudreau, musical director, takes his case to the nation's lawmakers.

Boudreau flew from Charlevoix to Washington on Sunday to plead the case for his ship, the Point Counterpoint II, a floating arts center and concert stage that has been home to the Wind Symphony since it was commissioned in April of 1975.

Boudreau, who serves as conductor of the symphony and captain of the ship, was placed under arrest by a U.S. marshall on Thursday, June 6, a few hours before his scheduled concert at Charlevoix's East Park was to begin.

The conductor was released to the custody of Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater who arranged for him to return to the ship to direct the concert.

After the concert Boudreau was returned to the county jail and on Friday he was taken to U.S. District Court and arraigned before Magistrate Hugh W. Brenneman, Jr. on criminal charges of violating the Ports and Waterways Safety Act. He was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

The maximum criminal penalties for the offense are $50,000 in fines and five years in jail.

On Saturday, June 8, the ship was again boarded by U.S. Coast Guard personnel who provided a worklist of 12 items needing repair or compliance before the ship would be allowed to leave port.

Boudreau predicted that all repairs could be made by early this week with the exception of a load line certificate and the hiring of a licensed crew, which he said he would fight on principal.

"People have to know that we are a good ship and a safe ship," Boudreau said. "It is a question of how much harassment can we handle."

The battle between Boudreau and the Coast Guard, which has been simmering for some 10 years, reached the boiling point last week following a concert by the Wind Symphony Orchestra in Sheboygan, Wis. Boudreau was served notice by Arthur Whiting of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Milwaukee that he was not to take Point Counterpoint II out of the harbor until it was in compliance with certain Coast Guard regulations. The message was delivered at 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 4. At 8 p.m. the ship was reported to have left port for its engagement in Charlevoix.

At issue are the ship's classification and several documents and regulations related to that classification.

In its 10 years as a floating concert stage the 195-foot Point Counterpoint II has been classified by the Coast Guard as unclassified, miscellaneous, a fishing boat, and a yacht, Boudreau said. In 1983 the Coast Guard reclassified the boat as a passenger vessel, a move that Boudreau says was not appropriate and was not supported by others in the Coast Guard.

Classification of the boat as a passenger vessel, he adds, is based on the fact that tours are conducted when the ship is in port. Orchestra members are transported by van to tour stops and the only persons travelling with the boat are Boudreau, his family, and the ship's crew.

The Coast Guard, according to Captain Jerome Foley, chief of the marine safety office of the 9th Coast Guard district in Cleveland, is requiring that the Point Counterpoint II have a load line certificate from the American Bureau of Shipping, a private classification society used by the maritime industry. Foley maintains that the certificate has nothing to do with the ship's classification.

Furthermore, Foley told the Courier, the ship came into the Great Lakes without a certificate of inspection, had an improper vessel document, and did not have licensed personnel to operate the vessel. "Unless it is used strictly as a pleasure vessel, it would require licensed personnel," Foley added.

Boudreau maintains that the issue is harassment by the Coast Guard which keeps changing the ground rules on him.

"I think with everybody's help we can become a yacht again – which is what we should be," Boudreau says. He would ultimately like the ship included in a bill that has been before Congress exempting the Delta Queen, a Mississippi River paddleboat, from Coast Guard control.

He says that the Coast Guard has been trying to prove his boat unsafe ever since efforts were initiated to include it on the Delta Queen bill. "No congressman wants to put us on a bill if the boat's unsafe."

When Coast Guard personnel boarded the boat on Saturday they left behind a list of 12 items. In addition to the load line certificate, vessel document, and licensed personnel (a master and two mates with Great Lakes pilotage licenses) Boudreau was required to repair the waterlite, service life rafts, repair radar, provide two class C EPIRBS emergency signals, provide 12 distress flairs (the boat normally carries three), stencil emergency escape hatch, complete covering of exhaust pipe, stencil "remote fuel shut-offs" on top aft deck house, and provide exposure suits for all persons aboard.

Conductor vs. Coast Guard; events lead to showdown

The American Wind Symphony and conductor Robert Boudreau have travelled a difficult and perilous course in the last few days. Below is a brief synopsis of the major events:

Afternoon of Tuesday, June 4: After a concert in Sheboygan, Wis. before 4,000-6,000 people, Robert Boudreau receives a call from the Coast Guard office in Milwaukee advising him that he is not to take the boat out of harbor until it is in compliance with Coast Guard regulations.

4:30 p.m., June 4: A letter from the Coast Guard is hand delivered to Boudreau at the Point Counterpoint II in Sheboygan.

8:00 p.m., June 4: Boudreau takes the ship out of port and heads for Charlevoix.

5:30 p.m., June 5: The Point Counterpoint II arrives in Round Lake for its concert.

5:00 p.m., June 6: Boudreau is placed under arrest by U.S. federal marshall and Sheriff George T. Lasater. He is taken to county jail and placed in the custody of Sheriff Lasater, who requests permission to return the prisoner to the boat to perform the evening's concert.

8:00 p.m., June 6: The American Wind Symphony performs its free concert in East Park under the direction of Boudreau. Sheriff Lasater listens from behind the percussion section. Following the concert the conductor is returned to the jail for the night.

Afternoon of June 7: Boudreau, handcuffed and shackled, is transported to Grand Rapids for arraignment before Magistrate Hugh W. Brenneman, Jr. in U.S. District Court. He is released on personal recognizance.

9:30 p.m., June 7: Boudreau is flown back to Charlevoix by private plane, arranged by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Morning of Saturday, June 8: Coast Guard officials from Sault Ste. Marie board the Point Counterpoint II and make an inspection, citing 12 violations that must be corrected before the boat is allowed to leave.

Afternoon of June 8: Chamber of Commerce arranges a picnic at Ferry Beach for Boudreau and the members of the American Wind Symphony Orchestra.

3:00 p.m., Sunday, June 9: The orchestra stages a "thank you" concert for Charlevoix at the Community Reformed Church.

Sunday, June 9: Mr. and Mrs. Boudreau are driven to Detroit to catch a flight to Washington D.C.

Wednesday a.m., June 12: Musicians depart for next concert in Conneaut, Ohio, scheduled for Friday, June 14.

Wind Symphony concert displays varied styles

by ANNE KELLY

"You know what really bothers me," one serious-minded musician, Monica Hargrave, harpist caught in the American Wind Symphony controversy said, "All this publicity and there hasn't been one musical critique of the concert."

"Listen, I agree," I said, "Let's put all this aside and talk music. It was a great concert, we loved it."

Questions, aside from handcuffs and bureaucratic scuttlebut, started to settle in, and the real purpose of this whole tour and its stop in Charlevoix began to take precedence.

The 45 musicians aboard the Point Counterpoint II are informed from the start that this is a no-nonsense commitment to their craft.

With limited space for performance aboard the boat, Boudreau selects an elite group of musicians from auditions held thoughout the country. In addition, he spends the majority of the year scouting prospective ports of call and doing public relations for the symphony.

Students are sometimes drawn to audition for Boudreau upon recommendation from their music professors; others respond to announcements posted at various music schools and universities.

Auditions are tense. Prospective shipmates are instructed to have a solo as well as three or four orchestral excerpts prepared. Sight reading is another aspect of the audition.

For those who make the grade, there's a contract to be signed for "a summer job," payment for which is $2,000. This for most is a first experience in making it as a professional musician and gleaning indispensible performing exposure in the process.

The schedule is rigorous with very little time off. Besides patron concerts and the featured performance for the public, small groups of musicians in quintets and duets are sent out into the community to make people-to-people contact. The young musicians go to schools, medical care facilities, luncheons, banks,

Downtown plans shown

The Downtown Development Authority got a look at preliminary plans for redoing the business district and East Park at its meeting Monday night.

Landscape architects Victor Nelhiebel and Marilynn Wickens presented a variety of drawings and concepts for the areas along either side of Bridge Street.

They showed the DDA group two alternatives for the development of East Park, both designed to increase viewing areas. "Charlevoix is a viewing experience, rather than a doing experience," they told the committee.

Included in both alternatives was the concept of small boat piers extending into Round Lake. One plan showed two piers, one at the extension of Clinton Street and another to the south. The other plan included only the Clinton Street pier.

Also included in the plans were changes to East Park that included the elimination of the present fish pond, band shell, and shuffleboard courts and the installation of a reflecting pond, a floral clock, a sundial, and new bandstand.

The landscape architects emphasized the need to draw together all of the existing public areas on Round Lake, from Veterans Park on the south to the Hoffman property on Pine River Channel.

They proposed developing more greenspace along the lake in the vicinity of the current parking lot north of Clinton and showed plans for a two-tiered park area north of Burnsides. Also included was the suggestion for a viewing deck on top of the pumping station which is next to the Mesquite mooring.

Nelhiebel and Wickens discussed eliminating one lane of parking in the downtown area and adding a left turn lane for northbound traffic. They also proposed promoting access to parking off Bridge Street and better pedestrian use of the side streets and alleya.

Current pedestrian routes, they concluded, are confusing, disjointed, and hazardous.

County Planners approve Hayes amendment

by PEG OHLE

Section 5.13 of the Hayes Township Zoning Ordinance was the focus of attention again last week when it was presented to the Charlevoix County Planning Commission for approval of an amendment.

After several hours of discussion, the Charlevoix County Planning Commission approved the amendment with a recommendation to the Township Board that they consult their attorney. The vote was 8 to 3, with Planners Dennis Jason, Arnold Hudson, and Tom Wieland dissenting.

Section 5.13 is called the "Shoreland Protection" section of the zoning ordinance and was recently amended by the Hayes Township Zoning Commission to clarify its provisions. Approval by the County Planning Commission is required before the amendment is presented to the Hayes Township Board for ratification.

Section 5.13 provides for not more than "one slip or dock space for 100 feet of lake frontage, or lake access for more than one single family living unit for each 100 feet of lake frontage."

The clarifying amendment specifically states that the restriction on number of slips does not apply to slips for rowboats, canoes, dinghies, rubber boats, and other such non-mechanical vessels. It also states that the restrictions do not apply to public access sites under the jurisdiction of a government agency, county, road commission, or township.

At last week's County Planning Commission meeting, objections were raised to Section 5.13 similar to those raised at the earlier Township Planning Commission meeting.:

"If I own only 100 feet of property on the lake, I can't have both a motorized fishing tug and powered speed boat for water skiing."

"We have 200 feet of lake frontage. My two grown sons want their own speed boats and my wife and I like our own little runabout. Under these rules, we couldn't have them."

The other part of Section 5.13, that of allowing not more than one single family living unit or lake access for each 100 feet of lake frontage is designed to prevent what is commonly known as "funnel development. Funnel development permits persons who do not own lake frontage in a land development to "funnel" themselves to the development's common recreational facility on the lake shore. In Charlevoix, the Belvedere Club, Chicago Club, and the Sequanota Club are prime examples of funnel development.

Most recently, objections to Section 5.13 have been raised by Fox & Associates, who own 338 acres of land and 2,800 feet of shoreline on Oyster Bay on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix in Hayes Township. Last summer, Fox submitted plans to the Township for a development consisting of 128 dwelling units, 28 boat docks accomodating 56 boats, a concealed inland harbor, and 200 acres of conservation preserve.

The Township did not approve the plans because they exceeded zoning regulations in number of boat dockage facilities and number of dwelling units having lake access. William R. Fox, president of Fox & Associates, instituted a lawsuit against Hayes Township last January requesting that the ordinance be declared null and void because it denied him his riparian rights, and asked for monetary relief.

Fox attended the County Planning Commission meeting to voice his opposition to Section 5.13 of the Hayes ordinance, and to urge that the County Planners receive an opinion from the Prosecuting Attorney as to the legality of Section 5.13 before approving the amendment.

Fox's attorney, Seberon Litzenburger, told membera of the Planning Commission that under the Zoning Act they would be "derelict" if they "rubber-stamped" the amendment without first asking for a legal opinion on the Section itself.

School millage approved

Voters in the Charlevoix School District gave their approval to two millage issues on the ballot by large margins in Monday's election. They also re-elected two incumbents to the board of education.

Renewal of the 15.25 mills for operational purposes was approved by a vote of 410 to 106.

The 1.25 mills for one year to underwrite the cost of new boilers, replacement of the roof, and installation of insulation at the Charlevoix Elementary School was approved by a vote of 357 to 152.

C. Max Novak received 420 votes and Doris A. Pearl 430 votes in being returned to the board for terms of four years.

A total of 530 of the district estimated 4,200 voters turned out to vote in Monday's election.

Early Charlevoix home is site of area historical museum

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix Historical Society's museum is located in a house that is, in itself, a museum.

The Harsha House at 107 State Street was built in 1891 when lumber was king in northern Michigan. It has been lovingly restored by local professional architects and builders and stands as sturdy today as when it was built, showing off strong timbers and delicately carved woodwork.

The furnishings include two of the drawing room chairs used in the house by several generations of the Harsha family, and other pieces of furniture of the era, all arranged to depict the comforts (and discomforts) of life almost 100 years ago.

There is an organ, sewing machine, coffee mill, phonograph, samplers, patchwork quilt, doll buggy, and an endless number of other little items that once made a house a home.

Clothing fashions of the past have their own corner of Harsha House: fancy dresses, hats, jackets, bathing suits, and even the green, brass-buttoned coat of Bellboy No. 2 of the old Belvedere Hotel.

Charlevoix' Indian heritage is preserved in a display of artifacts, including a collection of baskets made by the late Isabella Oliver, mother of Charlevoix resident Jay Oliver.

The large resort associations which played such an important role in the early history of Charlevoix – Belvedere Club, Chicago Club, and Sequanota Club -- are all remembered by contributions their members and others have made to the museum.

Sports and sports people of the past are represented by old pieces of equipment, awards, end photographs in which the glories of the famous and near famous are recorded. Lou Orlowski, president of the Historical Society, reports the Society is planning a program this summer in which some of the athletes, their coaches, end even umpires, will sit around a table and talk about some of the great Charlevoix sports eras.

Going back to the days when Charlevoix was served by many trains and boats daily, there is a Transportation display which brings "the good old days" to life. Automobiles are not forgotten, either, witness the original headlamp from the 1904 Cadillac owned by Horace Fowler, father of the late Forrest Fowler.

In the Photo Library, pictures are filed on drawer-like boards enclosed in a cabinet. They are all identified by cutlines and covered by a glassine material to preserve them. Also, there is a voice cassette for each board further explaining the photographs. And everything is indexed by sucject matter auch as Belvedere Club, Fishing, John Dixon, Banks, etc.

For many years, members of the Charlevoix Historical Society, led by Bob Morgridge, have been interviewing long-time residents to record their memories of the past. There are now over 40 interviews in cassette form in the Voice Library. Equipment is available to listen to them, and copies may be purchased at a minimal cost.

Harsha House was willed to the Charlevoix Historical Society in 1978 by Ann Harsha, grandaughter of the original owner, Horace Harsha, who was an important part of Charlevoix life before and after the turn of the century.

Restoration and addition of a lower-floor display room were paid

ANNOUNCING:
The Summer Session At NORTH CENTRAL MICHIGAN COLLEGE

SESSION DATES: Classes will begin on Tuesday, June 25, 1985, and end on Friday, August 16, 1985. This is an eight week session, one-half as long as our regular 16 week semester. Nota: Classes will run "double-time" since the session is so short; therefore electing two courses for full-time status will be similar to electing four courses during the regular semester.

REGISTRATION DATES: Come to Student Services Office, Main Classroom Building Monday - Friday, June 17-21 and Monday June 24, between the hours of 9:00 a.m., and 4:00 p.m.. Note: Popular courses with limited enrollment, such as data processing, may fill up early and so an early registration will help guarantee a position in the course.

Harsha House will open soon for daily visits

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Historical Society will conduct a weekly open house at the local museum at Harsha House, 103 State St. effective June 27 through Labor Day, Louis Orlowski, president, has announced.

The museum will be open from 1 until 4 p.m. every Thursday through Sunday. There will be a charge of $1 per person for a tour of the museum which feature unique exhibits dating back to the community's early history.

An interesting collection of Indian baskets and other handiwork, on loan from Mr. and Mrs. Jay Oliver, will be on display this summer.

Gigi Antoine of East Jordan, executive director of Anishinabe Inter-Tribal Council, will present the program at the July 2 meeting of the society. It will include Indian legends and a slide presentation of the Eagle Pow-wow held at East Jordan last weekend.

Members of the society are presently selling raffle tickets on a handcrafted historical quilt that is currently on display at Mont's in downtown Charlevoix. Tickets are $1 each or six for $5.

The society is also offering Irene Young's section maps of the Little Traverse Bay area featuring Charlevoix as well as a variety of other historical items including pictorial place mats and Charlevoix cook books. They may be purchased at Harsha House and at other local outlets.

A new project is underway under the sponsorship of the historical society. It is "family albums" which have been suggested by Bob Miles. The albums will be comprised of brief histories of early Charlevoix families. Pictures, newspaper clippinga and other information, may be included. Anyone wishing to participate may obtain the materials for recording such information at Harsha House. Further information regarding the project may be obtained from members of the society. The material is to be recorded in the society archives

Officers for the 1985-86 year will be elected at the July 2 meeting.

A review of the book, "Child of the Sea" by Mrs. J. Williams was presented by Mrs. Kit Carson at a recent meeting. In it Mrs. Williams, who was born at St. Helena's Island in the Straits of Mackinac and was reared at Beaver Island, relates her reminiscences of the Mormon colony and its leader, King James Strang.

Kids present community concert

The Charlevoix Community Children's Choirs presented their final concert, a jazz cantata entitled "100 Percent Chance of Rain," at the First Congregational Church on Tuesday, June 4.

The choirs were organized by Fran Tollas as a part of a grant done under the CHIP counseling center and funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

The focus of the grant, Tollas explained, was to promote better emotional health through singing. "The choir allowed us to teach a useable skill and a discipline," she added. "Once you get the children opened up, it is like opening a little flower."

The funds for this year's choir program were matched locally by the First Congregational Church, and the children performed two previous concerts at the church.

Joann Dannecker assisted in directing the choira and provided musical accompaniment on the flute, along with Jeannie Lignell on piano, Phil Schairbaum on bass, and Marvin Witthoeft on percussion.

United Way meets

Charlevoix United Way will be meeting Thursday, June 13, at 7 p.m. in the Community Room of City Hall.

Anyone with an interest in United Way is welcome to attend.

Further information can be obtained from Kay Ball, recording secretary.

malls, churches, and backyard barbeques.

The purpose of all of this is to bring a little of the talent and culture which exudes from these musical ambassadors out where it belongs – to the people.

A typical concert, which turned out to be atypical due to the conductor's impending imprisonment, was the lakefront concert in East Park Thursday evening.

The American Wind Symphony is an orchestra fashioned in the post-Sousa period of orchestration which took orchestral music on the road and left the strings at home.

The show began with an Aaron Copeland number, "Fanfare for the Common Man," a brass and percussion piece which, with pomp and circumstance and a ceremonial flare, accompanied the dramatic opening of the stage's acoustic shell and set the tone for the evening.

The program switched to a classical theme with a George Frederich Handel composition of the 1700s called "Music for the Royal Fireworks." This is one of the few compositions from that era written for orchestra without strings.

Next, an arrangement of a popular folk song "Down by the Riverside" provided a high energy contrast with three brass soloists perfoming an improvisation of Dixieland jazz."

"Concione de Geste, " a piece commissioned by Boudreau from the contemporary Cuban composer, Brower, introduced a new wave of for largely by funds from the sale of Bob Miles' book. He gave the Historical Society complete rights to the book, of which the 2,000 print order has sold out.

To encourage children's interest in history and familiarize them with the Museum, tours have been conducted for third, fourth, fifth, and sixth graders. "We at least want them to know the Museum is here," Orlowski explained, "so that in later years they may become active members of the Society."

An immediate need of the Museum, according to Orlowski, is a custodian, at least during the summer months. The job is becoming too big for the handful of volunteers who are now doing the work, he says.

ORDINANCE 462

The CITY of CHARLEVOIX ordains: An Ordinance to amend the Code of the City of Charlevoix by amending Chapter 51, Title V, Section 5.173 by adding Section 5.173 (A) as follows:

Section 5.173 (A):

Lot Division. The division of a lot in a recorded plat in the City of Charlevoix is prohibited, unless approved following application by the Charlevoix City Council. The application for lot division shall be filed with the Zoning Administrator and shall state the reasons for the proposed division. The Zoning Administrator shall forward the application and supporting data to the Planning Commission. The Planning Commission shall review the proposed lot division as presented in the application. After adequate review and study of the application, the Planning Commission shall hold a public hearing or hearings and shall make recommendations to the Charlevoix City Council. The Planning Commission shall forward the application and supporting data and recommendation of the City Planning Commission to the City Council. The lot division, to be approved by the Charlevoix City Council, shall have the suitability of the land for building purposes approved by the County or District Health Department. No building permit shall be issued, or any building construction commenced, prior to the approval of the Charlevoix City Council. No lot in a recorded plat shall be divided into more than four (4) parts and the resulting lot shall not be less in area than permitted by the City Zoning Ordinance. The division of a lot resulting in a smaller area than prescribed herein may be permitted but only for the purpose of adding to the existing building site or sites. The application shall so state and shall be in affidavit form.

This Amendment to the Charlevoix City Code was adopted by the City Council of the City of Charlevoix at a regular meeting held on June 3, 1985.

The Boudreau Affoir

By Doug Truax

The affair with Charlevoix's "boat people" is certain to become a part of the popular mythology. It will be talked about for months, perhaps years, to come.

First, we should put to rest some of the rumors that have circulated. Events of this kind breed rumors like northern Michigan swamps breed mosquitos. We must do our best to eradicate them.

For the record, there are no plans to convert the Point Counterpoint II into a permanent band shell. Nor is it true that the boat will be used for downtown parking. Nix as well the suggestion that it will be converted to a heliport or a floating restaurant.

We also have it on good authority that Sheriff Lasater will not be auditioning for the percussion section of the orchestra.

We are unable to completely discount, however, reports that Mayor Hal Hill has requested an office aboard the barge.

We trust that in the end the boat will be on its way to its next stop, if it has not already done so by the time you read this, and that the tour for the American Wind Symphony Orchestra will continue without further incident.

Emerging from this curious saga has been the increasingly visible presence of Robert Austin Boudreau, musical conductor and barge captain. One of the few positive aspects of the symphony's extended stay has been Charlevoix's opportunity to see and hear more of this remarkable man.

He refers to himself often as the son of a chicken farmer from Massachusetts. He is, for the record, also a former trumpet player with the Metropolitan Opera and professor of music at Duquesne and Juilliard. Somewhere along the way to musical orthodoxy, Boudreau was taken with the notion of organizing an orchestra without strings. To make matters a little more offbeat he decided to put it aboard a barge that had been pulled from the bottom of the riverbed and restored. He then proceeded to have the barge towed up and down America's riverways, playing for all who would listen.

Boudreau's penchant for the unusual also led him to the notion of encouraging the building of parks and greenspaces along the rivers where the barge travelled.

A serious and sober person might question the gravity of all of this were it not for the fact that Mr. Boudreau has made it work for some 29 years.

In the process he has commissioned over 300 original works for wind instruments, encouraged a passel of young musicians, and brought good music into some of America's more remote corners.

He is a personable and engaging man with a contagious enthusiasm.

It is an easy matter admire Mr. Boudreau; whether he is right or not in his battle with the Coast Guard is another matter. Clearly the Point Counterpoint II, Mr. Boudreau's latest barge, does not fit into any of the neat categories with which the bureaucracy feels comfortable. It seems a curious blend of a formidable floating sculpture and something some kids dreamed up in the basement.

But it suits its purpose perfectly and stands as testament to this musical group's ingenuity. Whether it will stand up as well to the forces of nature on the Great Lakes is a different question. Knowing how many great ships are littered on the bottom of the lakes, we have to concur with the Coast Guard's assessment that the Great Lakes are "another ball game" when it comes to water safety.

We hope Mr. Boudreau and his orchestra pass the test and are able to carve out a comfortable niche in the Coast Guard's regulations.

We need more of their good music and creative eccentricity, not less.

Inspiration

Dear Editor:

This has been on my mind since I read your 5/29/85 Courier ... what a contrast in two columns on the same page: Bob Clock on "Disrespect" and your beautiful words about our darling Fran Martin! She is (and should be) an INSPIRATION to everyone — God love her! As for the few "bad-apples" in the High School Honors Assembly — how can we ever expect peace in this world, if we can't first respect ourselves? Hearty congratulations to all the Graduates — especially to the committee who chose to dedicate their Yearbook to Fran Martin.

Near miracle

Dear Editor:

Doug, you've performed a miracle of sorts with the Courier. For the first time in years it reads and looks like a newspaper. Your pictures are, easily, the best ever. Thanks. It's good to read a real local newspaper after all these years.

Sheriff thanked

Dear Editor:

The following is a copy of a letter sent to Sheriff Lasater:

Dear Sheriff Lasater,

We want to express to you our gratitude for the professional and kind way that you handled the tragic accident in which so many of our family and friends were called home. You were so kind in talking to each of us about the accident and in the way that you dealt with everything and we want you to know that we feel you did the best possible job in the midst of a terrible thing. Please accept our heartfelt thanks for the ways you tried to ease our grief and please express to the rescue team, the entire community on Beaver Island and in Charlevoix our gratitude for all that was done. We know there is no way for you to make this easy, but your effors made it more bearable. Thank you again.

Punk

By Bob Clock

Remember punk?

It's that flammable substance on-a-stick that outdoorsy types used to burn long ago to keep bugs at bay. You would simply light the business end of a punk stick, blow out the flame and let the stick smoulder until it burned itself out.

Flying creatures supposedly were allergic to the fumes and either dropped dead or hid in the neighbor's yard until you went to bed.

Kids also used punk to ignite firecrackers, but that's another story.

Punk was one of the necessary accoutrements for an evening on the front porch. Punk sticks were as much a part of picnics as watermelon and potato salad.

Some folks thought punk was as effective as citronella in warding off mosquitoes, but I don't know that there was ever a great deal of research devoted to the subject.

THEN SUDDENLY punk disappeared from the American scene. I suppose aerosol sprays had something to do with its demise. It was more fun to zap the critters directly with Bugded than to let them wander into the path of a gentle plume of punk smoke wafting across the lawn.

Bugs also are less of a problem than they used to be. The common housefly, for example, was once the bane of mankind. Fly swatters and flypaper were hot-selling items all summer. Then as horses and their residue disappeared from our streets, flies had less in(s)centive to hang around. Indoor plumbing and the disappearance of the outdoor privy also helped strike the death blow.

You hardly see a fly today, although there was a time when the City of Detroit dabbed flies with gold paint and released them. If you killed a gold fly, you got a $5 bounty from the city. The scheme worked fine until everyone started dabbing flies with gold paint.

But mosquitoes continue to be a problem, particularly at the tag-end of a long, cold, wet spring.

THAT IS WHY I jumped in the air and clicked my heels when Pips Hackett, News-Review receptionist, told me that McCrory's in Petoskey had just received a consignment of punk sticks. One hundred sticks for $1.39 — but a steal at any price.

I was first in line the next day to pick up my plastic parcel of Peter Potter's Punk, distributed by Peter Potter's Professional Punk Purveyors (no phooling!) The company is a division of Theta-Thier Industries of Scranton, Pa.

Given the status of our balance-of-payments, I was a little concerned that the punk was manufactured in China. But, then again, such mundane products as punk are too low-brow for American manufacturers. So it has to be Chinese punk, or no punk at all.

The label on the package reads: "Bugged by bugs and swamped by skeeters? Don't just fret, light up a Peter's."

Where are you, Robert Frost, when we need you?

I still haven't tried my punk sticks. But when I do, I promise to give you the first and probably the only "consumers' report" you will ever read on Peter Potter's Punk.

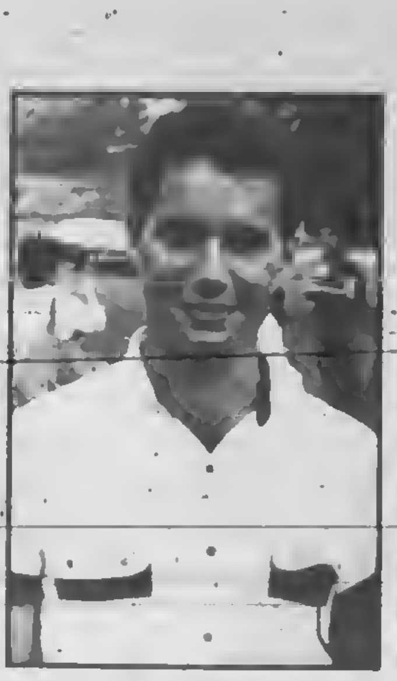
Talk of the Town

"How do you feel about the arrest of Mr. Boudreau and the uncertain future of the tour? (asked of orchestra members)"

"I think the arrest business, of Mr. Boudreau being treated like a common criminal, which he isn't, was very unnecessary. I would like to have seen a musical review of our concert, rather than all this adverse publicity."

Monica Hargrave, 23
Harpist
Milan, Michigan
Indiana University



"I don't know anything about Coast Guard rules, but I do know that we all put forth a tremendous effort, musically, and have been well received in all the communities in which we have performed. Our momentum is really getting going at this point. I think that they could have picked a better time to enforce this regulation than in the middle of our tour. Most of us have no other summer jobs to go home to."

Craig Villani, 21

"I feel a little anxious about all this. It's the first time I've been on my own financially. I was really excited about the tour when I signed up, but now I'm just not sure."

Claire McHugh, 22
French Horn
St. Paul, Minnesota
Indiana University

"I'm disappointed that this problem came to the surface this soon on the tour. But we're really lucky that it happened in such a nice town as Charlevoix. Hopefully the tour will continue. I've been very supportive of Mr. Boudreau on any of his earlier decisions..."

Jeff Rainwater

"I guess I could say that I'm disappointed that this could have happened to a gronp that promotes such a good thing. At the same time it's inspiring to see a aimple man, like Mr. Boudreau, stand up for what he believes."

Kathy Reinhardt, 23

Weddings

Joan Baumer and Allan Cooper

Baumer-Cooper

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Baumer of Harrison announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Allen Cooper of Gladwin.

The bride-to-be is a former Charlevoix school teacher. The wedding will take place this month.

Karen Taylor and Robert Green

Taylor-Green

Karen S. Taylor and Robert C. Green will exchange marriage vows on August 24 at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Taylor of Charlevoix, and her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green of Newberry.

She graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1981 and is employed by the Ben Franklin store in Charlevoix. He graduated from Newberry High School in 1980, served in the United States Army for three years, attended North Central Michigan College, and is presently employed by Consumer'a Power Big Rock Plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Shufflin

Sitzema-Shufflin

Dawn Sitzema and Tim Shufflin exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, June 1, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sitzema of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shufflin of Oxford.

The Reverend Casey Zawacki officiated at the double-ring ceremony which was witnessed by approximately 200 guests. For the occasion, the church was decorated with pink and white carnations and baby's breath.

The bride, who was given in kmarriage by her father, wore a long white gown of satin and lace trimmed with sequins and baby pearls. She carried a bonquet of pink roses, white carnations, and baby's breath.

Laura Grooters assisted the bride as maid of honor, and Beth Jones and Amy Sell were bridesmaids. They wore three-tiered pink dresses trimmed with pink satin and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations, daisies, and baby's breath.

Tricia Sitzema, as flower girl, was dressed the same as the bridesmaidks. Kyle Sitzema served as ringbearer.

Dan Buboltz assistged the bridegroom as best man, and Tom Shufflin and Steve Sitzema served as groomsmen. Ron Sitzema and Bill Bond were ushers.

Music for the ceremony included "The Wedding Song" and "Wherever You Go".

A reception at the American Legion Hall in Charlevoix followed the marriage ceremony. It was hosted by the bride's parents and coordinated by Patty and Greg Sitzema. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at The Pier in Harbor Springs.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinc Island, the newlyweds are at home in Midland, where the bridegroom is a student in business management at Northwoods Institute.

Rayders advance to finals; fall to Saginaw Lutheran

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team advanced to the Class C regional finals at Clare Saturday before bowing to Saginaw Valley Lutheran 6-3.

In the first game of regional play, Charlevoix shut out Clare 5-0. Saginaw Valley Lutheran defeated Newaygo to go against Charlevoix for the regional title.

"I'm proud of the girls. They gave their all. They played heads-up ball for me. They came much farther than anyone expected and I'm mighty proud of them," Coach Ron Cox said of this team that finished the season with a 14-13 record.

The final game was a pitcher's battle as each pitcher gave up five hits. Stacy Johnson, the winning pitcher, allowed only four bases on balls and had 11 striekouts while Charlevoix's Missy Sandahl gave up six walks and had seven strikeouts.

Saginaw Valley Lutheran scored two unearned runs on walks and errors in the second inning before Charlevoix tied the score at 2 in the top of the fourth. Amy Antaya got on base on an error, Sandahl went to first on a base on balls, sending Antaya to second. Tammy Lambert then blasted a triple, driving Antaya and Sandahl. Saginaw came back in the bottom of the inning to go ahead 4-2 on two bases on balls, a double, and two singles. The team then scored on a pair of back to back singles interspersed with walks and errors for a 6-3 lead.

Charlevoix made a valiant try in the fifth inning, scoring one run on a single by Michelle Gagnon which brough Fowler, who had gone to second on her double, in to score.

A tough defense on the final innings gave Saginaw the win.

Collecting hits for Charlevoix were Fowler with two including a double, McClanaghan, a triple, Michelle Gagnon and Lambert, singles.

Alice Foster had a double and Kathy Witto, Johnson, Krista Schlicker and Amy Kraenzlein, singles.

In the first game, it was Charlevoix all the way as Sandahl allowed only two hits and six walks while collecting 12 strikeouts. B. Hamming gave up six hits and nine bases on balls and had only one strikeout.

Charlevoix scored its first run in the third inning after Lara Stargardt walked, Fowler doubled to move her to third and then came home on a wild pitch.

In the fifth inning Charlevoix added two more runs when Stargardt walked, Fowler singled, and McClanaghan hit a triple to bring them home. McClanaghan was then tagged out.

The sixth inning was wild as Antaya singled and got to third on a wild pitch, Sandahl walked and then stole second, Ann Kroll got on by an error scoring Antaya, Lambert singled, Sandahl was thrown out at the plate, Stargardt got on by a fielder's choice, Fowler got a base on balls and Kroll scored.

Larrison and Bay had Clare's only hits.

As the season ended, Coach Cox commended his players for an excellent season which included the Class C District title. He also acknowledged the work of Jill Taylor, team manager, Amy Sell who assisted with the team, and Nancy Fowler who followed the team and was the official score keeper.

Seniors on the team are Fowler, Sandahl, Maureen Buday, McClanaghan, and Amy Coates.

OPEN SEASONS AND CATCH LIMITS ON PIKE, WALLEYE, SAUGER AND MUSKELLUNGE

Under the authority of Section 4, Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, being 300.4 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission, at its May 17, 1985, meeting, amended its December 6, 1984, order, No. CFI-112.84, Open Seasons and Catch Limits on Pike, Walleye, Sauger and Muskellunge, and ordered that the following amended order become effective May 17, 1985, and remain valid for a period of five years until March 31, 1990.

It shall be unlawful to take the following named species except within the open seasons and daily limits prescribed (statewide regulations apply unless otherwise restricted):

> Statewide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from May 15 through February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The daily catch limit shall be five singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; one for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge).

The above regulations apply statewide except that walleye and sauger may be taken at any time from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair, and Lake Erie; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December 15 of each year. The daily catch on Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers shall be six singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least one walleye or sauger. Also, the daily catch on Lake Erie shall be 10 singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least five walleye or sauger. For the purposes of this order the boundary between the Detroit River and Lake Erie is defined as an east-west line touching the southern most tip of Celeron Island.

Chamber Chatter

Community turns boat visit into memorable experience

by CLAUDIA KENIFECK
Executive Director
Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce

As you well know, Charlevoix has had, perhaps more than it share of excitement the past few days, and its time to set the record straight. Without the help of so many Charlevoix residents, the "show would not have gone on".

Due to creative thinking and a genuine desire to help, this community turned what could have been a bad situation into a goodwill exchange; something we see so little of in this day of "fast track" living.

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce was approached just three short weeks ago with the prospect of hosting the American Wind Symphony Orchestra for several days of activity and concerts. After a special Executive Board and Board of Directors meeting, a committment to raise the dollars necessary to allow the orchestra to perform was unanimously approved. A musical event of such caliber presents itself rarely in Northern Michigan.

The Chamber sent out 500 letters allowing people the opportunity to support the Wind Symphony by donation. All the media, press, radio, and T.V. were contacted and the word spread. Chamber Board members and Wind Symphony Chairman, Tom Warth, started the enormous task of organizing the details, and with the help of Chamber staffer, Nancy Kaufmann, plans were fine-tuned.

The donations were made from the following businesses and individuals:

Sponsors: Fox & Associates, Roseville; Medusa Cement Company; Waters Edge Resort; Wojan Aluminum Products Corporation.

Benefactors: Charlevoix County State Bank; DCL, Inc.; First State Bank of Charlevoix; Irish Boat Shop, Charlevoix; Ski & Shore, Charlevoix; Cider Brook Farms; D & G Properties, Petoskey; Harbor Industries, Inc.; Karl's Pastry Shop; 200 Centre, Petoskey; Weathervane Rentals.

Patrons: Bahnhof Ski Shop, Ltd; Jack & Barb Begrow; Stewart & Susan Boal; The Clothing Company; Darrell Dinwiddie, CPA; George & Joyce Duke; Erber-McKeown Ford; Expressions Unlimited; Reid & Janet Freidinger, Edith Gilbert; Gleason Spinnakers; Michael & Paula Greeley; The Head Shop; Charlevoix Dairy Queen; Bill & Claudia Kenifeck; Barbara & Bruce MacArthur; Mayfair of Charlevoix; Mettler, Inc; William & Janet Paige; Parkside Dining; Jack Perry, Petoskey; Petoskey News-Review; Thomas D. Pointner, P.C.; Hugh & Mildred Scott; Gardner Stern, Chicago; 218 Bridge Street Restaurant; Gordon & Susan VanWieren; Charlevoix Agency, Inc.

The Chamber expresses it's sincere appreciation for the incredible volunteer effort from the community. Special thanks to Vicki and Don Voison who solicited the following host families to open their homes to the musicians: Ron & Lisa Agnello, Sandy & Mike Bonnello, Joyce & Gordon Boydston, Olga & Francis Camilleri, Janice & Bill Dietrich, Sue & John Dixon, Joyce & George Duke, Nancy & Dave Fowler, Pat & John Gaskin, Edith Gilbert, Jackie & Roy Hayes, Eileen & Denny Heck, Lois & Richard Hodgson, Ann & Walt Hufford, Karen & Dennis Joy, Anne & Richard Kelly, Pat & Dick Kenney, Jeanne & John Lignell, Ginny & Phil Schairbaum, Lindy & Greg Smith, Vicki & Don Voison, Gail & Hans Weimer.

A great time was had by all at the block parties hosted at the homes of the Smiths and the Dixons.

The Ferry Beach cook-out, organized for the musicians by the Chamber staff, was possible because of donations from the following merchants: Cross Fisheries, Edwards IGA, Glen's Markets, Holiday Stations, J.R.'s, Pepsi Cola Bottling of Petoskey, Sports World, Tom's Cafe, 218 Bridge, Village Inn Pizza, Wharfside Market.

Sailboat rides were provided to the musicians by: Bruce MacArthur, Gary Gleason, and Earl Wier.

Sunday's concert, which was the American Wind Symphony Orchestra's way of saying "Thank you" to Charlevoix was organized by Nancy Kufmann, and made possible through the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

The Thursday night concert in East Park would not have gone on were it not for the professional assistance of Scott Beatty and Sheriff George Lasater. Without their help, Director Robert Boudreau would not have been able to perform. Thank you.

Charlevoix has perhaps never had quite so many national reporters in town all at the same time as what was witnessed last week. Some may still choose to call us the "sleepy little town" up North, but we may never be quite the same again. Regardless, we will always remain Charlevoix, the Beautiful, year'round, inside and out.

Thank you to all who helped the Chamber bring the American Wind Symphony Orchestra to Charlevoix.

Musical style

exotic imagery into the show. Boudreau alerted the audience to keep an open mind during the number and to pick up on the bizarre sounds often bordering on those of tribal ritual dance.

What better medium than John Phillip Sousa's march, "On the Mall," for a bit of energy release.

And if that didn't do it, an arrangement of big band numbers, "The Oldies," brought down any age barrier that remained after the first five offerings.

Punctuating the emotional response of Boudreau to his precarious legal situation, the concert reached a musical crescendo with a medley of songs from "The Sound of Music" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

"Mr. Boudreau," explained symphony member Craig Villani, "thinks of our performances as 'happenings' for which it's crucial that there be audience participation. His purpose is to open up a new genre of waterfront concerts. We've never played a concert that we haven't had a standing ovation."

Members of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association were recently joined by city leaders for the re-opening of The Rainbow Shoppe in its new location in Van Pelt Alley. Joe Spurgeon, second from right, displays new T-shirt at the official ribbon cutting. Also shown are, from left, Rev. Philip G. Scheirbaum, Rev. David Yingling, Rev. Gary Heniser, Rainbow Shoppe board president Barb Rogers, Chamber of Commerce director Claudia Kenifeck, Mayor Hal Hill, Spurgeon, and Rev. Thomas Black.

Official Notice

ORDINANCE NO. 450
AMENDMENT TO TITLE V, CHAPTER 51, SECTION 5.5; SECTION 5.10; SECTION 5.82; SECTION 5.142

The CITY of CHARLEVOIX hereby ordains:

that the Code of the City of Charlevoix is hereby amended as follows:

That Section 5.5 is hereby amended by adding Section 5.5(3) (a) Amusement Arcade & Section 5.5(20) Coin Operated Amusement Device:

Section 5.5(3) (a) Amusement Arcade and 5.5(20) Coin Operated Amusement Device:

5.5(3) (a) Amusement Arcade: Any place of business or establishment containing four (4) or more coin operated amusement devices.

5.5(20) Coin Operated Amusement Device: Any mechanical or electrical device which provides amusement, or entertainment, which may be operated or set in motion upon the insertion of a coin or token, or payment of a fee. Coin operated amusement devices shall specifically include devices such as pinball machines, video and electronic game machines, mechanical grab machines, and any similar devices, or contrivances of whatever description or trade name. Coin operated amusement devices shall not include any pool or billiard table, any coin operated phonographs or merchandise vending machines, or coin operated blood pressure measuring devices or weight scales, any coin operated photograph booths, or any device inherent in the operation of a bowling alley or bingo game.

That Section 5.10 be amended by adding Section 5.10(5) (a) as follows:

Section 5.10(5) (a):

5.10 (5) (a) Premises: A building or a part of a building where coin operated amusement devices are located, under the ownership or control of the operator, but expressly excluding private residences. This definitional term shall apply only to amusement arcades as defined in this chapter.

That Section 5.82 be amended by adding a new Section 5.82(21) as follows:

Section 5.82(21):

Amusement arcades, subject to the following conditions:

a. Suitable ventilation, fire protection measures, and adequate lighting inside and outside the premises shall be provided for the safety of the patrons and the public. All off-street parking, loading and public street access requirements shall be provided as required by Article VI of this Ordinance.

b. Bicycle racks shall be provided within twenty-five (25) feet of any amusement arcade and must provide a total of at least one (1) bicycle stall for each coin operated amusement device located within the arcade. Bicycle racks shall not be located in any required landscaped areas, entrances, exits, walkways to buildings, within any required parking space, public way, or in such fashion as to obstruct any entrance or exit to any premises.

c. Where coin operated amusement devices are located along one side of an aisle, said aisle shall be a minimum of sixty-six (66) inches in width and shall be unobstructed. When coin operated amusement devices are located on both sides of any aisle, the aisle shall not be less than ninety (90) inches in width and shall be unobstructed. The maximum number of coin operated amusement devices in any amusement arcade shall not exceed one (1) coin operated amusement device for every forty (40) square feet of gross floor area allotted to the amusement arcade operation.

d. No amusement arcade shall be maintained or operated unless all portions of the interior of such amusement arcade, except restrooms, are plainly visible from the outside of the building through unobstructed windows or glass doors. All windows and glass which provide a view of the interior of the premises shall remain unobstructed by signs or otherwise at all times. All amusement arcades which are a part of another use shall be clearly visible from other public uses within the building. All entrances and interior areas shall be adequately lighted.

e. Minimum restroom facilities shall be available in accord with the following:

MINIMUM RESTROOM FACILITIES

Games, facilities, or machines designed to accommodate players.	Restroom facilities
5-20	One restroom each for male and female customers
21-50	One restroom each for male and female customers, each room containing at least two water closets, or one water closet and one urinal.

f. Amusement arcades may not be located in any premises:

(a) That are located within one thousand (1000) feet of any school building attended by students below the age of sixteen (16) years of age.

(b) That have living quarters with direct entry to the premises.

(c) Within one thousand (1000) feet of another amusement arcade.

(d) Within one thousand (1000) feet of any bar or tavern.

(e) Measurements under this Section shall be made from the front door of the amusement arcade following the shortest route of any ordinary pedestrian traffic along a public thoroughfare. Sections 5.82 (21) (F) (A) through (C) do not apply to a bar or tavern which has coin operated amusement devices on its premises.

g. License Required. No amusement arcade shall be established, maintained, or conducted in the City of Charlevoix, by any person, firm, corporation or other entity without first obtaining a license to operate such arcade from the City of Charlevoix, and no operator of an amusement arcade shall allow or permit the use of four (4) or more coin operated amusement devices unless an amusement arcade license for such use shall have first been obtained from the City of Charlevoix.

h. Other reasonable conditions may be imposed by the City to further the purposes of this zoning ordinance.

That Section 5.142 be amended by adding a new Section 5.142(5) as follows:

Section 5.142(5):

Amusement arcades, subject to the following conditions:

a. Suitable ventilation, fire protection measures, and adequate lighting inside and outside the premises shall be provided for the safety of the patrons and the public. All off-street parking, loading and public street access requirements shall be provided as required by Article VI of this Ordinance.

b. Bicycle racks shall be provided within twenty-five (25) feet of any amusement arcade and must provide a total of at least one (1) bicycle stall for each coin operated amusement device located within the arcade. Defendants.

File No. 85-205-10 CH

ORDER TO ANSWER
TO: PAUL V. ROLAIN

On the 18th day of April, 1985, an action was commenced by Norwest Bank Midland, National Association, Plaintiff, against Paul V. Rolain and certain other Defendants as set forth in the caption thereof to foreclose a real estate mortgage and to determine priorities of various claims and liens of the other Defendants to the mortgaged premises in relation to that of the mortgage.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that PAUL V. ROLAIN, one of the Defendants, shall file answer with the Clerk of the Court for the County of Charlevoix or take such other action as may be permitted by law or court rule on or before the 24th day of July, 1985. Failure to comply with this Order may result in a judgment by default against Paul V. Rolain, Defendant, for the relief demanded in the Complaint filed in this Court.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this Order shall be published once each week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper circulated in Charlevoix County, Michigan, and that further attempts to communicate with said Defendant by registered or certified mail are not required.

Two wards contested in city's primary vote

There will be two primary contests for city council on the Tuesday, August 6, ballot, city officials indicate.

Nominating petitions for city office were due June 4. Filing for the Third Ward coucil seat were incumbent F. Earl Muma, Thomas W. Black, and Paul O. Burlew.

The second primary contest will pit Leland R. Barta against incumbent Michael A. Greeley and Norman E. Probert in the First Ward. Barta's petition was questioned at the time of filing, but was approved following a check with Lansing election officials.

In the November general election, incumbent Robert Timms will be opposed by William E. Russell in the Second Ward.

Arlene Staley, who was appointed to fill a vacancy for city clerk, will be unopposed for the office in the November election.

Probert and Black are newcomers to Charlevoix elections. Probert lives on Mercer Boulevard and teaches at the Charlevoix Middle School. Black lives at 206 E. Upright and works at the Charlevoix Co-op. He is the son of the Rev. Thomas Black, postor of the First Baptist Church.

Moped warning issued

Secretary of State Richard Austin today reminded all moped operators that they must be registered and the operator licensed to ride on public roads and streets.

Austin's advice follows numerous complaints from the public and law enforcement officials that many individuals mistakenly believe they can operate mopeds on highways without either a license or registration.

All operators of these vehicles must have a drivers license or a special moped license, be at least 15 years of age and register the vehicle with the Department of State. In addition, all operators under 19 years of age, must wear helmets.

Under the Michigan Vehicle Code, mopeds are prohibited on freeways, must share a traffic lane with other vehicles and are prohibited from operating on sidewalks. The Code defines mopeds as two or three-wheeled vehicles, with no more than two brake horsephower and a top speed of 30 miles an hour.

Austin asked all moped dealers to inform buyers of requirements and furnish them with a copy of "What Every Motorcyclist and Moped Operator Must Know", published by the Department of State.

Nominations for service academies

Northern Michigan Congressman Bob Davis currently is accepting applications for nomination to the four United States military and service academies for the 1986 school year.

Students who will be high school seniors in the 1985-86 school year and who are interested in attending one of the four academies should write to, or call, Congressman Davis' Escanaba District office for an application. The office is located at 119 North 22nd Street, Escanaba, Michigan 49829, or the phone number is (906) 786-4504.

Students may apply for an appointment at any of the four academies. They are the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado; the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York; the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland; or the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York.

Applications must be filled out and returned to the Escanaba office by November 1.

Energy growth predicted

Better start turning out the lights. According to the Worldwatch Institute, global energy use is expected to grow by 225 percent in the next 40 years, reports National Wildlife magazine. It will take the equivalent of two additional oil producing Saudi Arabias and a tripling of world coal production to meet the world's projected energy needs..

The meeting will also include a discussion of the petunia auction to be held on August 3 and the election of officers.

St. Mary's plans 'bang up' weekend

St. Mary's Parish here is gearing up for a "bang up" weekend scheduled for July 5 and 6, according to a spokesman for the five-member general committee.

"We're planning something for everyone," Dr. Gels, committee member said. He went on to list some of the activities that will get underway Friday evening, July 5, and be climaxed with the drawing for the big prize, an all-expense trip to Vas Vegas for two, late Saturday as the festival draws to a close. During those hours from 3 p.m. on Friday until midnight on Saturday, St. Mary's parking lot will become an amusement park under canvas as tents are erected to protect festival goers as they play various games of chance, listen to a parade of bands, sit at one of several food booths for a tasty sandwich or a piece of pie or cake, take a turn at the bingo game in the school hall or a cool drink at the beer tent.

Heading the event will be Dr. and Mrs. Gels, Mr. and Mrs. William Dreyer, Sister Jean Karen Woloszyk, Lil Left, and Martin Schaefer.

AMENDMENT TO TITLE V, CHAPTER 51, SECTION 5.5 (5); SECTION 5.32 (6); SECTION 5.82; SECTION 5.92; SECTION 5.142, and SECTION 5.214 (1)

The CITY of CHARLEVOIX hereby ordains:

that the Code of the City of Charlevoix be amended as follows:

That Section 5.5 (5) of the Charlevoix City Code be amended by adding Section 5.5 (5) (a) as follows:

Section 5.5 (5) (a):

Bed and Breakfast Establishment: Accommodations for transient lodging located within a single family dwelling unit and having limited food service.

(i) Class I Bed and Breakfast Establishment: A bed and breakfast establishment accommodating five (5) or fewer persons and limited to two (2) rental sleeping rooms and serving only coffee, tea, juice, and commercially prepared baked goods.

(ii) Class II Bed and Breakfast Establishment: A bed and breakfast establishment accommodating six (6) or more persons, which may or may not serve more than coffee, tea, juice, and commercially prepared baked goods.

That Section 5.32 (6) be amended by adding Sections 5.32 (6) (d) and (e) as follows:

Section 5.32 (6) (d):

Class I Bed and Breakfast Establishments may be authorized in this zone district providing:

A. The establishment at all times complies with the definition of a Class I Bed and Breakfast Establishment as defined in Article II, Section 5.5 (a).

B. The establishment is located within a residence which is the principle dwelling unit on the property and said residence is owned or occupied at all times.

C. The rooms within the establishment utilized for sleeping are part of the primary residential use and are not specifically constructed for rental purposes.

D. A valid business license shall have been obtained from the City of Charlevoix City Clerk.

E. Off-street parking is provided in accordance with Article VI of this Ordinance.

F. The residence has at least two (2) exits to the outdoors.

G. The rental sleeping rooms shall have a minimum size of one hundred (100) square feet for each two (2) occupants with an additional thirty (30) square feet for each occupant not to exceed a maximum of four (4) occupants per room.

H. There shall have been a valid sign permit having first been obtained from the City of Charlevoix as allowed for a home occupation in accordance with the City of Charlevoix Sign Code.

I. A special use permit under this Section shall not be granted to a Bed and Breakfast Establishment if the essential character of a lot or structure within a residential district, in terms of use, traffic generations, or appearance will be changed substantially by the occurrence of the Bed and Breakfast Establishment use.

Section 5.32 (6) (e):

Class II Bed and Breakfast Establishment may be authorized in this zone district provided:

A. The establishment meets the requirements of Article IV, Section 5.32 (6) (d) B through I

B. Certification permitting a change of use as provided in Public Act 230 of the Public Acts of 1972, as amended, shall have been obtained from the Charlevoix County Construction Code Office.

Roy Hayes is nominated as U.S. Attorney

Charlevoix attorney Roy C. Hayes learned Friday morning, in phone calls from Michigan Congressmen Robert Davis and William Broomfield, that he has been recommended by President Reagan to fill the post of U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan.

The U.S. Senate must confirm the nomination, which could take several months.

Hayes was one of three candidates for the post recommended by the Michigan congressional delegation in February.

Hayes reacted happily to the news. "This is a real honor and I am enthusiastic about it," he said when contacted by telephone in Mackinac Island where he was attending a legal conference.

Asked why he was seeking the post, Hayes responded, "Because of my background in law enforcement. This is a post in which one can do an awful lot. It is also a level of accomplishment for me personally. I am delighted to be in the position of being recommended."

Hayes organized the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force while working in the Wayne County prosecutor's office and was also a member of the American Bar Association crime control committee.

In 1976 he was appointed Charlevoix County prosecutor and in 1978 went into private practice in Charlevoix.

In 1981 he was also nominated for the U.S. Attorney post but the job went to Leonard Gilman who served until his death in February of this year.

In 1983 Hayes was one of 10 candidates for a U.S. judgeship.

Hayes said the timetable for the nominating process will probably take until fall because of necessary Justice Department background studies and the United States Senate confirmation process.

Hayes's Charlevoix law partner, Scott Beatty, reacted to the news saying, "I can't think of anybody better for the job. I think his past experience in law enforcement is exceptionally good. I also think he has the ethics, professionalism, and enthusiasm to do the kind of job that ought to be done down there."

Circuit Court Judge Richard Pajtas said that "one of the things I admire about him is his ability to deal with people on a personal and professional level. I think that in that particular office those qualities are necessary. He does possess attributes of compassion and caring." District Court Judge Harvey Varnum added that Hayes is "personable and knowledgeable. He is a hard worker. He is always prepared in court. Moreover, he is completely honest, which may be the most important quality a man can have."

County Road signs warn drunk drivers

Drivers entering Charlevoix County are being put on notice that "Drunk Drivers Go to Jail" through a series of new road signs put up by Sheriff George T. Lasater and the County Road Commission.

The new signs are being placed on six county roads leading into Charlevoix County including Marion Center, Thumb Lake, Horton Bay, Camp Daggett, Ellsworth, and 6-Mile Lake.

Lasater's request to put the signs up on state trunk lines entering the county was denied by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The signs alert the public to the county's "get tough" policy with drunk drivers, Sheriff Lasater said. They were purchased from funds available from the Federal Office of Highway Safety and Planning.

"Of all the programs the Sheriff's Office has initiated, I have received more general flak from citizens due to our 'get tough' policy on drunk drivers," Lasater noted.

"The only thing I can relate to is that in the last 15 fatal traffic accidents we have had in Charlevoix County, 13 have been alcohol related," he added. "The national average is 50 percent and we are way above that in Charlevoix County.

"To me, that is a statistic I cannot ignore and that says to me, as Sheriff, we have a problem and something needs to be done. So, on behalf of the motoring public who want to be safe on our highways, we will continue to aggressively enforce the drunk driving laws of the State of Michigan," Lasater concluded.

In 1982 Charlevoix County was designated as a target county in Michigan for alcohol enforcement due to the large number of alcohol related accidents. The Sheriff's Office and area law enforcement agencies concentrated efforts to apprehend the intoxicated driver, resulting in a 156 percent increase in drunk driving arrests. Auto wreck injures two youths

Two Charlevoix County men are hospitalized at Little Traverse Division of Northern Michigan Hospitals following a head-on crash on M-66 one-half mile south of Ironton at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

They are David Michael Drewa, 20, of Charlevoix and Walter H. Olson Jr., 23, of East Jordan. Initially Drewa was listed in serious condition and Olson in critical condition. Monday both were upgraded to fair condition.

At the time of the accident, the Olson car was northbound and the Drewa car southbound, Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputies said. It was raining at the time of the accident, deputies said.

The men were transported to the Charlevoix Area Hospital via the East Jordan ambulance and later transferred to Northern Michigan Hospitals in Petoskey.

WATCH seeks new members

by DOUG TRUAX

The board of directors of WATCH (Water Air Team Charlevoix) announced that the organization would be restructured to be run predominately by year-round residents. At the same time WATCH issued a challenge to the Northern Lower Michigan Development Council, a recently formed pro-development group, to substantiate claims that it was anti-growth.

Howard Neilson, president of WATCH, said that the current board of directors has voted to require that eight of the 13 person board be year-round residents. They have also agreeded that all newly elected officers of WATCH will be permanent residents of the Lake Charlevoix area.

WATCH will hold its annual meeting on Saturday July 20 at LaCroft condominium.

The purpose of the change in membership, Neilson said, was to establish better credibility and to "correct the perception that WATCH represents some unidentified 'special interest group.'"

Neilson reacted strongly to recent statements by realtor Gene Steele in the Petoskey News Review that WATCH and other environmental

Water plant construction halted again

The ill-fated Charlevoix water treatment project is in trouble again.

Michael Weisner, city manager, told City Council last night that the first phase of the replacement of the city water supply – installation of a new water intake system – was halted last week because local contractors had heard reports that Union Indemnity Co., the bonding company responsible for the project was filing for bankruptcy. Contractors refused to work or deliver supplies, Weisner said, unless they were guaranteed payment.

The Army Corps of Engineers is the on-site representative of the Environmental Protection Agency which is paying 90 percent of the costs of the project. The Corps, in turn, has hired Union Indemnity, New York, N.Y., who has employed South Shore Equipment Co. of Avon, Ohio to coordinate the construction of the intake system.

Local contractors are being hired as necessary to perform moch of the labor.

The project's problems began late last year when South Shore was fired by the Corps of Engineers for failure to meet contract deadlines. The company was rehired by the bonding agent, Union Indemnity, which has now ended up in bankruptcy court.

Work was halted for several days in May because Union Indemnity did not have proper insurance.

Crews last week as a safety precaution filled in the vault that had been dug recently to house the intake valves.

Weisner said he had been told that the Corps was intervening in court to ask the judge to set up a trust fund with money earmarked for contractors working on the project in an effort to get the project started again.

Lake Michigan at record level

DETROIT - The elevation for Lakes Michigan-Huron at the end of May was about 13 inches (33 cm.) above what it was one year ago and about 2 inches (5 cm.) above one month ago. The end of May level of the two lakes was at 580.90 feet (177.06 meters) above the mean water level at Father Point, Quebec.

The May monthly mean level was about 29 inches (74 cm.) above the long-term average and above 2 inches (5 cm.) above the previously set record monthly mean high for May, which was set in 1973, and about 60 inches (152 cm.) above the all-time low May monthly mean set in 1964.

School board awards new roofing contract, approves preliminary budget for next year

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education approved a tentative budget for 1985-86; awarded a bid for a new roof on the Charlevoix Elementary School, and approved, under protest, the DDA and TIFA proposals.

The estimated budget is in the amount of $4,567,369 which also includes the operation of the Charlevoix Public Library. The 1984-85 estimated budget was $4,676,777.

In presenting the budget, Vincent Olach, business manager, said that the budget is tentative, and that a line-item budget will be adopted by Nov. 1.

The Bloxsom Company of Traverse City was awarded the bid for roofing on the Charlevoix Elementary School. Two bids were received. The Bloxsom bid at a cost of $155,455.00 calls for a Trocal roof and an additional 1½ inches of insulation on the roof. The second bid of $228,780 was submitted by Hunt Roofing of Petoskey. The work is to begin within the week, weather permitting.

Bids are presently being accepted for boilers and related work. Specifications are available at the business office at 208 Clinton Street.

The roof project and the heating plant will be financed by a 1.25 mill levy for one year in the June 10 election.

The DDA and TIFA proposals were approved, under protest, by the board. Max Novak, president of the board of education, was authorized by the board to sign the document. Business manager Olach said that the school district would lose approximately $45,000 in revenue that will be captured under the two projects.

In other action, the board approved the payment of two debt retirement obligations, $110,424 to the National Bank of Detroit for bonds dated July 1, 1968 (Elementary School) and $21,759 to First of America Bank-Detroit for bonds dated April 1, 1959 (High School). The Elementary School bonds expire in 1988 and the High School bonds in 1988. The third debt retirement bonds for the high school addition will be retired in 1990.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for July 1. At that time C. Max Novak and Doris A. Pearl will be sworn in for four-year terms on the board. The organizational meeting will follow.

Volunteers collect Lake Charlevoix water study data

Water quality testing in Lake Charlevoix is again being conducted by citizen volunteers through the Michigan Self-Help Program. The program is being organized and supplemented on Lake Charlevoix and other northern Michigan Lakes by the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council.

From May through September, trained citizen volunteers are testing Lake Charlevoix using secchi depth and chlorophyll-A as indicators. Other northern Michigan lakes enrolled in the program fare Pickerel, Crooked, and Paradise in Emmet County; and Silver, Black, and Douglas in Cheboygan County.

Sampling in Lake Charlevoix is being done by Dr. John Hall, who monitors the Oyster Bay area, and Charles Moore, who take samples near Boyne City and East Jordan.

Water clarity is measured weekly by lowering the secchi disc, an 8 inch black and white metal plate, into the lake and recording the depth when it disappears from view. Algae levels will be tested biweekly by measuring the amount of chlorophyll (in the algae) in a water sample.

Watershed Council Science Advisor Jim Bricker processes the chlorophyll samples using Instruments at the University of Michigan's Biological Station. The results of the testing for each lake are written up in a year-end water quality report and are available from the Watershed Council.

In 1982 the Department of Natural Resources stopped the chlorophyll samples due to budget cutbacks. The Watershed Council took up responsibility for the program in 1984.

The results for the 1984 chlorophyll tests show that Silver Lake, a seepage lake in Cheboygan county, exhibits the highest water quality of all lakes in the study area. Level 1 lakes have very low quanitites of nutrients and alga and are referred to as oligothrophic. Levels 2 and 3 are stages of productivity that lead from oligotrhphic to lakes high in nutrients and low in dissolved oxygen in the bottom states called eutrophic.

The majority of the lakes in this region are grouped in level 2 with the main section of Lake Charlevoix recording the second highest in water quality.

Only one lake, Paradise, tested in the fair water quality range, due primarily to the lake's shallow depth. Chlorophyll levels range from less than I part ber biliion (pbb) in lakes with low productivity to more than 50 pbb in highly productive lakes (I part per billion equals 1 drop of chocolate in 16,000 gallons of water).

The water testing program is an important way to monitor long-term water quality changes in lakes.

The prominent feature of the Self-Help classification system is that it determines how the lake's chlorophyll concentration and secchi depth varies from year to year. Of primary importance is whether the lake's algal abundance or aecchi disc depth increases or decreasea over time.

"A good monitoring program is perhaps the single most important function a lake association can provide to protect its lake," states Bricker, "most lakes in this region were extensively sampled in the mid-70's and were found to have good to excellent water quality."

Lake Charlevoix is also the sight of an Advanced Self-Help Program in which the Watershed Council is providing additional water samples for calcium carbonate (lime), alkalinity (ph), and phosphorus.

This additional testing is the result of the state's concern over the increasing turbidity of the water, as shown in secchi disc readings, over recent years.

In 1977 secchi disc readings in Lake Charlevoix's deep basin were 16.2 feet; visibility of the disc had dropped to 10.4 feet in 1983.

In the South Arm readings dropped from 12.8 feet in 1979 to 7.5 feet in 1983.

Water specialist Duck Mikula of the DNR also tested the lake for 20 measures of water quality after ice out and will reapeat the sample in August.

Bricker cautioned that while the DNR study is e "fine water quality study, some people think that the DNR testing is all we need. But to do modelling, and to make predictions, you have to have a more extensive water quality study."

Bricker said that such a study should include a nutrient budget taken during the spring rains and monitored througbout the year.

Charlevoix history published

The Charlevoix Public Library, with the generous help of Mrs. Doris Robinson and the high school typing class, has re-issued the Brief History of Charlevoix booklet compiled by Mrs. Eleanor Ratigan in 1971.

Two more subjects of local interest have been added.

One section is about Earl Young and his unique architectural design as evidenced by the Weathervanc and some houses in Boulder Park.

The other section is about the building of the castle on M-66 and a brief synopsis of its history as Castle Van Haver and now Castle Farms Music Theatre.

The booklet is now on sale at the library for $1.00.

Petunia auction donations received, KCB picks officers

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful is making plans for the annual auction to raise funds for the petunia planting. Several large items have already been donated Including a California Cooperage hot tub donated by Roy and Jackie Woolf, a nine-piece white wicker set from a home on Michigan Avenue, and a replica of an Early American jelly cupboard made by Jack Schmidt.

The hot tub will be on display at the Wood Wright Shop on Ferry Avenue until July 1 and the jelly cupboard can be seen at Mettlers.

KCB is soliciting additional items for the auction. All contributions are tax deductible.

The Coast Guard wives organization will be sponsoring a flea market in conjunction with the auction this year. It will start prior to the auction and will run concurrently. Brenda Kyvik, president of the group, and Jenny King, vice president, are organizing the event.

Elected to two-year terms on the board of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful were Don Dannecker, Steve Andreae, and Stacy Way. Officers elected for the coming year include Bruce MacArthur, president; Al Ranger, vice president; Vel Kammerman, treasurer; Mike Bonar, recording secretary; and Barbara MacArthur, corresponding secretary.

Grandvue workers reject affiliation with AFL-CIO

Sixty-one of 66 eligible employees of the Grandvue Medical Care Facility last week voted 33 to 28 not to join an AFL-CIO local union. This was the first time the question of union affiliation had been voted on at the Facility.

Altogether, there are 99 employees at Grandvue, who put in 165,504 hours of work in 1984 to care for the county's ailing senior citizens.

Grandvue, which is operated by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services, provided 25,991 days of patient care during 1984 and had an occupancy rate of 97.3 percent.

Grandvue has 73 beds which provided for the admission of 79 patients and the discharge of 80 during the year. The average age of patients was 83.2 yearss, ranging from a 20-year-old male to a 101-year-old male. Seventy-one percent of the patients were women.

The cost of operating the Medical Care Facility during the year was $1,328,809. which came largely from such government sources as Medicaid and Medicare as well as private insurance and personal payments. Charlevoix County paid $88,850 of the cost.

The Residential Care wing of Grandvue, which provides care for those who need less attention than those in the Medical Care area, cost an additional $264,178 to operate. It provided 7,842 resident days of care, with 33 admissions, for an occupancy rate of 79.4 percent.

County population will rise by over 38 percent

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners recently learned some interesting facts about the future of their county:

If the population forecast for Charlevoix County prepared by the Michigan Department of Management and Budget is correct, there will be 27,628 people in the county by the year 2000.

This is an increase of 38.3 percent over the 1980 census figure of 19,907.

The forecast is broken down into city and township groups, which indicates that the greatest population increase will be in St. James and Peaine Townships on Beaver Island, an increase of 61.6 percent, bringing the population in the year 2000 up to 519 from 321 in the 1980 census.

The Charlevoix group of townships is also expected to increase in population by more than the county average. The forecast indicates that the population of the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix, Hayes, Marion, and Norwood townships will increase by 44.7 percent, from the 1980 census figure of 7,049 to 10,205 in the year 2000.

The Boyne City group is expected to grow only slightly faster than the county average. The forecast for Boyne City and Bay, Boyne Valley, Evangeline, Eveline, and Wilson townships is for an increase of 39.2 percent, up from 7,693 in 1980 to 10,695 in the year 2000.

The East Jordan area is expected to increase in population by the smallest percentage in the eounty. The City of East Jordan and surrounding South Arm Township will grow by only 23.6 percent from 1980 to the year 2000, from 3,422 to 4,232.

The Walloon Lake area, including Chandler and Melrose townships, will also grow slowly in the 20-year period. A population increase of only 28.5 is forecast between 1980 and the year 2000, from 1,079 to 1,387.

The second fastest growing area in the county will be Hudson Township, in the far southeastern part of the county, according to the forecast. That township is expected to grow by 72 percent, from 343 to 590 between 1980 and the year 2000.

County population in the year 2000 will also be a little older than it was in 1980, according to the forecast. In 1980, the largest age concentration was in the 15 to 19 year age group. In the year 2000, the largest age concentration is forecast for the 35 to 39 year age group.

Petoskey Ave. rezoning for used car lot denied

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission recently voted to approve the action of the Charlevoix Township Planning Commission in denying the rezoning of a parcel of property in the Township.

The parcel in question is described as 800 Petoskey Avenue, at the intersection of Mercer Boulevard, just outside the Charlevoix City limits.

The fee owners of the property, listed, as James W. Uhrick, Florence Uhrick, and James Holmes last month asked the Township Planning Commission to rezone their parcel from Commercial-2 to Commercial-3, which would allow them to operate a used car lot there. At the present time, the property is being used as a campground for recreational vehicles.

At the Township Planning Commission meeting on May 15, two area residents spoke against the rezoning, and members of the Planning Commission noted that the applicants' site plan "contained no information as to a building, an office, area to be used to display cars, number of cars to be shown, right-of-way lines, or other pertinent information."

In approving the Township's Planning Commission's action, the County Commission expressed the opinion that a Commercial-3 zoning for the property would not provide for the best use of the property. It was brought out that under this zoning, not only an automobile sales lot would be permitted, but other businesses such as plumbing, heating, and electrical contractors, lumber yard, or nursery or garden shop, when enclosed in a structure.

Also, under Commercial-3 zoning, special use permits euld be authorized for such enterprises as a freighting or trucking terminal, warehousing or wholesale establishment, storage of bulk petroleum products, or tool and die shops.

County Planner Larry Sullivan stressed that it is nut only the first use requested in a rezoning action that should be considered, but all other uses that could be permitted in later years.

Since the above action by the County Planning Commission, the Uhricks have asked to resubmit their plans to the township, along with more specific information. That will be [illegible] this (June 19) Wednesday evening.

Building permits increase

Permits for 49 residential and commercial building projects were issued by the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection during May, the largest number so far this year.

Estimated costs of this construction (excluding plumbing, electrical and heating-air conditioning work) are $1,637,585.

Charlevoix Area Hospital

Maybe you never thought of a hospital as a nice place to spend the weekend. We'd like to change your mind. Charlevoix Area Hospital is now offering a "Weekend Guest" program for individuals who are home-bound with a chronic illness or disability. For about the cost of two nights' lodging, guests can be registered at Charlevoix Area Hospital allowing those family members or others who are normally responsible for providing care a few days to pursue other activities.

We'll provide basic, supportive care in the atmosphere for which we have become well-known — peaceful, caring and concerned. Located right on the shore of beautiful Lake Michigan, many rooms have a scenic lake view.

We believe it is important to do what we can to assure the well-being of everyone in this area, including older people with special needs and the people who care for them.

To learn more about the Weekend Guest program, call Kathy Boss, director of Patient Services, at 547-4024.

We're Charlevoix Area Hospital and we're different. We offer a complete range of health services including emergency treatment, inpatient and outpatient surgery, coronary care, physical therapy, respiratory therapy and a broad range of community health education programs.

But we're also a small, 44 bed hospital and staffed by your friends and neighbors whose tradition of caring and community service goes back over 65 years.

Auto wreckoge

By Doug Truax

Viewing what is left of an auto after a head-on car crash is an experience not soon forgotten. I did so this week and the image will stick for a long time. The massive hulk of steel that at one time looked so impenetrable, so safe, can be reduced to rubble in split seconds.

There is an eerie, uncomfortable feeling to the aftermath of a severe auto accident. Life seems a little more precarious.

Perhaps every school child should be required to view the scene of such an accident. It wouldn't hurt most adults either. Seeing the ugly twisted steel will give you get religion in a hurry on the issue of driving and drinking. Although the cause of the accident on M-66 this week has not been determined, serious accidents in Charlevoix County are associated with drinking far more than the national average, which in itself is very high.

Why we have so many fatalities from drunk driving in Charlevoix is still open to debate. That something needs to be done about it is beyond question. The vulnerable are not only those who choose to drink and drive, but the innocent and unwary, as well, who may find their lives ending instantly as a drunk passes over the center line.

Elsewhere in this issue you will read of the efforts of Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater to warn drunk drivers that they are likely to go to jail. Previous issues of the Courier have reported on the tough stance District Judge Harvey Varnum is taking.

Nationally such groups as Mothers Against Drunk Driving are pressing hard for convictions of drunk drivers and the removal of habital drunks from the road.

Yet the issue remains knotty. We are a society that likes to drink and a neo-temperance movement will go nowhere. Alchohol is likely to remain the drug of choice among Americans.

We must separate drinking from driving, but in our society eliminating the automobile from the equation is going to be very difficult. Cars are often our only means of transportation and emotionally they represent everything from an expression of manhood to a means of rebellion and independence.

All reasonable means to drive home the message should be tried. Everything from road signs to training bartenders to cut off customers before they are unable to operate a car safely. We must definitely get habitual offenders off the road for good.

An occasional visit to the junk yard to see the twisted remains of a head-on accident might also prove an effective medicine.

Charlevoix County's District Court, convicted drunk driving offenders are sentenced to a minimum of three days in the county jail plus court costs and fines.

A recent survey by the Detroit News rated Judge Varnum's court as the third toughest in the state in handing out jail sentences for drunk driving.

The local court was reported to have handled 135 drunk driving cases, sending 98.5 percent of the drivers to jail.

Record level

For mariners, the end of May level was 49 inches (124 cm.) above chart datum.

The six-month forecast of levels of Lakes Michigan-Huron shows that the lakes are expected to be above the long-term average level during the next six months. The forecast shows that at the end of June, Lakes Michigan-Huron will be about 2 inches (5 cm.) above what they were at the end of May. The lakes are expected to complete their seasonal rise in June. At the end of November 1985, the lakes are expected to be 4 inches (10 cm.) above what they were at the same time in 1984. The November mean would be above the long-term average for that month and about the same as the all-time high mean for November, which was set in 1973.

WATCH

groups were no-growth.

"Mr. Steele made some irresponsible remarks in which he identifies WATCH as no-growth, as wanting to lock the doors on northern Michigan. I challenge him to produce one fact or piece of evidence that supports that charge," Neilson said.

Asked to comment on the statement, Steele said WATCH was "raising such obstacles (to development) that it is tantamount to no-growth to anyone who wants to do development." He said his group was formed by the the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors because "there was no one there to challenge their position. We are taking a positive stance rather than taking the negative side to everything."

Steele cited the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council and the Rod and Gun Club as other groups attempting to block development development.

He said the Charlevoix area needs to develop the resort trade rather than depend on tourists or industry. Resorters, he added, own something, contribute to taxes, and yet are in the area for a relatively short period of time.

In its founding statement, the Northern Lower Michigan Development Council noted that "At the present time we seem to be seeing a tendency of many people, through one means of regulation or another, to say THEY found this delightful place, THEY have the means to live, THEY were here first, therefore there is no room for many more in our woods and on our waters."

The board of directors of WATCH adopted a set of policy statements at its last meeting including statements that it was for planned growth of Charlevoix County, was not against growth, opposed high-density development on inland lakes, specifically Lake Charlevoix, and strongly supported Hayes Township against litigation brought by Fox Development Company.

The board also said that it would "see that the Wetlands Act of 1980, passed by the Michigan legislature, is enforced as it applies to the Lake Charlevoix area."

Steele said that he believed the "Fox development has a plan with some merit that requires a good hard going over. He added that "cluster development is much preferrable to a house every 100 feet."

He was not sure, he added, that the Hayes Township zoning was appropriate.

Clockwise

Something folling

By Bob Clock

Bridge tender Charlie Bergmann is worried.

From his vantage point next to the U.S. 31 drawbridge, Bergmann looks straight up the Michigan Avenue sidewalk next to the former Finn Lumber Co. building.

For the past few weeks, contractors have been on the job preparing the forms for a stairway that will lead from ground level to an underbridge walkway. The walkway will permit pedestrians to cross U.S. 31 without fighting vehicular traffic.

All of which is fine. But Bergmann feels a guardrail should be installed at the top of the stairway as well as the bottom so that kids on out-of-control bikes don't come flying down the hill and catapult either into Pine River Channel or onto the rocks at the foot of the stairway.

Bergmann is right. The alignment of the sidewalk and the stairway provides a clear-shot from the Lodge Motel right to the channel's edge.

Some kind of barricade in front of the stairway appears to be in order to protect not only children but also casual strollers who don't realize the sidewalk ends with a flight of stairs.

SNOW IN JUNE?

I'm not going to say there was. And I'm not going to say there wasn't.

But something was falling from the sky about midnight Wednesday as I waited at the bridge house for Point Counterpoint II to leave Charlevoix after her extended visit.

Tiny snowflakes — or tiny somethings — were clearly visible in the beam of a klieg lights used by a TV cameraman on the scene.

Of course, it felt cold enough to snow. Winter jackets and woolen mittens were the uniform-of-the-day for the small, but hardy, group of well-wishers who gathered at the harbor to wave farewell to Robert Boudreau, his family and his musician-crewmen.

SPEAKING OF the Point Counterpoint II, at least one newsman was surprised upon entering the galley Wednesday afternoon for an impromptu press conference with Boudreau to see a copy of Pearl Buck's The Good Earth on one of the barstools around the lunch counter.

Familiar with Boudreau's impasse with the Coast Guard over sailing his concert barge on the Great Lakes, I asked Boudreau if there were any connection between his troubles and his choice of reading materials.

"That's not my book," the skipper laughed. "But I do love the earth — and the water."

DEPARTURE of the vessel means that Mayor Hal Hill will have to look for another place for his office. Denied office space of his own in city hall by the council, Hill jokingly had considered asking for digs aboard the Point Counterpoint II if it were going to stay in Charlevoix all summer.

But that possibility evaporated when the concert-barge packed up and left.

Maybe it's time for the council to reconsider its terribly awkward decision to keep the mayor at arm's length. It must be obvious by now that Hill is not going to bite anyone.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warner

Durishan-Warner

Julie Ann Durishan and Robert Jay Warner exchanged marriage vows on May 10 in the chapel of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Loretta Durishan and the late John Durishan of Butler, Pennsylvania, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marjorie Warner and the late Harley Warner of Charlevoix.

The double-ring rites were performed by Father Eric Diskin before approximately 30 guests.

Judith Claire Tagliafer of St. Mary's, Pennsylvania served the bride as maid of honor, and V. R. Sanford of Bethesda, Maryland, assisted the bridegroom as best man. They preceded the bride and bridegroom up the aisle to the altar for the ceremony.

The bride wore a tea-length Priscilla gown in egg shell color and carried six matching roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaid wore a dress of silk fuchsia and carried fuchsia-trimmed egg shell colored roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Harley Hotel in Pittsburgh.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, where the bridegroom participated in a Navy golf tournament, the newlyweds are at home in Beaufort, South Carolina.

The bridegroom is a Lt. Junior Grade in the United States Navy and serves as fiscal officer at the Naval Dental Clinic at Parris Island, South Carolina. The bride is a pharmacist and a graduate of Dequesne University.

Father Casey celebrates 35 years as priest

by ANNE KELLY

Recently, St. Mary's parish helped pastor Fr. Casey Zawacki celebrate a special anniversary. Fr. Casey, as he is fondly called by parishioners, has been a priest for 35 years.

In this era of priestly scarcity in the Church, one wonders, what in fact, led Fr. Casey those many years ago, to choose the ministry.

"I've been asked that question many times, and you know, I really can't say."

Maybe just the strange workings of God, he suggests. Young Casey's early life was not exactly typical. Orphaned before he reached his teens, Fr. Casey and nine brothers and sisters were raised for the most part by an older sister, Helen. Helen had all she could do managing a household and the eleven Zawacki children in Manistee during the height of the Depression.

When the question of entering the seminary presented itself at 13, there was little money for that considration. And where did be get that idea, anyway? Well, a friend happened to leave a brochure describing seminary life on the table in the lunch room one day. Casey thought it looked like something he'd like to do. The sports they offered, the fellowship, the future - it all looked good to a lad of thirteen.

"Actually," Fr. Casey recalls, "As a kid, I was scared of priests. I would have walked down the other side of the street if I saw one coming. I went to the seminary and I liked it." Fr. Casey smiles with a characteristic twinkle in his eye. "First thing I knew I was ordained."

Of course it didn't happen quite that quickly or easily.

Fr. Casey entered the St. Joseph's Prep. Seminary in Grand Rapids with the intervention of the parish priest and his sister, Helen. The prep school was the equivalent of high school and two years of college. From St. Joseph's, Fr. Casey proceded to St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, Md.

His theological training was interrupted only by 22 months of active Army duty during World War II. He was, oddly enough, home for a little "r and r" from his studies, when he found himself drafted into military service. A providential happening, he believes in retrospect, as that experience afforded him an insight to life that he may never have had the opportunity to have experienced.

Finally on June 3, 1950, Fr. Casey was ordained in Grand Rapids, in a class of nine candidates, by Bishop Joseph Haas in St. Andrew's Cathedral.

"It's been a good life," Fr. Casey reflects. "I'm happy to be here at St. Mary's, where as always, there are new challanges and new, interesting experiences. You know, it's been said that if a priest lives long enough, he covers just about every human experience in his work."

Does Fr. Casey feel that he has experienced the full gamut yet?

"I'm open to surprises," he quips. "There are always surprises."

Fr. Casey is optimistic about the future of the priesthood.

"I look for there to be a lot of vocations - look," he smiles again, "even women want to be priests now."

As for controversial issues confronting the Catholic Church today, Fr. Casey firmly believes that God is a dynamic force that works through people and change, and is doing so today.

"We've always got to remember that and keep an open mind," he concluded.

Fr. Casey's 35 years of ministry includes, positions in Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Portland, Traverse City, and pastorates at Gilis Pier, Cheboygan, Carson City, Onekema, and Maple City, before coming to St. Mary's last year.

Fowler picked for All-State softball

Meg Fowler, who is credited with pulling the Charlevoix Rayder softball team out of the doldrums to the regional finals, has been named to the 10-member All-State team. The honor climaxes four years of participation in all girls sports for the recent graduate, according to her coach, Ron Cox.

Fowler was a unanimous choice for the Class C All-State team selected at the Michigan High School Coaches Softball Association held at DeWitt.

Cox had only praise for the scrappy little catcher who has stood her ground against all comers despite her size. He has said consistently that she is coachable, dedicated, and an inspiration to the team.

Earlier, Fowler and seven other members of the Rayder squad were named to the Region 15 team. Other members included Missy Sandahl, pitcher, who came into her own late in the season and pitched in all four games in the district and regional tournaments. Michelle Gagnon, (third base), Angie McClanaghan (shortstop), Amy Antaya, and Jenny Sell (both outfielders). Fowler, Sandahl, McClanaghan, and Sell were recent graduates.

Ann Kroll (first base) and Lara Stargardt (second base) received honorable mention on the Region 15 team.

Their coach, Ron Cox, who took over as softball coach only this season, was named the region's Coach of the Year.

Cox said that Fowler, who also started in basketball and volleyball, led the Rayders in several offensive categories. She batted above .430 through the regionals. However, he said it was her defensive play that probably won her the first team honors. She would often hold base runners from stealing, showing consistency in throwing perfect strikes to second base.

"She was among the Charlevoix standouts in both the district and regional tournaments. In the district, her clutch single provided the winning run against Rogers City, a team that had beaten us three times during the regular season," Cox continued.

Cox also said he relied on Fowler for her motivational abilities in giving pep talks to the players.

Fowler will attend Alma College this fall where she is expected to try out for varsity sports.

Women active in slowpitch play

The five-team women's softball league opened its season last week with Kwikie Duplicating defeating Sally Ann Co. 12-4 and County State Bank winning over Townhouse 19-6.

Vickie Flowers was the winning pitcher giving up only seven hits to Sharla Martz' nine hits.

In the second game Meda Kehrer was the winning pitcher, allowing only seven hits. Sherry McFall, the losing pitcher, allowed 18 hits.

Jean Duckworth pitched Hoskins to a 6-3 win over County State Bank in a game played Thursday night. Meda Kehrer as well as the winning pitcher gave up 14 hits.

In the second game Lori Holtzman gave Sally Ann Co. a boost in its 13-5 win with a grand slam home run.

Sharla Martz, the winning pitcher, allowed eight hits to Sue Barta's 17.

Men's league action continues

Paul Bunyan Lanes defeated Townhouse 6-4; Simpson Electric won over H&L Softball Club 6-1 and Wojan Aluminum roared past Charlevoix Garbage 28-1.

Paul Bunyan Lanes, behind the pitching of Dan Gillispie who allowed 10 hits, had little trouble with the Townhouse as Bill Trubillowicz gave up 18 hits.

Alex Niedzialkowski pitched Simpson Electric to an easy 6-1 win over H&L allowing 14 hits. Mike Mapes, the losing pitcher, gave up 13.

Wojan Aluminum had 28 runs on 28 hits to defeat Charlevoix Garbage who had one run on eight hits allowed by Bob Janes. The game was called at the end of 4½ innings.

Wednesday's games were rained out and will be made up this week.

Action Friday night saw H&L Softball Club win over Charlevoix Garbage 13-1 as losing pitcher, Bob Jones, gave up seven hits. Mike Mapes as the winning pitcher allowed 15.

Ray LaVoie pitched Grey Gables to a 10-4 win over Townhouse allowing 10 hits. Bob Alexander gave up 14 hits.

Though Mike Crain allowed Wojan Aluminum 11 hits, Wojan's were able to capitalize on only four as they defeated Paul Bunyan Lanes 4-3. Jim Ciuk, the winning oitcher, allowed six hits.

Little leaguers battle in second half of race

MAJOR LEAGUE

Oleson's Food, 7-0 on the season, topped the Major League as the loop came to the end of the first half of the season. One make-up game remains to be played by all teams.

Parsel Olds shared second place with 4-3 records and Round Lake Lodge holds down the cellar with a 0-7 record.

American Legion swamped Round Lake Lodge 18-5, as the second half of the season got underway.

Brandon Jess allowed two hits as the winning pitcher. Luke Porath gave up 16.

Among those collecting hits were Dennis Mailloux with three including a double; Jess with two doubles and a single, and Dan Terryberry with a triple and a single.

Porath and Jordan Spencer had the Lodge's only hits.

Parsel Olds upset the league leading Oleson's Food squad 9-7 in a game played Tuesday night.

Jason Parrish teamed up with Eric McElroy to defeat Oleson's though they allowed nine hits. Guy Gengle, Randy Wurst, and Ken Olinger were on the mound for Oleson's. They allowed seven hits.

Tim Miller had two doubles for Parsel's. Wade Peterson had three hits including two doubles for Oleson's.

American Legion won over Round Lake Lodge but it was the outstanding pitching and hitting of Jordan Spencer that kept the Lodge in the game. Spencer allowed only four hits and had 14 strikeouts. His triple in the fifth inning brought two runs in to tie the score.

Brent Wojan also had two hits for the Lodge. Dennis Mailloux had two hits and Dan Terrybery a triple to the bottom of the sixth to bring in the winning run.

Oleson's Food continued to lead the league with an 11-2 win over Parsel Olds in a game played Thursday.

Guy Gengle and Randy Wurst held Parsel Olds to two hits while Jason Parrish and Corey Ostrum allowed a total of 15.

Top hitters for the victors were Gengle with two triples and two singles and Scott Kehrer who had two triples, a double, and a single. Ostrum had a double for Parsel's.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Michigan Officeways rolled over Himebauch-Fox Briar by a score of 27-16.

Dave Loder, the winning pitcher, allowed only four hits. Brian Kerr gave up 12.

Top hitters for Officeways was Jim Tolton and Bob Jess, three hits each; Dave Ballard and Jamie Montieth, two each, and singles by Chad Thorp and Mark Sebastian.

Owen Phillips, Scott DeYoung, Jeff Ballard, and Jeff Skeel had one hit each for Fox-Briar.

The game marked the end of the first half of the season for the senior league with Steven's Construction firmly established in the league lead with a 7-1 record; DCL with a 6-2 record in second place; Michigan Officeways in third with a 2-6 record, and Himebauch-Fox Briar in the leauge cellar with a 1-7 record.

As the second half of the season got underway, Michigan Officeways chalked up a 9-7 win over DCL with Dave Ballard allowing only three singles.

Derek Dutcher gave up four hits. Ballard had two hits, Jamie Montieth and Dave Loder one each. Eric Moore, Shawn Putman, and Nick Mellios had one each for DCL.

The league-leading Stevens Construction team downed Himebauch-Fox Briar 22-3 with Dan Drury pitching a no-hitter. Scott DeYoung gave up 12 hits.

Marv Witthoeft had three hits including a triple, Drury three singles, Heath Moore two including a double, and James Corwin three including a triple.

Second place DCL upset Stevens Cootruction 5-4 in a game played Wednesday.

Derek Dutcher started for DCL. Shawn Putman came in in relief and was credited with the win. Dutcher stole home on a wild pitch with the winning run. John Foster, the losing pitcher, allowed five hits.

Putman and Nick Mellios had two singles each and Matt Cunningham one. Jason Corwin had a double, Dave Miller, two singles, Marv Witthoeft and Mike Wise one hit each.

Michigan Officeways rolled over Himebauch-Fox Briar 15-2 in a game that saw Wes Cumberland pitch a one-hitter. Corey Richardson, the losing pitcher, gave up eight hits.

Cumberland and Mark Sebastian had two hits each. Rich Clark, Jim Tilton, Dave Ballard, and Bob Jess had singles for the victors. Richardson had his team's only hit.

Salmonson downs bear

Charlevoix's Terry Salmonson recently returned from northern Ontario with a black bear that is a candidate for the Pope and Young record book.

Salmonson shot his bear with a 70 pound compound bow at 20 yards. The bear weighed in at 285 pounds, a good 100 pounds heavier than any of the 17 other bears shot in camp during the bow hunting trip. Salmonson estimates that the bear would have scaled over 400 pounds in the fall.

The site of the record kill was Caramat, Ontario, some 320 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie. Salmonson went with Steve Miller of Steve's Archery in Boyne City.

'Fishing for a cure' raises funds

The Northern Michigan Branch of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society hopes to raise $20,000 during a fundraiser this summer.

A boat, motor and trailer will be awarded at a drawing to be held during Charlevoix's Venetian Festival. Area businesses and individuals have donated to defray the cost of the grand prize. Nine other prizes, including a golf or ski weekend, a chartered fishing excursion, and a microwave oven, have also been donated.

Multiple sclerosis (MS) is the most common disease of the central nervous system among young adults in the United States. Several hundred thousands of Americans are affected - more individuals have MS than have muscular dystrophy, cystic fibrosis and hemophilia combined.

The Northern Branch provides education, information, therapy services and equipment assistance to MS persons throughout northern Michigan. The group's fundraising efforts will ensure improved patient services on the local level, and continuing research on the national level. The group raised over $8,500 last summer in a similar project.

Tickets can be purchased at many area businesses, from Branch members, and from Branch supporters, including the Petoskey Area Jaycees. For information, contact Sue Bouwense at 347-4994.

Teaching Fido to behave:

Psychologist applies knowledge to dogs

by PEG OHLE

When 17 dogs and their owners graduated from the Charlevoix Humane Society's obedience school recently, they completed a professional course taught by a professional educator.

Charles F. Robinson, school psychologist in the Char-Em Intermediate School District, utilized the knowledge gained through years of teaching and working with children and their parents as well as his 17 years of experience in breeding and raising and training dogs.

"The way dogs and their owners learn is the same as the way children learn," Robinson exlained. "We recognize they all come in at different starting points. We keep telling them how much progress they have made individually. We don't compare."

Robinson uses his obedience classes as a forum to talk about other dog-related subjects, such subjects as diet and breeding, and dog-owner relationships.

"We keep our classes small so we can give time and attention to everybody, the teacher continued. "We try to get the dogs and their owners together so they will grow up healthy and happy, not being unmanageable and running the streets."

Robinson stresses that it is important for people selecting a dog to take time to research what kind would be b est for their particular family. "Especially if they haven't had experience with a dog, they should contact someone who knows about them. The family's life style, facilities, and expectations for the dog are all factors. Breed, sex, and size are considerations, too."

After a dog becomes part of a family, the owner should seek out an obedience class. "Don't go to class and expect the teacher to train your dog," Robinson cautions. "Go to class to learn how to train the dog yourself. It takes a commitment of time but you will get out of the animal what you put in."

Robinson, who holds a master of arts degree, has taught at the college level, most recently at North Central Michigan College, and is a licensed judge for the American Kennel Club. He donated his talents and time to the Humane Society for the obedience classes, putting $630 worth of tuition money in the Society's treasury.

The classes met in Boyne City once a week for 10 weeks. The June graduates, who represent every town in the county, were:

Keith Danforth and "Chip", a chocolate Labrador, of East Jordan; Nancy Hellman and "Ripper", a border terrier, from Boyne City; Eveline Bunting and "Laycee", a schnauzer, from Boyne City; Mike McKenzie and "Buddy", a chocolate Labrador, from East Jordan; Judy Glazier and "Lucey", a black Labrardor, from Boyne Falls; Carolyn Kantola and "Daisy", a black Labrador, from Charlevoix.

Also, Kathy Engstrom and "Mysta", a poodle-beagle mix, from Charlevoix; Karen Sweet and "Jack", a chocolate Labrador, from Boyne City; Barbara Wheeler and "Rags", a German short-haired pointer, from East Jordan; Carol Ward and "Jesse", a doberman, from Boyne City; Clark Rouse and "Sadie", a Brittany, from Boyne City; Keith Annear and "Brandy", a shepard-golden retriever, from East Jordan; Michelle Bos and "Cougar", a doberman, from East Jordan.

And, Kerry Ovaitt and "Maggie", a yellow Labrador, from East Jordan; Sally Wackerly and "Sarge", a black Labrador, from Petoskey; Ken Padgett and "Kate", a Gordon setter, from Walloon Lake; and Jeannette Gill and "Jesse", a chocolate Labrador, from Bay Shore.

Yachting Notes

Lots of catching up to be done, but no scores to be found. Other Mouse couldn't find results either and decided not to fill space with B.S. (Board Sailing, of course), while this mouse wandered around the country.

Ran into a real dilemma: Is it better to be on a beautiful clear lake where it's just too darn cold to sail board without a full wet suit, wool muffler, and fur lined Jockey shorts or to be board sailing on a nice warm lake that's soooo dirty you don't dare fall in?

Last weekend was the first Annual CYC International Invitational Yacht and Chicken Eating Race; it showed potential as a classic event in years to come. A very nice turnout had 10 or 11 yachts starting in each of the three classes — Fleets 1 and 2 split the regular PHRF racers, Fleet 3 was the JAM (Jib and Main, only). The first day races (to Boyne City and back for Fleets 1 and 2, half way for JAM) counted double versus Sunday's Olympic Triangle; which explains the unusual point count.

(Note: O/A daily finish position and points are now shown).

Festival Planning underway

Several members of the planning committee for St. Mary's Parish Festival scheduled for July 5 and 6 met recently at the school hall to check out sub-committee reports on the progress of plans.

Among the chairpersons named recently are Bud and Donna Cross who will be in charge of the dunk tank, Patty Sitzema, the pastry booth end Bob and Bernice Baker. Nelson and Dawn Fletcher head the finance committee.

Assembly of God to see family film series

"Building Families That Last", six exciting films about family living at its best, will be shown at the Assembly of God, Hwy. M 66 South, at 6:00 p.m. for six consecutive Sunday nights beginning this Sunday, June 23.

The films feature Dr. Richard D. Dobbins, ordained minister and psychologist. A pioneer in the area of religion and mental health, he is a popular author, lecturer, and television talk show guest.

In the film series Dr. Dobbins creates a picture of family life as God intends it to be. He offers help to families in need of mending and liberal doses of preventive medicine to those already off to a good start.

The Rev. Lowell Anderson, pastor of the Assembly of God, comments, "In a society where the traditional nuclear family of father, mother and children lives together in loving relationships in the same home is seriously threatened, Dr. Dobbins brings hope and encouragement for those desiring family living at its best.

Dance scholarships available

Scholarships for dancing instruction are now available sponsored by the City of East Jordan and the Crooked Tree Arts Council. Lessons will be given at East Jordan Civic Center by Dianna Weltich, instructor, who was Principal Character Dancer with the Indianapolis Ballet Theatre.

Apply for Scholarships at the Elementary School in East Jordan or McCune Community Arts Center. Phone 347-4337 for details.

Report card

Report cards for Charlevoix High School students will be mailed to the parents' homes during the week of June 17th. The materials regarding grades and attendance are sent to the computer center as soon as school is out and takes about one week for computer processing.

An early January census of bald eagles, conducted by the Department of Natural Resources, shows a total statewide population of 72 bald eagles compared with 77 counted in 1984.

The census found 27 bald eagles in northern Lower Michigan, 40 in the Upper Peninsula, and five in southern Lower Michigan.

Bob Hess, a biologist with the Department of Natural Resources, reported that the heaviest concentration of eagles was found in the Houghton Lake and Mio areas of northern Lower Michigan, where open water is available along stretches of the Muskegon and AuSable rivers.

Young authors host party

by ANNE KELLY

The "Young Author's Party", honoring 4th grade authors and their painstakingly written autobiographies, was held in Mrs. Chew's room last week, as the culmination of a writing experience.

It was a formal occasion, with the fourth graders serving as hosts and hostesses for parents, teachers, and guests. Hors d'oeuvres, desserts, and punch were served, while the students' autobiographies were displayed for perusal by the proud authors.

The books represented many weeks of writing and organization. Along with their illustrations and family pictures, the autobiographies tell some very important stories.

Instructor Mary Ann Chew announced that all the autobiographies were well done and have received the "Chewberry Award" for 1985.

New medical service slated for Beaver Island residents

Residents of Beaver Island have been called to a public meeting at 2 p.m. on Sunday, June 23, at the Christian Church in St. James to learn about the new medical services that will be offered on the Island.

Dr. Leonard Siudara, who has been operating the Island's Medical Center, will retire on July 1. After he announced his retirement last January, members of the Medical Center board, other community leaders, and the Michigan Department of Public Health began studying means of continuing to provide health care on the Island. They recognized the fact they could no longer have a full-time physician because the $40,000 subsidy from the State, which covered his salary, was no longer available.

An agreement was finally reached with the medical offices of Drs. James Stewart, Dennis Joy, and Edward Newcombe of Charlevoix, specialists in Family Medicine, who will employ a nurse-practitioner to live and work on the Island, while one of the three physicians will travel to the Island at least one day each week to hold office hours and review patient charts.

The nurse-practitioner will be able to diagnose and treat minor illnesses such as earaches, sore throats, colds, and flu. Under most circumstances, he will be able to suture lacerations, set broken bones, take X-rays, and stabilize victims of heart attack or trauma until they can be transported to the mainland. He will keep regular hours at the Medical Center and be available for emergencies 24 hours a day.

In short, the nurse-practitioner will be the "eyes and ears' of Drs. Stewart, Joy, and Newcombe, and will report to them daily on patients seen, or as patients' conditions require.

The nurse-practitioner, was in Charlevoix last Saturday conferring with the three physicians and will be on hand for the public meeting on June 23 in St. James. Mr. 's salary will be partly subsidized by the State Department of Public Health.

Health center gets new doctor

Dr. Thomas Curtin

Thomas Curtin, M.D. a physician with a speciality in family practice will be joining the staff of East Jordan Family Health Center on July 1st. Dr. Curtin, his wife Chris and their two children will make their home in the East Jordan area.

After graduating from Michigan State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology, he worked for the Berrien County Health Department and then served as medical education assistant for Planned Parenthood of Southwest Michigan.

Dr. Curtin then attended Michigan State University, College of Human Medicine, graduating as a medical doctor in 1982. For the past three years. Dr. Curtin has been completing a residency in family practice at the Midland Hospital Center.

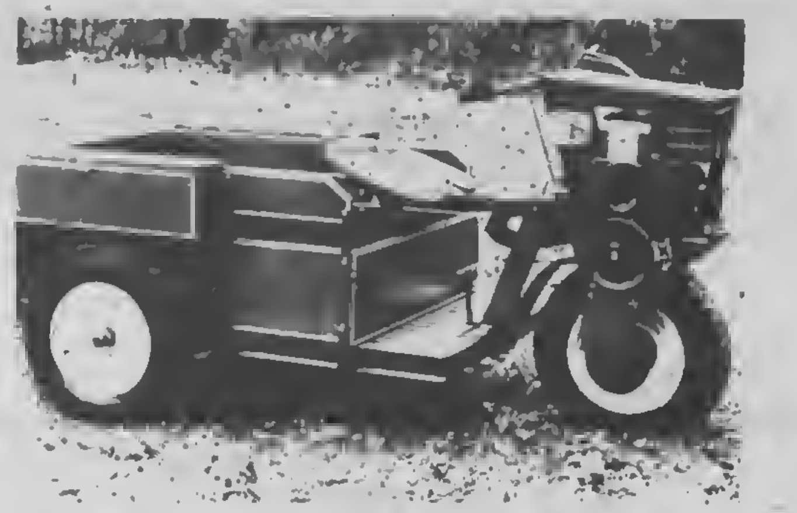
He has been a team leader in the family practice residency, a guest lecturer for community groups, the team physician for the Midland Junior Varsity football team. He is a member of the Michigan Academy of Family Practice. Among his areas of special interst are: Preventive medicine, sports medicine, and geriatrics.

Dr. Curtin recently spent a two-week orientation period in the East Jordan area. While he was here he developed plans for patient care with Dr. Mitchell Carey, M.D. and Edwin Newington, physician assistant, of the family health center's staff, Dr. Robert Anderson, the health center's optometrist, psychologist, Monica Bradley, and social worker, Lucia Kadzielski.

He also met with staff of Charlevoix Area Hospital, various social agencies, East Jordan Public schools, and local industries.

Church raises funds for vehicle called 'Model T of Third World'

by PEG OHLE



This is the TRAG, the mighty little machine designed to serve the people in developing countries. Invented by a Methodist layman, distribution of the TRAG has become a project of Methodists throughout the country. The Charlevoix United Methodist Church men's organization is in the process of raising $1,500 to send one overseas.

Church men and women have held fund-raising events for many purposes through the years, but the men of the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix have a new cause.

They are raising funds to buy a TRAG to be sent to a developing country.

TRAG (for TRansportation AGricultural) is being called "the Model T of the Third World". It is a simple machine designed for the simple tasks of hauling people and products. To the farmer or village person in developing countries, it is what the half-ton pickup is to the United States farmer. It hauls people to church, to community activities, to receive health care, or just to visit a neighbor. It hauls water, feed, seed, produce, and other items needed for existence.

The idea of supplying a vehicle of this type for use in needy countries was the dream of a Methodist layman, design engineer and inventor Earl Miner of Marshfield, Missouri. Distribution of his vehicle has become the project of Methodists all over the country, and now in Charlevoix.

The local Methodist men have already held a bake sale, church dinner, and after-church coffee hour to help raise funds for their TRAG. According to Reverend David Yingling, other events will be held this summer, including a "slave auction" and another bake sale.

It shouldn't take long for the Charlevoix Methodist men to raise the necessary $1,500 to pay for the TRAG. Yes, that's all it costs, including price of the machine, crating it for shipment, and some of the cost of shipping.

Inventor Miner compares the cost of the TRAG with that of a F-A Hornet fighter plane. He points out that at least 20,000 TRAGS could be built and placed in a needy country for the same cost as one of these fighter planes, and that the TRAGS would be seen around the world as machines of peace.

American Legion Auxiliary officers elected

Mrs. Jack Curtis was elected president at the Auxiliary of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, annual election held recently. She will succeed Mrs. George Lochner in the office.

Other newly elected officers who will be installed in September are: Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, first vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Holt, second vice president; Mrs. Lochner, secretary and Mrs. Ray Wood, treasurer.

Mrs. Josephine Bindi, chaplain; Mrs. Lillian Hull, Sergeant-at-Arms; Mrs. William Farkas, historian; Mrs. Louis McKenzie, Mrs. Lina Webster, and Mrs. Janice Jones, executive board; Mrs. Harry Pearsall, Mrs. Holt, and Mrs. Goldstick, auditing committee. The incoming president will announce her committees at a later meeting.

Mrs. Curtis, poppy chairperson, reported on the recent Poppy Day sales. She also thanked those who assisted. Mrs. Louis Orlowski was the top salesperson.

The members voted to send three children to Camp McSauba during the summer and to make a contribution to the Charlevoix County Humane Society. A $100 contribution to the Michigan Veterans Facility in Grand Rapids was acknowledged.

Mrs. Bindi reported on the cards and gifts sent to members who have been ill. A free will offering was accepted for the Sunshine Fund.

Surplus food given away

Surplus food commodities will be distributed in Charlevoix County on June 26 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The free distribution to qualifying families will include cheese, butter, flour, and honey.

Charlevoix County distribution sites include: the VFW Hall in Charlevoix; the Civic Center in Boyne City; the Civic Center in E. Jordan: and the Holy Cross Church on Beaver Island.

Further information may be obtained from Northwest Michigan Human Services at 347-9080.

Grange has craft show

Barnard Grange is sponsoring a Hobby and Craft Show at their hall on Barnard Road on Saturday June 29. The hall will be open at 9:00 a.m. and space is available for anyone wishing to display their handiwork for sale. The fee is $5 and exhibitors are asked to bring their own tables.

A salad luncheon with serving from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and a Cookie Sale will be held in conjunction with the show.

Special people in Special Olympics

A delegation of mentally impaired athletes from Bergmann Center are home now after competing at the 1985 Michigan Special Olympics State Summer Games May 30 through June 1. They were among more than 3,000 Special Olympians competing at the Games at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Patsy Zoulek, Helen Limron, Randy Smith, and David Wallace traveled to Mt. Pleasant following local training and competition. They were accompanied by local volunteer coaches Jim and Sharon McCallum.

The athletes competed in events including track and field, swimming, diving, gymnastics, and bowling. Between competitive events, athletes took advantage of training clinics, sports exhibitions, and recreational and cultural activities. Opening and closing ceremonies provided all the excitement and pageantry of the world Olympics.

The Summer Games are part of Michigan Special Olympics' year-round program of physical fitness, athletic training and sports competition for mentally impaired children and adults.

College attracts highest number of graduates in recent history

by FRAN MARTIN

Sixty-eight percent of the members of the 1985 graduating class of the Charlevoix High School plan to continue their education at either a two or four-year college, according to a survey completed recently by Charles Bentley and Gayle Gennett of tha hig school counseling staff.

Of this number, those attending four-year programs represent 53 percent of the group while two year programs will account for 15 percent of the class. The majority of those attending a two-year program plan to transfer to a four-year institution which offers a degree the survey revealed.

Of the 43 students not planning to attend college at this time, 16 indicate they plan to do so at some future date.

Eighteen members of the class of 13 percent have a job and will continue with that job following graduation; 8 percent are seeking jobs and 5 percent have a job now but plan to seek a different job. Six percent of the class will enter the armed services.

The fact that 68 percent of the class is attending college next year is the highest percentage in the recent history of the school, Bentley said. In the past the number ranged from 47 percent in 1976 to 63 percent in 1982. This year's figure also represents the largest number planning to attend four-year college or 53 percent. Until now the highest number was 40 percent of the class.

The diversity of the class is evidenced by the large number of colleges the students plan to attend. Following are the chosen colleges and the number of students planning to enroll in each:

North Central Michigan College (two years and transfer) 19; Michigan State University, nine; Central Michigan University and Ferris State College, eight each; Northwestern Michigan College (two years and transfer), seven; Albion College, six; University of Michigan, five; Michigan Tech. University, three.

Grand Valley State College, Kalamazoo College, Northern Michigan University and Western Michigan University, two each; Alma College, Ann Arbor Travel School (one year), Aquinas College, Davenport College, General Motors Institute, Hillsdale Colege, I.T.T. (Grand Rapids three years), Michigan Christian College, C.S. Mott Community College (two years), Olivet College, Suomi College (two years), one each.

Out of state colleges are Bauder College, GA., Miami University, OH., Trevecca Nazarene College, TN., University of Colorado and St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, IN., one each.

(All are four year institutions unless indicated otherwise.)

Venetian Festival T-shirt design contest

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce invites you to design the Official 55th Annual Venetian Festival T-shirt logo.

The contest winner will receive a $75 cash prize and this year's shirt will carry the official winning logo!

Here's how to enter:

Submit your original design of black artwork on white letter sized paper.

Limited to black design on white paper only.

Include with the design your complete entry form. (Available at the Charlevoix Chamber office)

Entry deadline is June 30, 1985.

There is no special theme for this year's festival, but it will be the 55th year of celebrations. Venetian always brings to mind: carnivals, queen's pageants, music, street and boat parades, and fireworks.

Entry in this contest permits the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce exclusive use of winning design. Artwork of other entries will be returned at each entrants request only.

Final decision to be made by President Gary Gleason, Venetian Chairman Dave Knight, and Chamber Executive Director Claudia Kenifeck.

For more information and entry forms, contact the Charlevoix at 547-2101.

Wind Symphony leaves Charlevoix, conductor blasts Coast Guard's role

Conductor Robert Boudreau guided the American Wind Symphony's barge, Point Counterpoint 11, out of Round Lake at 12:15 a.m. Thursday, vowing never to return to the Great Lakes.

"The Coast Guard has made it impossible for the American Wind Symphony to travel in the Great Lakes," Boudreau said prior to leaving port.

The troubled ship had been detained in Charlevoix while Boudreau and the Coast Guard battled over the ship's classification and certification to travel on the Great Lakes.

The self-propelled concert barge was approved for travel to its next concert at Conneaut, Ohio after Boudreau made a variety of repairs and additions to the ship's safety equipment. He was given a "temporary load line authorization."

In his last hours in Charlevoix, Boudreau struck out at the Coast Guard which he accused of harassing his ship and orchestra for nine years. "I believe there should be a congressional investigation of the U.S. Coast Guard," he said.

"Nobody is controlling the power of the Coast Guard," he added. "They don't really help like the Army Corps of Engineers does. The Corps has been great."

Boudreau said that he has heard criticism of the Coast Guard throughout the country. "I haven't heard one good response to the name of the Coast Guard anywhere I've been," he said.

The conductor estimated that the incident had cost the American Wind Symphony Orchestra some $100,000 in new equipment and lost income from a cancelled date in Windsor, Ontario. "I'll never come back to the Great Lakes," he said somewhat dejectedly. "It's been hard. My gut has been tied in knots. I can't sleep and I can't eat," he added.

He vowed to keep up the fight to have his boat classified as a yacht and therefore have it exempted from the controls of the American Bureau of Shipping. But on his last day in Charlevoix, the Wind Symphony's leader seemed less optimistic than he had been earlier in the week.

Despite his bitterness over the Coast Guard affair, Boudreau was appreciative of his treatment by the people of Charlevoix.

"If it had to happen, thank God it happened in Charlevoix," he concluded.

Boyne's first homes tour benefits historical society

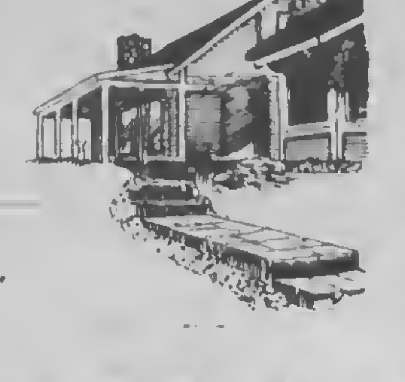
In 1856 two hardy homesteaders, John and Harriet Miller, beached their boat on the shore of the Boyne River and climbed the riverbank to discover an abandoned and dilapidated shelter, their first "dream cabin."

Nearly one hundred and thirty years have passed since the Millers made their commitment to this area, but Boyne-on-the-Bay is still a beautiful and idylic place for a "dream cabin."

For the first time, local sons and daughters are opening their homes for a Home Tour to benefit the Boyne City Historical Society which is working with the Historical Commission to establish a museum for the area's artifacts. On Wednesday, June 26, four homes and four condominiums will be open for public showing, each with a different architectural style and decor ranging from colonial casual to formal modern.

The "Kostin Cottage House" owned by Bob and Judie Kostin is a renovated, turn-of-the-century tannery row house on Front Street in Boyne City. The original 24x24 foot structure has a kitchen and guest addition which retains the charm and character of a quieter era. While the feeling is nostalgic, the mood is romantic due to the expanse of indoor flowers that sweep onto an outdoor garden patio surrounded by more bright summer flowers.

While you're in the neighborhood, walk across Front Street to view four Harborage-on-the-Bay condominiums, units 39, 45, 50 and 54 with decors that range from nautical to contemporary. The apartments feature a variety of floor plans designed by Dave Trautmen to take full advantage of the panoramic view of Lake Charlevoix.



The "Hillhouse" overlooking Lake Charlevoix will be among the homes featured in the Boyne City Homes Tour.

From there, drive across town to Hi and Sharon Stover's Spanish hacienda on the corner of East and State Streets. Built in 1926 of imported brick, the interior features a cozy contemporary atmosphere in ice cream sherbet colors. The home was originally known as the "House of Kaden" after Frank and Mae Kaden, long-time area retailers.

Continue along the lake to Gary and Lynn Osterbeck's country estate on the Boyne City-Charlevoix road. Nestled in five acres of woods, this lakeside home was designed by the owners and built by Larry Trumble. The main focus of the Country French interior is the 17-foot wide, floor-to-ceiling stone fireplace.

Turning north, off the Boyoe City-Charlevoix Road, onto West Road is Bill and Billie Beckenhauer's "Hillhouse" overlooking Lake Charlevoix and the Village of Horton Bay in Hemmingway country. This Early American home has recently been redecorated to create a more formal Colonial atmosphere in shades of antique white, pastel blue and sunny yellow. A swimming pool set into the side of the hill is a delightful surprise.

Finish the afternoon in Boyne City. The community's newest restaurant, Stafford's One Water Street, is offering a $6.00 luncheon special for Home Tour ticket holders that includes rolls, salad, entree, beverage, dessert and gratuity.

Directions to the homes are printed on the tickets, and each home will have a green and white yard sign to make touring easier. Tickets at $6 each, are available in Charlevoix at the Chamber of Commerce office, as well as the Chamber offices in Boyne City, Petoskey, and East Jordan; the Bread Box Bakery, the Depot Restaurant, and Pippins Restaurant in Boyne City.

Homes may be visited in random order at the convenience of the ticmet holder between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Children will not be permitted on the tour.

DNR explains state Wetlands Act

by PEG OHLE

Among the matters on the agenda of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission at its last meeting was a letter from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) concerning the responsibilities of the public under the Wetlands Act, which concerns all landowners whose property is near a lake or stream.

The DNR letter explains the Wetlands Act (legally known as the Goemaere-Anderson Protection Act of 1979) in terms most laymen can understand.

The DNR uses three characteristics to determine a wetland: soil, hydrology, and vegetation. However, because growth habits of vegetation vary widely, vegetation generally is not a reliable sole indicator of wetlands.

Soil types are the most reliable indicators of wetlands because the soil is formed over the long term and indicates moisture conditions present that define wetlands. When considering soil conditions, the DNR is most concerned with the top three feet of soil.

Hydrology has to do with the water content of the soil. The DNR checks for the level of the water table in a bore hole. A consistently high water table may be a key indicator of a wetland situation.

Explaining vegetation further, the DNR notes that other than cattails, in Michigan the two most common types of wetland are forested and scrub-shrub. Species usually associated with those types of wetland are tamarack, balsam, black spruce, red maple, ash, alder, re-osier dogwood, willow, etc. A cedar swamp is a forested wetland.

In Charlevoix County, only wetlands contiguous or adjacent to a lake or stream are presently regulated under the Wetlands Act. Later on, when a wetlands inventory is completed in the county, noncontiguous wetlands will be regulated under the Act.

As specified by the Act, landowners are required to obtain a permit from the Department of Natural Resources for the following activities:

–The depositing or allowing the placement of fill into a wetland.

–The dredging, removing, or allowing the removal of soil or minerals from a wetland.

–The construction operation or maintenance of any use or development in a wetland unless specifically exempted.

–The draining of surface waters from a wetland.

Anyone contemplating building a house or other structure on a plat of land near the shores of a lake, river, or stream, or planning to fill, dredge, or remove soil or minerals from such an area should contact DNR Regional Headquarters, P. O. Box 128, 8717 North Roscommon Road, Roscommon, Michigan 49653. Phone (517) 275-5151.

Concentrated road patrol targets special traffic safety problems

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's office is presently participating in a new traffic safety concept of concentrated patrol to reduce accidents in Charlevoix County.

Any concerned citizen of Charlevoix county who has a concern over traffic safety for any specific road, can contact Sheriff Lasater for concentrated patrol consideration. The traffic safety concern may be speeders, careless or reckless drivers, drunk drivers or other infractions.

One or more deputies in marked and unmarked patrol units will be assigned to the concentrated patrol roadway for designated periods of time. The citizen or groups of citizens requesting the services will be supplied a written report after the concentrated patrol efforts as to the number of citations issued, safety inspections performed, traffic stops made, arrest and number of patrol hours spent on the problem area.

When the citizen is requesting this service from the sheriff's office, please be able to supply Sheriff Lasater with the required information: specific roadway requested for concentrated patrol, nearest cross road, types of violations the citizen has observed, suspects if any (type of car, etc.), and time of day and day of week the citizen would recommend.

It should be noted that this program will be in addition to regular sheriff's department patrol activities.

This special program is funded by the State Public Act 416; Sheriff's Secondary Road Patrol. Request for this service may be made to Sheriff George T. Lasater at 547-4461.

OPEN SEASONS AND CATCH LIMITS ON PIKE, WALLEYE, SAUGER AND MUSKELLUNGE

Under the authority of Section 4, Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, being 300.4 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission, at its May 17, 1985, meeting, amended its December 6, 1984, order, No. CFI-112.84, Open Seasons and Catch Limits on Pike, Walleye, Sauger and Muskallunge, and ordered that the following amended order become effective May 17, 1985, and remain valid for a period of five years until March 31, 1990.

It shall be unlawful to take the following named species except within the open seasons and daily limits prescribed (statewide regulations apply unless otherwise restricted):

Statewide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from May 15 through February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The daily catch limit shall be five singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; one for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge).

The above regulations apply statewide except that walleye and sauger may be taken at any time from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair, and Lake Erie; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December 15 of each year. The daily catch on Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers shall be six singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least one walleye or sauger. Also, the daily catch on Lake Erie shall be 10 singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least five walleye or sauger. For the purposes of this order the boundary between the Detroit River and Lake Erie is defined as an east-west line touching the southern most tip of Celeron Island.

Water's Edge proposes condominium complex

A major new condominium development on Lake Charlevoix was presented the the Charlevoix Township zoning board on Wednesday, June 19.

Developers representing Water's Edge Inc., one mile south of Charlevoix, asked for a rezoning of 40 acres of property, including 1,450 feet of shoreline, from R-2 residential to Planned Residential Zone so that they could proceed with site plans on the property.

A motion to approve the rezoning by board member Hal Forbrig was not seconded and the rezoning was deferred to a future meeting. Clarence Goldstick, acting chairman, and Jerry Puhl also heard the developers proposal. Zoning Board Chairman Larry Campbell was absent.

Presenting the development request were John Deery of Global Communications, Inc., Ed Oelschlaeger of First Centrum Corp., William Johnson of William J. Johnson and Assoc., and Sherman Chamberlain of Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering.

Debate on the project centered on the developer's specific plans for the property. Puhl requested information on the number of units planned for the area. "We have no idea of the total number of units," Oelschlaeger said, adding that he expected the project to be developed over a three to six year period and would include condominiums in the $150,000 to $300,000 price range.

The developers maintained that it was impossible to estimate the size of the development until marketing surveys, environmental assesments, and purchasing agreements were complete. The rezoning was necessary, they said, in order for them to invest the money necessary to complete those efforts and to draw up site plans.

Township control over the density and nature of the development should be done at the site plan stage, they argued.

Puhl pressed for information on the size of the development, estimating that as many as 837 units could be built on the property under the Planned Residential zoning. Oelschlaeger said that the development would not approach that figure but as to the estimated density, he said, "We don't know. We can't give you a figure."

Johnson, former dean of the University of Michigan's Department of Natural Resources and currently head of his own land planning company, described the site as "beautiful, unbroken by development."

Local man arrested in shotgun rampage

by FRAN MARTIN

A 35-year-old Ironton man charged with three counts of felonious assault and a felony with a firearm was being held at the Charlevoix County jail late Monday in lieu of a $2,000 cash bond set Monday. Arraignment in District Court is scheduled for 10 a.m., July 2.

The man was taken into custody at 3:30 a.m. Saturday after giving himself up following a rampage during which he allegedly fired shots from a 12 gauge shotgun at a sheriff's deputy and state police from the Petoskey post and pointed the loaded gun at Sheriff George T. Lasater.

The officers arrived at the man's Birch Terrace Drive home a mile south of Ironton on M-66 at 1:45 a.m. in response to a telephone call from the man to the sheriff's department asking for assistance. Officers found him damaging his home by smashing windows, walls, and furniture. Efforts to talk to the man resulted in the gunshots at the officers.

In a telephone call from Sheriff Lasater, the man told Lasater he would talk to him if he would come unarmed. When Lasater did as he was asked, the man pointed the loaded gun at him. He was later talked into giving himself up and was taken into custody at 3:30 a.m. No one was injured in the altercation.

The Sheriff's officers were assisted by the state police from the Petoskey Post and Charlevoix and East Jordan police officers.

Efforts made to keep golf tournament here

City and business officials have been meeting recently to work on ways to make sure that the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament, held this week at Belvedere Golf Club, keeps coming to Charlevoix.

Recent rumblings of dissatisfaction among members of the Golf Association of Michigan (GAM) prompted Mayor Hal Hill to ask interested parties to address the issue.

At a meeting on Friday, Eugene Tower, president of the Belvedere Club, meet with community leaders to discuss the matter. Tower said that Belvedere Golf Club, which derives 80 percent of its revenue from public play, was in need of new equipment to make the course more suitable for the tournament.

It was not going to be easy, he said, since the "golf club is in tough financial shape." Tower said the club needed additional money to make up for the money lost during the week of the tournament. "Historically we get $10,000 for a week of play in June, and the agreement with GAM provides only $6,500.

"GAM is disappointed that the golfers have not been received by the City of Charlevoix as well as they should have been," Tower added.

"We want to do all we can to prevent a groundswell of opinion to move the tournament," he said.

The people present at the meeting agreed that the tournament provides Charlevoix and the Belvedere Club with a tremendous amount of good, free publicity and prestige each year.

Suggestions for raising funds ranged from a benefit tournament to precede the Amateur to a celebrity exhibition round played in conjunction with the tournament.

Hill hopes to continue meeting with city people interested in retaining the tournament.

Hal Hill announced that a special meeting will be held at City Hall on Wednesday, June 26, at 10 a.m. to discuss the future of the Michigan Amateur. Hill said that GAM president Jeff Rivard will be present to discuss the situation with city merchants, officials, and interested parties. Anyone with an interest in retaining the golf tournameot in Charlevoix is encouraged to attend.

Demolition of the Hoffmann house.

Hoffmann house falls to wrecking company

The turn of the century house on Park Avenue, which Dr. Walter Hoffmann willed to the City of Charlevoix in 1983, met its end last week when the wrecking crew of C.H. Smith went to work. Dr. Hoffmann gave the property to the City with the stipulation that it be improved as a park.

Records in the Register of Deeds office indicate that the property was first sold to George H. Martin on February 27, 1900 for $1,000. Owners following that included Angus A. McKinnon, Flora McKinnon, Charles Novak, Daniel Payton, John Koch, O. Gotti, Edward J. Smith, Margery Smith, Getchel Gampfield, Janie Smith, Harry Knowles, Fern K, McIntyre, and Raymond J. Sharrow; Dr. Hoffmann acquired the property in 1965.

The City plans not only to landscape the area as a park, but to build a walkway down the channel bank to the Pine River.

Attitude survey ok'd by planning group

by DOUG TRUAX

A survey of residents' attitudes toward the management and use of Lake Charlevoix will be undertaken this summer, following approval of the plan by the Lake Charlevoix Management Planning Advisory Committee at its meeting Thursday.

A mail questionnaire will be sent to a sample of Charlevoix County property owners in late July or August, County Planner Larry Sullivan told the committee.

Plans for the survey were discussed by the committee with William Kimball of the Michigan State University Department of Resource Development and Dean Rose, district extension officer.

"This really is going to be your study," Kimball told the group. "It isn't a study that is going to be done by some outsiders."

County planners in consultation with the management committee will develop questions for the survey. Kimball and other experts at MSU will consult on the design and wording of the questionnaire. Computer anaysis for the survey will be done by another organization, possibly the Northwest Regional Planning center in Traverse City.

Sullivan said that he hopes to have most of the survey work completed by October 1 when the fiscal year ends for the Costal Management grant which is providing funds for the survey.

"We are all under as tough a time pressure as I can imagine," Kimball told the group. It is important, he said, to limit the scope of the survey and do as accurate a job as possible. "Make sure that whatever you do is done well," Kimball said.

John Hall, chairman of the management advisory committee, underscored the need for a carefully done survey. "We want to come out with something that has validity, that will stand up."

That was especially important, Rose said, because "there is a good chance that this report will end up in court."

Kimball said the overall objective of the survey, as he understood it, was "to obtain the most accurate total picture possible of how the Lake Charlevoix area residents feel about issues concerned with land and water."

Kimball and others noted that the survey could be considered as the first round in a process of gathering information on attitudes toward Lake Charlevoix. Future efforts could be directed at tourist attitudes and the opinions of key policy makers.

In other business, Jerry Puhl read the committee a letter from Howard Neilson on behalf of the board of directors of WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix). In the letter WATCH said it was withdrawing its support previously offered to the Lake Charlevoix Management Advisory Committee for a comprehensive lake study. Puhl said that it was the feeling of many in WATCH that they "didn't want to spend the time and energy to do a $100,000 study and not have it used."

The letter indicated that WATCH was restructuring its board of directors so that the majority would be year-round residents.

Sailboard championship site approved by City Council

Ferry Beach was approved as the site of the 4th Annual Wayler North American Boardsailing Championships at City Council's working session on Monday night.

The Boardsailing Chamnpionships will be held August 2-4 under the sponsorship of G.S. Sports, Addison, Ill.

Council also approved the use of the Ferry Beach Annex (north of the swimming beach) by The Bahnhof to conduct sailboard lessons thoughout the summer. Flip Brown, Bahnhof director of boardsailing, told Council that the classes will be two-four days a week and are limited to a maximum of four students to one instructor.

Brown said that Bahnhof would provide all the necessary safety equipment and would pay $100 per month rent on the property. Lessons, he added, cost $45 for six hours of instruction.

If the weather warms up sufficiently, Brown said, lessons could

Seat belt law in effect

Beginning July 1, 1985, Michigan's Public Act 1 of 1985, requires all front seat occupants of motor vehicles to wear their properly adjusted safety belts.

Failure to do so could result in a $10 fine until January 1, 1986; after that date the fine is $25.

Jack Mol, city police chief, says that city police will be enforcing the law. The law stipulates, he says, that drivers cannot be stopped solely because the front seat occupants are not wearing seat belts, but can be cited if stopped for other infractions.

Motor vehicles manufactured before 1965 or a vehicle not originally equipped with belts under federal law are exempt.

Violation of the safety belt use law is a civil infraction. Conviction of a safety belt violation is not reported to the Secretary of State. No points are entered on a person's driving record. Under certain medical-physical situations a driver or passenger may be exempt from wearing a safety belt if such an exemption is granted by a physician.

Occupants of commercial or U.S. Postal Service vehicles which make frequent stops for the purpose of pickup or delivery of goods or services are not required to wear safety belts.

City Council action begin as early as this weekend.

Council also discussed further with Richard Beagle of the Charlevoix County Business and Industry Task Force the proposed affiliation with the Charlevoix-Antrim County Growth Alliance.

Council had deffered action on joining the Alliance at its last regular meeting after several councilmen expressed reservations about the effectiveness of the plan. Funding for the Growth Alliance is shared among all units participating at the rate of $.76 per capita.

Charlevoix and Antrim counties have already agreed to to take part in the program, as has Boyne City, Beagle said. East Jordan has decided not to join independent of the county.

Charlevoix's cost for one year in the program would be approximately $2,700. State funds would be sought to supplement local revenues for the program.

Shirley Roloff said she was leery of joining another yet another program. "I am one who would like to know if we are getting our money's worth," she asked Beagle. He noted that the Business and Industry Task Force had worked closely with City Manager Mike Wiesner and the Chamber of Commerce in providing information and assistance.

Councilman Mike Greeley said that by joining the Alliance Charlevoix would be assured of a role in attracting new business to the area.

Wiesner also reported to Council that an offer had been received from the Bullfrog Light Co. for property in the new industrial park.

The candle manufacturing company had offered $7,772 per acre for 1.93 acres, Wiesner said, and wanted an option on an additional 1.5 acres at $10,000 per acre. The city had offered the property at the appraised value of $9,000 per acre.

Two morning worship services will be held at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix beginning June 30 and ending August 4. Services will be held at 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. with Sunday School continuing to meet at 10:00 a.m.

It is hoped an 8:30 a.m. service will help meet the needs of our summer visitors as well as encourage the overall attendance during our busy summer seson.

John Hall said that his committee will make a commitment to work out the differences between the two groups.

Sullivan told the committee that help wanted advertisemnts would be placed soon for a technican to help develop maps and graphics on Lake Charlevoix. The job will be for two months and would start in early July, Sullivan said.

New bed and breakfast inn opens here, couple brings touch of a by-gone era

Bridge Street Inn, Charlevoix's second bed and breakfast accomodation, has opened in what was formerly the Valkomen rooming house at 113 Michigan Avenue, top of the North Hill.

However, the Bridge Street Inn provides more than a place to sleep and a cup of coffee. Owners Penny and Doug Shaw have used almost 10 tons of antique furnishings they brought from California to fill the three-story house. Almost everywhere one looks, there is a piece of furniture or decorative object reminiscent of a by-gone era.

There is a three-piece oak living room settee and matching chair set, old clocks of various size and style, antique lamps, a brass cash register, a large old brass and glass plant stand, an oak umbrella stand, old dressers and chests of drawers, a 1946 working juke box, even a wooden cigar store Indian, to mention only some of the museum-type objects.

But all is not old in the Bridge Street Inn. The Shaws have bought brand new linens for the beds – sheets, pillow cases and pillows, electric blankets, and bright colored spreads – as well as bathroom supplies.

There are nine sleeping rooms in the Inn. Three rooms have private baths and six share bathrooms. Seven rooms are furnished with queen-sized beds, one with a full-size bed, and one with twin beds. As noted above, they are all decorated in a tasteful and interesting manner, and they all have a view of either Lake Charlevoix or Lake Michigan.

In the morning, guests are treated to a continental breakfast, which they may eat in the dining room, on the front porch, or from the table provided in the larger rooms.

The Shaws also offer some services not usually given by hostelries. They are in the process of collecting menus from local restaurants so their guests may consult them and decide where to dine. Then the Shaws will make dinner reservations for them, and when the guests return home, they will be offered an after-dinner wine in the living room. For business men guests, the Shaws will assist in making business appointments.

Penny and Doug moved here from southern California after looking for a bed and breakfast location in the southwest and midwest. They rescinded their first offer on the Charlevoix property in mid-winter while sitting at home in their sunny back yard. Another day brought another thought, however, and they went through with the deal.

Doug is a native Californian but Penny grew up in Southfield and knows something of Michigan weather. They both like to ski and sail and have joined the Charlevoix Yacht Club. They have also joined the Chamber of Commerce, an organization in which Doug was active in California.

Yarn Depot opens:

Little shop offers lots of knitting yarn

by PEG OHLE

The small building at the corner of Antrim and State Streets, which once served as a Standard Oil Service Station, now contains hundreds of skeins of yarn and other supplies for those who work with knitting needles.

Carla Chepy moved to Charlevoix from Grand Rapids recently to open her first shop, the Yarn Depot.

"I loked all around northern Michigan, studied the cities, and decided on Charlevoix because I thought it was best for my business. There's a market here," she told the Courier.

A former bookeeper, Miss Chepy explained that she simply made a "career change" by deciding to capitalize on her knitting talents, which she learned from her grandmother.

"I specialize in natural fibers," she said, "wool, silk, mohair, cotton, linen, and blends of these. But I also have some specialty fibers and lots of classic yarns."

In addition to yarns, the Yarn Depot carries a complete line of knitting notions and patterns. For the purist, Miss Chepy can hand-spin wool yarn. The advantages of the hand-spun product, she believes, are that it is more rugged and practical for outdoor garments. It is denser and therefore warmer. In addition, she can leave any given amount of oil in the yarn and spin it in any size to fit a particular pattern.

For those who have not mastered the art of knitting, the Yarn Depot will offer lessons, four of which should make a basically good knitter out of almost anyone, according to Miss Chepy.

And for those who would rather have someone else do their knitting for them, Miss Chepy will provide a custom-made service. She will also sell her sample garments.

It takes from two days to two weeks to knit a sweater, Miss Chepy figures, depending on size of yarn and style and size of garment. "We will keep a garment calender," she explained, "so we can tell customers when their garment will be ready.

"We will stress personalized service," she added.

Charlevoix's Anderson gets seat on Char-Em Board

Barry A. Anderson, vocational education teacher at the Charlevoix High School out-polled two incumbents to win a six-year term on the Char-Em Intermediate School District Board recently.

Anderson, with 1491 votes, was the top vote-getter for one of two seats on the I.S.D. board. Opal Goldsmith of Petoskey, president of the board at the time of the election, received 1442. The second incumbent, Herbert Carpenter of Central Lake had 1280 votes.

Anderson said he was pleasantly surprised at the number of votes he recieved in the election. He also said he was looking forward to working on the board because he was already familiar with the many programs the Intermediate School District offers through his position with the school system.

Anderson, a native of Pellston, has been in the Charlevoix School System since 1968 when he came here as a teacher and basketball coach. He has been Vocational Education Director for the past 13 years.

A graduate of the Pellston High School, he has an Associate's degree from Davenport Business College, a B.A. degree from Ferris State College, and an M.A. degree from Central Michigan University. He has also taken graduate courses at Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

He served as principal and teacher at Mackinaw City of three years before coming to Charlevoix.

Foreclosure sale

Fochtman Chevrolet-Buick has six months to redeem property sold for $377,000 during a mortgage foreclosure action recently.

First National Bank and Trust Co. of Petoskey, holder of the mortgges, was the lone bidder.

The car dealership has possession of the buildings and property through the redemption period.

The foreclosure action, in Charlevoix County Circuit Court, showed a judgment due the bank of $470,149.

Save the tournament

The Michigan Amateur Golf Championship being played this week at the Belvedere Golf Club represents a nice addition to the tourist traffic at a time when the city can use it. Its economic impact, although not large, is important. The greatest benefit to the city, and to the Belvedere Club, is the prestige and publicity it brings.

Recent rumblings of discontent have caused concern for a few city officials and business interests. Belvedere Club is not happy with the compensation they were receiving from the Golf Association of Michigan; they want the city to kick in some for new equipment to get the course in better shape. Former champion Glenn Johnson complained that there were better courses, like Boyne, for the tournament. And the GAM was not pleased with the amenities provided for the tournament players.

The tide might be turning against Belvedere which has been the site of the tournament for over two decades.

Mayor Hal Hill wisely decided to get things back under control and to meet with all interested parties in an effort to keep the tournament here. The response from the community has been less than overwhelming.

But strides are being made and the parties are talking now, before the current agreement with GAM expires and it is too late.

The Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees are doing much to upgrade the services provided to the golfers this year. Belvedere Club President Eugene Tower has been meeting with Hill and others in order to come up with some creative ways to finance the tournament, including a benefit or celebrity tournament for the course.

Golf in northern Michigan has become a megabuck promotional game. The competition is severe. By the standards set by Grand Traverse Resort, Boyne Country, and other major golf centers, the tournament in Charlevoix remains a modest little gem of understatement that pays surprising dividends.

Hill is right to make the effort now. He has planned a meeting with GAM president Jeff Rivard and all interested members of the community for this Wednesday, June 26, at 10 a.m. in City Hall. Anyone with an interest in the future of the tournament should attend.

Letters to the Editor:

Southern hospitality

Dear Editor,

While sitting by the pool this past winter in Florida, I was reading my Charlevoix Cookbook and the Charlevoix Courier one day. Ed and Louise Hayes of Lexington, Kentucky happened to be sitting nearby and my reading material piqued their curiosity and directed the conversation to Charlevoix.

The previous summer they were at the Charlevoix Airport enroute to Beaver Island to visit friends. While waiting, this effervescent, bouncy personality overhearing them talk, approached them saying, "I can tell by the way you talk that you are from the South, and I just love people from the South." This conversation led her to invite them to a tour of Charlevoix as they had an hour to wait.

She promised them she wouldn't let them miss their plane as her husband was the pilot and would wait. As a result of this pleasant adventure, my Florida friends have the happiest of memories of Charlevoix the Beautiful. They fondly remember Charlevoix, the petunias, and you, Lois Hodgson.

How's this for Southern Hospitality in Northern Michigan y'all.

A lethal combination

Dear Editor

Since Sheriff George Lasater has been getting "more general flak from citizens due to our 'get tough' policy on drunk drivers," I would like to express my commendation of that policy. There is no reason why people should be maimed and killed on our roads just because some poeple, whose judgment is aready impaired, don't know when to quit drinking or that drinking and driving may be just as lethal as carrying a loaded weapon.

Mail order prescriptions opposed

Dear Editor:

Are mail order prescriptions for you?

Everyone wants to save money these days. UAW, AARP, and other organizations are trying to save money by having its members mail their prescriptions out of the State of Michigan. This may save a few cents, but you may lose your freedom.

Your neighborhood pharmacist is governed by local and state laws which were designed to protect you. Mail order houses are not legal in the State of Michigan. Your prescriptions must be sent to another state, not subject to the same laws, regulations, and periodic inspections as your local community pharmacy.

Your local pharmacist is an active member and supproter of this community. A "Drug Expert" with at least five years of college and a license to practice pharmacy, he is always available to consult with you or your doctor about your medicine.

You have a right to the services of a professional pharmacist, who cares about you and is available to answer questions on your prescriptions as well as non-prescription drugs.

When an organization compells you to use a mail order house, you lose your right to choose a pharmacist who will provide you with the degree of service which you have come to expect.

Stand up for your right to choose your health specialists - your pharmacist!

Kathleen A. Engstrom, pharmacist

Clockwise

Barrier free

By Bob Clock

Florence Wojan of Charlevoix agrees that a guardrail across the entrance to the new stairway leading to Pine River Channel by the bridge is a good idea. It may prevent bicyclists, skateboarders, and other free-wheeling spirits from taking a nasty tumble down the stairs and onto the rocks or into the water below.

But she feels it is a shame that there is no access to the Pine River Channel walkway for the handicapped, or even mothers with strollers.

Although the steep banks on the north side of the channel practically preclude a ramp in that area, Mrs. Wojan believes a sloping walkway to water's edge might be possible at Hoffmann Park, across the channel. Then, if a south bank walkway is ever built, people in wheelchairs and mothers with strollers could wend their way all the way to the lighthouse, if they so desired.

It is something for the planners of Hoffmann Park to keep in mind. Too often in the past we have neglected the handicapped in planning public improvements. In fact, it is only in recent years that we have given any consideration to anyone less than able-bodied in any kind of construction project.

Remember the old Carnegie Library at the corner of State and Clinton streets? You had to climb a whole flight of stairs in order to reach the front door. Even the second stories of the city hall and county building are inaccessible, unless you have a pair of good legs.

But those days are drawing to a close. Thanks to barrier-free design legislation, movers-and-shakers are required to make their handiworks accessible to the handicapped. Many years, of course, will pass before all of our public buildings are barrier-free. But that day is coming.

In the meantime, a winding ramp in Hoffmann Park is worth considering.

On the same subject, congratulations to the board of the Congregational Church on its plans to construct a barrier-free access to the sanctuary on Park Avenue. It should be welcomed not only by the handicapped but also by the elderly, who find stairs too exhausting.

The Petoskey Library Commission also deserves a pat-on-the-back for planning a barrier-free access addition between the library and the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center next door. I am sure many of Charlevoix's handicapped will make better use of the Arts Center once it is completed.

The importance of such structures has come home to me in spades this week. I have spent the past five days atop tall ladders in an effort to get the house scrapped, primed, and painted before winter sets in. In the morning, every joint aches and I am painfully aware that the years are taking their toll.

Let's hear it out there for barrier-free access.

After one of the longest, coldest, wettest springs on record, summer arrived about noon Friday under partially sunny skies. The optimists among us are hoping for a more normal summer; but the pessimists are predicting more-of-same.

I'm not taking sides. But if I were traveling in Northern Michigan this summer, I'd pack a couple of warm sweaters along with the suntan lotion.

A Christian's concern with abortion is stated

The Christian's concern with abortion is three-fold: concern for the baby, the mother, and our society.

The fact that the word abortion does not appear in the Bible does not mean that God is silent on the subject. Rather, one must probe the scripture in deeper and broader context to discern His will regarding the matter. One doesn't find heroin mentioned either, but it is difficult for Christian's to deny that its use is Psalmist David uses the personal pronoun "me" in the above.

More directly, God speaks to Jeremiah showing the child in the womb is a person. Jeremiah 1:4&5, "Now the word of the Lord came to me saying, 'Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you'." Luke 1:41 records that when May greeted her cousin Elizabeth the baby in her womb (John the Baptist) "leaped" for joy, and the Greek word for "Baby" in this verse is the same word (brephos) denoted baby in Luke 2:12&16; an infant in Luke 18:15; and a child in II Timothy 3:15. In all these passages the scripture makes no distinction between born and unborn children.

Proverbs 24:11&12 from The Living Bible is fitting for our consideration from this point on. "Rescue those who are unjustly sentenced to wrong.. The basic question to be answered is whether God deems the unborn to be a person.

The scripture records in Psalm 139:13-15 that God knew David as a person before he was born: "You did death; don't stand bank and let them die. Don't try to disclaim responsibility by saying you didn't know about it. Hold back those who are stumbling to the slaughter". (Can these be the distressed parents who can only see abortion as the deceptively simple answer to their problems?) "If you say, 'Behold we did not know this', does not He who weighs the heart perceive it? Does not He which keeps watch over your form my inward parts, you knit me together in my mother's womb...you knew me right well; my frame was not hidden from you when I was being made in secret..." Human life begins at conception for the soul know It, and will He not requite man according to his work?"

With God's help, in Christian love, we can stem the tide of the murder that is rampant in our land. We may not be able to do much about abortion mills in the metropolitan areas of our country, but we can giva the right advice to the women in Charlevoix who may otherwise violate the clear plan of God for their life, and the life of their child.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sladek

Curtis - Sladek

Marjorie V. Curtis and Gerald Sladek exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, June 15, at the United Methodist Church in Charlevoix.

The Reverend David Yingling officiated at the double ring rites, which were witnessed by approximately 175 guests.

The bride, who has been making her home in Charlevoix, is the daughter of Otto Curtis of Roseville, California and Mrs. Marjorie Smith of Sacramento, California. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sladek of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer organza over taffeta which featured a wedding band collar and puffed sleeves fitted below the elbow. The yoked bodice was edged with a lace ruffle and trimmed with Sheffli and Venise lace. The skirt bottom and full cathedral train were also enhanced with a lace-trimmed ruffle.

Sheri Taylor assisted the bride as maid of honor and Barbar Mossher, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. They wore long gowns of light blue polyester chiffon and carried bouquets of spring flowers.

John Fiedorek and Jerry Keie were groomsmen, and James Curtis and Joe Sladek helped to seat the guests.

Music for the ceremony was contemporary and traditional organ selections.

Following the marriage ceremony, the parents of the newlyweds hosted a reception at the V.F.W. Hall. The rehearsal dinner was held at Ricciardi's, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

After a wedding trip to Maine and Eastern Canada and a Carribean cruise, the new Mr. and Mrs. Sladek will be at home on Richardson Road in Charlevoix. They are owners of Family Video Showcase.

Throw away society

Is America a throw away society? According to National Wildlife magazine, each day Americans throw out 200,000 tons of edible food, junk 20,000 automobiles that would form a line of traffic more than 50 miles long, and toss out 150,000 tons of boxes, bags, and wrappers.

Poison ivy treat

Poison ivy may be the bane of summer campers and hikers, but many animals revel in it, says International Wildlife magazine. Grouse, pheasants, bluebirds, chickadees, and other birds eat the seed. Black bear, cottontail rabbits, and mule deer relish the foliage.

Engagements

Lynne DeMoor and Jeffrey Crumbaugh

DeMoor - Crumbaugh

Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeMoor of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynne, to Jeffrey Crumbaugh of Ann Arbor. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Crumbaugh of St. Louis, Michigan.

The intended bride, a Hope College graduate, is presently attending Pennsylvania State College. Her fiance, also a Hope College graduate, is a student at the University of Michigan Medical School.

The wedding will take place August 17 at the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

Correction

Last week's Courier incorrectly listed the name of Mrs. Robert Hewitt who was installed as senior vice-president of the VFW Auxiliary.

Anniversaries

Glen's Market dumped by Charlevoix Garbage

The highlight of Monday's action in the men's league was the 5-4 win by Charlevoix Garbage over Glen's Market, the team's first victory in two seasons.

Bob Jones, the winning pitcher, allowed 12 hits but Glen's was unable to capitalize on this, bringing in only four runs. Bill Joy gave up nine hits.

In other games, Simpson Electric edged Tidy Car-Family Video and Swanson's edged past H&L Softball Club 5-4.

Alex Neldzeilkowski, the winning pitcher, allowed eight hits. Kirk Heckendorn gave up fivc to Simpson.

Phil Skeel on the mound for Swanson's allowed eight hits while Mike Mapes gave up 12 hits in the Swanson 5-4 win.

In a make-up game Tuesday night, Simpson Electrtic won over Glen's Market 15-5 with Alcx Niedzeilkowski allowing 11 hits to Bill Joy's 18 for Glen's.

Wojan Aluminum remained in a time for first place following Wednesday's action. In the third game Paul Bunyan Lanes deleated H&L Softball Club.

Wojan Afuminum won over Townhouse by a score of 10-2 with Jim Ciuk allowing 13 hits. Jim Werner, who took the loss, gave up 11 hits.

Grey Gables, with Ray Lavoie on the mound, defeated Simpson Electric 11-5 with Niedzeilkowski taking the loss. LaVoie allowed six hits and Niedzielkowski 13.

Clay Jones claimed one of the rare home runs hit this season as Paul Bunyan Lanes posted a 7-1 win over H&L. Mike Crain as the winning pitcher allowed seven hits. Mike Mpaes who gave up 10 hits was the losing pitcher.

Rocky Top takes co-ed slowpitch tournament

The Rocky Top Farms of Ellsworth defeated Sportsman's Bar of Boyne City 8-6 in extra innings to capture the title in the Charlevolx co-ed slowpitch tournament played here over the weekend.

The title game marked the second time the two teams had met in the tournament. Earlier, Rocky Top knocked the Sportsmen into the loser's bracket by a score of 12-5.

In the title game, Hugh Campbell as the winning pitcher allowed 14 hits. Bob Anderson, who took the loss, gave up nine hits.

In the game that put Rocky Top in the finals, an 11-10 win over the Petoskey Gambles, Rocky Top scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh to win. Sportsman's Bar found themselves in a tough game with Petoskey Gamblers before going into the finals against Rocky Top when the stubborn Gamblers stretched the game into nine innings before the Sportsmen won by a 4-2 score. Anderson was the winning pitcher, giving up 12 hits. Andy Swartzfisher allowed nine.

In the tournament that started late Saturday because of the rain storm, the Gamblers defeated Charlevoix Health and Fitness 10-2; Townhouse won over DCL of Ellsworth 8-2; Rocky Top defeated Hoskins 15-1 and Sportsman's Bar sent H&L Softball Club to the loser's bracket by a score of 11-0 in the first round of play.

In the second round in the winner's bracket, Petoskey Gamblers defeated Townhouse 15-7 and Rocky Top edged Sportsman's Bar 12-5.

In the loser's bracket, Health & Fitness shut out DCL 10-0; H&L Softball Club dumped Hoskins 12-10 before falling victim to Townhouse 10-8. Sportsman's Bar then deleated Townhouse 8-1 to go against the Gamblers.

The Sportsmen then eliminated the Gamblers 4-2 in nine innings to go into the finals against Rocky Top.

City offers golf lessons

The Charlevoix Recreation Department will be offering golf lessons for youngsters ages eight to 17 years interested in the game, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

—The lessons, which will be taught Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at the municipal golf course, will begin Monday, July 8.

The lessons will be offered in a series ol 45-minute sessions for $10. Instructors will be Joe Etienne and Sam Supernaw.

Interested persons may sign up at the Recreation Department office in the City Hall. Deadline for sign-ups is July 5.

Propsective students will be expected to wear tennis shoes.

Efforts will be made to supply students with clubs and balls. Anyone having any golf equipment not in use may contribute it to the program by leaving it at the clubhouse on Central Ave. Any type of equipment will be welcome, Boss said, including shag balls.

"We have people who have offered to repair clubs so regardless of their condition we will welcome them," Boss said in asking for used equipment.

Youth teams begin play

The recently-organized teams for the small fry of the community will begin play Tuesday and continue into August according to Dwlght boss, director of the Charlevoix Recreation Department which sponsors the program.

The Peanut League, which has only three teams, will open the season Tuesday with the Dodgers meeting the Cubs at 6 p.m. and the Tigers and the Dodgers meeting at 7:15 p.m.

The Ponytail League with four teams will play on Wednesday night. This week will find the Royals meeting the Angels at 6 p.m. and the Indians and the Orioles tangling at 7:15 p.m.

The T-Ball League which boasts nine teams will open on Friday and beginning the following week, will play on Monday and Thursday. This week will see the Royal Sox playing the Gold Sox at 6 p.m.; the Tan Sox taking on the Green Sox at 7 p.m. and the Red Sox playing the Purple Sox in the nightcap at 8 p.m. Friday.

The other teams in this league are Orange Sox, Maroon Sox, and the Light Blue Sox.

Rusty Coolman commuting to work

Sailboard enthusiast is overseas for record try

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Charlevoix's Rusty Coolman, 16, will be among seven young American windsurfers flying to Holland this week to become sailors of 50 sailboards lashed together to form the world's first sailing circle.

Coolman is the youngest member of the group and the only one not yet enrolled in college.

"The idea is to get kids together from other countries," Coolman explained. "The Europeans are further ahead of us in board sailing. They have already swithched to fun boards and know a lot more about it."

The Charlevoix High School junior was chosen to join the U.S. team by United States Wayler distributor, Richard Lepman of G.S. Sports of Addison, Illinois.

Lepman, who spends much of the year in Charlevoix, asked Rusty if he would like to be a part of the U.S. team. Lepman's company and Wayler of Holland will help underwwrite the team's expenses while in Holland.

Guiness Book of Records has been invited to send representatives to watch the entire proceedings.

The event will climax an International University Students' Windsurf Week, June 28 through July 5, at Balk, in the province of Friesland, in the north of Holland.

Since the art of sailing a board in coordination with other boards to which it is lashed is unique, there will be theoretical and practical instruction, as well as practice with an increasing number of boards throughout the week.

"We will spend the week practicing sailing in groups of five and ten and at the end we will attempt to break the Guiness Record by sailing 50 boards in a circle, snake, and straight line," Coolman said.

But there is also a program of free windsurfing, cultural events, and sightseeing trips around Holland.

Rusty's father, John Coolman, confessed he was envious of his son's opportunity. Following the week of board sailing in Holland, the U.S. team, including Coolman and Adele Lepman, formerly of Charlevoix, will bike around Holland and visit the U.S. board sailing team in Kiel, Germany.

Observing that his son has been board sailing for three years and practices regularly in Harbor Springs, the senior Coolman laughingly recalled watching Rusty come home from his job at Irish Boat Shop recently. "I couldn't believe it. There he was fully dressed, his backpack on, sailing a board across the lake."

Coleman Award goes to athletes Morgan and Fowler

Thad Morgan and Meg Fowler were named to receive the Stewart "Irish" Coleman award given annually by the Charlevoix Lions Club to outstanding athletes who have achieved high academic standings as students at the Charlevoix High School.

The awards were presented at a recent meeting of the sponsoring club by Arthur A. Ranger, president.

Morgan participated in football and baseball and was co-captain of the 1984 Rayder football team. Fowler lettcred in basketball, vollcyball, and baseball, was co-captain of the basketball team as a junior and senlor, volleyball team as a senior and, more recently received All-State recognition as a member of the Class C baseball team.

Both were among the top 27 students in their class who had a 3.5 or better grade-point average.

The awards are given annually in memory of Coleman, a Lions Club member and longtime teacher and coach at the Charlevoix High School. 1985 marked the twenty-second annual award to a boy and the twelfth to a girl. The award carries with it a $100 stipend to each student.

The names of the recipients are mounted on plaques at the Charlevoix High School.

Local archers score well in regional shoot

The Charlevolx Archery Club recently hosted a regional shoot by the Straights Field Archery Association, which represents clubs from northern lower Michigan to Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

The shoot was held June 9 at the club's range on Sequanota Road.

Despite extremely windy conditions, the archers shot well and Charlevoix participants placed high in several categories.

Ron Gates, who turned pro on June 1, shot a 784 score as the only archer in the men's pro freestyle.

Hugh Lambert Sr. turned in an impressive 700 score in the men's freestyle limited division. Placing in the men's bowhunter limited division were Ervin Barrett (second place), Gary Bodeis (third), Dan Gaiser (fourth), and Tom Hodgkinson (fifth).

Carol Bodeis was the sole competitor in the women's bowhunter limited, scoring a 365.

Hugh Lambert Jr. scored 665 in the boys' junior freestyle and placed first.

Gary Bodeis, an X-ray technician at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, was called away from the shoot twice on hospital business, but each time returned to complete his round.

The next Straights Field Archery Association shoot will be on July 14 in Traverse City.

Local archers are invited to join the Charlevoix Archery Club. They may do so by calling any member or by contacting Ron Gates at 547-4853. The club shoots throughout the summer and is open to any level of archer from beginner to advanced.

Humane Society in 10th year of placing pets

The Charlevoix County Humane Society, which recently completed its sixth dog obedience class, is now in its 10th year of service to local animal lovers.

The Society operates the animal shelter, located next to the Sheriff's Department on the south side of town, and daily takes in, cares for, and adopts out dogs and cats which need homes and care.

The Society meets the second Wednesday of each month alternately in Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan. The next meeting is scheduled for July 10 in Boyne City.

The officers of the Society are chosen from an elected Board of Directors representing the three cities in the county. This year they are Tad Malpass of East Jordan, president; Toni Jeffery of East Jordan, vice-president; Pat Sturm of Horton Bay, secretary; and Barbara Wheeler of East Jordan, treasurer.

In addition to these officers, the Board of Directors consists of Marthe Mathews, East Jordan; D'Ann Rothenberger, Charlevoix; Charles Robinson, Charlevoix; Dick Georgi, Charlevoix; Martha Annear, East Jordan; Dick Wheeler, East Jordan; Shirley Georgi, Charlevoix; and Vicki Robinson, Charlevoix.

The Shelter Manager is Vernice Smith, who is at the shelter five weekday afternoons a week.

Membership in the Humane Society is open to all interested persons, who are encouraged to attend the meetings.

IN NEED OF A HOME

Among the many pets available from the Humane Society are: a gentle stray German shepherd (top left), a young cock-a-po (bottom left), a part-cocker male (above, and a litter of kittens.

Tom King, Humane Society worker, with German shepherd puppy.

Wild animals make poor pets veterinarian warns

"Wild animals do not make good pets," Dr. Dave Norton, head of the Charlevoix Veterinary Hospital, warns.

He reports two recent cases of a raccoon and a skunk brought in by people who had purchased the animals from a distributor in the Upper Peninsula. "The novelty of wild animals soon wears off and it is not fair to the pet," Norton adds.

There are also severe health risks in trying to make pets out of wild animals, says Norton. Humans, he notes, risk severe illness from common intestinal roundworm of raccoons.

The American Veterinary Medical Association says that the parasite Baylisascaris proyonis has recently been the cause of fatal infections in other wildlife species and two children. Milder infections in adults have resulted in eye damage and other symptoms.

People, especially small children who habitually insert dirty hands or objects into their mouths, may become infected by ingesting parasite eggs found in contaminated dirt or food.

Raccoons, skunks, and other wild animals as pets also put people at risk of acquiring rabies.

Acid rain on Beaver Island well above normal rating

The precipitation on Beaver Island the week of June 10-18 reached a pH level of 4.13 which is 29 times more acid than unpolluted rain or snow, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs announced in their weekly acid rain report.

The acid rain watch has been conducted this summer for 12 locations in Michigan under a grant from the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation.

The pH scale is used to measure acid amounts in rain and snowfall. Unpolluted rain has a pH of 5.6. Many scientists believe that persistent acid rain at pH levels below 4.7 will damage man-made structures, fish, lakes, streams, crops, trees, and soils.

Notice to veterans

Disabled American Veterans, Department of Michigan Service Officer, Ronald Schrieber will be in Petoskey located at the Veterans Affairs Office from 9:30-3:30 p.m. on July 3 to assist any veterans or veterans widows or dependants with any help they need to file for any veterans benefits as well as answering any questions in regards to benefits available. You need not be a member of the DAV to obtain assistance.

Kim Curtis pictured after being named 1984 Venetian Queen.

Curtis competes in Cherry Queen Pageant

Kimberly Curtis, 20, 1984 Venetian Queen, will represent Charlevoix in the National Cherry Queen Pageant to begin in Traverse City, June 27.

Queen Kim will join other candidates from throoghout the state in a series of interviews to be held at Traverse City June 27-29. Five finalists will be chosen from among the candidates with the National Cherry Queen being named during the National Cherry Festival early in July. The other four finalists will serve as members of the queens court.

A 5'3" ash blonde with blue eyes, Kim is the daughter of Jack and Katie Curtis. She is presently a junior at Ferris State College majoring in Business Administration. She is a member and vice president of Alpha Sigma Tau, a national sorority. She is a 1983 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and a licensed cosmotologist. An accomplished horsewoman, she is a member of the Northwestern Barrell Benders.

She enjoyts several outdoor sports including competitive horseback riding, downhill skiing, swimming, and tennis.

Girl Scouts hold campout

Charlevoix Girl-Scout, Edith Pair, designed a badge patch for the summer Junior Scout Campout Program. Competing with Girl Scouts from eleven counties, her design was awarded first place, made into a permanant patch, and given to all the Girl Scouts who participated in the Campout Program.

This accomplishment is only one of the exciting acheivements of local Girl Scouting.

Charlevoix Junior Girl Scouts attended a two-day camp session at Windmill Farm. Activities included merit badge work, tent pitching, horseback riding, swimming, nature hiking, and the enjoyment of camping cermemonies universal to Girl Scouting.

A festive Hawaiian luau was held the previous weekend to honor all area Girl Scouts and their leaders. A pig was roasted and tables were covered with Hawaiian food. The girls entertained their guests with native music and hula dances.

The scouts celebrated this special day by receiving awards earned during the year. Brownie Scouts crossed a footbridge to show they were prepared to enter Junior Girls Scouts. The bridging girls were met by Junior Scouts who welcomed them into the next level of scouting activities. After this ceremony, all participating Girl Scouts received the advancement and merit badges they had earned.

"The activities of the day showed the enthusiasm shared by Girl Scouts, leaders, families and friends who attended this celebration," said Annie Mosher of the Girl Scouts. "Girl Scouting offers litle girls and young women a positive way to learn about and respect themselves. They also find they can respect other people and the world around them. This program would not be possible without the help the Girl Scouts receive from the many dedicate people who guide them."

Included among those helping the program were: Carolyn Olinger, Service Area Manager and Cadette Troop 374 leader; Jan Spurgeon, Assistant Area Manager; Pat Dillworth, Senior Troop 243 leader; Nancy Russell, Junior Scout Troop 252 leader; Jeanie Eaton, Junior Scout Troop 255 leader; Judy Skippergosh, Junior Scout Troop 264 leader; Sarah Boss, Junior Scout Troop 253 leader; Kris Ras, Brownie Girls Scout Troop 251 leader; Jennie Martinus, Brownie Girl Scout Troop 254 leader; and Marsha Hanson, Brownie Girl Scout Troop 261 leader.

"The Girls Scouts also thank parents, friends, professionals, agencies, and businesses who helpod them earn their Merit Badges and encouraged them in their activities," Mosher added.

Edith Pair, left, and Stecy Tilton display the winning patch that Edith designed for the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council. Stecy's design placed second.

Two receive scholarships

Presentation was made last week of two scholarships awarded annually by Charlevoix Area Hospital to area nursing students.

Kris Bell of Boyne Falls won the Peggy Carey Northway Nursing Scholarship and Geri Moore of Charlevoix won the Charlevoix Area Hospital Nursing Scholarship.

Kris is a 1985 graduate of Boyne Falls High School and plans to enroll this fall at Lake Superior State College to study nursing. The Northway Scholarship of up to $1,200 is awarded on a $300 per year basis.

Each year high school seniors from within the area served by Charlevoix Area Hospital compete for the scholarship which is awarded only after the recipient is accepted by an accredited school of nursing.

Geri, a Charlevoix native, intends to study nursing this fall at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. The Hospital Scholarship is for $700 and is available annually to high school graduates and seniors from within the hospital's service area who have been accepted by an accredited nursing school.

Doing the honors for the official opening of the Off-Bridge Street Artists Gallery new shop on Bridge Street are, left to right, Stephen Kendell, Lisa Tergel Nelles, Berbere Godwin, Charles Koucky (cutting the ribbon), Jo Moffit, David Elingren, and Cleudie Keniteck (Chamber of Commerce).

The 17 artists will host a Grand Opening for their new store, located next to the bridge on the south side of the Channel, on June 28 from 7-9 p.m.

Remodeling for the new location began in January when the group moved out of their old spot on Clinton Street. Joe Spaulding of Eest Jorden did the remodeling work; the design was done by Kay Kendall Designs of Jeckson.

Gold medal winner to perform at Bay View

The Gold Medal winner from the 1985 Van Cliburn International Piano Competition will join the Northwood Orchestra in concert in two northern Michigan performances this July, as part of the annual Festival of the Lakes.

The three-week concert series, July 8-28, under the direction of Music Director-Conductor Don th. Jaeger, presents outstanding guest artists and orchestra soloists in concert with the Northwood Orchestra.

The champion pianist will be featured in concert July 24 in Cheboygan at the Opera House and July 25 at the Bay View Auditorium, Bay View (the Bay View concert is co-sponsored by the Bay View Music Festival.)

The newest world-class virtuoso is 24-year-old Jose' Feghali of Brazil who was selected this spring at the prestigious piano competition in Fort Worth, Texas.

Tickets for the concert are $10 for adults and $5 for students. The box office addresses are Festival of the Lakes: for the Harbor Springs concert - P.O. Box 5010, Petoskey, MI 49770; or for the Cheboygan Series - The Opera House, 403 N. Huron, Cheboygan, MI 49721.

In conjunction with the July 25 concert, immediately following the performance the Northwood Orchestra will host a Gold Circle Champagne Reception at the Perry Davis Hotel, Petoskey. Reception admission certificates for the gala afterglow are $25 and are available through the Petoskey box office address.

Assembly of God holds budget workshop

A Budget Workshop by Larry Burkett, founder and director of Christian Financial Concepts, will be presented via video cassette on a life-size screen at the Charlevoix Assembly of God, Hwy. M-66 South, Tuesday through Thursday, June 25-27, 7-9:30 p.m. each evening. There is a registration fee of $15 per individual, or married couple who shares a syllabus.

The Budget Workshop is being presented in followup to the basic seminar, "Your Finances in Changing Times" by Burkett, which was shown at the church early in May. Attendance at the basic seminar is most helpful but not required for those interested in this workshop on developing a family budget. The purpose of this workshop is to enable persons to become good manager's of the substance God has entrusted to them through the establishment and maintenance of a workable budget.

The workshop will cover the various areas to be considered in developing a family budget, analyze problem areas, and train in the use of a control system. The sessions will deal with such practical concerns as: how to recognize and avoid overspending, how to handle unexpected expenses, how to distinquish needs from wants, how to recognize when a budgetary item is out of balance, and how to recognize budgetary warning signals.

The workshop will be a "hands on" session and registrants will need to bring a hand calculator, scratch paper, and two sharpened pencils. The actual budget will be drafted in the sessions.

Bands will highlight festival

Music! Music! Music!

There'll be lots of it during St. Mary's Parish Festival scheduled for Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6, according to Ev Wujcik who is in charge of entertainment for the event.

Topping the list will be a 17-piece band of professional musicians who will appear as "Music Machine" Saturday night, the final night of the festival.

In fact, Mrs. Wujcik said there would be music from the time the festival opens at 3 p.m. Friday until it closes Saturday night with the drawing for the big prize, an all-expense trip to Las Vegas for two.

Other bands that will be taking their turn on the band stand will be "Peril," a four-piece group that will be appearing during the day on both Friday and Saturday, "Shades of Blue," Friday night; "Jester" and "Against the Odds" during the day on Saturday.

A barbershop quartet will also be singing Friday night to add to the entertainment.

And while the bands are playing there'll be a host of other entertainment for festival-goers including continuous bingo games beginning at 3 p.m. on Friday and at noon on Saturday, a dunk tank, game booths for both kids and grown-ups, a Las Vegas tent with games of chance, a beer tent, and food booths of every description.

It all sounds like fun so plan now to spend the July Fourth weekend close to home and bring your guests to St. Mary's Parish Festival.

Kopeeki joins court staff

Lori Kopecki has joined the staff of 90th District Court as Assistant Probation Officer.

In this newly-created position, Miss Kopecki will assist Probation Officer Laurie Howell in interviewing persons folowing their arraignment and make pre-sentencing investigations for use by the Judge in sentencing decisions.

Following the Court's decision, Miss Kopecki will see some of those placed on probation at least once a month. She will discuss with them any problems they may have, evaluate the progress they are making, and go over reports from referral agencies such as those from Highway Safety Classes and the Court's fine collection officer.

Miss Kopecki was hired at the urging of Judge Harvey C. Varnum, whose docket and that of the Probation Officer has increased many-fold following the instigation of tougher drunk driving laws.

Sailing classes at Yacht Club

The Charlevoix Yacht Club has announced plans for sailing classes beginning July 8. Three sessions will be offered during the month of July running Monday through Friday from 1-3 p.m.

The course will offer basic sailing instruction. Registration will be held at the Charlevoix Yacht Club on Wednesday, June 19, 26, and July 3 from 7-9 p.m. or call 547-9285 between those hours.

Area hosts several July 4th celebrations and activities

by PEG OHLE

There is no parade in Charlevoix on the Fourth of July but townspeople can have the fun of watching marching bands, clowns, trained horses, decorated bicycles, tricksters, antique automobiles and fire trucks, and all kinds of tomfoolery, in parades in other communities.

EAST JORDAN

East Jordan, with its Jordan Valley Freedom Festival, will celebrate for four days, beginning with the Fourth of July. On that day, there will be an "Anything That Floats" parade at 9 a.m. in the Tourist Park Area, followed by Snowmobile Waterskipping and a Tug-o-War-Log Roll, and an evening street dance.

Friday will bring a Model Airshow, Penny Arcade, Dunk Tank, Petting Zoo, Kite Demonstration, Youth Day Parade, Helicopter Rides, Christian Music Concert, and Bingo Games.

The Grand Parade will take place on Saturday at 3:30 p.m., with the theme, "We Are the World". Saturday will also feature a Flea Market and Hobbycraft Show, Canoe Races, Art Show, Sailboarding, Health Fair, Triathlon, Helicopter Rides, Stunt Flying, Lighted Boat Parade, and Fireworks.

The Sunday windup will feature Helicopter Rides, Old Timers Picnic, and Ice Monster and Three Wheeler Obstacle Course. Food prepared by various civic organizations will be available on all four days; the Art and Historical Museum at Elm Pointe will be open from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. all four days; and there will be a Youth Tent Dance Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings.

BOYNE CITY

Boyne City's traditional Fourth of July parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. Before it gets under way, local athletes will have an opportunity to participate in either the two-mile or eight-mile Independence Day Run.

Other Fourth of July attractions are brunch at Roberts Restaurant to raise money for the Fireworks Fund, Waterside Art Fair from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Rotary Club Barbecue, Boyne Valley Garden Club Pie Sale, Lions Club Bar-B-Que, Band Concerts all afternoon, Men's Slow-Pitch Ball Games, Boyne River Raft Race, Little League Team Playoffs, Frog Jumping Contest, and finally, Fireworks over Boyne Harbor at 10:30 p.m.

HORTON BAY

The Fourth of July celebration nearest Charlevoix is the one at Horton Bay. This parade has won special acclaim in recent years for its creativeness and outrageous antics. With no commercial or political entries, the parade is designed for just pure fun, provided mostly by residents of Bay Township and surrounding areas.

This year's parade, with the title "Go Ahead--Make My Day", already has a long list of entries with such labels as "Almost Queen – 1st Runner-up and 2nd Runner-up", "Horton Creek Swim Team Marching Band", "Horton Bay Yellow Page", "Don't Read This Sign", "Jug's Floats", "Horton Bay Evil Kneivil", and "Bag Lady".

Also, the all-time parade favorite, "Horton Bay All-American Kazoo Party Marching Band", led by Betty Kelts.

And what about two live professional athletes in action? Lake Charlevoix summer resident "Stormin' Norman" Cash of Detroit Tigers fame and Carl Charon, Boyne City football star of the 1950's and later a member of the Buffalo Bills and Denver Broncos pro teams, will collaborate in a lite-beer commercial spoof.

–And Bay Township resident Sean Ryan acting out his "Winnebago" song atop a Winnebago camper.

–And animal acts like the "Running of the Cows" by one who has actually been to Pamplona, or "Lake Charlevoix Farms Exceptional Riders", or an honest-to-goodness mule and rider, or a "Captured Indian Pony".

BATHS:
FRESH WATER: 10¢
USED WATER: 5¢

The above "float" is typical of the Horton Bay Fourth of July parade, which stresses homespun fun.

Since Horton Bay is a one-street town, that street, the Charlevoix-Boyne City Road, will be closed during the parade, which starts promptly at 1 p.m. Early arrival is suggested. The Horton Bay Transit System will provide transportation from both ends of the parade route for as many onlookers as possible.

The Horton Bay Store will be the focal point of the parade. Judges will view the parade from its porch, and Elmer Braun, master of ceremonies, will announce the winners from there. The store will have food and drink for all comers and sell the official parade painter's caps with the slogan "Go Ahead--Make My Day". Proceeds from the sale of the caps, as well as from the raffle of a handmade quilt, will go toward parade expenses.

According to parade organizaers, Jon Hartwell and Kathy Roloff, there is still room for more entries: A phone call to Ms. Roloff at 582-7567 will reserve a parade entry spot. There are also entry blanks at the store.

CENTRAL LAKE

Down in Central Lake, the fun begins Thursday night with live music in the Beer Tent by the Tag-A-Longs and Country Gentlemen. The the Grand Parade begins at noon on the Fourth, followed by Bingo, B-B-Q, Midway, and games for children of all ages. Live music at the Beer Tent will include the Brownwood Barnstormers, Down Home Rambers, and Mountaineers. A boat parade on Intermediate Lake at dusk will be followed by "the best Fireworks in the North".

Champagne cruise promises bang-up time aboard ship

Fireworks as well as champagne corks will be poppin' next week when the motorship Beaver Islander departs on its seventh annual Champagne Cruise, sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, July 4, Gary Gleason, Chamber president, and Mrs. Gleason, co-chairman of the event, has announced.

The event promises to be a bang-up affair from the time the ship departs the dock at 9 p.m. sharp until it returns to the municipal dock after cruising the length of Lake Charlevoix to view the fireworks display at Boyne City. There'll be dancing to the music of Larry Wojcik's "Horizon" band, snacks, and a cash bar. Boarding time will be 8:30 p.m.

Those planning to attend are advised that ticket sales will be limited to 190 tickets. Tickets are now on sale at the Chamber office at 408 Bridge St. and from Chamber members.

Tickets are $12 each Claudia Kenifeck, executive director of the Chamber, said.

EPA recommends no water cleanup

by DOUG TRUAX

The Environmental Protection Agency will recommend that nature take its course to clean up the contaminated groundwater in Charlevoix, Jack Kratzmeyer of the EPA's Emergency and Remedial Response Branch told a public hearing in Charlevoix on Thursday.

The meeting, attended by some 15 citizens and public officials, was called to receive public comments on EPA's feasibility study for cleaning up the contaminated water.

It will take 50 years for the trichloroethylene (TCE) to migrate through the underground aquifer into Lake Michigan, Kratzmeyer said. EPA has concluded that this situation "would not pose a significant health or environmental risk to Lake Michigan or to residents, provided that residents adhered to restrictions regarding consumption of the water."

Under this "limited action" alternative EPA would continue to monitor groundwater and would place restrictions on the use and installation of wells in the area of contamination, Kratzmeyer said.

Cost of the limited option alternative is estimated at $160,000.

EPA considered, but will not recommend, efforts to pump the contaminated water out of the ground, treat it, and release the clean water into Lake Michigan.

"Widespread" was the word Kratzmeyer used to describe the groundwater pollution. "In every well we have driven there as been some TCE contamination."

He warned that even after the 50-year natural purging takes place "TCE will still be at an unacceptable level of 10 parts per billion (ppb)." EPA rates the acceptable risk for TCE at 2.8 ppb and PCE at 1 ppb.

Other alternatives considered by EPA for cleanup of the site included no action, pumping of the contaminated groundwater into Lake Michigan, extracting the groundwater and treating it by air stripping, and extracting the groundwater and using a carbon absorption treatment.

Discharging the untreated water into Lake Michigan is considered by EPA to present an unacceptably high cancer risk for exposure to TCE and PCE in the lake.

Extracting the contaminated groundwater and treating it by air stripping would cost $4.8 million and would reduce the cleanup time from 50 years to 30 years. "Environmental and health risks would be significantly minimized in this alternative," the EPA report states.

In the air stripping process, extracted groundwater is pumped to an air stripping tower to remove volatile organic compounds. The air is then purified by forcing it through tanks containing activated carbon.

The final alternative considered by EPA was to pipe the groundwater to a carbon adsorption system located near the Charlevoix municipal well. Like the air stripping process the cost was high, estimated at $4.4, and would require 30 years to get the water contamination to an acceptable level. "Environmental and health risks would be minimized in this alternative," the EPA report said.

In September 1981, the Michign Department of Health found that Charlevoix's public drinking water supply was contaminated with the carcinogen TCE. Later studies found both TCE and PCE in the underground aquifer. In 1984 EPA concluded that the source of the TCE contamination was apparently in the vicinity of the Charlevoix Middle School and that it was caused some 15 years ago either by a single spill or a source that was subsequently removed.

Currently under construction is a new water intake system and filtration plant that will provide clean water from Lake Michigan.

Ninety percent of the costs of the new water system are paid for by EPA through the superfund pro-

Source of chemicals is unsolved mystery

The mystery remains. Although Charlevoixans are likely to be drinking clean, uncontaminated water sometime in the near future, the sources of groundwater pollution remain unknown.

T. Eftaxiadis, Department of Natural Resources hydrogeologist, is going to make a final effort to remove the question mark from the city's four-year plight with toxic chemicals in its drinking water.

Both the DNR and the Environmental Protection Agency believe the trichloroethylene (TCE) first found in the city's water supply in September, 1981 originated from a source near the Middle School, probably some 15 years ago. They do not know what the cause was. Eftaxiadis will be looking for clues soon using a sophisticated metal detector capable of locating items 10-15 feet below the surface. He will also employ a relatively new technique of taking soil gas samples using metal probes stuck into the soil to extract air which is then anayized on a gas chromatograph.

Eftaxiadis concedes that his interest in the TCE source is "at this point mostly academic." Charlevoix's new water intake system, when operational, will bypass the TCE contaminated municipal well.

What may not be so academic, Eftaxiadis adds, is the source of perchloroethylene (PCE) contamination. Test wells have shown that concentrations of this highly toxic chemical are centered around the northwest corner of State and Hurlbut streets. This was once the site of a commercial laundromat, but solvents of this nature are not used in laundromat operations, Eftaxiadis notes.

Concentrations at that site have reached 1,200 parts per billion (ppb).

Unlike TCE, officials have not yet located the entire area affected by PCE, nor have they determined that the groundwater is no longer being polluted with PCE.

To find out more about PCE beneath Charlevoix, Eftaxiadis plans to drill additional test wells to the south of Hurlbut Street, including the Charlevoix Airport area where other DNR studies have shown groundwater contamination.

The PCE is not limited to the water table, he points out, as was the case with TCE. It is deeper and appears to be moving through the water table from somewhere to the south.

Although Charlevoix's plight with contaminated water may be nearing an end, Eftaxiadis, like many residents, will rest easier knowing the source and extent of the toxic chemicals beneath the city.

Assistant principal named at high school

Richard L. Swenor, 34, teacher and coach at St. Ignace for the past nine years, was hired as assistant principal by the Charlevoix Board of Education at its regulr meeting Monday night.

Swenor, a native of Petoskey, was a math and science teacher and head basketball coach at St. Ignace.

At Charlevoix he will succeed Dennis D. VanGuilder as assistant high school principal and also teacher. VanGuilder is now middle school principal after the reassignment of principals following the retirement of Ralph Raymer. David J. Smith came from the middle school to serve as high school principal and Vane H. Smith went to the elementary school from the high school.

Swenor will assume the position in August.

A graduate of the Petoskey high school, Swenor was graduated cum laude from Central Michigan University in 1973. He played varsity basketball for four years while at Central. He taught math and was JV basketball coach at Adrian before goig to St. Ignace. He has done graduate work at Eastern Michigan University. He has an M.S. degree plus several hours of graduate work.

He and his wife, Pamela, have four daughters.

Construction bids approved

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education approved bids for a new heating system and the insulation of the Charlevoix Elementary School, approved administrators' salaries, and hired an assistant principal/teacher (see story) at its regular meeting Monday night.

Deporitories and signatories for the 1985-86 school year and meeting times, dates, and locations were also established.

The business session following the organizational meeting.

Wojan Plumbing and Heating with a bid of $32,134 for a boiler system according to specifications was awarded the contract for the new system. A second bid of $36,268 was submitted by Haggard Plumbing and Heating. The work is to be completed by Sept. 7. All local plumbing contractors were invited to bid on the project.

The International Insulation Fabricators, Inc., of Manton was awarded the contract for insulating the Elementary School. The company will also insulate the pipes. No insulation was installed in the building when it was constructed in 1968. The company's bid was for $59,110. Work on the project will begin later this month and is scheduled for completion in 30 days. The company will also insulate the outside wall in one classroom.

Administrators were awarded a 4.02 percent increase. Administrators' salaries are based on a formula comparable to a teacher'a salary with a like degree plus the number of days on the job.

The salary of the superintendent with a doctorate degree with 231 days of service will be $49,918; high school principal, M.S. degree plus 15 hours, $42,692; 231 days; Middle School principal, M.A. degree plus 15 hours, $35,988, 204 days; K-5 principal, M.S. degree, 204 days, $35,301 and the business manager, B.S. degree, 231 days, $37,396. The latter's salary is split between administration and transportation with $11,000 coming from the state.

In other action at the business meeting, Vincent R. Olach, the business manager, was authorized to make investments for the Charlevoix Public Schools.

The board approved a recommendation made by the Building and Site Committee that the present track and lighting system at the high school be replaced with a regulation 400-meter, eight-lane, all-weather track and the lighting system be replaced with a modern, efficient system. Several options for financing the project were proposed but no action was taken at this time

County officials sued by mother of suicide victim

by PEG OHLE

The mother of a 23-year-old man who committed suicide in the Charlevoix County jail on April 30, 1983 has filed suit against the county, the County Board of Commissioners, Sheriff George T. Lasater, and several Deputy Sheriffs, charging negligence and poor handling of the man while he was incarcerated in the jail.

A story in the Charlevoix Courier of May 4, 1983 reports that Michael Ray Sobleski had been arrested at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 30, at a Petoskey residence by Emmet County deputies for a probation violation. He was on probation for failing to appear for sentencing on an uttering and publishing charge and had also been named in a warrant for arrest in St. Ignace for a residential burglary, according to the news story.

In her recently filed lawsuit, Sobleski's mother, Mrs. Betty Sobleski, lodges several complaints against the county and its various components:

Her son was taken to the Charlevoix County jail, booked and placed in a maximum security cell although he had asked not to be placed alone but with other prisoners. The mother states her son had a history of a prior suicide attempt, which was known by police officers in the community and also known, or should have been known, to members of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

This complaint continues, noting that, at the time of booking, the prisoner presented no serious threat of escape, was not considered dangerous to other inmates, and should have been placed in a cell with other inmates.

A further complaint states that despite the prisoner's suicidal history and his agitated state, Sheriff's deputies failed to properly monitor and supervise him and failed to make security checks of the cell block, including the maximum security cell in which he was confined.

Another complaint states that officers at the jail provided the prisoner with blankets capable of being shredded and used to commit suicide.

The end result of the above actions was that Sobleski committed suicide by hanging prior to 9 p.m. on April 30, in the Charlevoix County jail, according to a summary of the complaints.

Sheriff Lasater and the County Board of Commissioners are further charged with failing "to effectuate a proper design of building (jail) and follow rules and regulations promulgated by the Michigan Department of Corrections."

Sheriff's deputies W. D. Schneider, Marcella Murdick, Ronald Burris, and Ronald Moore are cited for "failing to comply with procedures drawn up by Sheriff Georege T. Lasater."

"The Sheriff and Board of Commissioner are responsible for the negligent and improper acts of Deputy Sheriffs," according to the complaint.

As to design of the jail, the complaint states that the "cell did not conform with requirements of a maximum security cell where there was a risk of escape and-or suicide as set forth by the Michigan Department of Corrections, and did not have the required electronic, visual, or audio monitoring systems."

Mrs. Sobleski is sueing for an amount in excess of $10,000 for "the loss of society, love and companionship of her son, past and in the future" and "loss of services, social pleasures, and enjoyment of her son."

As the next of kin of Michael Sobleski, she is also sueing for his "pain and suffering, reasonable medical, funeral and burial expensea, loss of future income and earning potential, and loss of life's pleasures and engagements."

The lawsuit is now on file in Charlevoix Circuit Court. Janet M. Allen of the Gaylord law firm of Rensberry, Kaufman, Nelson, Petuska, and Allen is representing Mrs. Sobleaki in the action. Sheriff's deputies W. D. Schneider, Marcella Murdick, Ronald Burris, and Ronald Moore are cited for "failing to comply with procedures drawn up by Sheriff George T. Lasater."

"The Sheriff and Board of Commissioners are responsible for the negligent and improper acts of Deputy Sheriffs," according to the complaint.

As to design of the jail, the complaint states that the "cell did not conform with requirements of a maximum security cell where there was a risk of escape and-or suicide as set forth by the Michigan Depart-

City joins growth alliance

City Council agreed Monday to join the Charlevoix-Antrim County Growth Alliance for one year at a cost of $2,484.44.

The City of Charlevoix joins Boyne City and Antrim and Charlevoix counties in the Alliance which is seeking state funding under the Small Cities Program. The Alliance will seek to promote the growth of business and industry in the two-county area.

Josh Barnes, president of Lex-aLite, spoke to council and advocated its participation in the Alliance. "The City of Charlevoix'a participation is very important," Barnes told the council. "Businesses in this area have a multitude of problems. It would be a shame at this stage not to support the Alliance."

In other action, council tabled the site plan for a 24-unit apartment complex in the 500 block of Petoskey Avenue (west of Chez Charlevoix) after several councilmen expressed concern about the ability of the sewer system on the north side to handle the project.

Council directed City Manager Mike Wiesner to study the sewer capacity and report back on the matter. "You've got problems up there when it rains," Mayor Hal Hill said, "and if we add more units you are going to have more problems."

Other decisions by the council on Monday included:

–approval of the Wayler North American Boardsailing Championships at Ferry Beach on August 2-4.

–permission for The Bahnhof to use the north side of Ferry Beach for sailboard instructions.

–approval of a fireworks permit for the Chamber of Commerce's Venetian Festival.

–permission for the Bay View conservatory and other area musicians to use East Park for a series of "Music in the Park" concerts tentatively set for July 15, 22, 29 and August 5 and 12.

–allowing the concession at Lake Michigan Beach to be operated by John and Sandy Manning and Dennis and Kathy Brown, operators of the concession at the State Park in Petoskey and other area businesses.

Charlevoix Yesterday

One of Charlevoix's newest condominium buildings has its foundation in this D.M. Ferry & Co. Seed Warehouse. The building, which later housed the Foster Boat Works, is now the Foster Boat Works Inn on Ferry Avenue. The earliest available reference to the Warehouse appeared in the Charlevoix Democrat of September 10, 1895, a report that the Ferry Seed Warehouse had collapsed, ruining 18,000 bushels of peas. The above picture was apparently taken after the building was reconstructed. The sign in front of the building, reading "Station One Half Mile" refers to the old Belvedere Club C&O Station. Local group's goal: keep golf tourney

A town meeting was held in City Hall last week during the playing of the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship in an effort to ensure that the tournament stays in Charlevoix.

Amidst rumblings of dissatisfaction with the golf course and the amenities provided, Mayor Hal Hill called his third public meeting to work on retaining the golf event.

The 26 people attending were strongly in favor taking steps to see that the tournament returns to Charlevoix. "The bottom line is that we've got to keep the Michigan Amateur in Charlevoix," 'Ike,' Boss, city recreation director, told the group.

Jeff Rivard, executive director of the Golf Association of Michigan (GAM) which governs the tournament, sounded an optimistic note. "The players are very pleased with the surface they are playing on this year." The first and foremost concern of the GAM is the golf course, Rivard added. Amenities and other community services are of secondary concern.

Rivard added that player satisfaction with the tournament being held at Belvedere was also high. A survey of some 400 previous Amateur participants found that 55 percent favored keeping it at Belvedere.

Hill appointed a six-person committee to work on retaining the tournament. Included were Howard Neilson, a GAM honorary governor; Gene Tower, president of Belvedere; Claudia Kenifeck, executive director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce; Pete Pace, owner of Grey Gables retaurant; Dave Phillips, owner of Phillips Mill restaurant, and Rivard, who will serve in an advisory role.

Tower told the group that the Belvedere Golf Club, which receives 80 percent of its revenues from public greens fees, was in need of money to buy new equipment to get the course in top shape for the tournament. "I'd like to see the City of Charlevoix give us a hand in buying some of this equipment," he said.

The course should have better fairway mowing equipment, Tower said, including a triplex mower.

Rivard added that he thought the club was about three pieces of equipment away from what was needed for a major championship.

Members of the community expressed concern about parking, noting that many were ticketed during the first rounds of play and would leave with an unpleasant feeling.

Rivard also suggested that a larger tent be provided for the players in the event of foul weather. The community could promote a lot of good will, he added, by starting a tradition of hosting the 168 qualifying players at a kickoff hamburger barbeque. "Keep it simple," he suggested.

The new sectional qualifying format, Rivard said, is likely to draw even more press attention and publicity for Charlevoix, Rivard said. "This year we went to almost 700 entries compared to 435 last year."

City gets sailboard championships again

The Fourth Annual Wayler North American Sail Board Championships and party will be held here August 2 through 4.

This year's races have been classified as a "points regatta" to qualify for the U.S. Sailboarding Team, whose coach, Major Hall, will be on hand.

Competitors may also earn points to qualify for the first (USYRU) United States Yacht Racing Union National Boardsailing Regatta, in San Francisco, Aug. 20-24 at the St. Francis Yacht Club.

"But because sailboarding is fun for all ages, we schedule as many events for novices as we do for experts," says Richard Lepman, President of G.S. Sports, Inc., the Addison, IL. based U.S. importer of the Wayler Sailboard, made in the Netherlands.

He added that the U.S. Sailboarding team, fresh from a series of competitions in Europe, will be on hand the week prior to the regatta, to assist Hall conduct a workshop oepn (for a fee) to all sailboarders.

The Drive

By Doug Truax

Age creeps up in mysterious ways, giving little clues that you are...well...maturing.

The process was clear recently when I called upon our family – wife and six-year-old daughter – to take that great American weekend ritual, THE DRIVE. Not a drive for any purpose, or to any place in particular, just a good old fashioned country drive.

There was a time in my life when such an event was anathema. As a teenager I could imagine nothing quite so boring as the ritualized tour of the countryside, swaying down the blue lane highways feeling mildly nauseous and carsick. How often I remember visiting a girlfriend with hopes of some pleasant interlude alone, when her father, perhaps sensing my evil intentions, would suggest that we all take a nice little ride in the country. Arggg.

But perspectives change, and after pounding the keys of this computerized typesetter all day, and in the process losing several thousand words in some vast electronic black hole, I needed relief. The new, but previously owned, car in the drive beckoned. With the rest of the family willing, we were soon gliding along the back roads south of town, happily headed toward no place at all.

It is the first car I have ever owned with air conditioning, so we rolled up the windows and lapped up the luxury of it. Until now I have always resented those characters who drove through the hottest and muggiest of weather, sealed in their autos like cryogenic mummies. They always seemed so smug. Revolutions and civil strife could be raging around them and they would glide through – unruffled, unflappable.

How sweet it was to be on the inside.

The countryside south of Charlevoix is still untapped. While people are crawling over each other in town, out here things are moving at a sensible pace. We encountered few other cars as we snaked along the inland waterway. The land rising and falling along the glacial moraine gave soft, quiet views of farms and cottages and lakes. It was like stepping back into the fifties or sixties.

The perfect setting for a drive. We even had Garrison Keillor and "The Prarie Home Companion" on the radio.

We finally happened onto a restaurant as the sun was coming down over Torch Lake. It was one of those fine pine-log buildings on a dusty cul-de-sac.

The food was mediocre and overpriced. They had a pretty young woman playing guitar and singing jazz and pop, although the music was coming through some 10-cent speakers that made everything a little tinny. But the spirit of the place was right. In fact it was perfect.

We wound our way home along a new route, and didn't reach our house until dark. Stephanie had fallen asleep in the back seat and I carried her in the house with a certain amount of nostalgia. All country rides should end, I think, with the children asleep in the back.

I now know what to do, I thought, when this little innocent grows up to puberty and the young men come calling. I'll take them for a DRIVE. That'll fix 'em for sure.

Letters to the Editor:

Communists and the Fourth

Dear Editor:

It would be enlightening to poll the various segments of our society to learn just what significance our American communists and racial elements as well as political dissidents have toward our July 4th holiday.

We know the eastern New Englanders celebrate with carnival vim and vigor as though Independence Day were the personal achievement of New England. But mid-westerners are several generations removed from the "cradle" of liberty while the far-west harbors such Tinsel Town mavericks like the infamous "Star" that is said to have advised Americans to pray for the advent of Communism.

Christians throughout the land wonder to whom one would pray for such an evil to be foisted on the nation. Certainly not to God whom we are taught in early childhood Sunday School that God is Love and good and could not be expected to change his nature to answer the prayers of the ungodly.

The self-proclaimed Goddesses of Wisdom seem to know all the cures for other problems such the problems of the farmers of the Nation. Of course, we know they have learned their "lines" written for the role they play in film for the entertinment of the public but it seems strange if that qualifies for advice and "cures" for the agricultural element.

From this it would appear that their knowledge of the advantages of atheistic communism is as unreal as their Christianity and our national ills. So much for the value of the "arts" outside that profession. God will never foist atheism only the political dissidents can do that with their ineessant demonstrations against adequate defense, both military and social.

I'm sure we are safe from the foreign refugees who have found asylum from communism in America, so it appears it is only our own dissident citizens we must learn to fear.

A Christian's Concern with Abortion

Last week the Courier published a letter to the editor from Rev. Lowell Anderson on the subject of abortion. Unfortunately, several paragraphs and lines were published in the wrong order and the article was impossible to understand. We regret the error and republish the letter below in its proper form.

Dear Editor:

The Christian's concern with abortion is three-fold: Concern for the baby, the mother, and our society.

The fact that the word "abortion" does not appear in the Bible does not mean that God is silent on the subject. Rather, one must probe the scripture in deeper and broader context to discern His will regarding the matter. One doesn't find heroin mentioned either, but it is difficult for Christian's to deny that its use is wrong. The basic question to be answered is whetber God deems the unborn to be a person.

The scripture records in Psalm 139:13-15 that God knew David as a person before he was born; "you did form my inward parts, you knit me together in my mother's womb...you knew me right well; my frame was not hidden from you when I was being made in secret..." Human life begins at conception for the Psalmist David uses the personal pronoun "me" in the above.

More directly, God speaks to Jeremiah showing the child in the womb is a person. Jeremiah 1:4&5, "Now the word of the Lord came to be saying, 'Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you'." Luke 1:41 records that when Mary greeted her cousin Elizabeth the baby in her womb (John the Baptist) "leaped" for joy, and the Greek word for "Baby" in this verse is the same word (brephos) denoted baby in Luke 2:12&16; an infant in Luke 18:15; and a child in II Timothy 3:15. In all these passages the scripture makes no distinction between born and unborn children!

Proverbs 24:11&12 from The Living Bible is fitting for our consideration from this point on. "Rescue those who are unjustly sentenced to death; don't stand back and let them die. Don't try to disclaim responsibility by saying you didn't know about it. Hold back those who are stumbling to the slaughter". (Can these be the distressed parents who can only see abortion as the deceptively simple answer to their problems?) "If you say, 'Behold we did not know this', does not he who weighs the heart perceive it? Does not He which keeps watch over your soul know it, and will He not requite man according to his work?"

With God's help, in Christian love, we can stem the tide of the murder that is rampant in our land! We may not be able to do much about the abortion mills in the metropolitan areas of our country, but we can give the right advice to the women in Charlevoix who may otherwise violate the clear plan of God for their life, and the life of their child!

Clockwise

Grandfather Clock

By Bob Clock

After three days in the "motherland" — Ontario's rugged Bruce Peninsula — I am grateful that a few constants remain in this fast-changing world.

I have in mind the high limestone cliffs that stand sentinel over the icy waters of Colpoy Bay, dank caverns carved by the elements into the face of the rock, the spooky twilight under the majestic hardwoods at the base of the cliffs — birches and maples that have planted their laproots in the crevices of moss-covered boulders the size of small cottages.

The farmland below the cliffs is laced with century-old rail fences which snake up hillsides and burrow through hedgerows.

Then there is the bay itself, blue under the summer sky with three misty, cedar-clad islands — Hay, White Cloud and Griffiths — lying to the east across the entrance to Georgian Bay.

I also am thinking about my cousin, Doris Flarity, who, with her husband Reeve, lives in a snug house on the bank of Gleason Creek — a dancing trout stream that tumbles into Colpoy Bay practically on their doorstep.

Of all the constants, Doris — who dotes on things past — is the most enduring.

ON SATURDAY, June 29, after "doing" the caves as other people "do" malls on a Saturday afternoon, the Clocks hurried into Wiarton, picked up a sack of sandwiches, a cup of three-bean salad and a box of butter tarts at a downtown delicatessen and headed for Oxenden, a tiny hamlet on the shore of Colpoy Bay, for a picnic.

Part of the old homestead in Oxenden at the mouth of Gleason Creek is now a roadside park, with two picnic tables, outdoor johns and a natural boat-launching ramp. My mother was born about 100 yards uphill from the park 84 years ago last May. My grandmother was attended by her mother, an Irish immigrant, and by my grandfather's aunt, Mary Ann Scott, a midwife who lived in the village.

AFTER A LEISURELY picnic lunch, Judy, Allie, Danny and I sauntered across the bridge to visit Doris and Reeve. As we stepped in the door, Doris announced: "You're grandparents! Katie had a baby boy this morning."

After our initial astonishment, the story came out. Katie, who lives in San Antonio, Texas, with her husband Matt Briggs had called her sister Jennifer in Charlevoix and Jennifer had relayed the word to cousin Edith Hardman in Wiarton. Edith did some scouting around my phone and left word with Doris, in case we should pass that way.

It was the second time Doris had surprised me with a birth announcement. Fifty-two years ago — when I was four years old — it was Doris, fresh out of high school, who told me my baby sister had arrived during the night. She had come to Detroit from Canada to take care of the family during my mother's "confinement."

As much as Judy and I would have liked to be with Katie, I cannot think of a better place than the Bruce Peninsula to learn that a new link has been added to the family chain. William James Briggs may be a Texan by birth, but his grandparents will always associate him with such elemental things as limestone cliffs, picturesque caves, hardwood forests, crystal waters, rail fences and Gleason Creek.

As for cousin Doris, she is now our link with both the past and the future.

gram. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will pay 10 percent.

The EPA investigation discovered two distinct plumes of contaminants. The TCE plume located behind the Middle School reached concentrations as high as 900 ppb. Concentrations spread out in a circular pattern from that point and decreased in intensity. The PCE plume was centered at the northwest corner of State and Hurlbut streets and has reached concentrations as high as 1300 ppb.

Since PCE groundwater contamination has not reached the city's well and has not been measured in its drinking water, EPA will not be involved in further efforts to uncover the source. State officials, however, continue to be concerned about the PCE contamination (see additional story on this page).

EPA will prepare a "responsiveness summary" based on verbal and written comments received by them. A "record of decision" document will be released by EPA in approximately one month detailing the selected alternative for handling Charlevoix's contaminated water.

The EPA feasibility study is available for public review at the Charlevoix Public Library, City Hall, and District Health Department No. 3.

on the project.

At the organization meeting which preceded the business session, C. Max Novak was re-elected president of the board, Elaine R. Martin, vice president, Kenneth Boss, secretary, and Ardeth Wieland, treasurer. Prior to the election, Novak and Doris A. Pearl were installed as members after being re-elected to four-year terms in the June election. Other members of the board are Robert Drenth and Ronald Moore.

Meeting dates were set for the first and third Mondays of each month at the high school study hall at 7:30 p.m.

The First State Bank and the Charlevoix County State Banks were named as depositories for all school accounts. Signatories will remain the same. All major accounts are signed by the president, secretary and treasurer. Internal accounts are to be signed by those persons handling the accounts.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 15.

ment of Corrections, and did not have the required electronic, visual, or audio monitoring systems."

Mrs. Sobleski is suing for an amount in excess of $10,000 for "The loss of society, love and companionship of her son, past and in the future" and "loss of services, social pleasures, and enjoyment of her son."

As the next of kin of Michael Sobleski, she is also sueing for his "pain and suffering, reasonable medical, funeral, and burial expenses, loss of future income and earning potential, and loss of life's pleasures and engagements."

The lawsuit has been filed in Charlevoix Circuit Court. Janet M. Allen of the Gaylord law firm of Rensberry, Kaufman, Nelson, Petruska, and Allen is representing Mrs. Sobleski in the action. Members of the County Board of Commissioners were advised at last week's meeting that the suit had been filed, but there has been no comment from that body concerning it.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Stevens

Jones-Stevens

Kim Jones and Rod Stevens were married in the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix on Saturday, June 22.

Parents of the newlyweds are Neil and Joanne Jones and Bill and Donna Stevens, all of Charlevoix.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ruffles of lace and organza fashioned with a Queen Ann collar, long sleeves of lace, chapel train, and finger-tip veil trimmed with seed pearls and attached to a laurel wreath headpiece. She carried a cascading bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses.

Sheri Jones assisted her sister as maid of honor, and Beth Jones, another sister, Mary Jo Buday, Becky Resch, Denise Parks, and Jody Hogarth were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of yellow chiffon over taffeta and headpieces of laurel wreaths.

Jennifer Reed, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and wore a floor-length dress of yellow chiffon over taffeta. Bobby Christoph was the ringbearer.

John Cross, II served as best man, with Jeff Stevens, Greg Stevens, Dudley Stewvens, all brothers of the bridegroom, Bob Smith, and Scott Davis serving as groomsmen. Bob Jones, brother of the bride, and Byard Stevens, uncle of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Frances Boss and vocalist Ken Boss, who offered "If" and "Time in a Bottle".

A reception at the V.F.W. Hall followed the wedding ceremony. Jim and Pat Brenay of South Lynn served as host and hostess and Ken Boss was master of ceremonies. Shelly Stevens, Sylvia Jones, and Naomi Heckendorn were in charge of the wedding cake; Jeannie Davis and Ginger Stevens served the punch; and Wendy Smith and Linda Cross attended the gift talbe.

The rehearsal dinner was held on Friday evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Nashville, Tennessee, the newlyweds will be at home in Charlevoix, where the bride is employed by Juilleret's Restaurant and the bridegroom is employed by Stevens Concrete.

Camp McSauba begins tenth season

Camp McSauba, a co-educational day camp located on Lake Michigan north of the city, swung into operation for its tenth season last week with a full quota of campers, Jack Gebott, camp director, has announced.

"It looks like our best season to date," Gebott said of the outlook for the 1985 season. Reservations for the camp, which operates for eight weeks, are nearing the number for the 1984 season, Gebott added.

The camp is open to everyone. The fee is $35 for the week. Sessions operate Monday through Wednesday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. and from 9 a.m. on Thursday until noon on Friday with Thursday night being an overnight activity. Camp concludes Friday with an Awards Ceremony.

Children take sack lunches, a beverage, a towel, and swim suit. Transportation is the responsibility of the parent.

The weekly camper fee includes all activities at the camp plus a T-shirt and two meals and snack for Thursday night and Friday morning.

The camp is located on 54 acres of city-owned property which features rolling and steep hills, sand dunes, sand valleys, deep woods, and swamp areas which offer a side variety of ourdoors for nature study. The property has 3,500 feet of frontage on lake Micigan.

Activities are scheduled by campers and their counselors on a small-group level with a ratio of one counselor per 15 campers to encourage participation and decision making with everyone involved, Gebott explained.

Regular activities include swimming, archery; gunnery, arts and crafts, nature study, games, hiking, camp crafts, singing, skits, and a variety of recreational games. The camp also offers horseback riding at Windmill Farms for an additional $9 fee.

In addition to Gebott who has served as director since its inception in 1976, the camp staff includes four veteran counselors. They are Teresa Noirot, recent Alma College graduate with a major in elementary education, Jim Buchanan, an Aquinas College senior majoring in elementary education, Jeff Greene who is majoring in elemenatary education at Central Michigan University where he will be a junior next fall, and Steve Schmidt, a University of Michigan junior. All have been at the camp a minimum of two years.

The camp is sponsored by the city of Charlevoix and financed through fees, contributions from numerous Charlevoix community groups and organizations, and the United Way.

The Mt. McSauba Ski Lodge which doubles as a summer base for Camp McSauba is presently being enlarged. A 20 X 23 foot addition which will add restroom facilities, showes, and dressing rooms for both boys and girls is near completion. The prime contractor is Bo Boss. The lodge was first constructed in 1956 and doubled in size in 1982 as its use increased.

The most recent addition is being financed by Friends of Camp McSauba headed by Shielah Bogart. The overall cost of the project is $17,885; $10,085 has been paid from the proceeds from the Las Vegas Nights and the remainder through an interest-free note from the city which is due Nov. 1, 1986.

Camp registration is limited to 60 children per week. Gebott advises that persons wishing to enroll their children do so at the earliest possible date.

Further information regarding the camp and its operation may be obtained by calling the Charlevoix Recreation Department at 547-3253 or the Camp Director at 547-3267.

Country gospel singing at camp meeting

Historic Greensky Hill Indian Methodist Church, located on Old U.S. 31, presents its annual Camp Meeting July 11-13 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, July 14 at 2 p.m.

Evangelist Jack Neyome from Jackson, Michigan will be preaching. Born in Mt. Pleasant, Neyome has been involved in country gospel singing and playing banjo and guitar for twenty years, and indian mission work for two years.

Joy Unlimited, a new sound with impact and a message, will be performing Saturday, July 13 at 7:30 p.m. Complete with vocals, brass, drums, guitars and piano, they will present the Gosepl message with a terrific design for all ages.

Bring your camper and your musical instruments and join everyone in praising the lord. A free will offering will be taken at the services.

St. Mary's Festival ready

All signals are GO for the St. Mary's Parish Festival scheduled to open at 3 p.m. Friday.

The tent city that will house the major events under cover, will be erected Wednesday with booths being placed on Thursday in readiness for the festival which promises to have something for everyone. There'll be a big tent to house all the games and booths offering a variety of pies, pastries, and other goodies; a food tent where you can purchase a sloppy joe or a hot dog and a cool drink, a tent that will offer music throughout the festival and still another which will be the beer tent. Bingo will be played in the school proper.

There'll be games of chance, raffles, and a Las Vegas set-up for the more experienced players.

From 3-11 p.m. Friday and from noon until midnight on Saturday there'll be activity...what ever kind you might prefer.

Christian rock group to perform in concert

Emmaus Road, a contemporary Christian rock band, will be performing in concert July 6, Saturday evening at 8 p.m. at East Park.

Emmaus Road's rock style strives to widen perspectives in music, appealing to Christians and non-Christians alike. While the band's performance targets primarily youth and young adults, they have been received by audiences of all ages.

Emmaus Road originates in Michigan and has toured extensively throughout the Midwest. "The group members are excited and enthusiastic about their music ministry which presents Christianity in rock with a reason," David W. Yingling, president of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association notes.

With Emmaus Road will be Cornerstone from Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix.

There will be a free-will offering taken at the conclusion of the concert.

Grandvue installs new officers

Officers elected at the recent meeting of the Grandvue Medical Care Facility Auxiliary will be installed at the July 11 meeting.

They are: Florence Stucker, president; Pauline Arnott, vice president; Lucille Dolwick, secretary; Phyllis Malpass, treasurer and Joanne Schenke, corresponding secretary.

A potluck salad luncheon will precede the July 11 business meeting to be hosted by Kathy Sewell and Marion Schudlick. Tentative plans were also made for Tag Day acheduled for July 19 throughout the county.

The purchase of three walkers with wheels and a glucose monitor for use in the residential section, as recommended by the project committee headed by Eileen Rouse, was approved.

Mary Margaret Geiken reported on the conference relating to "The Elderly in the Home" she, Helen Deming, and Brenda Joyce attended recently.

Mrs. Malpass reported that the auxiliary has $2,276 in the memorial fund and $2,586 in the checking account.

Following the business meeting, Julie Daleymple, dietician at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, made a slide presentation relating to the need of calcium in the diet. She said one never outgrows the need for calcium; that daily needs are 800 mgs. per day and that one must have regular exercise to utilize the intak of calcium. She also said that too much protein and fibre in the diet as well as smoking and the use of alcohol tends to restrict the body's use of calcium.

Mrs. Arnott and Jean Korthase hosed the meeting.

Knights of Columbus distributes funds

The Father Pierre Charlevoix, Knights of Columbus Council has distributed checks to two local agencies dedicated to the mentally handicapped. The funds are those raised through the annual Tootsie Roll Drive in April, Louis McKenzie, who heads the organization, said.

A check for $250 was contributed to Charlevoix House, resident facility for the handicapped. Bergmann Center which conducts a sheltered workshop for the handicapped received a check for $151.68.

Each spring the Michigan Council of the Knights of Columbus sponsors the Tootsie Roll Drive to raise funds for the mentally handicapped. Eighty percent of the funds remain in the community and the remainder goes to the state organization for distribution to large agencies who assist the handicapped.

Ducks stay put these days

You aren't the only one who may change travel plans. According to National Wildlife magazine, an estimated eight million ducks, geese, and swans that once flew south for the winter now stay in the Midwest during their winter migration. The reason: wetlands drainage along the lower Mississippi River has reduced wintering habitat.

Life begins at 40, but Dr. David Strawbridge's staff thought the occasion of his 40th birthday was evidence that he was over the hill. Helping him adjust to the new age at a recent celebration are, left to right, Nancy Rajewski, Terri D'Angelo, and Carol Mitchell.

Social Services says 16 percent received financial aid in 1984

The 1984 annual report of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services reveals that 16.49 percent of all households in the county receive some type of public financial assistance.

Included in the assistance are funds for Aid to Dependent Children, General Assistance, Food Stamps, and Medical Assistance.

The Department divided the county into zip code areas to indicate the percentages of the total county payments going into each area. They were as follows:

Boyne City area, 13.46 percent; Charlevoix area, 13.61 percent; East Jordan area, 19.95 percent, Boyne Falls area, 21.47 percent; and Walloon Lake area, 26.47 percent.

The report also indicates by percentages the areas of the county from which the department received referrals for Children's Protective Services:

Almost 35 percent came from the Boyne City area; 29.08 percent from the Charlevoix area; 26.31 percent from the East Jordan area; 6.86 percent from the Boyne Falls area; and 2.78 percent from the Walloon Lake area.

Also, the area of origin of children who were declared state wards is indicated:

Boyne City, 43.4 percent; Charlevoix, 20.5 percent; East Jordan, 27 percent; Boyne Falls, 4.9 percent; and Walloon Lake, 4.9 percent.

The figures on state wards is based on the department's March, 1985 caseload, which included 122 wards. In April, that figure was 155, and in May it was 146. Further calculations show that state wards account for 2.3 percent of county young people under 18.

In assessing any of the above figures, it should be noted that there is considerable difference in the populations of the various zip code areas.

The population of the Boyne City area is 36.8 percent of county households; the Charlevoix area, 33.7 percent; the East Jordan asrea, 22.7 percent; the Boyne Falls area, 5.4 percent; and the Walloon Lake area, 1.9 percent.

Coast Guard hotline

The Coast Guard is conducting a trial toll-free Hotline for boaters. The purpose of the Hotline is to:

-Provide information on boats and associated equipment involved in safety defect (recall) campaigns for the past 5 model years. If you own a new boat or are buying a used boat and don't know if it's been in a defect campaign, you can find out, and get instructions on how to get the defect corrected.

-Take complaints about possible safety defects, or assist consumers having difficulty getting corrective action for a safety recall already announced.

The trial period started June 3, 1985 and will run for approximately one year, will allow the Coast Guard to evaluate the need for a permanent Boating Safety Hotline.

Anyone with access to a telephone in the United States can use the hotline by dailing the toll-free numbr: (800) 368-5647.

A Hotline operator will be on duty Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. eastern time

Exciting theme cruises offer wide variety of experiences

by Meg Brown Bayside Travel

Not only are cruise packages fast becoming the best buy in the travel marketplace but now various cruise lines are offering "Theme" cruises for cruising clients with special interests.

Sitmar Cruises this fall will offer some dazzling showtime entertainers like Alan King, Phillis Diller, Operatic Star Robert Merrill, and George Burns.

Next spring, Pauqet French Cruises have announced three Halley's Comet Cruises.

Swan Hellenic Cruises are offering a cultural experience with their 22 vacation voyages visiting 180 places around the Mediterranean with expert guest lecturers on board to discuss the locations visited.

The Norwegian Caribbean Line is perhaps offering the theme cruise with the broadest appeal. On their beautiful and largest ship, the S.S. Norway, they will be offering "Swingtime in October" with great performers from the world of jazz and big bands. Such as Cab Calloway, Mel Torme, Woody Herman, and Dizzy Gellespie will be featured performers on the scheduled October cruises.

If any of the above specialty cruises don't entice you - how about meeting soap opera stars on the M.S. Southward in September or Olympic track and field stars on the M.S. Starward in November. Also on the S.S. Norway in November is the ever popular Fitness and Beauty Cruise, hosted by the Sanibel Health Spa personnel. You can come back fit and trim and ready for Christmas!

Burnsides adds color consultants new merchandize reflects youth

by PEG OHLE

Those who have found their way into Burnsides apparel shop this summer have been greeted with a line of merchandise quite different from what the shop has carried in recent years.

Nanci Burnside, owner of the shop, explains that she is no longer specializing in classical clothing for the older woman. Instead, she has changed the image, and the merchandise, in her shop "to reflect a younger, influential customer who is aware of color theory and design and who likes the avant garde attitude".

And the brightly colored garments throughout the shop do just that.

As part of the new image, Burnsides is offering the services of two color consultants two days a week. Debbie Norris of Harbor Springs, a skin care and makeup specialist, and Joan Miller of Bay Shore, a wardrobe consultant, will offer advice and help to women who want to know "What looks best on me?".

Trained and certified by the "Beauty for All Seasons" company in Cincinnati, Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Miller begin their consultations by draping swatches of various colored fabrics in front of a woman's face to determine what colors are best for her. Once the best colors are established for the wardrobe, the woman is typed as to her "clothing personality", the clothing lines that best fit her stature.

Then comes help with makeup and skin care, a careful examination to determine what makeup colors to use for a natural, not painted, appearance.

The customer now is invited to look at the wearing apparel in the shop that fits her coloring and clothing personality. She is also shown how to "pull togather" items already in her closet and finish off her wardrobe. She receives a work sheet on which to list her present garments to make this task easier. Knowing what colors and what styles are best for her makes shopping an easier, more economical venture for any woman, Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Miller stress.

To simplify the designation of colors deemed best for any one person, they are grouped together in categories named after the seasons of the year – Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter. Each "season" has its own special colors:

Spring: Warm, clear, fresh fruit tones – peach, light orange, coral, red, bright yellow, lime, honey brown, blue violet, warm pink, and blues.

Summer: Off white, soft pastels, blue grays and gray blues, blues and blue reds, greens, plum colors, wine shades, and rosey browns.

Autumn: Natural white, egg shell shades, gold, gold beige, yellow green, warm brown, russet, orange red, teal blue, and brick.

Winter: Basic primary colors – blue, green, yellow, and vivid cool royal colors, white, gray, black, blue reds, and gray beige.

Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Miller are at KBurnsides Monday and Friday of each week. Reservations for a consultation with them may be made by calling 547-6751.

Debbie Norris and Joan Miller will be providing color consultation at Burnsides this summer.

Homes tour features historic area houses

by PEG OHLE

Thursday afternoon, July 18, is a special afternoon.

It is the time of the Fourth Annual Home Tour sponsored by the Charlevoix Chapter of Kappa Sigma Sorority for the benefit of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Six of Charlevoix's most interesting homes will be open for public view from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., with hostesses in attendance at each one to answer questions about gardens, decorating, and other details.

The tour this year will concentrate on older homes that have been brought up to date for comfort but which still retain the gracious aura of yesteryear.

There is the home of Donald and Louise Parsons on the grounds of the Chicago Club. This stately home is nestled in a serene setting among towering pine trees. Approaching it, one can almost envision games of lawn croquet, leisurely strolls, and afternoon tea parties.

Mrs. Parsons has updated her home by decorating with refreshing colors and lively patterns.

On the south side of town, Viola Hater will open her home on the grounds of the Belvedere Club for the tour. This turn-of-the-century home is perched atop a grassy knoll overlooking Round Lake and is spacious enough to accommodate Mrs. Hater's many grandchildren and their activities.

White wicker furniture and charming old prints accent the interior of the house and an old-fashioned gazebo sets off the garden. The more simple life of another generation surfaces everywhere in this home.

In the center of Charlevoix, on Park Avenue is the historic home of Robert and Jinx Pancoast, which has been carefully restored by the Pancoasts and Charlevoix builder John Pearl.

Mrs. Pncoast has used family antiques in almost every room of the house to emphasize the feeling of historic elegance.

Not far from Park Avenue is the home of David and Bonnie Hand, located on property originally purchased in 1853 from the United States government for $150.

In this home, also reminiscent of a bygone era, Mrs. Hand has created a feeling of warmth and coziness with an antique collection, stained glass, and a formal garden.

Historic homes on tour

An added attraction to the Home Tour this year is a visit to the Harsha House, home of the Charlevoix Historical Society Museum.

This 94-year-old house was the home of Horace Harsha, early Charlevoix business man, and was willed to the Historical Society in 1983 by the original owner's granddaughter, Ann Harsha. It has been faithfully restored by local architects and builders and furnished with authentic articles from Charlevoix's past.

The Harsha House visit will be an educational treat.

The not-so-old home of Dr. Jeffrey and Nancy Porter presents an appealing blend of traditional and contemporary furnishings in a perfect setting for family living.

Unique features of the home include an enclosed squash court, sunroom, and patio overlooking a picturesque garden. Mrs. Porter has been planting a variety of perennials over the years and they have now matured into a panorama of color and form.

Sue Bartlett and Claudia Kenifeck are co-chairmen of this year's Sorority Home Tour committee. They are being assisted by Alicia Christoph, public relations; Pat Carland, tickets; and Stephanie Rafacz, "Thank You Party".

Sorority members who will serve as hostesses at the various homes are Carol Hisey and Cindy Urban, at the Parsons home; Meg Andreae and Lisa Winchester, at the Hater Home; Jeanne Heinninger and Pat Gaskin at the Pancoast home; Meg Wilcenski and Kris Schaperkotter at the Hand home; and Tansley Stewart and Pam Newcomb at the Porter home.

Lou Orlowski, president of the Charlevoix Historical Society, will be present at the Harsha House during the hours of the Home Tour, as will be two members of the Sorority.

Those making the Home Tour will be treated to refreshments on the patio of the Porter home.

Tickets, at $10 each, are available at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Building on Bridge Street, Shop of the Gulls, and The Apple Tree. Children under 12 will not be permitted on the tour.

A "Thank You Party" for all who helped with the Home Tour and those who opened their homes will be held at Duffy's, beginning at 5:30 p.m., on the evening of the tour.

The beautifully restored Park Avenue home of Robert and Jinx Pancoast will be among those featured on the Charlevoix Home Tour.

Morgan wins state amateur, edges out veteran Pete Green

by DOUG TRUAX

It looked for a moment as though Belvedere's famous 16th hole was going to prove the undoing of John Morgan in Friday's Michigan Amateur final.

In the end, however, it was veteran Pete Green who paid the price et 16 and could then only hang on and wetch as Morgan won the 74th Amateur 1-up.

The 28-yeer-old Morgan, from Oakland Hills, overcame an erratic driver to beat Green in a closely contested match played under picture perfect skies.

It was the 16th straight match play victory for Morgan who added the Amateur's staghorn trophy to his two consecutive Golf Association of Michigan titles.

"I feel very fortunate to beat Pete Green at his own game," Morgan said alluding to the need to pitch and putt well on Belvedere's small greens.

Green narrowly missed becoming the third person in tournament history to win titles in each of three decades. The youngest to ever qualify for the Amateur at the age of 15 in 1956, Green went on to win titles in 1969 and 1979. A plumbing and heating contractor from Franklin, Green plays out of Orchard Lake.

"Sixteen was the key to the match," Morgan said afterward as he relaxed in the pressroom. Entering the hole even, Morgan's drive on the par-4, 344 yard hold hooked into the deep rough on the steeply banked left-hand side. Green drove to the short rough just off the fairway.

"I just took a swing at it and hoped that I'd hit it solid," Morgan said. "I hit it exactly where I wanted to."

Although still short of the green, Morgan's shot put him in a position to chip to within 4 feet. Green meanwhile had overshot the green on his second shot and chipped to 3 ½ feet on his third.

Morgan sank his putt, Green did not, and the championship it turned out was decided there. The two played 17 and 18 even, although Morgan made an attempt to end the tournament at 17 when his 20-foot putt from the fringe rimmed the hole but did not drop.

On 18 the finalists drove to within 10 feet of each other. Green's second shot was to the apron, some 25-30 from the hole. Morgan faced the same distance on the green. Green failed to convert the long putt and both players two-putted to half the hole and send Morgan to receive the trophy.

"I didn't want to be the guy to 3-putt on 18 and go into extra holes," a relieved Morgan recalled afterward.

In the morning's semifinal matches Morgan defeated Kevin Troyer of Goodrich, 3-2, and Green beat 19-year-old Jud Kotas of Grosse Pointe, 1-up.

The 1985 Michigan Amateur marked the 23rd consecutive year the Amateur has been contested at Belvedere Golf Club.

UPDATE

Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament

By Ottie M. Snyder, Jr.

It wasn't a big money contest. All the well known, big hitters were somewhere else But those of us who participated had fun, and were reminded thet fishing is a recreational sport that benefits communities throughout the region.

The middle weekend in May saw the first ever Charlevoix Trout Tournament The small, but beautiful upper westcoast community on the Lower Peninsula of Michigan usually kicks off its summer season on the Fourth of July. But this year Jim Withers, a local restaurant owner and charter boat operator took an idea to the community, and thet idea blossomed into an effort that saw bumper to bumper traffic 1½ months prior to the normal season kickoff

Big boats, little boats, shore anglers and the entire Charlevoix community participated in an outing that could not be dampened even by a thunderstorm/cloud burst during the awards ceremony I made the nearly 1,000 mile round trip from Columbus to Charlevoix to act as one of the official judges of the contest. It was well worth the drive. I had fun, watched others have fun, and saw a community that was saying thank you to fishermen and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for what local businesses receive as a result of the salmon and trout fishery

Like I said it wasn't a big money tournament, but the prizes were certainly not cheap either There wsa over $10,000 in cash and prizes given away to the winners. And having a big boat was not a ticket to a win either. In fact, the $250 first prize and trophy in the steelhead division was won by a ten year old boy fishing with his father in a 16 foot boat.

If the largest brown trout had been caught on a Stinger Lure the lucky angler would have received a bonus $2,000 check from Advance Tackle of Boyne City, Michigan, plus the first place prize of $1,000, an outboard motor from Yamaha Outboards and a trophy, donated by Irish Boat Shop of Charlevoix and a Sitex fishing graph being donated by Fairport Marine and Electronics for a daily prize. The winner had fished with a Stinger the first day of the two day contest and lost the lure. The second day of the contest he caught the largest brown trout, and was right up front about having lost his only Stinger spoon the day before.

John Emory of Big Jon Downriggers, Myrl Keller, the Great Lakes Fisheries, Supervisor of M.D.N.R. and I shared the honors of judging the contest and were treated with a hospitality that is common only to small communities like Charlevoix in these times. I've never been presented with a key to a city, but the folks of this Michigan community came mighty close and they were sincere. Of the three judges, I was the only one who wsa making his first visit to Charlevoix — Emory and Keller are both located nearby and visit often — and I'd like to let everyone there know it will not be my last.

As we closed out the awards ceremony, Withers invited me back to judge next year's event. My answer? You bet! And, if you haven't anything on your schedule for the third weekend in May next year, why not join us for good fishing fun in friendly surroundings. You might even take home some nice prizes. Either way, you'll be a winner for the effort.

Ottie M. Snyder, Jr. is Editor of the Nationally distributed Great Lakes Fisherman magazine

GOALS

Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament

1. Fishing Fun for everyone
2. Promote Sportfishing and business in the Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan areas.
3. Support DNR Fisheries for future planting in the Lake Charlevoix Area.

Again we wish to thank Myrl Keller and Steve Swan and their staff at the Department of Natural Resources for their continued support.

We are looking forward to the 1986 Lake Charlevoix Trout Tournament.

Literacy Council helps adults to read

Betty Potter, retired teacher who heads the Charlevoix Literacy Council, related the story of the council and its goals to the members of the Charlevoix Women's Club at a meeting held recently at the Charlevoix Public Library.

The aim of the council, she said, was to teach non-literate adults to read. She went on to say that since it was organized in 1983, the council has had 23 students and at present is teaching nine students. A total of 39 volunteers have been trained as tutors.

Some of the causes of illiteracy are poverty, poor health as a child, some mental retardation, and early alcoholism. Mrs. Potter explained that when a child begins using alcohol, the learning process is harmed.

She said that most students in the program are through referrals or persons seeking help. Some, she said, are referred through the Department of Social Services and probation officers, church or through family members seeking help for a relative.

Inquires regarding the program or those seeking assistance may be directed to Howard's Optical at 547-6640.

"There is help for people who are unable to read. If you know someone who would like to know more about the program, tell them how to get assistance. So many times these people hesitate to ask for help or do not know where to get it. You would be doing them a big favor if you could just let it to known that help is available through the Literacy Council," Mrs. Potter told the group.

Mrs. Potter, a veteran of 27½ years in the classroom including 16 years in the Charlevoix school system, has taken courses in the Laubach Method of training adults to read and is qualified to teach those who wish to become tutors. She has conducted numerous workshops on the subject.

At the brief business meeting, it was announced that the club is seeking books for its annual book sale scheduled for August 9-10 and that books may be left at the library for re-sale after July 4.

Nancy Wood and Gertrude Holt were co-hostesses at the meeting.

Harbor Springs developer buys Foster Boat Works Inn

Harbor Springs real estate developer Alexander (Mike) Butcher announced last week the acquisition by Butcher of Phase Two of the Foster Boat Works Inn condominium development.

The transaction also includes the acquisition of Charlevoix Reservations, Inc., the management company for the Foster Boat Works Inn and the Weathervane Terrace Hotel, both in Charlevoix.

Ski & Shore Charlevoix will continue as the lead sales and marketing agents for both properties, Richard E. Georgi, president of Ski & Shore explained.

Butcher is also a principal in Harbor Springs Realty Co. in Harbor Springs, and Michigan North Properties, Inc. in Petoskey. These companies also manage Harbor Cove Condominium, and the Harborside Inn Resort Hotel, in Harbor Springs, the Tannery Creek Condominiums, Petoskey, the Waterfront Inn in Traverse City and Hideaway Valley Condominiums, Harbor Springs.

Foster Boat Works Inn Phase One, with all 36 units sold, was a project of Arch Wright's and Georgi's Charlevoix Development Company. Phase Two of Foster Boat Works Inn, includes additional 20 units and will be developed by Butcher.

"The management of both the Weathervane Terrace and Foster Boat Works Inn will remain intact," Butcher says, "and we will proceed with plans to start construction of an additional 20 units in Foster Boat Works Phase Two in late August or early September.

Georgi and Wright, partners, in Charlevoix Develpment Company began the Foster Boat Works project in 1984, completed the 70 unit Weathervane Terrace Hotel complex in 1983, and plan additional developments in the Charlevoix area.

The Foster Boat Works and Charlevoix Reservations, Inc. transactions will be finalized in July.

City band concerts begin Wednesday

The Charlevoix City Band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, will present its first concert in the Park at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, July 3.

The 30-piece band composed of volunteers will present weekly concerts in East Park on Wednesdays through the month of July.

Among the selections to be played at the opening concert will be John Phillip Sousa's "Bells of Chicago," "Inveracgill" by Lithgow, selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," by Jerry Bock, the spiritual "Joshua" arranged by Paul Yoder, and the overture, "Mountain Echoes" by Frangkiser.

Mr. Isenbarger added that there are still openings in the band for instrumentalists who play a band instrument. Anyone wishing to play with the band is invited to attend the weekly rehearsals at the high school band room at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The concerts follow the weekly rehearsal session.

Library hosts art classes

Crooked Tree Arts Council announces a series of art classes to be held at the Charlevoix Public Library beginning Tuesday July 9 and running for four weeks through August 1.

Children's art, a class introducing grades 1 through 4 to concepts of drawing and painting, will be taught by Vivi Woodcock, Tuesdays, 1-3 p.m. Cost of this class is $24.

Watercolor for grades 9 through adult will be taught by Jan Glass Wednesdays, 6:30-8 p.m. The class will include history and methods, no prior experience necessary. Cost $18. A list of materials is available.

Drawing for grades 5 through 8 will be taught by Mrs. Glass Thursdays, 1-2:30 p.m. Included are contour drawings, basic perspective, and how to use color. Beginners are welcome. Cost $18.

E. Jordan Garden Club

Lois Pollock, accredited Flower Show Judge was guest speaker at the East Jordan Garden Club June 17th meeting held at the Presbyterian Church.

Peonies, iris, daisies and poppys were used in demonstrating the use of design and the mechanics of flower arranging. Arrangements of iris and daisies made a beautiful display of a mass bouquet. Red poppys helped to demonstrate the use of line design.

The Garden Club Flower Show programs were distributed, and club members were encouraged to ask questions about the use of materials and accessories. The Flower Show is planned for August 19 at the Evangelical Lutheran Church parlor in East Jordan.

The club will be sponsoring a Farmer's Market on Tuesdays and Fridays starting July 5 at the South Arm Township Hall on M-66 Hwy. Home grown produce, crafts and baked goods may be sold. Sellers must live within 30 miles of East Jordan. Bernadine Grieg is the chairman.

The meeting ended with refreshments served by hostesses Edna Nielsen and Joanne Schenck.

New research shows that forested land returns ten times the moisture to the atmosphere as deforested land, and produces 50 percent of the rain that falls on it, says National Wildlife's International Wildlife magazine.

Garden Club summer picnic

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club will meet at noon on Tuesday, July 9, at the home of Mrs. Jeffrey Porter, 109 Prospect. Members are reminded to bring their own table service, and service for their guests, as well as a "dish" to share.

Following the picnic in Nancy's garden, guests will have a preview tour of their home, which will be seen by the public later this month when it is opened for the Charlevoix Home Tour. At that time several fo the club members will provide arrangements for use in various rooms.

Derith Lane, flower show chairman, requests that members bring their flower show schedules, so that entries and placements may be finalized with classification consultants.

Obituaries

H. ELIZABETH BURNS

Funeral services for H. Elizabeth "Betty" Burns, 75, were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Burns died Monday, June 24 in Hayes Township.

The former Helen Elizabeth Shankland was born in Chicago Dec. 5, 1909. She was graduated from Olivet College with a major in music in 1931. On June 4, 1932, she was married to Leonard W. "Pete" Borns at Normal, Ill. They made their home at White Pigeon, Nashville and Hemlock before coming to Charlevoix in 1947. Mrs. Burns taught piano in Charlevoix from 1950 until 1970, was organist at the United Methodist Church for many years, and played at many community functions at schools, churches, the Kiwanis Club, and elsewhere for many years.

Mr. Burns preceded her in death June 5, 1982.

Mrs. Burns was a member of the United Methodist Church, Petosega Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star and the Charlevoix Rebekah Lodge No. 293.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Michael (Janice) Raecke of Charlevoix; a son, Larry W. Burns of Oconto Falls, Wis.; five grandchildren; three great-granddaughters; a brother, Walter Shankland of Chicago, and one sister, Mrs. Alan (Nancy) Hamilton of Yuba City, Cal.

The family suggests memorials to the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation or the Bergmann Center. Envelopes for this purpose are available at the Winchester Funeral Home.

DOROTHY M. HULL

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy M. Hull, 76, were held Friday at the First Congregational Church. The Rev. Philip G. Schairbaum officiated. Interment was in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkley.

Mrs. Hull died Saturday, June 22, at her North Point home.

Born in Greensburg, Pa., April 5, 1909, the former Dorothy M. Tinstman moved to Highland Park with her family as a child. In 1929 she was married to Clayton H. Hull in Detroit. They made their home in the Detroit area until moving to Charlevoix in 1968. Prior to that time, they had spent the summer months here since 1954. Mr. Hull preceded her in death on July 8, 1976. She was a member of the First Congregational Church.

She is survived by a son, Clark R. Hull of Charlevoix; two grandchildren, Capt. Frank R. Hull stationed in Germany with the U.S. Army, and Mrs. Erik (Marni) Forsberg of Md.; and one great-grandchild.

The family suggests memorials to the American Heart Association.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

BUD E. FISHER

Funeral services for a former Charlevoix resident, Bud E. Fisher, 79, retired Michigan Telephone Co. employee, were held Tuesday, June 25, at our Lady of Fatima Church in Michigan Center. Interment was in a Michigan Center cemetery.

Mr. Fisher died Saturday, June 22, at his Michigan Center home.

Mr. Fisher was a Michigan Bell retiree with 40 years of service with the company. He had lived in Charlevoix in the late 1940s and 1950s. He was then in Tawas where he retired form the company and moved to Michigan Center.

He was a member of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Michigan Center, Telepbone Pioneers of America, American Cancer Society and the American Association of Retired Persons.

He is survived by his wife, Violet M.; two sons, Keith E. and Roger K., both of Jackson; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Lorraine Schall of Arizona and two brothers, Lee of California and Ford of Maple City.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Very important dates coming up fast! Friday, 7-5, just reverse the date to remember the times of the CYC Powerboat events... Cocktails at 5, meeting at 7.

The CYC Women's Classic is this Sunday, July 7 with a start scheduled for 1 p.m. - call Mary Keem 547-2062 for details.

Also Sunday is the Annual Club Birthday Party and Potluck, but this year just bring a salad or vegetable dish and table service - meat and desert is provided. RSVP Sally Ochs 547-2469, Please! (redundant)

Entries for the Irish Cup Race, to be held on July 13, will not be accepted after Monday, July 8th! This is both serious and just-for-fun racing so all who have been asking for races on the summer week-ends better show up or shut up!

NONY NOTES: Local engineer steps off Cheemaun in last race - was he then the Lone Ranger? Local dentist reaches "Life begins at..." and then sails Pygmalion home in First Place - after nothing better than fourth prior to his maturity. Doc, take my advise, the next time you feel the need to exercise, lie down 'til the feeling goes away.

Tonight's (July 3) Race is a "Funner" - Summer Series starts July 10 with reverse starting order and 10 minute sequence in effect. The Spring Series is history with a bunch of very close point scores!

Chip Counseling Center names new director

Kari D. Walker, a former regional substance abuse services coordinator in the Thumb area, has been named executive director of the Chip Counseling Center.

He replaces Julie Shankland who recently took a position with Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Services in Gaylord.

"In the short time that I've been here, I have already been very impressed by the support of Chip Counseling Center from the community and the long standing support by the Ransom family," said Walker. The center, which provides substance abuse and ageneral counseling in Charlevoix, Emmet, and Antrim counties, was established by Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Ransom in memory of their son Charles, or, "Chip" who died in a boating accident ten years ago this summer.

Walker, 27, received a bachelors degree in psychology from the University of Michigan in 1980 and a masters degree in social work and adminsitration from UM in 1982. He is originially from Wayne, MI.

Before coming to Chip Counseling, he was coordinator for substance abuse services for Huron, Sanilac, Tuscola, Lapeer, and St. Clair counties. In that capacity, he was basically overseeing agencies similar to the one he now heads so he was a thorough understanding of the challenges facing Chip.

Kari D. Walker

"Having come from a coordinator background, I know only too well that substance abuse services cannot depend on State funding forever," said Walker. A large portion of Chip Counseling's budget comes from a state contract for providing substance abuse services to its three-county area.

Walker pointed, however, to recent approval for third party payments to the Center by Blue Cross-Blue Shield as one indication that Chip's reliance on state subsidation is lessening.

One area of service in which Walker has special interest is employee assistance programs.

Lifeguards on duty at beaches

Lifeguards went on duty at Charlevoix'a three major beaches on Saturday, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

Lifeguards will be at the Lake Michigan beach at the foot of Grant St. hill south of the pierhead and at Lake Charlevoix's Depot Beach on the northside and the Ferry Avenue Beach on the southside.

The lifeguards are at the three beaches from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily until the end of August, Boss said.

Swimming lessons will be given daily Monday through Thursday at the Ferry Avenue beach by Red Cross instructors. Lessons began Monday.

The swimming instructors are Todd McNitt 20, of Wyoming who is returning for a second season and Meg Riker 20, of Alma who is a newcomer to the program. Both are juniors at Central Michigan University.

Among the lifeguards are Charlevoix's Mike Martin, 20, sophomore at Central Michigan who is returning for his third season and Dave McCardell, 22 of Lansing, a senior at Northwood Institute returning for a second season. Guards watching the local beaches for the first time include Tim LaBlance, 19, of Charlevoix, a sophomore at Alma College, Tom Brennan, 18, of East Jordan, and Mike Potter, 24, of East Lansing. All are Red Cross qualified.

Bay View offers scholarships

The Bay View Theatre Arts Department is again offering dance scholarships for pre-professional training in Modern Dance and Ballet from July 1 through August 11.

All applicants must show an ability to move and dance and an eagerness to learn but need not have extensive dance training. Scholarships are based on talent and financial need.

Cate Delcher will conduct scholarship auditions the first week in July in the first floor dance studio at Evelyn Hall, Bay View. The audition will consist of a modern dance class and improvisation. Applicants should also be prepared to show a short dance or movement phrase that they have created themselves. Anyone who is interested should obtain an application and information from Willard Pierce (347-1082) or Lois Miller (347-6434), Bay View. Bay View welcomes students of any race, creed, or color.

Art show

The Crooked Tree Arts Council will present the traveling unit titled A Road Show which represents the work of 23 Michigan Artists selected by Mary Jane Jacob, curator at the Museum of Contemporary Art in Chicago and formerly in the modern art department at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The exhibit will open at McCune Community Arts Center July 6 and continue through July 31.

Township zoning board ok's Water's Edge condo project

The Charlevoix Township Planning and Zoning Board voted 3-1 to rezone 40 acres of land on Lake Charlevoix from R-2 (residential) to PRD (planned. residential development) as requested by the developers of a proposed new condominium project.

The rezoning now goes to the County Planning Commission and then the Charlevoix Township Board for final approval.

The special meeting was held without public notice because it was considered a continuation of last week's meeting of the zoning board, called in recess until Chairman Larry Campbell returned.

Water's Edge Inc. currently owns the property located one mile south of Charlevoix at the junction of Ferry Avenue and M-66 and expects to develop it in partnership with First Centrum Corp. of East Lansing.

Several persons among the 15 attending the rezoning hearing questioned the proposal. Among them was Joyce Davenport, a nearby summer resident. "Is the 'waterfront recreation zone' a coverup for a marina?" she asked Sherman Chamberlain of Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering who presented the plan.

Chamberlain said the developers "had no plans to build another dock in there" but added that "at the initial phas of the project there would be the possibility of fantailing off the existing dock." The dock has the potential for 36-50 boats in its present form, he said.

Questions were also raised over the capacity of the sewer and water systems to handle the size of the development proposed. A sewer system extending to the Water's Edge property is currently under construction. Several in the audience also raised the issue of the sewer assessments, noting that a large development there would be paying a smaller proportionate fee.

Dean Davenport, a nearby resident and for many years city recreation director, said that more boat traffic in the area could lead to degradation of the water quality because the proposed development fronted a protected bay. He noted that the Ferry Beach swimming area was closed three times when he was recreation director because of water problems caused by boat traffic in the area.

Jerry Puhi, the only member of the zoning board to vote against the rezoning, said that he wanted more specifics on the density of the development.

He also noted that there was ambiguity in the township zoning ordinance regarding maximum allowable density and asked for the township to seek legal opinion on the matter.

Puhl said that his reading of the ordinance was that a maximum of 15 units could be developed per acre and that not more than 15 percent of the land could be developed. That would limite development to 90 units.

Chamberlain stated that his understanding was that the ordinance limited development to 15 percent of the 40 acres, or 260,000 square feet for buildings.

Oscar Stroud, township supervisor, asked if others on the board were concerned by the legal interpretation. None did and the issue was dropped.

In other action, the planning and zoning board approved 3-1 a request to rezone land at 800 Petoskey Ave. for use as a used car lot. Jim Uhrlck sought the change in zoning at his mobile home park from C-2 (resort commercial) to C-3 (business).

Several neighbors of the proposed used car lot attended and opposed the rezoning.

LexaLite forms new joint venture, Boyne City is expected site of plant

LexaLite International Corp. of Charlevoix announced Wednesday, June 26, that it was forming a new company in partnership with Magna International Inc. and "a specific plant site at Boyne City is under active consideration."

Details of the new plant, expected to be located at Boyne City's Air Industrial Park, were not available pending final negotiations for the site, Josh Barnes, president of LexaLite said.

The new company will be called LexaMar Corporation. The target date for opening the plant, which will produce automotive products, is spring of 1986, a spokeman for LexaLite said.

"The new company will combine the skills and resources of Magna and LexaLite and will direct them toward the molding, finishing, and hardcoating of specialty automotive products," a prepared statement on the joint venture reads.

LexaLite is s supplier of molded plastics to varied industries, predominently in the lighting field. It has a plant in Dickson, Tennessee in addition to its Charlevoix facilities and is involved in several overseas joint ventures.

Magna International is an automotive supplier based in Markham, Onatrio, a Toronto suburb. It has plants in Canada, the U.S., and Europe. The president of Magna is Manfred Gingl.

Magna of America Inc. will be buying the property in Boyne City and building the new plant, according to LexaLite officials. It will then be leased back to the partners in the joint venture.

Hospice elects new officers

The Charlevoix County Hospice held their annual meeting on Thursday, June 13, 1985. Elected to the board were Madelyn Streu of Boyne City and Mary Stone Malpass of East Jordan.

The following are the new officers for 1985-86: Carol Bennett of Boyne City, president; Camille Greene of Charlevoix, vice-president; Dr. David Strawbridge of Charlevoix, secretary; and Ellen Addington of Ellsworth, treasurer.

Calling someone 'a birdbrain may not be as insulting as you think. It was commonly believed that a bird's smaller brain did not have the capacity for memory, only instinct. But according to National Wildlife magazine, birds not only remember, but may even be calculating. Nutcracker birds, for instance, are known to steal pine cones from squirrels by luring them away from the pile while another bird darts in to seize the cone.

Fire rips through East Jordan Plastics plant

SOUTH ARM TWP. – The Fourth of July provided more than its share of fireworks Thursday as a massive fire at the East Jordan Plastics plant spread thick black smoke over a large portion of Lake Charlevoix.

The blaze caused extensive damage to the plant which employs some 30 employees to make plastic flats for garden plants.

Firefighters from six area fire departments responded after the fire call was placed to the East Jordan fire department at 8:41 a.m. Coming to the aid of East Jordan were firemen from Charlevoix, Boyne City, Charlevoix Township, Ellsworth, and Banks Township.

The fire was the largest in this area since the LexaLite fire in Hayes Township two years ago.

East Jordan Plastics is located on LaCroix Road at M-66. Heavy clouds of black smoke were pushed to the north by the prevailing breezes, forcing the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department to close a portion of M-66 and reroute traffic to the west of the fire.

Although the fumes from the fire were said to be non-toxic, the Sheriff's Department advised "citizens living near the plant to take in-house shelter."

Firefighters worked all day to put out the fire and managed to save about 50 percent of the production area and equipment. The plant's office area was also spared extensive fire damage although it did suffer smoke and water damage.

The fire reignited at 10:55 p.m. on Thursday, apparently from flames beneath the debris in the building's south end. Firefighters from East Jordan were still at the scene and other units were called back. The fire was extinguished at 5 a.m. on Friday.

Cal Diller, president of East Jordan Plastics, said that all employees were on vacation at the time of the fire. He was the last employee inside the plant, he said, leaving the building's office area at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Firefighters used water from nearby Monroe Creek and water was transported by tankers from Lake Charlevoix and stored in large portable "pools" at the site. Fire officials diked dirt along the south end of the property to keep the runoff from draining into Monroc Creek and then into Lake Michigan.

East Jordan Plastics is completing a warehouse in the East Jordan industrial park on M-32, although that building will not be used for production, Diller said. He expects the damaged plant to be back in production on monday, July 15.

Smoke billows out of the East Jordan Plastics es firemen contain the blaze.

East Park to hear sound of music

by DOUG TRUAX

The City of Charlevoix is in for a musical feast in the next several weeks. It was announced recently that the Air Force Band of Flight will visit East Park on Thursday, July 11, for a free concert at 8 p.m.

There will also be a concert by the Charlevoix City Band on Wednesday, July 10, et 8:15 p.m. and Monday, July 15, will mark the inaugural concert of a "Music in the Park" series of concerts.

The Air Force Band concert will feature a 35-piece concert band conducted by Harold C. Johnson. The band, from the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, is in Michigan to perform during the Cherry Festival. Conductor Johnson will be making his last official trip as head of the band before retirement.

The free concert in East Park will include music of all types including pop, jazz, old standards, and general concert music.

The City Band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, will present its weekly concert in the park at 8:15 p.m. this Wednesday.

Among the selections the band will be playing will be "The Gallant Sentinel" and "The Bells of Chicago" by the march king, John Phillip Sousa; "American Pioneer Overture" by Paul Yoder; the Italian march "La Banda di Creatore" by Cina; highlights from Meredith Willson'a "Music Man"; "The Blue and the Gray," a suite of Civil War selections by Clare Grundman; and "The Big Band Bash," selections from the days of the big bands arranged by Bob Lowden.

A rehearsal at the high school band room on May Street at 7 p.m. will precede the 8:15 concert. Anyone wishing to play with the band is invited to ettend the rehearsal.

A new music program entitled "Music in the Park" has been announced recently for the next five Monday evenings et 7:30 p.m. in East Park. The program is sponsored by the Merchants Association and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and will include musicians from the Bay View Conservstory.

On July 15 the program will be "Bay View Opera ala carte." Other programs scheduled sre s brass quartet from Bay View on July 22; the "Sine Nomine" brass quintet on July 29; the Petoskey Horn Club on August 5; and a woodwind quintet from Bay View on August 12.

Hayes Township ok's zoning amendment

by PEG OHLE

Undaunted by charges that Section 5.13 ("Shoreland Protection") of its zoning ordinance is "unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious" and denies at least one landowner of his riparian rights to Lake Charlevoix, the Hayes Township Board last week passed an amendment to the zoning ordinance clarifying the ordinance and perhaps strengthening it by the clarification.

Section 5.13 of the ordinance, before the amendment, permitted only one living unit with lake access and one boat dock per 100 feet of lake or stream frontage. The amendment did not change the 100 foot requirement but did definine a dock as "space for a single boat which is powered by an engine". It also exempted Public Access Sites from provisions of the amendment.

This section of Hayes Township's zoning ordinance is the basis of a lawsuit filed early this year against the township by William Fox, who owns 338 acres of land, including 2,800 feet of Lake Charlevoix shoreline, in the township.

Last summer, Fox proposed to building a Planned Unit Development on the property, which, after discussion with township officials, was reduced to 128 dwelling units and 28 boat docks accomodating 56 boats, an inland harbor, water and sewer lines paid for by Fox, and 200 acres designated as a conservation preserve. Residents of all dwelling units were to have use of the lake frontage.

This plan was turned by the the Hayes Township Zoning Board because, under Section 5.13, only 28 dwelling units could have lake access and there could be dock space for only 28 boats.

The amendment, as approved, will become part of the zoning ordinance and enforceable by law upon publication. (It is published in this issue of the Courier).

Hayes Township property owners who now have more than one dock space for engine-powered boats for each 100 feet of lake shore they own will be able to keep these docks under a "grandfather" agreement, according to Paul Hoadley, township supervisor.

While restrictions on the number of power boat dock spaces a landowner may have has caused considerable controveray at township meetings, the restriction on use of the lake shore by other than waterfront property ownera has caused even more.

As stated in the zoning ordinance under the heading, "Limitation of 'Funnel Development' ", the restriction is intended to "limit the number of users of the lake or stream frontage, to preserve the quality of the waters, avoid congestion, and to preserve the quality of recreational use of all waters and recreational lands within the township."

The zoning ordinance further states that these restrictions do not apply to Public Access Sites under the "possession and control of a governmental agency, including Hayes Township, the County of Charlevoix, the Charlevoix County Road Commission, the State of Michigan, or other governmental agency, and which governmental agency allowa public access across the site to the take or stream abutting the site."

However, under the ordinance, "the governmental agency shall have the authority to impose such controls and restrictions upon the use of Public Access Sites and the abutting waters as are deemed necessary to protect the lake or stream and sdjoining properties from pollution, congestion, other damage, or unreasonable impositions upon the use and enjoyment of others using the site, using other private property in the proximity of the site, or the waters which the site abuts".

One significant difference between regulating the use of private property and Public Access Sites, as explained by Hoadley, is that it is easier to change the rules governing public sites than it is to change those governing private property.

Council rejects conference center plan

by DOUG TRUAX

City Council at its working session retreat on Monday evening rejected a proposal to take a one-year option to purchase the Fotchman property on Bridge Street (just east of the Weathervane Terrace).

The plan, proposed and supported by City Manager Michael Wiesner, was to take a right of first refusal on the property with the hopes of having it developed as a conference center.

Wiesner, who has been meeting all week with various city and business interests, told council that an out-of-court settlement had been reached between William Fotchman and Circuit Court which would allow Fotchman to dispose of the property.

Ronald Pair, owner of Midwest International, Inc., who had bought the property on a land contract, has until Friday, July 12, to sell the land parcels.

The property consists of two vacant lots and an unused gas station.

Wiesner said that the cost of gaining one-year control of the site would be approximately $35,000 including $25,000 in holding costs and $7-10,000 for a feasibility study on the construction of a convention center.

Wiesner told the council that acquiring en option on the property would represent e risk. "You may or may not get your money back," he said. Wiesner added that a convention center on the site would be "the highest and best use of the site for the city in general."

Owners of miniature golf concessions in Traverse City and Petoskey had reportedly expressed an interest in buying the property, Wiesner said, although checks with the city planning department had shown that such a business would not be allowed under current zoning.

The concention center proposal received support from Councilman Michael Greeley, but no other members of council appeared to favor it and the issue was dropped.

In other matters, council considered state inquiries on the disposition of the railroad right-of-way from Depot Beach to the city boundary. Options before the council included maintaining rail service between Petoskey and Charlevoix or, if the track were abandoned, purchasing the right-of-way.

Council directed Wiesner to contact former users of the railroad, including Wojan Products Corp. and Kit Carson Lumber, to see if there was any interest in freight service. He was also asked to learn more from the state about possible purchase of the 100-foot right-of-way.

The council also reviewed bids for engineering work on the Industrial Park. In a previous meeting they had directed the city manager to ob-

Petunia auction seeks donations at new site

The petunia auction has a new headquarters to store and display items for the sale. It is located on Clinton Street at the former site of the Off-Bridge Street Artists shop.

The store will be open each weekday afternoon from 4-8 p.m. Penny Potter is the staff person in charge. Carl Miller, who has volunteered his time as auctioneer, will also be helping.

Bruce MacArthur of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful says that several nice items have been donated to date including an antique student desk and an antique sewing machine. Previous donations have included a hot tub, set of wicker furniture, and a reproduction of an early american jelly cupboard.

MacArthur notes that all contributions are tax deductible and that the new quarters assure a safe location for the items until the auction. "It is the first time we have had a location that is convenient, close to parking, and has good security," he adds.

Kate Burlew is the chairman of this year's auction which will be held on Saturday, August 3, from 1-3 p.m. A yard sale will be held in conjunction with the auction this year. It will begin at noon and run until the auction is completed. Smaller items donated to Keep Charlevoix Beautiful will be sold in the yard sale.

Anyone with items to donate should contact KCB at the new auction headquarters. Pickups are being made by members of the Coast Guard.

Marilyn Boss puts up a new sign at the Petunia Auction's new headquarters at the former site of the Off Bridge Street Artists store.

JACQUELYN LAVANWAY and GAIL REVOIR, of Charlevoix, were among the 450-member graduating class of Northwestern Michigan College in early June.

Both received a two-year Associate of Applied Science degree.

JANE f. DeNISE, H & R Block Owner-Manager from Charlevoix, attended an income tax seminar June 27 in Grayling. Topics included 401(k) plans, Individual Retirement Accounts, and Investment Expenses. The seminar provides a direct link between managers and company tax experts who continuously monitor current tax legislation and its effect on the taxes citizens pay. Also in attendance was JILL WASHBURN, employee of the Charlevoix office.

Raising a young quarter horse:

Dee Jay Charger: A leggy colt with promise

by SARA GAY DAMMANN

There's a lot of hope for Dee Jay Charger even though the leggy colt is less than one month old.

"He could be a $75,000 colt or a $10 horse," muses Art Falting, as he watches his three-week-old colt poke curiously at one of last fall's leaves. The dry leaf crinkled. The colt, his long legs splayed, so he could nose the ground, snorted and looked at the curious people on the other side of the electric wire.

He edged toward the people, away from his mother, who continued grazing in the long grass beside Marion Center Road. The mare, Tilda's Chargette, never raised her head as the colt sniffed outstretched hands.

A paper fluttered in the breeze. The colt's head jerked up. His eyes opened wide. He danced backwards, throwing his hindquarters into the air, bucking into the center of the pasture. Stiff legged he came to a halt, looked around and trotted back toward the people. Tilda moved away. The colt followed.

Tilda, a short, close coupled, rather typically western quarter horse, has some thoroughbred in her background.

The real promise—for the colt, however, is the father, Falting says.

Dee Jay Rob, the colt's sire, is a tall grey stallion.

"He is the prettiest horse you ever saw," says former owner Shirley Crozier of Boyne City. "He has an Araby head. Most of his colts get his beautiful dish-face. He is a light dappled grey with a white mane and tall. He is big and bold. His grandfather waa Jackia Bee, a very famous quarter horse. And he has so much personality and class." Crozier ticks off the attributes of the stallion. That's the job of a breeder, to sell the bloodlines.

How well Dee Jay's eventual size, color, and confirmation reflect his sire's influence could be the difference between being just another horse and a much sought breeding stallion.

It's a gamble, admits Falting.

"I don't know if he's going to turn grey," he says as he looks at the light chestnut colored colt. "He has a good deep chest. His legs are long, but it's hard to predict size. He'll shed most of this coat."

Crozier was positive the colt would turn grey. "All of Dee Jay Rob's colts started off chestnut or roan then they turned."

Falting grew up with horses in Charlevoix, but it was his two daughters that really got the family involved.

If your kids need transportation get them bicycles or motorcycles," Falting deadpanned. "Horses are unbelievable. Just to go to a show, you might need a special $100 halter for the halter classes. The night before you shampoo them. Got to buy a horse trailer. They have to have their feet trimmed, their ears trimmed, their manes fixed. You even have to put hoof black on to make them look good. Both our mares came with saddles, but we had to buy more.

"I like horses," he countered himself. "Always have. Horses aren't bad. Never have made any money. Got to trim feet once a month, see the vet at least twice a year, if only for worming, but feed - hay and grain. The barn cost $7,500," Falting continued enumerating horse expenses.

"There's a lot of fun to this."

Falting's ambivalence is typical. On the other side of Lake Charlevoix, down the Boyne City Road, Corky Price has spent over a year wrestling with decisions about the twin quarter horse fillies, Megan and Molly, born to his mare Greta, and the colt Tar Junior born to his other quarter horse mare Squeak. Father of all three was Price's handsome black quarter horse stallion Tar.

"Most people like to think they are in the business," Price says, laughing at himself. "In actuality they do it because they like it.

"I'm not going to make any money on the twins and T.J. I've got a year of feed and vet bills into them. That doesn't leave much margin for profit," he said revealing that all three young horses, plus the two mares and the stallion are for sale.

"I've decided to go into the carriage horse and carriage business," the young horseman revealed. Price provides the carriage service for Phillips Mill Restaurant.

Quarter horses are an American breed, originally the result of mixing thoroughbreds with Spanish horses in the Southwest. Traditionally quarter horses could be easily identified by their build - short with powerful chests and hindquarters and attractive heads.

Their name refers to their ability to sprint for a quarter of a mile. As a breed, at that distance, they are unbeatable.

In the west quarter horses are still bred to the classic look, excellent for close work with cattle.

A top cutting horse will lower his neck, look a ranging steer in the eye, and with short bursts of speed and great agility force the errant steer back into a herd. Similarly a quarter horse can put on tremendous speed to allow a cowboy to run down and rope a determined stray.

In the Midwest and East, quarter horse breeders are putting more emphasis on "thoroughbred-like" qualities, especially longer legs, for speed in racing. Today it is not unusual to see a quarter horse, tacked up in English saddle, entered in a show jumping class.

"They are the most versatile horse around," Price claims. "They are known for their good disposition and level headedness."

As for Dee Jay Charger's future, if the price were right he could be sold as soon as he's weaned. Or he could go into training here in Charlevoix, start in the local shows in the halter classes, and with success move onto bigger shows.

If the promise of the colt's breeding comes through, he could make it to "Stallion Avenue" at the National Quarter Horse Congree in Days of livery stable numbered?

by SARA GAY DAMMANN

"The days of the livery stable, where you could rent a buggy and horse or saddle horse, are long gone," observes Weldon "Bill" Price, owner of Lake Charlevoix Farms. "Insurance rates have made it impossible."

Price knows the situation first hand. When he first moved north from the Birmingham area, he and his son "Corky" began raising quarter horses. They had planned to offer riding instruction, hay rides, and trail riding. That dreamed faded in the light of insurance realities.

Last winter, working with Barbara Lane, a trained riding instructor for special education students, Lake Charlevoix Farms provided six weeks of highly supervised lessons for students from the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate District. This year the program is in limbo until Lane obtains a new insurer.

"If its $2,000 instead of $1,000 I will have to raise more funds for the program; but we will have the program," she says with vehemence.

Down the road, at Windmill Farms, a privately owned camp ground, where guided trail riding accounts for two-thirds of the gross income, manager Ken Swan says, "If the insurance rates go any higher we will go out of business. It's definitely a bread and butter issue with us."

Eight years ago, Sogonosh Stables, north of Harbor Springs, paid $125 a year per horse in liability insurance for its trail riding operation. Today their premium is $1,000 per horse.

Just finding insurance is a problem. Most of the riding stables interviewed this week were still in the process of settling with insurance companies for the busy summer

Railroads

By Doug Truax

The old railroad trains that rumbled along the C & O tracks beside our home are now long gone. So too are the tracks and the ties. They were pulled out last fall and trucked away by the thousands.

I miss the train's two or three times a week trips up and down the tracks. And I miss the quiet civility of waving to the engineer as though he were some distant relative.

There are few other intrusions in our generally quiet country life that I can accept so comfortably as the racket of a heavy freight clanging its way north. It is blind nostalgia, no doubt, but trains still have a spell over me.

But they are largely an anachronism in America, and their disappearance over the last several decades has been well documented. With the current administration's attempts to remove all subsidies to Amtrack we may be witness to the final agonizing days of railroad's glorious history.

It is unfortunate. Travelling along the surface of the earth, wedded to it by the comforting reality of gravity, always seemed the more sensible way to travel. I am still not convinced that you can put a machine of untold tons into the air and expect it to stay there. The Wright Brothers may have been the perpetrators of one of history's more elaborate hoaxes.

But I accept the economic reality that killed train travel in America, although certain other countries are not only keeping trains alive but helping them flourish.

What is a little harder to accept is what has taken its place on the old railroad beds around town. Once the ties and rails were removed, a whole new highway system was opened up to those with an aversion to pavement with stripes down the middle.

Suddenly every four-wheeler in the county was struck with the uncontrollable urge to drive along the tracks. For awhile it seemed more people were passing our house on the old railroad bed than were using the road.

Unfortunately, too, it opens up the back country to poachers and those determined to cover the earth in a sea of litter. The once quiet little lake over the hill was suddenly beseiged with a new group of fishermen.

Although some sections of railroad have been sold to consortiums of individuals or to civic organizations, much of the property remains in limbo. The state should take sfeps to see that it is not abused. More important, it should seek to use the property where appropriate for the public good.

In that vein, the city has been approached by the state on the use of the railroad north of town.

It is doubtful that any economically viable means to use the tracks will be found. But the city should consider very seriously its options in purchasing the track if it is abandoned. It is a unique opportunity and should not be waived until it has had a good hearing from all elements of the community.

Some ideas have already been put forward, including the use of the tracks for a snowmobile or cross-country ski trail. They may prove impractical or hairbrained but should not be rejected outright.

Developers have also expressed interest in the railroad right-of-way in conjunction with a hotel complex rumored to be in the planning stages for the north end of the lake.

Although the city might eventually wish to sell the railroad property to developers, it could prove an important bargaining chip for the city, ensuring input on any project proposed for the area.

In short, the railroad right-of-way is a valuable link to the north side of Lake Charlevoix and the city should aggressively pursue the matter.

tain the bids rather than award the contract outright to McNamee, Porter, and Seeley of Ann Arbor as had been planned.

The bids showed McNamee, Porter, and Seeley to be the low bidder at $56,520. Other firms bidding included Ayers, Lewis, Norris, and May of Ann Arbor at $62,100; Williams and Works of Grand Rapids at $62,630; and Gosling Czubak Associates of Traverse City at $80,890.

Letters to the Editor:

Sheriff's action praised

Dear Editor:

Several days ago, I was priviledged to witness an incident involving Sheriff George T. Lasater.

A young man from Ironton had gone berserk and was shooting a gun in the early morning hours. He had called the sheriff and threatened to kill someone. Later, he shot at a deputy.

Sheriff Lasater, showing great poise and understanding, talked the young man into allowing him to enter the house where he was hiding. The Sheriff, unarmed and at great risk to his own life, entered the building and was confronted with a gun pointed in his direction. He was able to convince the young man to surrender. This action prevented a shootout and, very likely, saved the life of this distrubed man.

Sheriff George T. Lasater exemplifies the highest degree to professionalism and courage. We are indeed fortunate to have such a man looking after our interest in Charkevoix County.

Craft fair origins

Dear Editor:

Back in the early summer of 1968 when the Art Fair had been in action for ten summers, two local volunteers of the Air Fair committee announced to the hobby-crafters that they were no longer welcome in the fair, inasfar as hobby and crafts were not art.

It was something of a surprise but having known the committee members for quite some time we knew immediately that they were more interested in developing their own social prestige as patrons of the arts than in the city they represented so we accepted their verdict, but we knew also that all hobby-crafters would be disappointed.

Immediately the Wexstaffs called a few hobby-crafters to a conference, and we agreed we would start a new show on Charlevoix's beautiful waterfront in which all who wished to join and display they handiwork could do so. We contacted the Chamber of Commerce and obtained their blessing. The show was launched full speed ahead as we wanted to have the displays shown early while tourists were passing through the town.

Most of the hobby-crafters committee have left the mortal life or moved away from Charlevoix. Arthur and Bernice Wexstaff are still in the area to remember the ocassion and record it for the benefit of Charlevoix's historical record. Art Wexstaff still had a small supply of the electric lamps he had fashioned from the historical past - ancient and worn pulleys or blocks to use a nautical term, that had been the property of Tim Smith Boatyard and had undoubtedly hauled such sailing ships as the Rosabelle - that graceful ship so well depicted by Rosa Nettieton in watercolor which hangs on the wall of the Harsha House, Charlevoix's museum. Naturally, the lamps which weren't adjudged art by the art fair will find a welcome at the museum when the Wexstaffs too join the throng of those who were but are no longer here.

By a remarkable coincidence the first hobby-craft fair has exactly the same number of entrants as had displayed at the first Waterfront Fair just ten years previous - 14. But like the original fair it grew steadily and equals the Art Fair today in entrants and value to the community. The Chamber of Commerce now plays a leading role in directing the municipal affair and it too has become a real asset to the town.

Bernice C. Wexstaff

Clockwise

Sidewalks

By Bob Clock

If anything gives a community a "finished look" it is curb and gutter - and sidewalks.

Several years ago, the state Highway Department came through and did a fine job of installing curb and gutter on U.S. 31 south within city limits.

But sidewalks along most of South Bridge Street are only a dream. The sidewalk on the east side ends at Garfield Street. On the west side the walk extends a little farther, petering out between Robinson and Wood streets.

Pedestrians who want to continue farther south to Captain's Corner, Juilleret's Restaurant, the Holiday Station Store, and Fireside Inn, or one of the many motels in the area are forced to follow meandering goat paths across lawns and over curb cuts.

In winter, of course, the snowbanks are so high that pedestrians are forced to walk in the highway, at considerable risk to life and limb.

All of which is prelude to a modest proposal that the city council establish as one of its goals the extension of sidewalks from city limits to city limits along U.S. 31.

Although there are fewer businesses - and fewer pedestrains - on U.S. 31 North, the sidewalk there ends at Meech Street on the east and one lot farther on the west. From there on, walkers have to hike in the street or trample across lawns.

If the council only agreed to install one block of sidewalk a year on each end of town, a walkway from one end of twon to the other would be a fait accompli before too many years have passed.

We have done it with petunias; why not sidewalks?

Of course, a sidewalk along Division Street from Michigan Avenue to the elementary school has been needed desperately for the past 16 years, since that is the route traveled by so many elementary school youngsters. But I doubt there will be any action on sidewalk in that area until some kids are seriously injured in a traffic accident walking to school. Then watch the dust fly.

SEVERAL YEARS ago, at the urging of the Charlevoix Courier, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce sponsored an annual autumal bicycle ride around Lake Charlevoix.

The ride was usually held in mid-September after the tourists thinned out and the highways were safe for bicycle travel.

If memory serves, eight or 10 riders took part in the first event, departing from the Edwards IGA parking lot at 8 a.m. The riders followed U.S. 31 North to the Boyne City Road, then east to Horton Bay and Boyne City.

I was in charge of "arrangements," and notified the Sunnyside Restaurant in Boyne City to expect about a dozen riders for lunch. The late Gordon Freedman and I led the pack, and we were both shocked to find we had covered the 19 miles to Boyne City in something like one hour and 20 minutes. Instead of lunch, we had a second breakfast and took off for Whiting Park and the Ironton Ferry.

The miles clocked off effortlessly and I think all of us were back in Charlevoix by noon.

In the years that followed, the annual ride grew bigger and bigger. Downstate bicycle clubs became involved and a special "sanctioned" route was established for the real hot-shots. Before long, literal hundreds of bicyclists were converging on Charlevoix in mid-September to take part.

That is when the Chamber of Commerce cried "uncle". The ride had become too successful and the chamber just couldn't handle another event of such magnitude. The chamber backed off and the ride died.

But I think a bicycle ride around Lake Charlevoix when the leaves are beginning to turn has a lot of merit. It doesn't have to be a big deal, you understand. Just a few bike riders out for a final spin before winter sets in. If you're interested, drop a line to Clockwise at the Courier. Maybe we can work something out.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Waldron

Potter - Waldron

Debra Sue Potter and Bradley Edward Waldron were married Saturday evening, June 15, at the First Presbyterian Church of Kalamazoo.

Parents of the bride are Janet Valentine of Charlevoix and Theodore Potter of Gaylord. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barr of Portage and the late Edward M. Waldron.

The Reverend Wayne M. Conner officiated at the double-ring rites in which the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

For the occasion, the bride chose a gown of organza and re-embroidered lace featuring a Queen Ann neckline, bishop sleeves, bodice trimmed with re-embroidered lace, and cathedral train. She carried a cascading bouquet of phalanopis with stephanotis, green ferns, and sprengeri.

Linda Kennedy served the bride as maid of honor, and Jacqueline Potter, sister of the bride, and Laurie Bowles, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore royal blue dresses with white lace ruffles and carried cascading bouquets of royal blue cornflowers, white carnations, baby blue tea roses, and ming ferns.

Dale Somers assisted the bridegroom as best man, and John Ditzhazey and Scott Carlson were groomsmen. Michael Bowles, Tracy Gentry, and Kevin Potter were ushers.

Janice Rolls was in charge of the guest book.

Organist Mary Roseboom and vocalist Don Heeres provided music for the ceremony.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a reception at the Holiday Inn in Kalamazoo following the ceremony. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Russell Barr at the Windjammer in Portage.

Following a wedding trip to Wolf Lake, the newlyweds are at home in Grand Rapids, where the bridegroom is distributor representative for Van Wood Chemicals and the bride is a nuclear medicine technologist at St. Mary's Hospital. Both bride and bridegroom are graduates of Ferris State College.

Wolf - Schlinder

St. Ann's Church in Hamilton, Ohio, was the scene recently of the wedding of Mrs. Rosemary L. Wolf, former Charlevoix resident now living in Hamilton, Ohio and James E. Schlinder, also of Hamilton.

The pastor of the church officiated at the ceremony in the presence of relatives and close friends on June 22. Lisa Schlinder, daughter-in-law of the bridegroom, was the soloist. The church organist played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and accompanied the soloist.

Mrs. Debbie Balough of Fairbanks, Alaska, served as her mother's matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mary Marsh of Powell, Ohio and Carole Wolf of Hamilton, daughters of the bride, and Raylene Schlinder also of Hamilton, daughter of the bridegroom.

Larry Schlinder of Iron Mountain assisted his father as best man and groomsmen were Thomas Schlinder and Daniel Schlinder, sons of the bridegroom, and Michael Wolf, son of the bride, all of Hamilton.

A reception followed at St. Ann's Hall were Gina Schlinder and Robin Mullins, grand-daughters, and Jill Leugers, niece, were in charge of the guest book. Sisters of the bride assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mielke

Noggle - Mielke

Martha Jane Noggle and Thomas A. Mielke were united in marriage on Saturday, June 8, at the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noggle of Royal Oak, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mielke of Norwood.

The Reverend Dr. Harper W. Welch officiated at the double-ring ceremony before approximately 100 guests.

The bride was gowned in a wedding dress of ivory lace and organza fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, bishop sleeves, and chapel-length train edged in lace. She wore a bridal hat of lace and carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses with baby's breath and stephanotis.

Mary K. Noggle, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Elaine Wold and Suzanne Eman were bridesmaids. They were gowned in peach color floor-length dresses accented with ivory organza and lace.

Scott Meadows served as best man, and Brad Mielke and Steve Mielke were groomsmen.

Organist Edmund O. Prica furnished music for the ceremony.

A reception at Petruzzello's in Troy, hosted by the bride's parents, followed the marriage ceremony. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John F. Eman. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Double Eagle in Troy, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Toronto, the newlyweds are at home in Ellsworth. The bridegroom is affiliated with Michigan Officeways in Charlevoix.

United Way elects officers

Three new members have been elected to serve three years on the United Way of Charlevoix Board. They are: Rebecca Myers, Robert Sooy, and Barbara Lane.

Leaving the board at this time are: Claudia Kenifeck, John Kurtz, and Kraag Lieberman. The board extends thanks for their worthwhile contributions and efforts.

New officers for the 1985-86 years are as follows: James Marshall, president; Bruce MacArthur, vice president; Helen Emmons, treasurer and Kay Ball recording secretary.

The new members met with the board for the first time on July 9. A summer campaign is under way to reach those Charlevoix residents who are not in town during the annual fall campaign.

With several new agencies making application to the United Way for oeprating money, it is hoped that we can top last year's fine contribution.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sharrow

Vliet - Sharrow

Marta Rae Vliet and Wayne Richard Sharrow were united in marriage on June 22 at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sharrow, in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vliet of Texas.

The Reverend Mark Hill of the Charlevoix Church of God presided over the double-ring rites in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white gown trimmed in blue fashioned with a Victorian neckline and full sleeves, and carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations.

Sheila Marie Mousseau attended the bride as maid of honor, wearing a blue and white dotted Swiss floor-length gown.

Sam Kane, Jr. of East Lansing assisted the bridegroom as best man.

Parents of the newlyweds hosted a reception at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club following the wedding ceremony. The bride's grandmother, Dort Vliet, prepared the food for the occasion. The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Sharrow are now at home in Charlevoix.

Norwood hosts flea market

A flea market combined with a garden produce sale, a bake sale and a white elephant sale will be sponsored by the Norwood United Methodist Church on Wednesday, July 17, at the Norwood Friendship Hall.

The event which will also feature a food booth with a choice of homemade pies will open at 9 a.m. at Friendship Hall and continue until 3 p.m.

Space for a flea market booth is available and may be leased for $5 by calling 599-2259 or 547-2066.

"We're adding a white elephant booth. We've had so many offers of items from people who've moved into the community recently and from other sources that we decided to add this to our sale," Mrs. William Parsons, a member of the group, said.

The food booth, she said, would feature a wide variety of food items that one would normally have for lunch. There will also be coffee and other beverages. In addition, there will be booths featuring homebaked goods and garden produce.

Manistee team takes slowpitch invitational tournament title

Blarney Castle of Manistee captured the title in the annual Fourth of July Invitational Slowpitch Tournament here last weekend, defeating the defending champion, Country Boy of Kalkaska, 11-2 in the finals.

Country Boy, after falling victim to Grey Gables by a score of 12-6 Friday night, had made its way through five games in the loser's bracket to the finals against Blarney Castle.

Blarney Castle had defeated Ma Mere of Midland 15-11 in the finals of the winner's bracket to send the Midland team into the finals of the loser's bracket against Country Boy. In that game, Country Boy defeated Ma Mere 8-6 with Jim Thomas allowing nine hits to 13 for Don Heins who took the loss.

In the finals Bob Fredericks who pitched an 11-2 game had assists from teammates Tom Koon and Tim McAlister who hit home runs for the winning cause. Fredericks allowed eight hits while Dan Thomas gave up 13.

Koon won Most Valuable Player honors for his performance in the tournament while McAlister was named the most valuable infielder. Don Depeel of Country Boy was awarded outstanding outfielder honors.

The 12-team double elimination tournament opened Friday night with Health and Fitness defeating Simpson Electric 6-3; Harborside Sports of Boyne City winning over Tidy Car-Family Video 6-3; Grey Gables defeating Country Boy 12-6 and H&L Softball Club winning over Pine Hill Nursery 7-6 in eight innings.

Action continued in the winner's bracket Saturday morning despite the rain with Case's Bombers of Boyne City downing Health and Fitness 9-4; Blarney Castle making its first appearance by defeating Harborside Sports 7-2; Grey Gables being shut out by Ma Mere 14-0, and Gun Tavern of Cedar Springs clipping H&L Softball Club 12-0.

As the play off in the loser's bracket started Saturday afternoon, Tidy Car-Family Video eliminated Simpson Electric 7-5; Country Boy won over Pine Hill Nursery 7-1; Health and Fitness defeated Harborside Sports 5-1, and Grey Gables edged H&L Softball Club 13-6.

In the semi-finals of the winner's bracket, Case's Bombers fell to Blarney Castle 21-6 and Ma Mere downed Gun Tavern 14-3 to advance to the finals in the bracket Sunday afternoon.

Meanwhile, Country Boy won over Gun Tavern 8-4 and Grey Gables defeated Case's Bombers 7-1. Country Boy then eliminated Grey Gables 5-4 before taking on Ma Mere and winning 8-6 for a try against Blarney Castle in the finals which the Manistee team won handily 11-2.

The tournament, held annually over the holiday weekend, is sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

Basketball camp develops skills in off season for Charlevoix kids

Summer may mean the beach and water for many kids, but to diehard basketball players thoughts of the season ahead are never far away.

Coach Dave Smith's summer basketball camp is just the thing for those who want to hone their skills.

Last week Coach Smith completed a two-week session for 9th and 10th grade boys. Earlier this summer he conducted a similar one-week camp for 7th and 8th graders.

Beginning July 28 it is the girls' turn with a two-week camp for up to 20 kids from grades 7-12.

"It gives the kids a chance to get used to our system," Smith says. "I call it indoctrination." The emphasis, he adds, on fun, practicing fundamentals, and learning to get along with others in the group. "I really don't care if they are basketball players or not – it is just a chance to keep the kids together for the summer."

"I'm very pleased with the interest and support from the kids and parents," Smith adds.

In addition to the summer camps, Smith has also been running the summer basketball program for varsity players. Designed to develop junior and senior players, the program consists of a series of scrimmages with other area teams and a tournament held last weekend with six other state schools.

The basketball camps cost $30 for the one-week sessions and $50 for two-weeks. All of the money goes back into the camp – for shirts and refreshments – or is used for the summer varsity tournament.

Basketball camp participants go through layup drills.

Venetian foot race entries sought

Entries for the seventh annual Venetian Festival Foot Race scheduled for Saturday, July 27, are now being accepted according to Pete Spieles, coach of the Charlevoix High School Cross Country team and sponsor of the popular race.

Entries are being accepted in three divisions of the race: both men's and women's in the one mile, 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer races, Spieles said.

Runners will be divided into various age categories in both men's and women's divisions.

This year's participants will be aiming at new records set in the 1984 for the 5 and 10 kilometer division. In the 5-kilometer event the records are 18:19 set by Debbie Rode of Traverse City and 14:35 set by Jeff Drenth of Charlevoix.

The 10-kilometer records are 39:11 set by Gania Rode of Traverse City and 31:54 set by Rob Kinnunen of the Canadian Soo.

The first 100 entries receive T-shirts.

All entries receive ribbons, the first three in each catagory receive medals, and the first place winners trophies.

Prizes are awarded immediately following the races. There will also be post-race refreshments courtesy of the Charlevoix Merchants and an aid station for the 10-kilometer runners.

The entry fee will be $5 prior to July 22 and $6 after that date. There will also be a $5 family rate for the one-mile entries.

Registrations will be accepted from 8:30 until 9:30 a.m. the day of the race with the one-mile race starting at 9:30. The 5 and 10 kilometer races will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Entry blanks are available at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce at 408 Bridge St. or by writing to Pete Spieles, 800 Park Ave., Charlevoix 49720.

Women's results

Townhouse defeated Sally Ann Co. 8-5 in the only night of play in the women's league played last week.

Sue Barta was the winning pitcher giving up six hits. Charla Martz took the loss. She allowed 13 hits. Melissa Hite posted a rare homer for Townhouse.

In the second game, Meda Kehrer pitched County State Bank to an 11-8 win over Hoskins giving up 10 hits. Jean Duckworth allowed 11.

Brownwood Acres opens on Bridge Street

by PEG OHLE

Brownwood Acres of Charlevoix, a branch of the well-known Brownwood Acres on Torch Lake, has opened a gourmet food shop in Charlevoix.

Located at 405 Bridge Street, the shop is run by Stephen deTar, a fourth generation member of the Brownwood family, and his wife, Dana.

Those familiar with Brownwood TV commercials will recognize Stephen and Dana as the makers of such Brownwood delicacies as Cherry Butter and Kreem Mustard, among the top 15 Brownwood packaged items. Their kitchen is located in a barn outside the Brownwood Farmhouse Restaurant, and Stephen and Dana live upstairs.

All the favorite Brownwood foods are stocked in the Charlevoix shop, along with other quality brands. The list is long – preserves, fudge and fruit toppings, old-fashioned and diabetic candies, ice cream cones and milk shakes with chunks of fruit, salad dressings, honey, fresh-squeezed lemonade, croissants, special home-made wheat and other grain breads, deli meat and cheeses, croissants, caramel corn, crackers, and many more good things to eat.

The shop also has a line of food gift items – teas, spices, and its own Brownwood products, which will be packed for customers and shipped by United Parcel Service.

Looking forward to fall and other seasons, Dana explained that the shop will specialize in seasonal foods during the year, such things as steamed corn, donuts, and cider in the fall.

Musicians entertain at local restaurants

This is the first of a series of articles on summer entertainment in Charlevoix.

Among the new faces in local entertainment is Tim Smith, piano player and song writer, who is entertaining patrons of Riccardi's lounge on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8-12 p.m. and Fridays and Saturdays from 9-1 p.m.

Smith had never been to Charlevoix until he auditioned for the job. He resigned in June as the music director of a catholic church, bought a pick up truck, and hit the road.

"Charlevoix's a great place to write some music," the young songwriter says. He has an affinity for rock and roll – Bruce Springsteen style – but also admires writers such as Bob Dylan. Smith starts each set with jazz and then progresses to pop, mowtown, top 40, and his own compositions.

Patrons have their choice of entertainment at 218 Bridge Street restaurant this summer. Mark Northy is playing guitar and singing folk in the pub on Friday and Saturday nights. Upstairs diners can hear a Charlevoix native, James Boggs, play the piano and sing.

Boggs plays from 5-8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. He covers the musical spectrum from classical to country to polkas.

When Boggs is done at 218 Bridge he often leaves for an engagement with his four-piece band, Pantera, a group of Charlevoixans who will be playing at the Venetian Festival this year.

Boggs says that he likes to pattern his repetoire to the interests and requests of the audience.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Sorry, Ladies - the CYC Annual Women's Classic is history by the time this is being read but still future as it's being written. The Mouse predicted hazy skies, gentle breezes, and wild guesses at Plastic by a nose over Night Moves for first and second places.

Ended up watching last Wednesday's "Fun" Race after "missing the boat." Always have claimed that watching a sailboat race was just as exciting as sitting in your front yard watching the grass grow; but I now feel that was overstated. Still, 'twas pretty...

As seen from the dock at CYC: Plastic Fantastic moving out, increasing her lead from start to finish, Ribit seemed to start all alone and then, after sailing well once around the course, simply disappeared. Charley Brown must have been taking on water as they seemed to be bailing in a unigue manner while nearby yachtsmen donned foulweather gear. Just a normal fun race.

Summer Series starts tonight, July 10 and there are a few changes; skippers - take note: The Jib and Main Fleet and the PHRF Fleet No. 3 are scheduled to start at 6 p.m., PHRF No. 2 at 6:10 and PHRF No. 1 at 6:20. The signals to be expected, are: White (10 minute warning for First Start) up at start of sequence; Blue (preparatory for JAM & No. 3) up 5 minutes before the start; Red is the start for JAM & No. 3 (and 10 minute warning for No. 2; Blue (Preparatory for No. 2) up 5 minutes later; then Red start No. 2 (10 minute warning for No. 1); Blue (preparatory for No. 1) and Red (start No. 1) at five minute intervals.

Each flag is dropped exactly 1 minuted before the next signal is made. The Red start flag is not displayed if there is a General Recall, but is if there is an Individual Recall. Following a General Recall; a new sequence starting with the 10 minute White warning signal is expected, but if the new sequance starts with a Blue signal, restart is in five minutes. It's important to watch the General Recall Signal ("First Substitute") as it will drop one minute before the new sequence starts.

Skippers - Be sure you (or a representative of your yacht) have signed in as a member of the Protest Committee for One date during the summer series; then be there. If you're signed in and don't show, your yacht gets a DNS for that race - if you're not signed in for any date and are involved in a protest, your protest or defense will not be heard by the Committee; in this event - you can be penalized without a hearing. If you feel not-qualified - either sign up anyway and assist the Committee with determination of facts (it's great experience and vital to the

Bay View Concerts

Variety is the key world for the third Festival Concert at the Bay View Music Festival tonight Wednesday, July 10 at 8 p.m. in John M. Hall Auditorium.

New faculty member Paula Moeckel will play the popular "Sonata for Violin in D Major" in four movements by George F. Handel. She will be accompanied by Nancy Zipay, piano.

Paula Moeckel, in her first season at Bay View, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and University of Michigan. She won a Fulbright Scholarship to study at the Academy of Music in Munich were she earned an Artist's Diploma. A dedicated cahmber music performer, she also was concertmaster of the Mannheim (German) Chamber Orchestra and has soloed throughout Europe, including being featured as an American soloist in the 1976 German celebration of the American Bicentennial in Berlin.

Wednesday night Bay View Festival Concerts are recorded for rebroadcast on WCMU Public Radio. Admission to the Wednesday concerts is $4 and $1.50 for children. For a listing of all summer concerts at Bay View call 347-4210.

The 300th birthdays of Johann Sebastian Bach and George Frideric Handel will be celebrated during the fourth Vesper Concert of the Bay View Music Festival Sunday, July 14 at 8 p.m. in John M. Hall Auditorium.

The Bay View Festival Chamber Orchestra and Choir will open the concert with Bach's timeless "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Roger Drinkall will then perform Bach's "Suite No. 6 in D Major" for unaccompanied cello. Preceding each of the six movements, passages from scripture will be read by the Reverend Dr. Robert Stephens, Vice President of the Bay View Associaton and Director of the Assembly.

The Chamber Orchestra, comprised primarily of Bay View Faculty, will return with the finale of Bach's "Brandenburg Conceto No. 4", under the direction of Andrew Schenck.

The Orchestra will be joined by the Choir and soloists for the final portion of the concert which will feature selections from Handel's most famous work.

Roger Drinkall, chairman of the String Department at Florida State University and a graduate of Curtis Institute of Music, is well known to the area, having been at Bay View for thirteen seasons.

The Vesper Concert is open to the public; a $2 donation is suggested at the door.

Daniel D'Addio, trumpet, will be the featured artist in a Bay View Music Festival Artist Recital, Monday, July 15 at 4 p.m. in John M. Hall Auditorium.

This is the third in the series of newly programmed Artist Recitals taking place each Monday at 4 p.m. throughout the summer in Bay View. Locations of the recitals vary. For a listing of all performances at Bay View, stop in at Vernor Hall or call 347-4210.

Charlevoix Historical Society elects officers

Louis Orlowski was re-elected president of the Charlevoix Historical Society at the annual election of officers held Tuesday.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. C.D. Geiken, first vice president; Robert Miles, second vice president; Mrs. John LaRue, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Gibson, membership secretary; Mrs. Douglas Shaw, treasurer.

Board of directors: Mrs. Andrew Fulton, Mrs. Benjamin S. Gill, Dale Boss, W.W. Price, Mrs. Maurice Dixon, and Mrs. Carl F. Kohler.

The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the Bob Miles Award given annually to a member for his or her contribution to the society. Mrs. Fulton, the former Myrtie O'Neill, a native of Charlevoix who has worked diligently in behalf of the society and its goals was the 1985 recipient of the prestigeous award.

It was announced that the Historical Society will hold an open house every weekend, Thursday through Sunday, from 1 until 4 p.m. at Harsha House, home of the society and the site of the community's museum.

The society is promoting Charlevoix family albums for its archives. Material for use in compiling the albums is available for 30 cents.

For sale at the museum and elsewhere in the community are Irene Young's maps of the Charlevoix area and Little Traverse Bay for $10; 1904 Charlevoix Cookbooks for $5; Charlevoix place mats, $5 per set; and Charlevoix magnets, $2 each.

The society will also raffle a handcrafted historical quilt. Tickets are available at the museum or at 319 Bridge St. from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The drawing will be Aug. 10. the quilt is on display at this site.

At the informal program which followed the business session, Mrs. Clare Staley displayed pieces of Indian beadwork; Harold Totten showed handcrafted Indian hand bag of leather featuring a design in beads; Mrs. Zell Letts of the Sequanota Club showed a framed pillow sham embroidered with the names of charter members of the club and residents of the Ironton area which is displayed over the fireplace mantel in the club dining room.

Mrs. Joanne Zinn of Ironton presented a community directory compiled in 1940 which carried the names of all residents of the community at that time; Mr. Orlowski displayed a receipt for stock in the long-defunct Michigan Sugar Co. dated in 1920. The company factory was located on Lake Charlevoix where the present Irish Boat Shop and Marina are now located. The stock had been purchased by his grandfather, Severyn Orlowski, an early grocer in the community.

He also showed receipts from the Henry O'Leary Livery Stable located at Bridge St. and Belvedere Ave., present site of Memorial Park. A horse and carriage used for mourners at a funeral at the time cost $10. Another receipt was for a grave opening at a cost of $3. These were dated early in the century.

Mrs. LaRue Gill showed a picture of young women who were members of the I.O.O.F. Auxiliary taken in the early 1900's. Mrs. Forrest Fowler presented a picture to the society of the 1904 Cadillac her father-in-law, Horace Fowler, once drove in the community. Mrs. Kohler related her memories of Susan Greensky, an early community resident, who came into town regularly to sell handmade beadwork at her parents' hotel, the Bartlett Haouse, on Park Ave.

The next meeting of the historical society is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 6, at Harsha House.

quality of the final decision), or line up someone else to represent your yacht for one date. Hearings are to be held exactly as prescribed on pages 80 and 81 of the 1985-86 International Yacht Racing Rules.

The Club extends is sympathy to member Ken Diller, his family and the employees of East Jordan Plastics. The experience at Lex-aLite taught us that such a disaster, seemingly without redeeming virtue, is much like a forest fire... awfully expensive and apparently destroying all; but new growth soon starts and all who take part in that new growth are closer and stronger. Best Wishes.
